Committee looks to balance enrollments at elementary schools

Due to large increases in enrollment at Promise Road and Noble Crossing elementary schools, the school board and district administration appointed a rebalancing committee to look at adjusting enrollment districts to accommodate the growth at those schools.

After careful consideration of enrollment and trends in the local housing market, the committee has developed a proposal for the rebalancing. The proposed plan includes moving the following neighborhoods:

Rivers Edge Apartments to North from Noble Crossing

The area bounded by Conner Street, Pleasant Street, 10th Street. and SR 37 from Stony Creek to North

Fox Glen and Arbor Grove from Promise Road to Stony Creek

Monarch Springs, Fishers Oakwood, and other students east of Promise Road and north of 32 or east of 37 and north of 186th St. from Promise Road to White River.

The proposal will be presented at forums at all seven elementary schools during January and early February to allow for patron feedback. It then will be presented to the school board at the board's February 18 meeting. At that time, the board could either adopt the proposal or request additional changes. Patrons are encouraged to attend the forums at their elementary schools, but may attend at other schools if their schedules so require. The school board meeting also is open to the public.

The forums are scheduled as follows:
Monday, January 13, 7:00 p.m. at Hazel Dell
Wednesday, January 15, 7:00 p.m. at Hinkle Creek
Thursday, January 16, 7:00 p.m. at Noble Crossing
Wednesday, January 22, 7:00 p.m. at North
Thursday, January 23, 7:00 p.m. at White River
Thursday, January 30, 7:30 p.m. at Promise Road
Wednesday, February 5, 7:00 p.m. at Stony Creek

Cicero fire victim identified

The victim of a house fire Monday in Cicero last week was identified as 66-year-old Linda Miessen, who was the resident of the house at 2469 Lincoln Drive in Cicero.

The body was recovered Wednesday morning.

Hamilton County Corner Thurl Cecil stated that the cause of death was an acute myocardial infarction and smoke inhalation pending any further information from the toxicology reports.

"This is the first time in my career that I have had to stop and resume the search a second day," said Tim Murry from the State Fire Marshall's office.

Efforts to recover the body started as soon as it was safe to enter the structure. Due to the number of agencies involved and

George Charles Elliott

April 2, 1940 - January 7, 2014

George Charles Elliott, 73, passed away Tuesday, January 7th, peacefully at his home he shared with his wife Marian Elliott, after a long and courageous battle with cancer. George was born April 2, 1940 in Indianapolis to George Burger and Ruth Helen (Bell) Elliott.

An adventurous, self-taught artist drawn to nature, animals, travels & automobiles, George loved spending time expressing himself through his gift of creativity. He had a studio in Noblesville, White River Studio, and one at his house in Sedona, AZ.

His interests included nature and the outdoors, people, animals, hiking, music, and the ISO. He especially enjoyed orangutans and spent time in Borneo studying, befriending & researching them. George painted with four close artist friends for over 20 years every Tuesday at White River

Studio, and was a season-ticket holder with the Indianapolis Symphony Orchestra for over 25 years. Anyone who knew George loved him for his kind heart, toothy laugh and his gentle giant spirit. He shared his love of the world through his bright, colorful interpretations of nature, people and the world around him.

Visitation was Sunday, January 12, 2014 at Randall & Roberts Funeral Home. A memorial service will be held at 11:00 am on Monday, January 13, 2014 at Randall & Roberts, 1150 Logan Street in Noblesville. Burial will be at Crownland Cemetery in Noblesville.

In lieu of flowers, memorial contributions would be welcome to either the International Orangutan Center at the Indianapolis Zoo; or, to the Indianapolis Symphony Orchestra. Condolences: www.randallroberts.com.

Joyce Baucus

November 20, 1951 - January 7, 2014

Joyce Baucus, 62, of Westfield, passed away on Tuesday, January 7, 2014 at IU Health University Hospital in Indianapolis.

She was born on November 20, 1951 to Kenneth and Emma (Bonnifant) Duper in Dover, Ohio. Her father preceded her in death.

Joyce was a teaching assistant with Noblesville School System. She loved people, life, and spending time with her family.

She is survived by daughter, Beth Baucus; her grandcat, Leon; daughter, Amy (Robert) Meyers; mother, Emma Jane Duper; sisters, Peggy (Todd) Bair and Lynn (Bryan) Dague; and two grandchildren, Nicholas Williamson and Daniel Meyers.

A memorial visitation will be held at 2:00 pm on Saturday, January 25, 2014, at Randall & Roberts Funeral Center, 1685 Westfield Road in Noblesville.

Bringing finances into focus...

What's Your Retirement Vision?

By COREY SYLVESTER

When you start out in your career, you're probably not thinking much about retirement. At this point, your picture of a "retirement lifestyle" may be, at best, hazy, hidden as it is behind a veil of experiences you've yet to encounter. But as you move through the years, your view of retirement comes into clearer and closer focus — and this vision will have a big impact on your savings and investment strategies.

Consequently, to create and implement those strategies effectively, you'll need to define your retirement vision by identifying its various parts. Here are some to consider:

- Travel — If you're like many people, you may dream of traveling during your retirement. But what does "travel" mean to you? Do you envision taking a cruise or an international trip every year? Or is your idea of travel just a short jaunt to a popular destination, such as a lake or the mountains or the beach? The difference in costs between global and U.S.-based travel can be enormous, so you'll need to define your goals and estimate your expenses.

- Second home — Once you retire, you'll have to make some housing-related decisions. Should you sell your home and "downsize"? Or do you want to keep your current residence and possibly purchase a second home, such as a condominium, in another part of the country? Obviously, you'll need to factor in these choices when you think about how to invest before you retire and how to manage your withdrawals from your 401(k), IRA and other accounts during your retirement.

- Volunteer activities — You might think that your volunteer activities during retirement won't affect your finances much.

But if you are particularly ambitious, and your volunteerism involves travel, renting space, purchasing equipment and so on, you might be looking at some large cash outlays. Furthermore, if you host people at your house, you may be incurring some types of liability risk, which you might need to address through appropriate insurance coverage.

- Hobbies — During your working years, you may pursue your hobbies always with the thought that you can devote a lot more time to them after you retire. However, expanded hobby activities may involve expanded costs. For example, if you're good with cars, you might decide to invest in that foreign sports car of which you've dreamed. Or, if you're fascinated by genealogy, perhaps you'll start traveling to places once inhabited by your ancestors. These types of activities can be expensive, so you'll have to evaluate your saving, spending and investing habits to determine how to accommodate your increased expenditures on your hobbies.

- Second career — Many people look forward to retiring from one career so they can start another — opening a small business, consulting or even taking a part-time job. Clearly, if you were to start your own business, some expenses would be involved, so you'll have to plan for them. Even if you become a consultant or work part time, you could incur various costs, including travel. And, in relation to these types of work, you may also have insurance and health care issues to address.

By identifying the various components of your retirement vision, and estimating their respective costs, you can make those saving, spending and investment choices that can help you work toward your retirement dream.

Step Back 70 Years - 1943

By MARY SUE ROWLAND

A giant step back to 1943 found the nation and much of world fighting the great WW II. Local news was full of war pictures, war movies, pretty much war everything. A time that was hard when men went to war and women went to work.

Life changed forever.

The work week was 50 hours in 1943. Noblesville Mayor Fertig at the first Board of Works meeting of the year proposed a 10 cent raise per hour for the Street Commissioner and 5 cents for the workers of the department. The increase was given because the cost of living had increased. Mrs. Louise Decker, City Clerk – Treasurer submitted the annual financial report. The indebtedness of the city of Noblesville as of Jan. 15, 1943 was Swimming pool bonds, $4,000; Judgment funding $10,180; Equipment $4,400; for a total of $18,500. The report showed the start of a pension fund for the firemen (today’s term is firefighters). The December contribution to the fund was $23.94 which was 3 percent of the “firemen’s” wages. Street Commission Crawford (he just got the 10 cent per hour raise) said at the meeting he did not believe the city should go to the expense of cleaning the snow from the walks and street unless it is six inches deep and for that reason he had not reported any snow removal expense. The Mayor, this was his first administration, left the snow removal up to the Street Commissioner. The Street Commission also discontinued hauling ashes and trash from alleys and street due to the rationing of gas, tires etc. Each individual was expected to care for their own trash for the duration.

Headlines were “U.S. Planes Active over Tunisia”, Russians Fire at Trapped Nazis”, general information on gas rationing from the local rationing board, “Corn Sells for 92 Cents per Bushel”, “Corn prices are Frozen”, “Thirty-Six Leave for Army Wed., and “Farm Machinery Board to Consider Application”.

The Board of Education approved organization of a half-day kindergarten in Noblesville. A committee of three members of the Tri Kappa reported the enrollment of 38 children in the First Ward and Third Ward schools. The committee was made up of Mrs. Wm Harger, Mrs. Allen Simon and Mrs. A. B. Field. A charge of 50 cents per week per child was also approved. Something of interest in this article is that Mrs. Wm. Harger still lives in Noblesville and is over 100 years of age and Tri Kappa is alive and well.

A headline “Lend to Defend – Buy War Bonds”, listed some interesting observations. “The old statement of two cars in every garage can now be changed to a fish pond for every farmer”. “The way some of these welfare cases are handled indicated little thought is given to the welfare of the taxpayer”. “No matter what deadline is set for tire inspection, there will always be those who will wait until the last minute”. “Now that English rationing orders allow an egg a month, a stain on the vest will no longer be looked on as a sign of affluence but a sign of extravagant waste”. So it went in 1943.

There was talk from the national government of a “pay-as-we-go-tax-plan”. This program proposed that the plan would keep citizens up to date on their taxes. The taxpayer would not be paying on one year what they made on the year before but would pay on income on the current year. The concern was that after the war the government would sustain heavy losses of income due to loss of war time jobs. The fear was that peace time jobs would pay far less than war time jobs resulting in less taxes. At the time, the United States had spent more money since Pearl Harbor than all the money spent since George Washington. The US had spent three times what Germany had spent on the war as of Jan. 1943 and four times the British total and four times the expense of Japan. There was a great deal of talk about waste....some things never change.

A review of History is a good marker for the future. It does repeat itself. It should also be noted that in 1943, two movie theatres were located in downtown Noblesville, the Diana and the Logan. Today there is none. There was also a live theatre call the Wild Opera House. It was torn down in 1959, and now is a parking lot. Yes, much has changed.

Reality Check

By AIMEE GEBHART

There are few things that get me fired up as much as clueless people on reality television shows. Whether it’s a talk show, a survival competition, or a dating elimination show, I’m always amazed at how some people don’t seem to know what they are getting themselves into.

Take Dr. Phil’s talk show, for instance. Now you know as well as I do that if you go on “Dr. Phil,” you are probably going to get a tongue lashing of epic proportions. Yet his guests, knowing full well that they are mixed up in some crazy family drama, still go on his show to air their dirty laundry. Better yet, they seem completely caught off guard when Dr. Phil rips into them and allows his audience to back him up with thunderous, accusatory applause. I’m not saying that certain guests don’t deserve it; I’m just saying that they should have seen it coming. If Dr. Phil’s people ever contact me to “visit the show,” you can bet your life that I will be “busy” that day. If my relatives want a big, noisy confrontation with me, they’re going to have to do it in the middle of Walmart like everyone else.

Then there’s “Survivor.” I love “Survivor.” Even if you’re not a fan, chances are you are familiar with it. The show’s mantra is “Outwit Outplay Outlast,” so it should be no surprise that there is some amount of deception that has to happen in order to beat everyone else and win the million dollar prize. Yet even after 27 seasons of this show, there is always some contestant who gets his tribal panties in a wad over getting “blindsided” and voted off the island. I laugh at the shocked indignation every time. What do these players expect? Haven’t they learned that no one can be trusted on that show? And aren’t they guilty of the same tactics as everyone else? These people should pay attention to past seasons. Nobody likes a whiner. What they need to do is go for laughs. They should set the bar low and only plan to last for the first tribal council. Then they need to use their vote to write down host Jeff Probst’s name. It would be worth it just to see the expression on his face as he reads the votes. They might not win, but maybe they would make enough of an impression to get a call back for one of those “All-Star” seasons.

Probably the most naïve reality contestants of all time, though, are the ones that sign up for “The Bachelor.” I mean, come on. Competing on national television for true love... what could possibly go wrong? I just love how every girl starts every season believing that she will be Mr. Hunky Man’s one true love. Somehow these women forget that there are 20+ other gorgeous, conniving women vying for the same guy’s time and attention. Then, just like clockwork, these contestants go ballistic when he kisses another girl. I’m not sure how they think they will get through the season without some element of competition, but these poor clueless creatures do. The only thing worse than their rage is the emotional train wreck we get to witness when he sends them packing. How many times have we seen a rejected girl bawling hysterically at the end of Day 1 because she “felt a true connection” and thought he was “the one?” These ladies should know better by now. I don’t care how devastated they are; they should suck it up, smile like they don’t care, and then go home and trash talk him in front of their moms and girlfriends like any other self-respecting young lady would do.

I must admit, as crazy as these reality guests and contestants make me, I do enjoy heckling them from my couch every season. It’s just hard to believe that anyone could go on one of these shows and be surprised by any of the shenanigans that occur. Whether they are really as clueless as they seem remains to be seen. I’m just glad I’m not that naïve. Now if you’ll excuse me, I need to head to Walmart. My family said something about wanting to meet me there.

Public workers deserve our respect after the winter weather

By FRED SWIFT

I've heard people gripe and bellyache the last few days about road conditions, power failures, getting stuck in the snow and such things during the Big Snow and cold wave we recently experienced. I try not to complain simply because I have to think of all those men and women who did their best working in sub-zero cold to combat some of these problems we faced. Just think of the utility repairmen, road crews, police and firemen who were out in that weather, sometimes for 12 hours at a time trying to plow roads, restore power and rescue folks in need. It makes me cringe to think about being out in that kind of weather.

These workers risk frostbite or worse doing their jobs. Of course they get paid for it, but they're not going to get rich in those jobs. And, it's not the kind of work most of us would want. And, we must realize they can't work miracles when working with hundreds of miles of roadways, thousands of utility customers and unknown numbers of medical emergencies and traffic mishaps. And, we had some citizens who didn't get paid when they volunteered at shelters or helped neighbors dig out in the near-record snow and cold temperatures we experienced for three straight days. It may not have been an official blizzard, but it was close enough to give us fits. So, as we look ahead to another two months of winter, let's hope we don't have a repeat of the recent siege. But, if we do have more extreme weather be thankful we have people willing to do the jobs that need to be done to eventually return us to the normal routine we want.

Meet Mom, she's a work-at-home mom

with two kids in school and a husband who goes to work every day. Now shove these four people into an itty bitty house for four days in a snow storm and you've got yourself one great storm of imperfection. Mom is the first to go because, she's used to being home alone, doing her writing in peace and quiet with no interruptions. But now someone is constantly saying her name or asking for something. While the snow outside hasn't stopped her from going to work, it has managed to stop her from getting work done. Abandoning all hope of getting writing done she then resorts to Plan B. Clean the house. Some cleaning gets done, but it certainly doesn't stay that way for long. This equals one frustrated Mom at the end of the day. Day 2 dawns and Mom is determined to have a good day. She prays: "Come Holy Spirit, fill me with your fire so that I can be more like you. Lord, open my eyes to see You, my ears to hear You, and my mind to know You more. Lord, open my heart to receive Your heart for me today. Lord, open my mouth to speak Your truth with wisdom and authority, boldness and clarity. Open my hands to give generously, receive humbly and to let go of the things I don't need to be holding onto. Come Holy Spirit, fill me with Your fire. I want to know You more. Help me Jesus, I trust You." She approaches the day with hope & decides to abandon her To Do list in favor of some quality time with the family. Things go really well until the kids go to bed and she logs onto Facebook to see a post about the danger of eating snow. "Ack! I made Snow Ice Cream today!" So now Mom is feeling unproductive, AND she's endangering her children by feeding them snow ice cream. (It's NOT dangerous by the way, just avoid the yellow stuff.) Day 3 dawns and Mom's tired, frustrated and ready for everyone to get out of her space. It's been two days of Mom coming face to face with her imperfections and inabilities and she's ready to call it quits. As she hangs shirts in the closet she thinks about, of all things, her wedding day. (It must have been that wedding photo board on Pinterest.) She'd spent more time and money on her appearance that day than any before or since. "I'll never forget that look on his face when he saw me... Has he ever looked at me like that since?" Maybe he had, probably he had, but not that she could remember. Sigh... Now she's feeling unproductive, dangerous and ugly! Day 4 dawns, school is of course, canceled again and unproductive, dangerous, ugly Mom opens her Bible in search of comfort. She looks down and reads about baby Jesus, "Did Mary always dress perfectly with her hair in the latest style. I bet she never even wore a sweatshirt and ponytail. But if she did, I bet she rocked it and everyone loved her. And Jesus, He was perfect; I bet He NEVER got on Mary's nerves."

And you know what; God is good. The very next scripture is the story of when Mary and Joseph lost Jesus for three days. (Luke 2:41-52) "OK, now I don't feel so bad!" Mom thought, "I'm only - not getting everything done, feeding my kids snow and gained a few pounds, Mary lost the Christ child for THREE DAYS!" Even Mary wasn't the perfect mom. But you know what; she's the imperfect woman God CHOSE to raise His son. And just like Mary, you too are the imperfect woman God chose to raise your children. No one expects you to do all the things you expect of yourself, even God. And if God isn't expecting you to raise perfect children by being the perfect mom, then why are you expecting that from yourself? We hold ourselves to impossible standards and use social media to judge our blooper reel against everyone else's highlight reel; finding ourselves lacking in every way. The only thing that we should be judging ourselves by is the word of God. And you know what it has to say about your imperfections mom? 1 Corinthians 15:10 "By the grace of God I am what I am, and His grace toward me was not in vain." 2 Corinthians 12:9-10 "But He said to me, 'My Grace is sufficient for you, for My power is made perfect in weakness.'" Therefore I will boast all the more gladly of my weaknesses, so that the power of Christ may rest upon me. For the sake of Christ, then, I am content with weaknesses, insults, hardships, persecutions, and calamities. For when I am weak, then I am strong."

Big 2nd quarter sends Tipton past Lady Blackhawks

By RICHIE HALL
Reporter Sports Editor

The Sheridan girls basketball team ran into a tough Tipton squad Saturday, falling to the Class 2A No. 6 Blue Devils 67-54 at Hobbs Hall.

The difference was the second quarter, where Tipton outscored the Blackhawks 30-11, leading the visitors to a 47-25 halftime lead. Sheridan competed well with the Blue Devils in the second half, but the big lead carried Tipton through.

"They're very good," said Blackhawks coach Jeff Guenther. "We didn't do a lot of little things well. Obviously we didn't defend at times."

I'm not going to make an excuse because they were in the same boat. They couldn't practice, we couldn't practice. We've got to do a better job defensively and understanding positioning and understanding where we're supposed to be and beating teams to the floor, or to spots on the floor.

"But I felt like we competed. We made them beat us."

Sheridan got out to a 5-0 start, with Peyton Fleener scoring first and Amanda Summe hitting a 3-pointer. Six unanswered Blackhawk points cut a 17-8 Tipton lead to 17-14 at the end of the first quarter. But after that, the Blue Devils went on a rampage, outscoring Sheridan 20-4 over the next five minutes.

Tipton actually led by as much as 55-26 in the third quarter, but Sheridan scored 11 straight points after that. Hannah Roaten contributed a pair of layins to the run. A final 8-0 run by the 'Hawks took place in the fourth quarter, with Fleener scoring four of those points.

Summe scored 15 points, with Fleener adding 14. Fleener also led the rebounding, grabbing seven board.

Sheridan's next scheduled game is against Liberty Christian at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, although that could change with the Lions competing in the Madison County Tournament. The Blackhawks will host Clinton Prairie on Thursday in a Hoosier Heartland Conference game.

Ballard escapes past Guerin

Guerin Catholic played Kentucky's No. 1-rated team in the state down to the wire Saturday evening. However missed free throws proved costly as the Golden Eagles lost to Louisville Ballard 77-71 in Freedom Hall at the Kentucky Exposition Center in Louisville.

In a game which featured six lead changes and five ties, Guerin Catholic (11-3) led the majority of the first quarter behind its sharpest offensive execution in its last six games according to Coach Pete Smith. But three fouls saddled GC junior Matt Holba with just over three minutes until halftime after scoring eleven points. The Bruins made a run after that and grabbed a 38-32 halftime behind 13 points by U. of Louisville recruit Quintin Snider. The first half was played at an amazing pace on the college-sized floor in Freedom Hall, as Ballard pressed the entire half to try and wear down their Indiana opponent.

Ballard (14-4) increased its' halftime lead to ten points, 51-41, midway through the third quarter. However despite 2-7 free throw shooting in the stanza, a run by the Golden Eagles capped by a three-point field goal by Cris Burrough cut the margin to five points at the end of the third quarter 55-50.

And Guerin didn't give up on the comeback in the final quarter. Back to back three-point field goals by freshman Matthew Godfrey and sophomore Christian Munson tied the game at 62-all. But 6'6" Butler recruit Kelan Martin's 13 second half points, seven in the final three minutes, proved too much for the Golden Eagles to overcome and sealed the Ballard victory.

"It was disappointing how we lost, but I was so proud of the effort and 'stick-to-it-ness' of our team," said Smith. "We really played hard and played through some costly turnovers at crucial times. Their three-point shooting (8-19, 42.1 percent) was strong, and they hit them at critical times when we were just about ready to take the lead. They are very good, and it was a very good game. We have some good things to build upon, while some things we still need to get better at."

Aaron Brennan was a rebound short of a seventh double-double on the season, having game-highs of 28 points and nine rebounds. Whit Rapp passed out eight of Guerin Catholic's 14 assists. GC out-rebounded the Bruins 31-24 but committed 15 turnovers to the Bruins' seven.

Four Bruins finished in double-figure scoring, led by Martin with 23 points, eight rebounds, and four steals. Behind three 3-point field goals Snider added 22 points and distributed seven assists.

Guerin Catholic will play its tenth and final consecutive game away from home next Saturday night as they travel to Terre Haute South.

Lady Blackhawks’ Pink Out game is Thursday

Sheridan’s Thursday, Jan. 16 game with Clinton Prairie will be its annual “Pink Out Night,” designed to raise awareness and money for the Megan S. Ott Foundation.

All of the proceeds from Thursday's game will benefit the foundation, which is named after a Noblesville woman who battled with breast cancer. Megan and her husband Tom began the foundation in March 2010, a month before Megan passed away.

Kim DeVaney, one of the Lady Blackhawk team moms, said the team has developed a connection with the foundation. Last year's Pink Out raised around $2,500, exceeding the team's goal of $2,000.

" We're going to sell T-shirts, we're taking donations, monetary donations," said DeVaney. The team is looking to reach the $2,000 mark again.

"We have T-shirts for sale for $10, they can contact me in the bookstore," said DeVaney, who works at the Sheridan High School bookstore. Her number is 758-4431, ext. 4400.

"They can also contact any girls basketball player, they all are selling T-shirts," said DeVaney.

Sheridan boys fall to Fountain Central

The Sheridan boys basketball team lost to Fountain Central 73-51 on Saturday.

The Blackhawks trailed by only six points at halftime, but the Mustangs out scored Sheridan 28-10 in the third quarter to take control of the game. Chris Roberts and Brock Kitchel each had 14 points for the 'Hawks. Nathan Pflugh led the Blackhawks’ rebounding with nine.

Sheridan travels to Tri-Central Tuesday for Hoosier Heartland Conference game, hosts Tipton on Friday, then plays at Elwood on Saturday.

Millers win on Jake's boomer

By DON JELLISON
Reporter Editor

For the most part it has been defense in Noblesville dominance (16-5) over McCutcheon in the 21-year history of this Hoosier Crossroads Conference series. And, the defense was just as good Saturday when in The Mill the Millers held the Mavs under 50 points for the 12th consecutive time.

But, in the last game scheduled between the two schools (McCutcheon is leaving the HCC), it was a booming 3-pointer by Jake Mills at the gun which gave the Millers a 47-44 victory over the Mavericks.

Mills' shot, along with lots of contributions from his friends, also gave Coach Dave McCollough his 300th Noblesville coaching victory and sent his team out of The Mill with a 6-4 season record (overall) and a 2-1 mark in the conference.

The game was tied at 33-33 going to the fourth quarter. Down the home stretch, it was nip and tuck. Noblesville, on a 3-point play by Jack Trittipio with 16 seconds left, went up 44-42. McCutcheon tied the game on two free throws at the 5.1 second mark.

That set the stage for Mills to become the hero. Mills, who now has 20 3-pointers on the year, drilled his first of the night on the game-winner. Noblesville had three other boomers in the game, two by Sean Wilson (who now has 21) and another by Zach Parker.

"We missed some easy lay-ins tonight, but we also had some nice plays," said McCollough. "Kiser had a good first half and Trittipio had a good second half."

Kiser just missed a double-double with 10 rebounds and eight points. Trittipio led the Millers in scoring with 14. Wilson finished with 11 points.

Noblesville will return for another conference tilt next Friday, this one on the road at Avon. The next night, the Millers will be back in The Mill to play Muncie Central.

Cain's 3's stun defending state champ

With her team trailing by eight points and chasing a Mt. Vernon team which came into the game with a 10-2 record and had won the Class 3A state championship last season, Noblesville junior Cori Cain took matters into her own hands Saturday afternoon at The Mill.

Cain hit three 3-pointers in the fourth quarter to lead Coach Donna Keck's Lady Miller to a stunning 56-46 comeback victory. Noblesville outscored the Marauders 23-14 in the fourth quarter.

Until the Millers broke loose at the end, this one was a nip-and-tuck struggle. Mt. Vernon led 12-10 after one quarter. Noblesville took a 26-23 advantage to halftime. Mt. Vernon led 32-30 after three periods.

Audrey Defoe and Katelyn O'Reilly led Noblesville's scoring, each with 11 points. O'Reilly, a sophomore, also had 11 rebounds as the Milers beat Mt. Vernon on the boards 29-23. Erin Wood, who scored eight points, also yanked eight rebounds and Alexis Shannon collected seven boards.

Noblesville stuck in 18-of-22 free throws.

Cain finished the game with nine points, all coming on the trio of 3-pointers. Noblesville, now 9-3 on the year, will return to action on Wednesday, playing a Hoosier Crossroads Conference game at Fishers.
