The land between the Judicial Center and the White River in downtown Noblesville will soon be graced by a Firefighters Memorial. The Memorial will have three bronze firemen on a limestone base, representing three Hamilton County firefighters that were killed in the line of duty.

Part 2: Breaking down the county...

Dillinger sees downtown changes

By DON JELLISON
Reporter Editor

Hamilton County Commissioner Steve Dillinger's State of the County address last week revealed what will be and what could be changes in downtown Noblesville.

Already approved by the county is a Firefighters Memorial on land between the Judicial Center and White River, a part of the Riverwalk project. The Memorial, thanks in part to a $12,000 donation by Noblesville businessman Glen Schwartz and his family, will have three bronze firemen on a limestone base. The three firemen represent three Hamilton County firemen killed in duty, Noblesville Firefight Byron Galbreath in 1951, Carmel Assistant Fire Chief Cyrus Clark in 1960 and Fishers Assistant Fire Chief Raymond Moulder in 1967.

Also in the park-like area will mental beam from the from the World Trade Center in New York; a sculptor of a grieving firefight, and an amphitheater.

"We didn't realize when the planning was being done that the Memorial will stand in the same location of the Goeke (automobile dealership) fire in 1967," Dillinger said.

Firefighter Moulder was killed in that fire when the building suddenly collapsed. The total project, when completed, will cost $275,000 and become another attraction to the downtown Noblesville area.

Dillinger said, yes, there is space to build the Memorial and still add on to the Judicial Center. That project still is being studied.

"We need more space for our different departments," Dillinger said. "We had looked at adding a new building to land we own on the east side of the city, where the Health Department is now located. That created a storm in downtown community, as well it should have."

Should the county add on to the Judicial Center, Dillinger said there could be other options and opportunities.

"We're studying the possibility of a parking garage (on the area across Conner Street which now is used as a county parking lot). We've also looked a partnering with private sector which might want to occupy the first floor of the parking garage," Dillinger added.

Whatever the county does it can, without asking from funds through a referendum, can spend only $11.9 million on any one project.

Currently, the county has a surplus rainy day fund of over $48 million, which, Dillinger said, would be nice to use to pay any addition cost over the $11.9 million.

"We're not allowed by law to do that," said the Commissioner, "although Luke (State Senator Luke Kenley from Noblesville) is sponsoring a bill that if passed would change that."

The Commissioners just recently, acting on a proposal from Judge Bill Hughes, approved a magistrate to oversee what would be a new Veteran's Court, housed in the Judicial Center. The proposal now will go to the Hamilton County Council for funding.

"It is a unique issue with our veterans," Dillinger said, "as they encounter the judicial system. The Veteran's Court would divert veterans from the traditional justice system to treatment and rehabilitation."

Dillinger discussed another opportunity for Hamilton County, adding energy panels to different county-owned buildings in Noblesville. A member of the Indianapolis Airport Authority, Dillinger has seen huge profits and savings to the airport through a field of panels, just as travelers enter the airport. A company, Johnson Melloh Solutions, has proposed the same type of plan to Hamilton County.

Dillinger said the company is asking Hamilton County to invest $13 million, "and they project a $33 million energy cut savings during a 25-year period," he said.

The company would place panels on the Judicial Center, Courthouse, the Hamilton County Jail and other county government buildings.

Sheriff's Office warns of jury duty fraud

Last year, con artists attempted to scam Hamilton County residents by calling and threatening arrest, claiming victims were delinquent in paying taxes. A new variation of this scam has popped up in Hamilton County with thieves now calling and threatening arrest because victims did not appear for jury duty. In an even more interesting twist, the callers may be using names of courthouse employees to lend credence to their calls.

The scam works like this: A victim answers the telephone and the caller says a warrant is being issued for not appearing for jury duty (or paying taxes or another offense). The caller may give the name of a courthouse employee or a name similar to an employee. Caller ID may even show the call originating from a local number as these ID's are easy to fake with current technology. The caller then states that the victim can avoid the arrest by paying a fine submitted by wire transfer or pre-paid credit card. Pressure is put on the victim to pay quickly in order to avoid jail time since once paperwork is submitted the arrest is imminent. The caller may even provide another telephone number to call to verify the offense and pending arrest.

As a reminder, arrest warrants in Hamilton County are not served over the telephone. If you are ever in doubt that you are speaking with an official county employee, hang up the telephone, research the appropriate number, and contact the agency directly. Do not call a number given by the person on the telephone as it probably is not a correct number. If you owe money to the county or to any government agency, contact the office directly to determine how the money should be paid. Most government agencies do not use wire transfers or pre-paid credit cards. It is almost impossible to track or recover money if the victim falls for the fraud.

If you receive one of these scam phone calls, or one similar to it, please report it to the appropriate law enforcement jurisdiction. Hamilton County Communications at 317-773-1282 can direct you to the appropriate agency to determine if a report should be filed.

Hearing on superintendent's contract Tuesday

The Noblesville School Board will hold a public meeting at 8:30 a.m., Tuesday, February 4, to discuss and hear objections to and support for proposed amendments to the current contract of Superintendent Dr. Libbie Conner. The board meets at the Educational Services Center, 18025 River Road. Dr. Conner's current contract expires June 30, 2015. The proposed amendment includes the following provisions:

In recognition of salary adjustments to administration, a base salary increase of 6 percent retroactive to July 1, 2013. This will make her annual salary $166,632.

A retirement incentive stating that if Dr. Conner provides 90-days advanced written retirement notice for a retirement to be effective on or before September 15, 2014, and retires on or before that date, then she will be paid $25,000. The completion of her salary will be on the effective date of retirement.

A complete copy of the proposed contract is available on the school district's website, www.noblesvilleschools.org.

The board anticipates taking final action on the contract at its regular meeting on Tuesday, February 18, 2014.

As crimes increase...

Public Education Forum on Teen Social Media set for March 10

Hamilton County Sheriff Mark Bowen invites area residents and concerned citizens to a public education forum on Teen Social Media. The meeting will be held at the Hamilton County 4H Fairgrounds on Monday, March 10, from 7:00-8:00PM. Detective Alex Petty will be the main facilitator in bringing this important topic to a clearer view and presenting ideas on protecting area families. Detective Petty is a lead investigator of many of these types of crimes for the Sheriff’s Office.

From a relatively small number of incidents in past years, social media crimes have risen to over 100 reported cases annually in Hamilton County alone. Social media has become part of the daily life of most teens but also leads to a source of anxiety as well as crime. Cyberbullying, sexting, identity theft, stalking, questionable games, inappropriate photos, and other offenses are all increasing due to the explosion of technological advances. Teens are using a multitude of sites and programs, including Facebook, Twitter, Instagram, YouTube, and Kik, and the variety of choices increases almost daily. Even school issued technology or Xbox and PlayStation lend themselves to abuse and misconduct if used inappropriately. Many parents are overwhelmed with the difficulties in managing technology, learning the language teens use, and keeping up to date with rapid advances.

The Teen Social Media forum will help parents focus on identifying misuse of social media, from ways to prevent abuse to dealing with the aftermath of an incident. While the primary target is families with teens, information provided will be applicable to everyone. Parents with younger children who are concerned about the future as well as adults who may have to deal with social media issues will come away with valuable recommendations. Parents are encouraged to bring middle school age children and older. Free child care will be provided for preschool and elementary age children. Representatives from agencies and businesses who deal with social media issues will also be on hand to provide additional expertise on the subject.

Not The Perfect Mom

By TAMAR KNOCHEL

One day my 3-year old daughter was quiet, a little too quiet if you know what I mean. When I found her, she was covered from head to toe in marker and was so proud of herself. As I was cleaning her off I told her “Honey, God made your skin beautiful just the way it is. It doesn’t need any decoration.” As soon as the words were out of my mouth it was like God tapped me on the shoulder and put it all into perspective for me. When God sees me putting on my make-up and nail polish He sees His daughter coloring on herself. I realized that a lot of times we see our bodies as a blank canvas. But God sees them as a finished masterpiece, a true work of art; worthy of protecting and cherishing, with no need of further ornamentation. Pascal once said “Man is so made that if he is told often enough that he is a fool he believes it.” As women, when we are told at least a hundred times a day by our commercials, that we’re not young enough: “here THIS makeup will make those wrinkles disappear”. We’re not skinny enough: “buy this weight loss program and shed those holiday pounds”. We’re not pretty enough:

“buy this hair color - you’re worth it”. All day long we hear the ways that we’re not enough this or enough that. After awhile we start to believe it! WE’VE GOT TO GET OVER IT! We’ve got to stop listening to the advertisements and start listening to the Word of GOD! (“The King’s daughter is all glorious within;” Psalm 45:13) Our real beauty lies in how HE sees us anyway. To Him we’re like an opal. Opals are mainly made from silica, which is round in form. As an opal is created over hundreds of years the little silica balls line up next to each other. Since they’re round they can’t line up perfectly which creates holes or “imperfections” between them. When the light shines through these imperfections it creates that “fire”, or rainbow sparkle, in the opals like a prism. The red color in an opal is created by the light reflecting through the largest imperfections in the silica formations. The funny thing is, the more red there is in an opal the more it is worth. So in other words, the way opals are valued is by their imperfections rather than their perfection. You see, to God, our value lies in our imperfection because it’s through our imperfection that His light shines through us and glitters like a rainbow! God works in you, and in doing so He makes you shine and glitter like the priceless jewel that you are; His most precious work of heart.

The Healthy Alternative The 8 best treatments for back pain

By DR. BRAD DAHLAGER

Back pain afflicts nearly 85% of the population and ranks 2nd among reasons why patients visit doctors. America's annual direct cost for treating back pain exceeds $200 billion. Yet, too often, and despite a wealth of studies to the contrary, back pain treatment is expensive, ineffective and even injurious. A 2011 study published in Spine reveals that back surgery fails 74% of the time and, in many cases, backfires, crippling patients with more pain. Medication prescribed for back pain often fails to relieve pain and damages organs like the stomach, liver, kidneys and the heart. What should you do? According to the current research, here are the eight best ways to treat back pain: 1.) The AMA Recommended Treatment: In a 2013 landmark effort to educate the public about treating back pain the Journal of the American Medical Association (JAMA) instructed that patients should try chiropractic before resorting to surgery. Enumerating the causes and symptoms of low-back pain, the doctors who authored this article explain that the back is comprised of bones, nerves, muscles, ligaments and tendons. Back pain can be a result of problems with any of these structures. Since chiropractors are neuro-musculoskeletal experts, they are usually the best qualified healthcare providers to manage and treat back pain. 2.) The Drugless Treatment: Another 2013 study, published in the journal Spine, adds to the growing body of evidence that attests to the superiority of the chiropractic adjustment over popping pain-killers. Chiropractic patients fared significantly better than patients on medication, experienced quicker functional improvement, enjoyed better restoration of physical abilities and returned to work faster. Chiropractic is far safer than drugs and much more effective. 3.) The Non-Surgical Treatment: Another 2013 Spine study concludes that seeing a chiropractor can help patients prevent surgery. According to this study, patients who visited a medical doctor first for low back pain were 28 times more likely to have surgery when compared to patients who saw a chiropractor first for a low back problem. Nearly 43% of medical patients had surgery compared to just 1.5% of all chiropractic patients. Want to avoid surgery? See a chiropractor first. 4.) The Cost-Effective Treatment: A 2012 study comparing chiropractic to medical care found that chiropractic patients spend much less on health care versus medical patients. Compared to medical patients, chiropractic patients spent $424 less per year for spine problems and $796 less per year on total health costs. 5.) The Safe Treatment: Like many studies before it, another 2013 Spine study found that chiropractic is not only effective, it's extremely safe. Compared to common interventions for back pain like drugs and surgery, chiropractic has an unparalleled and enviable safety record. 6.) The Ageless Treatment: Two separate 2013 studies proclaim chiropractic's superior effectiveness in treating back pain in both teens and the elderly. Whether you're young or old, chiropractic is the treatment of choice. 7.) The Preventative Treatment: A 2011 study compared chiropractic to traditional medical treatment for back pain and found that chiropractic patients suffered less than half as many days of disability and celebrated less than half as much recurrence of back pain as medical patients. 8.) The Most Effective Treatment: Numerous studies praise the preeminence of chiropractic for treating back pain. A 2013 study lauds chiropractic as superior to epidural steroid injections noting that, compared to injection patients, chiropractic patients felt better, had more pain relief and spent less for their care. A 2011 study found that chiropractic adjustments, compared to treatments like medication, massage and physical therapy, produced the strongest clinical benefits with the least amount of side effects for athletes hindered by back pain. These, like many other studies, repeatedly crown chiropractic the undisputed champion in the treatment of back pain.

...Until now

It wasn't what you might expect out of a rivalry game. Nothing like long ago when Sheridan and Hamilton Heights each year went toe-to-toe on the basketball court.

The Huskies went into Hobbs Memorial Gym Wednesday evening and came away with a lop-sided 86-61 victory over the host Blackhawks.

Still, both coaches, Chad Ballenger of Heights and Cory Dunn of Sheridan, got out of the game pretty much what they wanted to get out of it.

"We just needed to play," said Ballenger, whose Heights team hadn't played in 11 days.

"Heights had too much talent; too many athletes," Dunn said. "We just wanted to compete and our kids did that. I can't say one bad thing about how we competed tonight."

"Sheridan's kids fought hard," Ballenger continued. "I thought we did a good defensive job against a couple of their scorers."

That, Heights did, holding Cort Christy to 11 points and Chris Roberts to nine points.

Dunn got some help from others. Sophomore guard Jake Chesney came up with a career game, pouring in 18 points to lead the Blackhawks. Also in double figures were Michael Burnell with 10 points and Brock Kitchel with 11 points.

"Chesney played well," said Dunn. "He played more under control tonight."

But, like Dunn said, Hamilton Heights had too many shooters; too much talent. Five Huskies finished in double figures, led by two outstanding shooters, sophomore Hunter Crist with 24 points and senior Conley Hoover with 18 points. Garrett Paull notched 13 points and had a double-double by adding 10 rebounds. Bo O'Laughlin netted 11 points and Jadon White added 10.

Crist also dished out five assists and Hoover had four. Kurry Miller came off the bench to yank seven rebounds.

However, all wasn't good in Huskyland. Junior Grant Weatherford, a double-digit and all-around player for Heights, sat out the game, suspended. Ballenger wouldn't say how many games his star point guard would miss. Jadon White came up with a nasty ankle sprain late in the game.

All of this as Hamilton Heights awaits its biggest rival, Tipton, in a Friday night tilt at the Husky Dome. Heights will take a 7-3 record into that battle.

The game last evening was never close. Heights led 27-13 after one period and 41-23 at halftime.

Sheridan, now 3-9, like Heights, has a very tough home game coming up on Friday, hosting Lapel. Sheridan will travel to Northwestern on Saturday.

Tipton runs away from Lady Huskies

By RICHIE HALL
Reporter Sports Editor

After an 11-day layoff - most of which was brought about by the incessant winter weather - the Hamilton Heights girls basketball team got back to competition on Wednesday at the Husky Dome.

The Huskies played well against Tipton, Class 2A's No. 6 team during the first half, but the Blue Devils ran away with the third quarter and eventually won 73-48. Tipton outscored the Huskies 24-6 in that third period.

"We played well in the first quarter," said HH coach Scott Fernung. "We had them down 10 points, we were getting up and down the floor and doing a lot of nice things. And then we got in some foul trouble, and once we get in foul trouble, it seems like things go downhill from there."

Heights led 17-11 after the first quarter. The Blue Devils grabbed the lead during the second quarter and took a 25-23 lead into halftime. Freshman Taylor Boyd had a strong first half, scoring 14 points.

Tipton scored the first 10 points of the second half, holding the Huskies without a basket until Kiley Walters made a layin at the 3:54 mark. The Blue Devils led 49-29 at the end of the third quarter, and scored the last six points of the game.

Boyd wound up with a double-double of 16 points and 11 rebounds. Haley Cook scored 14 points, while Walters handed out four assists.

Heights travels to Westfield tonight for a date with the 4A No. 12 Shamrocks. Tip-off is 7:30 p.m.

Noblesville now 14-3...

Lady Millers win at Pendleton

On the road against a good team, the Noblesville girls basketball team got themselves a huge win.

The Millers beat Pendleton Heights 68-61 on Wednesday. The Arabians were 12-5 coming into this game, but Noblesville held a steady lead throughout and improved to 14-3 once the final buzzer sounded.

Miller coach Donna Keck said her team led by six to 12 points for the entire game. Noblesville led 35-30 at halftime and out-scored Pendleton in the first three quarters.

"Our inside game and transition offense dominated the game," said Keck. Our three bigs combined for 50 points and 29 rebounds."

Katelyn O'Reilly and Alexis Shannon each had double-doubles: O'Reilly poured in 24 points and had 11 rebounds, while Shannon scored 18 and grabbed 10 boards.

Kayleigh Herron handed out six assists; Keck said that Herron "was excellent in leading the break."

The Millers have three games left. First is a Friday game at Lafayette Jeff, the last time Noblesville plays the Broncos in Hoosier Crossroads Conference competition. The Millers are 5-2 in the HCC, which puts them in fifth place: Hamilton Southeastern leads at 6-1, with Westfield, Fishers and Brownsburg all tied for second at 6-2.

Noblesville's game with Harrison, which was to take place this past Monday, has been postponed with no make-up date set as of press time. The Millers finish the regular season on Thursday, Feb. 6 at Lawrence North, the No. 1 team in Class 4A.

Three-game losing streak over...

‘Rocks back on track with win at WeBo

The Westfield girls basketball team finally stopped its losing streak on Wednesday, beating Western Boone 41-31 in an away game.

The Class 4A No. 12 Shamrocks trailed the 3A No. 13 Stars 18-14 at halftime, but blasted off in the third quarter, outscoring WeBo 19-8 in that period. The victory ended a run of three straight losses, and improved Westfield to 11-3.

Kayla Brown led the way, scoring 14 points. Brown also grabbed six rebounds and made two blocked shots. Maddy Grennes almost reached a double-double, with 11 rebounds to go along with her eight points. Jalyn Foland added nine points.

Westfield is back at The Rock tonight, hosting Hamilton Heights.

Royals fall to Pike...

HSE’s non-loop woes continue

Hamilton Southeastern’s Lady Royals are having another outstanding season in the Hoosier Crossroads Conference. If they can win a pair of season-ending games with Lafayette Jeff and Avon, the Lady Royals will capture the loop championship.

Outside of the conference is another story.

After a 57-35 loss to Pike Wednesday evening, Southeastern’s overall record is 9-8. Seven of those losses now have been to non-conference teams.

HSE stayed with Pike for only a quarter. The Lady Royals led 12-7 after one period, but trailed 28-23 at halftime and then scored just 12 points in the second half.

Madi Taylor was the only Southeastern player in double figures. She had 10 points and Megan Walton added nine. Taylor also pulled a team-high six rebounds.

Southeastern’s next game is Saturday evening at Ft. Wayne Canterbury.

Tigers roar past Harrison

Playing its first game in 11 days, the Fishers girls basketball team took care of Harrison 75-49 Wednesday in an away Hoosier Crossroads Conference game.

With the win, the Tigers moved into a three-way tie for second with Westfield and Brownsburg in the HCC race. All three teams are 6-2, behind only Hamilton Southeastern's 6-1. The Class 4A No. 15 Tigers are now 14-4 overall.

Fishers led 20-10 after the first quarter and 45-22 at halftime. The Tigers had a perfect performance from the free throw line, making all 10 attempts.

Brooke Sugg had an outstanding game, hitting five 3-pointers on her way to 23 points. Kara Gerka added 22 points, was 5-of-5 from the free throw line and had four blocked shots. Alex Hochstedler scored 11, made all four foul shots and handed out eight assists.

The Tigers host Brownsburg on Saturday to wrap up HCC play.

Big Southeastern weekend...

HCC tilt; then No.1 Tech

By DON JELLISON
Reporter Editor

If there is a team which is anywhere near capable of stopping Hamilton Southeastern from having still-another undefeated season in the Hoosier Crossroads Conference, arguably it is the McCutcheon team which will play at HSE Friday.

That could be a dangerous situation for the Royals because Saturday Coach Brian Satterfield will take his squad to Tech, where the Titans are ranked No. 1 in Class 4A basketball. Southeastern is ranked No. 3, with Carmel sandwiched in between.

“We will have two matchups with different styles this weekend,” Satterfield predicted.

McCutcheon will try to slow down Southeastern, one would think. The Mavericks are allowing just 51.0 points a game. Southeastern is scoring at a 74.0 clip.

McCutcheon is 8-3, having lost only to Logansport 74-55, Noblesville 47-44 and Brownsburg 53-47. Southeastern has defeated Noblesville 67-51 and Brownsburg 62-40.

Southeastern, 12-2, is on a four-game winning streak, since losing back-to-back to Mooresville and Marion.

“McCutcheon will mix up their defenses,” Satterfield said. “They love to play their matchup zone and they will press on occasions. However, they have played their triangle-and-two and box-and-1 against us the past couple of years.

“Coach Peckinpugh does a great job of having his team ready to play. We will have to recognize what defense they are in and be able to find the openings within each defense.

“Defensively,” Satterfield continued, “we will have to try contain Heard and Lockwood. Heard makes them go, as he can put the ball on the floor to attack or dish and hit the jumper. He leads the team in assists. Lockwood does his damage in the paint and is leading the conference in rebounding. Last year he went for 20 points against us.”

Tech, which doesn’t play Friday before hosting Southeastern on Saturday, is the big jewel in the Royals’ bid to climb the ratings ladder. The Titans are 16-1, having lost only to Bowman Academy. Tech is coming off winning the Indianapolis City Tourney by bombing Howe 88-67. The Titans defeated Chatard 100-45 in the semifinal round.

“Tech will be a great matchup for us,” Satterfield said. “They have one of the most dominating players in the country in Lyles. We will have to find a way to slow him without letting the others burn us. The rest of the cast is very good, as well.

“Defensively, they will try to pressure us. We have to limit our turnovers and play with poise to gain the victory,” the coach added.

Southeastern has plenty of fireworks of its own, led by three Royals averaging in double figures, senior Eric Davidson (18.0), freshman Zach Gunn (13.6) and senior Tyler Jenkins (12.8). Close is senior Brendan Burns at 9.0.

Gunn (5.9) and Burns (5.6) lead the Royals in rebounding. Davidson is dishing out 3.9 assists a game and Jenkins 3.8.

Southeastern Probable Lineup
Player	Class	Ht.	Stats
Zach Gunn	Fr.	6-7	13.6 pts., 5.9 reb.
Tyler Jenkins	Sr.	6-2	12.8 pts., 2.3 reb.
Brendan Burns	Sr.	6-6	9.0 pts., 5.6 reb.
Chris Ford	Jr.	6-1	5.6 pts., 1.9 reb.
Eric Davidson	Sr.	6-1	18.0 pts., 3.4 reb.

Tigers face athletics Wildcats, whose coach...

Keefer looks for 700th win

By DON JELLISON
Reporter Editor

Joe Leonard has nothing against a little history being made and he certainly is a big fan of Lawrence North basketball coach Jack Keefer. But, Leonard would just as soon as not have that happen this weekend; at least not when Fishers visits Keefer and his Wildcats.

Keefer, in this his 42nd year as a high school coach, is one victory away of reaching the 700 mark. Friday, Lawrence North will host Center Grove before Fishers comes to town on Saturday.

Lawrence North, like Fishers, plays a very tough schedule. The Wildcats are 6-6. They’ve twice missed Keefer reaching his goal in losses to Park Tudor and North Central last two times out.

Fishers is 5-8. The Tigers, too, are coming off a loss, a 58-45 defeat dished out by sectional foe Zionsville last week. That loss followed a four-game Fishers victory string.

Leonard says Zionsville is good and will be a real threat in the Noblesville Sectional this season.

“Zionsville is good,” said the coach. “You must solve their zone to beat them.

“I had no idea we would struggle that bad against that zone. Zionsville is a tough place for a young group to win.”

Fishers continues to be led by its 1-2 scoring punch of Devin Chaudion and Kortland Townsend. Chaudion is averaging 18.2 points a game and Townsend is scoring at a 15.6 clip. Not far behind is Cam Wolter at 9.2 points a game.

Chaudion also leads in rebounds with 79 in the 13 Fishers games. Wolter has collected 71 boards.

Chaudion is having a great all-around season. He leads in assists with 46 and is second to Townsend (12) with 11 steals. He also has blocked eight shots.

“Lawrence North is the most athletic team we have faced,” Leonard talks about the Wildcats. “They are a lot like Warren Central, but with a deeper bench

“They will give us a big test. We think this will be a lot like drawing North Central in the sectional. That is how we will treat this game,” Leonard added.

North Central, which will play in the Noblesville Sectional, defeated Lawrence North 56-52 last weekend.

Fishers Probable Lineup
Player	Class	Ht.	Stats
Devin Chaudion	Sr.	6-3	18.2 pts., 6.1 reb.
Lance Dollison	So.	6-4	4.3 pts., 2.5 reb.
Kortland Townsend	Sr.	5-11	15.6 pts., 2.8 reb.
Cam Wolter	So.	6-7	9.2 pts, 5.5 reb.
Andre Small	So.	6-1	3.2 pts, 1.0 reb.

Another home victory...

Big 3rd quarter run sends UHS to win

University could get used to playing at home.

The Trailblazers are now 2-0 at their own gym, improving to that mark after beating Alexandria 70-58 on Wednesday. Overall, University is 7-7 for the season.

The 'Blazers led 28-24 at halftime, but scored the first 15 points of the third quarter to take a 43-24 lead with 3:16 left in the period. After that, UHS led by at least eight points for the rest of the way.

Sam Forkin had two 3-pointers and Robbie Johnson scored five points during the run. Forkin hit five triples overall on his way to a team-leading 19 points. Johnson joined him in double figures with 12, and also handed out four assists.

Free throws were a big part of the Trailblazers' win, as they went 25-of-36 at the line. Anthony Maranto was 9-of-10 just by himself.

Next up for UHS is another home game, this one Friday against Eminence.
