Moving from Westfield...

Dave Mundy is Sheridan's new Superintendent

By JEFF JELLISON

The Sheridan Board of School Trustees announced on Friday the appointment of Dr. David Mundy as the district's new Superintendent.

Mundy will replace current Superintendent Dr. Derek Arrowood on January 20, 2014 when Arrowood begins his duties as Superintendent at Hamilton Heights.

Arrowood in an email to the Hamilton County Reporter said, "Dave Mundy is an outstanding educator and I believe that he is an excellent choice to serve as Superintendent of Sheridan Community Schools. His skills as a dynamic leader and communicator were evident through the interview process and apparent in the success he has been part of in Westfield." Arrowood continued to state, "The thing that I am most impressed with about Dr. Mundy is his ability to lead with integrity and develop buy in from team members to accomplish s e t objectives."

Mundy currently serves as the Superintendent of Learning Systems at Westfield.

"I am excited and honored by the opportunity to work with the teachers, students, school board, and entire community of Sheridan," stated Mundy.

Mundy is no stranger to Sheridan Community Schools. Dr.

Mundy previously served as a school teacher, coach, and Dean of Students in the Sheridan school district from 2000-2006. "Going back to Sheridan is a real blessing and my family and I are looking forward to this opportunity," said Mundy.

Sheridan Community Schools, in a news release, stated Mundy was chosen from a pool of 14 candidates from across the state of Indiana. Four candidates from the pool were interviewed by a team consisting of two Board members, the high school principal and elementary school principal. Mundy was then interviewed by the district's entire school board. "The Board came to a quick consensus that Dr. Mundy was an outstanding candidate and offered him the position," said Arrowood. "Sheridan is fortunate to have found a dynamic leader like Dr. Mundy to continue the great things that are happening in the Sheridan Community School system. I am confident Dr. Mundy will do great things in Sheridan," concluded Arrowood.

A public reception will be held for Dr. Mundy on Tuesday, January 21, 2014 at 5 p.m. prior to the Board's monthly meeting at 6:30 pm in the Sheridan High School Media Center.

Youth board members spread Christmas cheer to Riverview patients

Guerin Catholic sophomores Kaleigh Coltrane, Lucy Semler and Christina Spech, along with Hamilton Southeastern junior Carolyn Wehman, sing Christmas carols for patients at Riverview Hospital on Saturday, Dec. 7. The students are members of the Riverview Hospital Foundation's Youth Board, who volunteered to spread some Christmas cheer for those who are in the hospital.

Twelve Houses of Christmas showcases historic homes

Noblesville's newest tradition, The Twelve Houses of Christmas, will focus on the exterior of 12 showcase homes, each from one of Noblesville's 12 historic neighborhoods.

Opening night was Dec. 6. Driving tours will continue nightly through Dec. 31, from 6 to 9 p.m. each evening.

Houses frosted in holiday lights will warm the heart of the city in the very best of holiday cheer.

Collectible souvenir maps will be available for just $1 from several of Noblesville's finest retailers. The driving tour will encompass much of Old Town Noblesville, and the Noblesville Preservation Alliance encourages neighborhood participation in order to bring each neighborhood alive with lights.

Proceeds from map sales will benefit the continued preservation of Noblesville's historic districts through projects such as the Façade Grant program.

For this event, NPA is partnering with HCCBV's Nickel Plate Arts Campus, Hamilton County Historical Society and Noblesville Main Street's Christmas on the Square.

Is a new bridge in Noblesville's future?

By FRED SWIFT

County Commissioners on Dec. 3 were scheduled to sign an engineering agreement with the Corradino Group Inc. to produce an estimated cost of a bridge at Pleasant Street. It would be the first step toward building a fourth span of the river within Noblesville.

A bridge at that location has long been considered in order to take some of the pressure off Conner Street where traffic increasingly backs up. The city's expanding population is expected to create further congestion especially at rush hour.

Bridge construction within cities requires cooperation between city and county because Indiana law gives responsibility for bridges to the county, but within a city the street approaches to the bridge are a municipal responsibility.

Lack of sufficient financial resources on the part of one entity or the other has delayed consideration of the additional river crossing for several years. And, officials point out that the cost study being planned is no guarantee a bridge will be built immediately. The project may well depend on how much the bridge and street work will cost.

Bridges of the length involved over White River are extremely expensive. Hamilton County has a major bridge fund for such projects. The city which is aware and apparently favorable to having the cost study, will have to provide street construction funds sufficient to improve Pleasant Street to the east bank of the river and extend it on to River Road on the west side.

A new bridge would then provide a link from River Road on the west to Ind. 37 on the east. Several years ago the county built a bridge over the river at Field Drive which provides a link between Ind. 19 on the west to Ind. 37 on the east. It has provided considerable relief on the Logan Street bridge by allowing traffic north of downtown to cross the river without having to go through the heart of the city.

Harry W. Barnett

May 16, 1929 - December 5, 2013

Harry Wesley Barnett, 84, of Lebanon (formerly of Sheridan, IN) died Thursday December 5, 2013, at St. Vincent's Hospital in Indianapolis.

He was born May 16, 1929, in Clinton County, to Paul Barnett, Sr. and Mayme (Morton) Barnett, both deceased. Harry was raised on a farm in Clinton County and graduated with the class of 1947 from Sugar Creek High School in Pickard, Indiana.

Harry married Barbara June Wolfe on November 19, 1955, in Antioch. Barbara preceded him in death on March 22, 2009.

Harry was a life long farmer after serving in the United States Army from 1951 to 1952. While in the Army, Harry served with the 101st Airborne in Germany. After the service Harry farmed in Clinton County then moved north of Sheridan where he farmed until the mid 1990s. He retired and moved with Barbara to Lebanon in 1996 to be closer to their family.

Harry was a loving husband, father and grandfather. Survivors include son, Terry Barnett and daughter-in-law Susan of Lebanon; granddaughter, Meredith Federle (Jake), of Rushville and grandson, Chase Barnett (Andrea) of Huntersville, NC; brothers, Paul Barnett, Jr. (Belva) of Kirklin, Richard Barnett (Patty) of Sheridan; brother-in-law Charles Wolfe (Mary) of Lebanon, and several nieces and nephews. A sister, Mary Catherine Amos preceded him in death.

Visitation was conducted from 2 to 5 p.m. Sunday, December 8 at Kercheval Funeral Home, 306 E. 10th St., Sheridan. Funeral Services will be held at 10:30 a.m. on Monday, December 9 at the funeral home, with the Reverend VJ Stover officiating. Burial will be at Greenlawn Cemetery in Frankfort.

In lieu of flowers, memorial contributions may be made to the Indiana Talking Book and Braille Library or to the charity of the donors' choice.

Get ready for detours starting next spring

If you think driving in Hamilton County is tough during winter bad weather, you haven't seen anything, yet.

But the end result will be improved streets and highways in Noblesville and elsewhere throughout the county.

The Indiana Department of Transportation (INDOT) is awarding two paving contracts for sections of state highways 32, 37 and 38 in Hamilton County.

Calumet Civil Contractors will resurface more than two miles of State Road 32/38 between Hague Road and Union Chapel Road. The $775,000 contract includes reconstructing the railroad crossing at the intersection of State Road 32/38 and Eighth Street in Noblesville, which will require closure of both roadways. The closure is anticipated to take place between March 29 and April 13, 2014. The exact dates will be announced in advance of the work.

During the closure, state highway traffic will be detoured to US. 31, I-465, I-69 and State Road 37. Eighth Street will have a local detour that follows Cherry Street, 10th Street and Logan Street.

A separate contract calls for E&B Paving to resurface more than four miles of state Road 37 between Allisonville Road and State Road 213. A work schedule for the $840,000 contract is yet to be established.

Both projects are expected to be complete by September, 2014.

Motorists, businesses and residents are encouraged to subscribe to email updates by clicking the red GovDelivery envelope icon found on any INDOT web page. Updates will also be provided on the Indiana Department of Transportation: East Central Facebook page and on Twitter @INDOTE-Central.

Noblesville First Christian hosts Christmas Cantata on Sunday

The Noblesville First Christian Church, 16377 Herimann Blvd., will host its annual Christmas Cantata during its 10 a.m. service on Sunday, Dec. 15.

The theme of the Cantata is "Appalachian Winter," and it will feature All-American folk music. Mary Ellen Pankartz, the church's Music Director, said it will include "a variety of different styles of American music," such as hoe-down, jazz and Celtic-American music.

Members of the Indianapolis Symphony Orchestra will be performing at the Cantata. Pankartz said this year's orchestra will be small, but will include guitar, mandolin, banjo, violin, flutes, keyboard and percussion.

"It's basically one person on a part," said Pankartz. In addition, Tom Fowler, the owner of Noblesville Music Center will be playing guitar, and two members of the Hendricks County Symphony will join the orchestra.

The church's choir will also be a big part of the performances. Pankartz said there will "probably be around" 35 to 40 singers. During the Cantata, images will be projected on a new screen, and there will be narration by Sue Dupuis, known as the voice of the Indianapolis Museum of Art.

"It's kind of a sensory experience," said Pankartz.

Of course, the Christmas spirit is already being shown at the church.

"The church is already decorated beautifully, and that's always a good part of it," said Pankartz.

Noblesville Community Survey now available online

This fall, the City of Noblesville and the National Citizen Survey mailed out an anonymous survey to 1200 randomly selected Noblesville households in order to learn what residents think of the community. The survey results will also be compared to the results of the survey conducted in 2010. Those households that did not receive a survey but that still wish to participate in the process will be able to fill out an anonymous online survey from now through Monday, Dec. 23. Only those individuals who did not receive a mailed survey should fill out the online version. The survey will be available at www.VisionNoblesville.com and www.cityofnoblesville.org (on the main page of the city's Web site, click on the Vision Noblesville logo).

For those who wish to participate but who do not have access to a computer, the Hamilton East Public Library offers patrons free access to computers. Also, people are welcome to stop by the Planning Department at City Hall (16 S. 10th St.) between 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. from Monday through Friday and use one of the department's computers to fill out the online survey.

The Citizen Survey is being coordinated by Vision Noblesville - an initiative supported by Mayor Ditslear that encourages citizen participation and dialogue on a variety of topics under the banners of Education, Growth, Environment, and People. The purpose of the Citizen Survey is to provide insight as to what residents believe are the strengths and weaknesses of the community and of local government. This will assist city officials with long-term planning. The results of both the mailed and the online surveys will be announced in January.

For more information, visit www.VisionNoblesville.com or contact Cindy Benedict, Manager of Vision Noblesville, at (317) 770-2007 or cbenedict@noblesville.in.us.

Pullien's City Cafeteria is one of four new businesses that have recently opened in Noblesville. Pullien's is located near Marsh, and will feature Southern style comfort food

Four new businesses open in Noblesville

By MIKE CORBETT

Some new businesses have opened recently in Noblesville, including these four.

At Home with Valerie

Valerie Nicholson moved to Noblesville four years ago from Lafayette after her son went away to college. She liked living here but she got a great offer in a great community in South Carolina. It was in her field, human resources, working at a seaside resort. Everything seemed idyllic...but she hated it. She missed her friends and family, and, even though she lived in a community much like Noblesville, it never felt like home. So she moved back and opened the store she's always wanted: At Home with Valerie.

She shopped around downtown for the right location but kept coming back to 982 Logan, where Eleanor Rozellas used to be. Her store uses the formula that seems to succeed so well downtown: rented booths to people selling home décor. The store occupies three floors and consists of 34 booths. Valerie loves the "vibe" in the building and has found the traffic to be "incredible" at that location. Best of all, she's found the "people connection" she was missing in the corporate world. She's already getting involved with Noblesville Main Street and is looking forward to many years at that address.

Computer Corner

A new computer store on Clover Road would have been called Computer Corner even if it hadn't been on a corner. As it turns, it is located in the strip mall on the corner between the 4H Fairgrounds and Wal Mart. But the owners already had the name picked out before they opened. Justin Simpkins and Ulises Galeano decided to give up their jobs at a computer store in Castleton, and join forces in the start-up business that specializes in computer repair, both PC and Mac.

They did a little research beforehand and discovered that there are no computer repair storefronts in Noblesville, Fishers or Westfield except for those guys in black ties at the big box store. So they took out an ad in the phone book, moved their workbenches into the front of the retail store, and started working on computers right there in front of the window. They have a large room in the back that could be used as shop but they have other plans for that: they'd like eventually to offer home computer classes.

The storefront is important to the young entrepreneurs. They think it gives their business a legitimacy that you just don't get when you work out of your home. Customers always know where to find them and can rest assured their equipment is safe. They specialize in virus repair, fixing bad hard drives and data recovery. They are also offering a free diagnosis to anyone who comes in through the end of the month.

Jiana Gifts and Tea

Ferleen Loo followed her daughter to the United States. She's from Hong Kong and her husband's from China. When their daughter approached high school age, they sought the help of an agent who specializes in placing Chinese students in American high schools. Ferleen feels Chinese high schools have low education standards and it's not uncommon for parents like her to try to do better for their kids. Her daughter is now attending school near Knoxville, Tennessee, and Ferleen has friends in Hamilton County, so she travels here frequently. She and her husband are businesspeople in China so it came naturally to her to set up a company here.

She opened Jiana Gifts and Tea at 853 Conner St. in September in the old Artists on the Square location. All of her merchandise is imported from China, and consists of pottery, clothing, silk items like scarves, accessories and Chinese Tea. Ferleen says Chinese Tea is all natural and good for your health.

Ferleen currently splits her time between her daughter in Tennessee, Hamilton County and Hong Kong. Eventually she would like to move here permanently but currently travels frequently to the Far East to see her husband and purchase merchandise. Her husband is developing a chocolate product that they would like to sell to American food manufacturers. He would like to move here eventually as well.

Pullien's City Cafeteria

I first discovered Barbara Pullien-Jackson's cooking at the Chamber's Taste of Business three years ago. She and her daughter Ericka made quite an impression with their down-home southern style dishes. They returned the following two years and won the Bistro Award and Peoples' Choice award each time. Ever since the family moved here in the mid-2000's they have been searching for a location to open a restaurant. Well, they found one. They plan to open next week in the strip mall next to Marsh in the space Mancino's occupied for a few months.

Pullien's City Cafeteria will feature southern style comfort food: Fried Chicken, ribs, catfish, meat loaf, chicken and noodles. Specials will include dishes like Shrimp & Grits, Oxtail Soup, and Chicken and Waffles. The recipes are part of Barbara's family heritage. Her mom cooked for years for Ohio State University and a picture of Barbara's parents hangs in the dining room. Barbara's been catering since the 1980's and is excited about offering this unique concept in Noblesville. This is a cafeteria, not a buffet. No self-service; you get a tray and are served from behind the counter.

Barbara first discovered the Indy area when she traveled here for religious conventions. Eventually she moved here and over the years her kids followed. The whole Jackson family is involved in this restaurant and I predict it will become a Noblesville favorite in time.

Make New Year's resolutions with finances in mind

By COREY SYLVESTER

About 45 percent of Americans usually make New Year's resolutions, according to a survey from the University of Scranton. But the same survey shows that only 8 percent of us actually keep our resolutions. Perhaps this low success rate isn't such a tragedy when our resolutions involve things like losing a little weight or learning a foreign language. But when we make financial resolutions — resolutions that, if achieved, could significantly help us in our pursuit of our important long-term goals — it's clearly worthwhile to make every effort to follow through.

So, what sorts of financial resolutions might you consider? Here are a few possibilities:

- Boost your contributions to your retirement plans. Each year, try to put in a little more to your IRA and your 401(k) or other employer-sponsored retirement plans. These tax-advantaged accounts are good options for your retirement savings strategy.

- Reduce your debts. It's not always easy to reduce your debts, but make it a goal to finish 2014 with a smaller debt load than you had going into the new year. The lower your monthly debt payments, the more money you'll have to invest for retirement, college for your children (or grandchildren) and other important objectives.

- Build your emergency fund. Work on building an "emergency fund" containing six to 12 months' worth of living expenses, with the money held in a liquid account that offers a high degree of preservation of principal. Without such a fund, you might be forced to dip into your long-term investments to pay for emergencies, such as a new furnace, a major car repair, and so on. You might not be able to finish creating your emergency fund in one year, but contribute as much as you can afford.

- Plan for your protection needs. If you don't already have the proper amounts of life and disability insurance in place, put it on your "To Do" list for 2014. Also, if you haven't taken steps to protect yourself from the considerable costs of long-term care, such as an extended nursing home stay, consult with your financial professional, who can suggest the appropriate protection or investment vehicles. You may never need such care, but that's a chance you may not want to take — and the longer you wait, the more expensive your protection options may become.

- Don't overreact to market volatility. Too many people head to the investment "sidelines" during market downturns. But if you're not invested, then you miss any potential market gains — and the biggest gains are often realized at the early stages of the rally.

- Focus on the long term. You can probably check your investment balance online, which means you can do it every day, or even several times a day — but should you? If you're following a strategy that's appropriate for your needs, goals, risk tolerance and time horizon, you're already doing what you should be doing in the long run. So there's no need to stress yourself over the short-term movements that show up in your investment statements.

Do whatever you can to turn these New Year's resolutions into realities. Your efforts could pay off well beyond 2014.

The Gas Boom of 1896 - growing with Resources to Spare

By MARY SUE ROWLAND

During a series of paragraphs taken from “Noblesville through a Camera” circa 1896, offering a quick snap shot of life in Noblesville during that time, one last entry is presented today with the addition of a fantastic photo that truly tells the story. Noblesville was a growing town with resources to spare. “Supply of Natural Gas” was title and the description follows:

“As stated elsewhere the local supply of natural gas is practically unlimited, there being plenty for home consumption and enough to spare to pipe it to other cities without diminishing the pressure in the least. In fact, instead of its force decreasing it can be truthfully asserted that the pressure is even greater now than when the gas was discovered in this neighborhood. The supply used within the city for illuminating and heating purposes is controlled by the Noblesville Gas and Improvement Co. which was organized in the spring of 1887. The rates charged for residence heaters, grates or cook stoves runs from fifty cents to one dollar per month.” During this time, The Commercial Club gave away land and natural gas to “furtherance the mercantile and manufacturing interests of the city”. The city had two banks, one State and one National. The Citizen’s State Bank was the oldest, opening its doors in 1871. Wainright & Co. was on solid ground as the most prominent concerns of mortgage loan business and the recording of deeds. Wainright & Co. had a fire proof vault for valuable papers and safety deposit boxes to rent for those who did not wish to place their money in a bank. The city in 1896, had a water supply that was abundant and pure. Fifteen 8 inch wells provided the water for private and public use.

All that being said, the natural gas did run out in 20 years or less in some areas of Indiana including Noblesville. The gas boom in Indiana is considered as important as the Gold Rush to California. The natural resource welcomed new business and filled the state with industry and jobs. Today, the Trenton Gas Field is a study in history and tourism. A multiyear initiative is underway to bring the history to light and give opportunity to map the journey of what was and what still remains today in 20 counties in Indiana. Hamilton Country and Noblesville is included in the study.

In the late 1800’s, downtown Noblesville was filled with natural gas flambeaus to display the unlimited supply. Folks rode the interurban as a means to see the spectacular sight of the amazing light display. Gas was given away and thought to never run out, but it did, as most ignored the warnings. Over 90 percent of the natural gas was loss to venting.

It feels great being local

By DON JELLISON
Reporter Editor

I get asked this question a lot. “Are you enjoying what you’re doing (with The Reporter); are you having fun?” “Of course,” I answer. “It’s better than digging ditches.” That’s what my Dad would always say to me when I would moan and groan about having to go out five or six nights a week and cover sporting events. I’ve never dug ditches. I’m not sure anybody digs ditches in today’s world.

But, yes, I am having fun. For most of my adult life my world has been the world of sports. In the short time we’ve been publishing The Reporter, I’ve had an opportunity meet and talk with lots of other folks. Government leaders. School people. Business owners. Folks like you.

I’ve got the greatest job in the world (minus a few bucks) because here at The Reporter I have an opportunity to work with my son, Jeff, and with lots of people who I’ve been fortunate to have as friends for years and years. Not only friends, but real pros in the newspaper business. People you can tell our readers the story before the story ever breaks.

In a short period of time, we’ve broken so many stories one would think we’re a daily newspaper, including last week the little tiff going on in City Hall and this week about how the County Commissioners may be thinking about a new bridge over White River.

The best thing about this job is that The Reporter is local. I mean, really local.

We are the only broadsheet newspaper owned and totally operated by Hamilton County people. We shop here. We go to church here. Our kids and grandkids go to school year. We pay local taxes.

Most of all, we’re local because we support our advertisers, many of whom come from locally-owned businesses.

We are in a position in which we can’t hide, because day after day and hour after hour we walk the streets of Hamilton County and face those of you, the advertisers and the readers, who make this newspaper possible.

We put (I believe and many of you have said to me) a good product on the new stands and in your home. Our goal is to have stories, columns, and photos of interest from page 1 throughout the newspaper. Like I wrote, if we don’t do this, we have nowhere to hide. Because we do this, we hope our advertisers are proud to be a part of The Reporter.

We’re proud of our advertisers, too. We believe in our advertisers. We support our advertisers.

We don’t go looking for advertisers outside of Hamilton County. To do so, we believe, would not be fair to our advertisers. Why, for example, would we want to go to a shoe store in a nearby community and promote his or her product here in Sheridan, Noblesville or the Hamilton Heights area? Some newspapers do that at a cut-rate prices cheaper than they’re selling ads here at home.

We are so local that we can claim to do something that I’m certain no other newspaper in the nation does. Every copy of The Reporter is touched in some way by Jeff, Richie or myself before it gets to you. We personally deliver The Reporter to the post office for first class delivery. We place The Reporter for over the county sales throughout northern Hamilton County. And, we have our own little motor route where each Tuesday we sample homes in subdivisions throughout northern Hamilton County. We wave as we go by, and sometimes we have a chance to talk with those of you walking the streets or working in your lawns.

Some will tell you that we can do all these little local things because we’re a small Mom & Pop type business. Probably. But in the newspaper business here in Hamilton County we go into more homes than does any other broadsheet newspaper.

Being the largest fish in the pond doesn’t guarantee that a business is the best. But, being local does. And, folks, I’m telling you no newspaper is more local in northern Hamilton County than The Reporter.

Yes, I am having fun.

Noblesville Parks Foundation being formed

By FRED SWIFT

A new advocacy group designed to support and enhance the Noblesville parks is in the process of being formed. Known as the Noblesville Parks Foundation, the organization has completed preliminary steps toward becoming an official adjunct of the city park and recreation system. The idea is to assist in enrolling and coordinating volunteers, raise private funds for additional park programs and activities, and spread information about what the parks department has to offer. Currently operating with a nine-member board, an official organizational meeting with election of officers and accepting of by-laws will be held Feb. 11. The members of the organizing board are: Ann Minnich, John Davis, Jackie Cox, Tim Ingle, Trish Crist, Tom Gang, Terri Sigman-Kennedy, Don Seal and Brandon Bennett.

Ms. Minnich serves as chairman. She says citizens who may wish to volunteer to work in foundation activities may contact her through the park department office at 776-6350. The chairman says no money has been given by city government, but several individuals have donated funds to get the foundation efforts started. The parks foundation is not the first in the area, but organizers see it as differing from some in that they hope to introduce non-traditional activities at local parks. It will not, however, be involved in athletic and recreational programs. The foundation will look for the park board to provide ideas for projects which the foundation will then execute. While many folks think of Noblesville parks as being only Forest Park, the department now operates or has under development five other parks: Dillon Park, Seminary Park, Southside Park, Hague Road Nature Preserve and Eastside Park. Early in the new year the public can expect to find a foundation web page online where plans can be viewed and a call for volunteers will be found.

By AIMEE GEBHART

Lately it seems like the world is obsessed with mustaches. Everywhere I go I see cute pictures of them adorning mugs, cards, jewelry, and clothing, just to name a few. I happen to be a big fan of men's facial hair. I loved it on Tom Selleck during his Magnum P. I. years, during his Friends years, and oh, let's just face it, during all his years. Until recently though, people seemed to have lost all respect for the mustache. The five o'clock shadow was okay, as were goatees and beards. But an actual gentleman's mustache? Not as widely accepted. After years of listening to people tease my husband about his furry upper lip, I'm glad that the "stache" is starting to get the respect that it deserves. Ed has had a mustache for as long as I have known him. For me, it's just as much a part of him as his eyes, nose, or chin. If it weren't for the fact that I've seen his baby pictures, I would swear that he was born with that thing. He did shave it off one time when we were first married, but that was an impulsive move that he ended up regretting. I came home from work that day, took one look at him, and screamed bloody murder. He looked like Opie Taylor from The Andy Griffith Show. I made him promise to grow it back and to never shave it off again. Luckily, he has left it alone for the past 14 years. What really surprises me about his mustache isn't how long he's had it, but the reaction that it gets from other people. Guys are usually intrigued by it and want to know what he does to maintain it. Girls are curious about what it feels like and whether or not it scratches when he kisses me. Those questions are innocent and even kind of funny. You know what's not so funny, though? The unsolicited advice Ed has received in regards to his upper lip. For instance, one night he was out at an establishment with some friends, minding his own business, when a strange woman approached his group. She tried to flirt with them, unsuccessfully I might add, and then turned her attention to my hubby. Out of nowhere she said, "You know what? You'd be a lot better looking if you shaved your mustache." Ed was completely caught off guard, which is very unusual for him. He chose to disregard her and her rude remark, but she came back a little while later and continued her rant. Big mistake. She had given him just enough time to strategize and plan his counter-strike. When she finished rambling, Ed paused and then calmly shared his thoughts about how she could improve her appearance. Needless to say, she didn't take his criticism nearly as well as he took hers! She spent the rest of the night shooting him dirty looks and talking about him to her friends. I'm guessing she probably switched to Skinny Girl margaritas at that point too, but that's just my theory. One thing is certain; it takes a strong personality to really rock the classic mustache. I think that's one reason it has become such a popular symbol lately. But if you're still not a fan, that's okay. I must warn you, though; before you are tempted to criticize someone for their preferred style of whiskers, remember the 2 important lessons that Miss Know-It-All and her outraged friends learned from Ed that night: 1. Don't dish it out if you can't take it, and 2. Don't disrespect a man with a mustache.

Pacers announce Noblesville Community Night

The Indiana Pacers are RED HOT and now the Noblesville community has an opportunity to see the team play at Bankers Life Fieldhouse with tickets that are priced below market cost.

The Noblesville Schools Education Foundation is partnering with the Pacers to present a Noblesville Community Night at the Pacers game against the Sacramento Kings on Tuesday, January 14. Tickets are as low as $13.

Members of the Noblesville High School band will provide entertainment in the concourse before the game, one person from the community is being chosen to deliver the game ball to the referee to start the game, and a special presentation is planned for half time.

A couple lucky students from each school will have an opportunity to either be on center court for player introductions and help wave a giant Pacers flag, or be a part of the halftime High-5 Tunnel Club that greets the Pacers as the players return to the court to start the second half.

The participating students will be selected from among those who purchase tickets. The names of all students who purchase tickets to the game will be entered into a drawing at each school. The winning students will participate in these events and may ask a parent or friend to join them on the court for these experiences. (The second person also need to purchase a ticket.)

Tickets are $13 for upper balcony seats (regular price is $14.30), $25 for lower balcony seats (regularly $30.80), and $60 for club level seats (regularly $89.10). They may be paid for by cash or by checks made payable to the Indiana Pacers.

The deadline for ordering tickets is Wednesday, December 18. Orders may be sent to any school or taken or mailed to Sharon Trisler at the Noblesville Schools Educational Services Center, 18025 River Road. Order forms are available online at noblesvilleschools.org and also are available at each school. The tickets will be delivered after Christmas break. The Pacers will give a portion of the proceeds from each ticket sold to the Noblesville Schools Education Foundation to help fund classroom grants and scholarships. Questions may be addressed to Sharon Trisler at 317-773-3171, ext. 10430.

Rotary Club of Noblesville to Host 5th Annual Ice Cream with Santa

The Rotary Club of Noblesville is inviting the community to have an ice cream dessert with Santa Claus from 5 to 8 p.m. Tuesday, Dec. 10, at Culver’s in Noblesville, 557 Westfield Road.

As has been true at Rotary’s “Ice Cream with Santa” parties over the last four years, the ice cream will be free to children under age 13, as well as to those kids over age 70.

Santa Claus will arrive promptly at 5:00, and he will be available to talk to and have his picture taken with those children who want to talk to him. The Rotary Club will have a photographer on hand to record for posterity the child’s meeting with Santa Claus, and all pictures will be sent to the e-mail addresses given by the parents of the children. If no address is given, the parents will be able to acquire the pictures at Box,

Because some kids love to have their faces painted, there will be a painter available to indulge the whims of those children, and the face painting will be done free of charge.

A coloring contest for kids aged two to twelve will take place that evening, and eight winners will be selected from those artistic pieces submitted. Each of the eight winners will receive a cash prize of $25.

Many of the members of Noblesville Rotary Club will be on hand to greet their guests and fellow celebrants of a great evening.

Nuts Linked to Longevity

By BRAD DAHLAGER

Christmas, but all year round.

Over the last two decades a large number of studies have tabulated the health benefits of eating nuts. At least four studies dating back to 1992 demonstrate that the regular consumption of nuts can significantly lower (as much as 47%) an individual's risk for developing cardiovascular disease. Since 2002 three separate studies have indicated that frequent nut consumption can decrease an individual's risk for developing type-2 diabetes. In 2003 the FDA issued a statement confirming that scientific evidence suggests that the daily consumption of 1.5 ounces of most nuts, including peanuts, can reduce the risk of heart disease. Other research has shown that eating nuts can decrease the individual's risk of developing gall stones and age related memory loss and that eating nuts at least twice weekly can decrease an individual's risk of developing pancreatic cancer by up to 35%. Additional scientific evidence suggests that eating nuts can beneficially reduce hypertension and inflammation and help prevent weight gain and lower cholesterol. Now, in the single biggest study of its kind, new research from Harvard University finds that consuming nuts on a regular basis also helps people live longer.

The study, published late November in the New England Journal of Medicine, looked at the relationship between nut consumption and many specific causes of death including heart disease, cancer, infection and diabetes. The data, gathered over a 30 year period, profiled a participant pool of nearly 119,000 volunteers. The new study found that volunteers who ate a handful (a 1 ounce serving) of nuts daily were 25% less likely to die from heart disease, 20% less likely to die from lung disease or diabetes and 11% less likely to die from cancer compared to study participants who did not eat nuts. Study subjects ate a wide variety of nuts including peanuts (which are really legumes) and tree nuts like walnuts, cashews and almonds. Researchers reported that study subjects who ate nuts were also more likely to be slimmer.

To understand why nuts can be so good for us we need only look as far as the bioactive compounds in nuts. Because nuts are a rich source of protein, heart-healthy fats, vitamins, minerals, fiber, and especially antioxidants they can play a significant role in keeping us globally healthy.

Although the health benefits of eating nuts have been well documented and studied over the last 20 years, the Harvard researchers were the first to look at whether these health benefits translate into a longer life. After accounting for variables like smoking and obesity the researchers found that participants who ate a handful of nuts seven or more times per week had an astounding 20 percent lower death rate, a finding which should give all of us who want to live longer just one more reason to be a "heath nut."

CHS defense stops NHS

By DON JELLISON
Reporter Editor

Although it is early in the season, there is lots of talk in the state about Carmel bidding for a third straight Class 4A state basketball championship. In order to do that, of course, Carmel first will have to win the Noblesville Sectional.

The Greyhounds certainly have made believers of Noblesville. Carmel flatout took apart the Millers, 51-33, Friday evening at the Eric Clark Activity Center. Carmel did it at both ends of the court. They held Noblesville to one of its poorest shooting nights, maybe ever, and on the offensive end two veteran Greyhounds, Ryan Cline and Zach McRoberts, shot the Millers out of the gym.

"Everywhere we went, their defense was there," said Miller coach Dave McCollough.

McCollough said Noblesville's low point total was a combination of Carmel's defense and Noblesville not screening or cutting off the screens.

"We made just six turnovers, but we didn't shoot the ball well," he said.

Noblesville stayed in the game for three quarters, trailing 14-7 after one 22-14 at half and 36-25 after three quarters. Carmel then went on a 15-8 fourth quarter run to put away the Millers.

"Our defense was disappointing," said McCollough, "because we lost people. Cline is one of the best shooters in Central Indiana, and we lost him. McRoberts got us on back doors a couple of times."

Cline hit four 3-pointers and finished with 20 points. McRoberts also was in double figures with 14 points.

On offense, Noblesville was just 6-of-14 from 2-point range and only 3-of-14 from 3-point range. Joey Brewer came off the bench to hit 2-of-5 long-range shots. Jack Tritipo was 5-of-9 from the field and finished with 14 of Noblesville's 33 points.

Noblesville's next stop is a Hoosier Crossroads Conference tilt at Hamilton Southeastern on Friday. It's part of a girl/boy double-header, with the boys playing the second game.

McCollough said his Millers at HSE can expect much of what they experienced at Carmel.

"The crowd will be in our ears, just as they were at Carmel," said the coach. "We will have some maturity. (Eric) Davidson is a shooter just like Cline, and (Tyler) Jenkins, just like McRoberts, is a Division I type player."

Nickel Plate Arts to feature work from 2 Noblesville teachers

Nickel Plate Arts in downtown Noblesville will host a photographic visit to each area - as seen through the camera lenses of two Noblesville teachers - from Jan. 3-Feb. 8. The photographs that will be on display were taken by Darlene Patterson, art teacher at Promise Road Elementary School, and Carol Land, speech pathologist at Noblesville East Middle School, during summer trips funded by the Lilly Endowment Teacher Creativity Grants each received.

Mrs. Patterson, a two-time recipient of the grant, traveled to Baffin Island in the Canadian Arctic to participate in the Nunavut Arts and Crafts Association Festival, engage children of Iqaluit in a photography project, and kayak in the Sirmilik National Park. She will display her own photographs and also share work from Promise Road's spring photo club and the children of Baffin Island.

"At first, I did not know if the children would be interested," said Patterson. "But, they sure were!! They would arrive each day at my classroom wanting to ask questions and to hear more stories about all that I saw and did. The power of media continues to amaze me!"

Mrs. Land, who long has had a passion for calligraphy, traveled to England and Paris where she visited abbeys and museums and studied calligraphy in order to refine her lettering, master new artistic techniques, and personalize her writing. Her display will feature photographs from her trip and also samples of her calligraphy.

"My trips to England, Paris and Boston were phenomenal," said Land. "I had no idea I would learn as much as I did. I think the quote of author Pat Conroy about travel says it all for me....."once you have traveled, the voyage never ends, but it is played out over and over again in the quietest chambers. The mind can never break off from the journey".

Nickel Plate Arts is located at 107 S. Eighth Street. More information about the center is available at <http://www.nickelplatearts.org>.

Millers, Huskies showing improvements

By RICHIE HALL
Reporter Sports Editor

The goal of high school swim teams is improvement from the first meet of the year to the last - which is hopefully at the state meet.

The Noblesville swim team is already on the right track. The girls conducted their second meet of the season Thursday, Dec. 5 at Hamilton Southeastern, which is where the Miller boys began their season. The girls team swam hosted Zionsville earlier in the season, on Nov. 19.

Sophomore Leigh Roberts has two of Noblesville's best times, both achieved at HSE. Roberts finished the 200 freestyle in 2:00.73 and the backstroke in 1:04.26. Another young swimmer, freshman Julie Kaess, has started well, swimming the 100 free in 55.98 and the 500 free 5:18.94. Both marks, again, were swam at the Royals' pool. Freshman Samantha Cripe swam a 25.30 in the 50 free at HSE.

The seniors, of course, are helping to lead the way. Alyssa Heniser swam the butterfly in 1:00.81. She teamed with Roberts, Kaess and Cripe to swim a 3:46.44 in the 400 free relay.

Then there's Meme Sharp, the Millers' own state qualifying diver for the past three years. The senior has won her first three meets, pacing at Zionsville and HSE, then taking the Noblesville Diving Invitational, which took place Saturday, Dec. 7. Sharp scored 276.20 points in six dives at Southeastern, then totaled 457.25 points at the NHS Invite.

Sharp is the second-rated diver in Indiana in the state rankings, which are based off of a combination of last year's and this year's results. Sharp's best dive last year was 486.75 points, at the sectional. She was the state runner-up two years in a row.

Senior Taylor Parrish is ranked 14th in the 500 free, based on her time of 5:11.72 last year. Parrish swam 5:22.39 against Zionsville in the Millers' first meet.

In the dual meet, Southeastern beat Noblesville 105-81. The Royals are ranked No. 6 in the team ratings, while the Millers are No. 22.

Southeastern's boys team are ranked second in the state, so it was a tough opener for 35th-ranked Noblesville. The Royals won 128-57. But it was a good measuring stick for the Millers, who have four state ranked swimmers.

Luke Conner is ranked 11th in the breaststroke, with Alex Wolfred 17th in the butterfly. Cameron Gill is ranked 16th in the backstroke and 18th in the 50 free, all based on returning times from last year.

Against HSE, Wolfred won the 500 free in a time of 4:54.02. He was also second in the individual medley, finishing in a time of 2:01.56. Gill was second in the backstroke with a time of 55.15, not far from his ranked time of 54.36.

The Millers will have two home meets this week. They welcome Lawrence North on Tuesday, Dec. 10 for a 5 p.m. start, then host the Noblesville Swimming Invitational, which starts at 10 a.m. Saturday, Dec. 14.

LADY HUSKIES WIN FIRST MEET

The Hamilton Heights girls swim team won its first dual meet of the year on Thursday, Dec. 5, beating Tipton 116-40.

The Huskies won 10 of 12 events, all except diving and the breaststroke. Mariah Oxley won the butterfly in a time of 1:16.33, establishing a new season-best in that event. Oxley also has two season bests for Heights, in the breaststroke (1:25.05) and the individual medley (2:30.75); both were achieved earlier in the season.

In a Tuesday, Dec. 3 dual meet, Eastern beat the Huskies 123-60. Heights had several season-bests in that meet, however: Hannah Reecer swam the 50 free in 28.53 (good for second place), while Morgan Hasler finished the 200 free in 2:24.37 and the 500 free in 6:30.49. Oxley won the individual medley, the lone victory for the Huskies.

Big week for Guerin Catholic

Golden Eagles win 3A Top 10 showdown with Huskies

By RICHIE HALL
Reporter Sports Editor

Friday's boys basketball clash between Guerin Catholic and Hamilton Heights was the first big rivalry game in Reporterland, and it didn't disappoint.

The Class 3A No. 3 Golden Eagles beat the 3A No. 10 Huskies 59-49, although the game was a little closer than the final score indicated. Guerin led by 54-38 late in the fourth quarter before the Huskies pushed back to 54-48 with 1:34 remaining.

But the Golden Eagles got a layup from junior Matt Holba, giving them a 56-48 lead. If anyone doubted that Holba, a transfer from Chesterton, would make an impact for Guerin Catholic, just look at his stats in the first two games. After a 15-point night against Herron, Holba added another 18 against Heights.

Twelve of those points came in the fourth quarter, including two dunks. Holba's first dunk was off a rebound, the other was the last basket of the game, an exclamation point to a big win.

"Matt Holba's just kind of learning our system," said GCHS coach Pete Smith, who said the junior has "a lot of upside."

The first half was tight, and a study in contrasts. While Holba and senior Aaron Brennan provided the inside game, the Huskies went outside.

Heights relied on jumpers and 3-pointers to keep pace with the Golden Eagles, making three in the first quarter alone. Conley Hoover had two long-range baskets, with Garrett Paull hitting another.

The Huskies led 26-25 late in the second half before a seven-point Guerin run gave it a 32-27 halftime advantage. Christian Munson got the lead back with a 3, then Whit Rapp added four more points with a layin and two foul shots.

Things started to go GC's way in the third quarter, with Brennan starting the half by hitting a 3-pointer. The senior had seven points in the period, on his way to 16 overall.

"We had a really good third quarter," said Smith.

That moved Brennan's career point total to 1,092, passing Noblesville's Larry Simmons (1,084) and putting him just a basket away from Carmel's Larry Isley (1,094).

"We didn't equal their intensity at the start of the third quarter, and that hurt," said HHHS coach Chad Ballenger. "When they made their run, we forced some shots instead of being patient."

Brennan had a double-double, also getting 10 rebounds. Rapp was close with nine boards, and Rapp nearly had a triple-double: Ten points, nine assists and eight rebounds.

Paull wound up leading the Huskies with 14 points, followed by 13 for Grant Weatherford. Both were the Huskies' rebound leaders, with Paull grabbing seven boards and Weatherford five. Hunter Crist handed out six assists, with four for Weatherford.

"I'd like to see them again," said Ballenger. "It's a good test. Our assistants were talking earlier, it'd be a good game to play late in the year just to really see where we're at."

Guerin Catholic has three games this week. The first two are road trips to 7:30 p.m. games at Broad Ripple on Tuesday, Dec. 10 and to Anderson on Friday, Dec. 13. The Golden Eagles then host Muncie Central at 7:45 p.m. Saturday, Dec. 14.

Broad Ripple beat Muncie Southside in its first game of the season, then lost to Shortridge and Cathedral on successive nights. Anderson is 1-1, beating Lapel in its opener, then falling to Fort Wayne Snider on Saturday. The Bearcats are 3-0, defeating Muncie South, Yorktown and Snider.

The Huskies are on the road again twice this week, traveling to Lewis Cass Friday to start Mid-Indiana Conference play. The Kings are 2-1, with wins over North Miami and Pioneer sandwiching a loss to Logansport.

On Saturday, Heights heads up to Tri-Central, which has not played a game yet due to their football team's state championship run.

Brennan moves up list

Lots of folks showed up at Guerin Catholic's basketball season opener to see the new kid on the block. Matt Holba, the 6-6 junior from Chesterton didn't disappoint those who were in the stands at the Eagles Nest. He hit 7-of-12 shots, scored 15 points and grabbed eight rebounds. He said "hello" very early with a slam-dunk within the first minute of the game.

But, when all the push and shove ended (and there was plenty of that in the first half) it was two old Guerin veterans who made the biggest difference in Coach Pete Smith's 78-62 victory over Indianapolis Herron. Aaron Brennan and Whit Rapp, two seniors who two years ago helped Guerin win a state championship, unloaded. Brennan scored 30 points and collected eight rebounds and Rapp helped the Eagles fly away in the second half by scoring 10 points in the third quarter.

Rapp, the play-making General of the team, was the Rapp of old.

"Rapp was injured and wasn't his self last season," said Smith.

Brennan's 30 point night (he was 11-of-19 from the field) soared the 6-6 senior past eight names on Hamilton County's all-time scoring list. Brennan now has 1,076 points, passing Sheridan's Bill Bowen (1,040), Westfield's Doug Isley (1,040), Noblesville's Dave Fleming (1,042), Southeastern's Anthony Furlin (1,048), Jackson Central's Ronnie Ackles (1,052), Westfield's Brandon Haughey (1,071) and Hamilton Heights' Austin Etherington (1,073).

Next on the all-time list are Noblesville's Larry Simmons (1,084) and Carmel's Larry Isley (1,094.).

Brennan is the only Hamilton County player to enter this season with 1,000-plus career points. He now stands second on the all-time Guerin Catholic scoring list, behind Ryan Nowicki (1,153). Nowicki likely will be in the house when later this season Brennan breaks the Guerin record. Nowicki now is a Guerin assistant coach.

In the opener, Herron put up a fight against the Class 3A, No 3 ranked Eagles, with the game tied at 34-34 entering intermission. That all ended when Rapp recorded a pair of 3-pointers and scored 10 points in a 25-7 Guerin third quarter run.

Sheridan splits double-header...

Late start, then Christy explodes

In a girls/boys basketball double-header at Sheridan, the team which hadn't lost, lost and the team which hadn't won, won.

Sheridan's girls, which opened the season with a school-record five consecutive wins, was beaten, 42-21, by Carroll in a Hoosier Heartland Conference game. Carroll is 5-2 overall with its only losses being to Delphi, 26-25, and in a conference game with Clinton Prairie, 32-30.

In the nightcap, Sheridan's boys played Anderson Prep Academy and came away with a 79-70 victory. Sheridan earlier lost its season opener to Rossville.

Cort Christy, who didn't start the game, came off the bench in the second quarter and went on to lead Coach Cory Dunn's Blackhawks with 27 points. He was 11-of-13 from the field.

"Christy had a little academic problem," said Dunn when asked why the 6-3 senior forward did not start.

Clinton Central	0-0	2-5
Sheridan	0-1	5-1
Rossville	0-1	1-6
Conference This Week
Tuesday: Sheridan at Clinton Central;
Thursday: Rossville at Clinton Central.

Sheridan had a big first half, scoring 40 points and taking a 20-8 advantage after the first quarter. For the game, Sheridan hit 30-of-46 shots, including 5-of-9 from 3-point range.

"We played a good first half," said Dunn. "We got a little sloppy in the second half. These kids had never played with a lead like that."

Nine different Blackhawks scored and two, Chris Roberts and Michael Burnell joined Christy in double figures with 10 points each. Sheridan collected 49 rebounds, led by Jake Chesney with 10. Christy had a complete game, coming up with four steals and four rebounds.

Sheridan will have two games this week, starting with a Hoosier Heartland contest at Clinton Central on Friday and then hosting Manual on Saturday. Clinton Central is 2-2. The Bulldogs have split with Delphi, losing 61-38 and then winning 60-55. They have beaten Faith Christian, 65-59, and lost to Tri-County, 62-49. Manual has lost to Beech Grove, 73-58, and to Covenant Christian, 67-64, and has defeated Chistel House, 90-48.

Coach Jeff Guenther's Sheridan girls, who hadn't played in two weeks, got off to a good start against Carroll. The game was tied at 8-8 after one quarter and Carroll led only 22-16 at halftime. But, the Lady Blackhawks then went ice-cold, scoring just five points in the second half.

Sheridan's Jake Chesney pulled down 10 rebounds for the Blackhawk boys team in its 79-70 win over Anderson Prep on Friday.

Freshman Brittany Welch had a good game for Sheridan, leading with nine points and five rebounds. Sheridan hosted Fall Creek Academy on Monday and tonight has a conference game at Clinton Central.

Brittany Welch scored nine points and had five rebounds for Sheridan's girls basketball team in its Friday game. The Blackhawks fell to Carroll, their first loss of the season.

Wrestling

Millers cap busy week with great day at Valpo

Noblesville High's wrestling team came off a busy week with a Hoosier Crossroads Conference victory over Fishers; a snow-out against Plainfield, and a strong performance at the Valparaiso Super Wrestling Duals.

Coach Tom Knotts' Millers, now 10-1 on the year, lost for the first time when edged by host Valparaiso, 36-24, in a Saturday tourney at Valpo. Noblesville defeated Kankakee Valley 49-27, Michigan City 69-12, Warsaw 51-21 and Portage 38-37.

Four Millers finished a perfect 5-0. Vance Ellis did it at 120, Niko Barrantes at 126, David Kitko at 132 and Derek Moon at 152.

Earlier in the week, Noblesville faced and defeated Fishers, 33-28, the Millers' first Hoosier Crossroads Conference foe of the season. Ben Elliott, Barrantes and Mitch Mackesey had pins in the victory.

Noblesville is scheduled to host conference power Westfield tonight (Tuesday).

Meanwhile, Hamilton Heights came from behind to beat Elwood 39-33 in a dual meet on Thursday. The Huskies trailed 33-18 but swept the last four matches: Jarred Shearman toughed out a 1-0 decision, Zach Stevens won by forfeit, then Cole Leininger and Andre Porter both won by pins - Porter's pin was in 19 seconds. Chris Loy and Riley White each won by pin also.

The Huskies competed at the Taylor Super Six on Saturday, beating Clinton Central and Taylor and losing to Western, Kokomo and South Bend Saint Joseph. Cole Leininger finished the day undefeated (5-0) at 220 pounds.

Guerin Catholic fell to Clinton Prairie 42-40 in a Wednesday dual meet. Nick Smith, JT Lazzara, Dawson McMahon and Sam Vondersaar were winners by pin.

This week in Hamilton County sports history

75 Years Ago

In a key Hamilton County Conference basketball game, Mace scored 13 points and Thompson added 11 as Sheridan rolled over Fishers, 35-9.

50 Years Ago

Coach Tom McConnell brought out the Sheridan stall, made famous by Coach Larry Hobbs, but that wasn't enough as No. 9 ranked Tipton defeated Sheridan, 44-39. Johnny Mitchell scored 15 points for the Blackhawks.

In one of the great all-time battles between Noblesville and Carmel, Coach Glen Harper's Millers edged Coach Bill Shepherd's Greyhounds, 63-62. Eddie Grissom tipped in the game-winning shot and scored 20 points and Charlie Core pulled down 22 rebounds.

25 Years Ago

Courtney Cox scored the game's first nine points as Noblesville's Lady Millers rolled past Tipton, 65-39. Cox finished with 19 points and Jenny Smith added 15.

Lady Millers too deep for Mavs

By DON JELLISON
Reporter Editor

This 2013-14 Noblesville High girls basketball team may, or may not, become one of the better teams in the school's history. Only time will tell. Currently, the Lady Millers are off to a 7-1 start, beaten only by state powerhouse Westfield.

But, arguably, this is one of the deepest teams in Lady Miller history. There is more talent shooting hoops in The Mill this season than you can shake a stick at.

No better example than who was on the court and who was not on the court as Coach Donna Keck's club spanked McCutcheon, 64-35, in a Hoosier Crossroads Conference game Saturday afternoon. Noblesville was missing (for the season) excellent point guard Becca Bergman and Jessica Kiser, the only senior on the team, missed the last three quarters after being sidelined with a first quarter injury. Even so, eight different Lady Millers scored. Three finished in double figures; another scored nine points and still another notched eight points.

Noblesville's leading scorers were two players who came off the Defoe, a junior, canned 4-of-7 shots from 3-point range. O'Reilly, a sophomore led in rebounds with six, while Defoe and Wood each grabbed five.

"We played well," said Keck. "We shot 3-pointers well, especially in the first half."

Noblesville was 7-of-17 shooting 3-pointers.

Mark Morrow receives IHSAA Distinguished Media Service Award

Mark Morrow, whose work has been read in print and online for five decades, has been selected by the IHSAA Executive Committee to receive the 2013-14 Distinguished Media Service Award for District 2.

Morrow's contributions to education-based athletics was recognized on Saturday when Kokomo visited Fishers in boys high school basketball. IHSAA Commissioner Bobby Cox and Sports Information Director Jason Wille will make the presentation.

This is the 50th year Morrow has worked as a member of the Indiana media and all but four of those years have been covering high school sports. He is the founder, president and publisher of Hamilton County Sports Daily, an all-sports website that publishes seven days a week and focuses on Hamilton County sports with an emphasis on its high school programs and athletes. It can be found at HCSportsDaily.com. Morrow also writes a column for the Hamilton County Reporter.

Morrow is a 1965 Kokomo High School graduate where he played football, basketball and baseball and got his start with the Kokomo Tribune while a high school sophomore. He began working there regularly in 1967 and served as assistant sports editor from 1972 to 1975. He was sports editor at the Michigan City News-Dispatch from 1975 to 1982, and joined the Indianapolis News in 1983. He spent 25 years at Indianapolis Newspapers before taking early retirement in 2009, spending his final 12 years at the Indianapolis Star as a sports copy editor.

During his career, Morrow worked as a beat writer for the Indiana Pacers from 1984-86, was a golf writer and columnist for 30 years and spent eight years as High Schools Sports Coordinator for the Indianapolis News before the paper merged with the Star. Between 2008 and 2010, he was the online columnist for the VYPE High School Magazine web site.

In December 2008, he published his book, "Have Laptop, Did Travel," a newspaper journalist's memoirs on Sports' Grandest Stage, which is a collection of stories involving several famous Indiana sports figures.

Morrow is a member of the Indiana Basketball Coaches' Association and the Indiana Basketball Hall of Fame, where he's currently an associate director; the Indiana Football Coaches' Association; the Indiana Sportswriters-Sportscasters Association, where he became its youngest president in 1975; the United States Golf Association; and is a charter member of the PGA Tour Partners Association, which in 2010 was renamed Golf Partners Club. He also was presented the Outstanding Baseball Media Award from the Indiana Baseball Coaches Association in 2012.

Morrow, married to Becky, is the proud father of two sons - Matt (Michelle) Morrow and Mike (Emily) McCormick - and five grandchildren: Gavin, Cuinn, and Camille Morrow; and Aidan and Ella McCormick. He and his late wife Carol were married for 36 years.

Pendleton's big 2nd half stops HH

By RICHIE HALL
Reporter Sports Editor

Everything was going right for the Hamilton Heights girls basketball team in the first half of its Tuesday game against Pendleton Heights.

But that changed in the second half. The Arabians made adjustments, and that allowed them to zoom past the Huskies, with the final score 70-53. Pendleton outscored Heights 46-23 in the second half.

"They made some adjustments and they picked up on Haley (Cook)," said HHHS coach Scott Fernung. "We just tried to play one-on-one basketball. We talked about it at halftime. They came out with a lot more intensity the second half."

The Huskies' biggest lead was 30-19 with less than two minutes left in the first half. Cook had half of that total, scoring 15 points in pretty much every way possible. This included a rare four-point play, where she made a foul shot after hitting a 3-pointer.

Pendleton scored the last five points of the half, cutting the Heights lead to 30-24 at the break. The Huskies bravely held the lead for the first half of the third quarter, but a sudden six-point run by the Arabians pushed them ahead 38-35. Heights wouldn't lead again, as Pendleton slowly increased its lead throughout the remainder of the game.

Cook finished the game with 18 points, while Taylor Boyd added 11.

The Huskies have three games this week, so there's no time to dwell on this loss. Two of those games are Mid-Indiana Conference contests, both of which are on the road. Heights will travel to Northwestern for its league opener on Tuesday, then host Frankfort on Thursday in a non-conference game. The Huskies will play at Peru at 1:30 p.m. Saturday.

Middle school results...

The Sheridan 7th grade boys basketball team has gone 2-1 in its last three games.
