PRIMARY ELECTION
2014

Exciting Election Night...

Disappointing turnout

By FRED SWIFT

It was predicted to be close and it certainly lived up to expectations as Hamilton Superior Court Judge William Hughes turned back a determined challenge from Carmel City Judge Brian Poindexter in Tuesday's primary. Hughes won by 647 votes out of a total vote of nearly 21,000.

Voter participation in the primary election was a dismal 12 percent of eligible voters, a record low for countywide primaries, and this despite vigorous campaigning by candidates in several contested races.

A usual election night crowd filled Commissioners' Court at the Judicial Center to watch the returns from the county's 217 precincts. The election generally went off without a hitch and the outcomes were known a bit after 9 p.m. It was virtually an all Republican show as Democrats had no countywide candidate contests.

GOP voters in Fishers chose Scott Fadness as their mayoral candidate over second place finisher Walter Kelly. Four other candidates came in far behind. Unless Democrats come forward with a candidate, Fadness will become the first mayor of Fishers on Jan. 1.

U.S. Congress Rep. Susan Brooks was easily re-nominated for a second term, turning back a challenge from David Stockdale who was backed by Tea Party partisans. In the county she garnered 72 percent of the vote, and district-wide in the 5th Congressional District her percentage was only slightly less.

For county offices, former clerk of the courts, Tammy Baitz, easily won nomination over fellow clerk's office employee Rhonda Gary by nearly 5,000 votes. Baitz served previously as clerk.

County Recorder candidate Jennifer Hayden won by an even larger margin of 11,000 votes over challenger Ray Ade. Hayden, is a former recorder seeking to take over from incumbent Mary Clark who did not run for re-election.

Two newcomers to countywide politics vied for county coroner with John Chalfin winning over Roger Conn about 3,300 votes. Chalfin will likely replace the retiring Thurl Cecil.

In the only County Council race, Fred Glynn won over Andrew Dollard by about 600 votes in Dist. 1. The two were running to succeed the retiring councilor Merideth Carter.

Tammy Baitz easily won the nomination for the clerk of courts during Tuesday's Republican Primary. Baitz won her race by nearly 5,000 votes.

In the contest for Noblesville Township Trustee, Tom Kenley was victorious over Theresa Caldwell. Assuming a November win, Kenley's board will be composed of Joe Arrowood, Peg Pfister and Terry Busby who were the top three vote-getters in a field of seven candidates.

Officials, candidates and other observers could only shake their heads at the poor voter turnout, least percentage-wise in memory. This came in spite of the first

Fishers city primary, and several hot races for county and township positions.

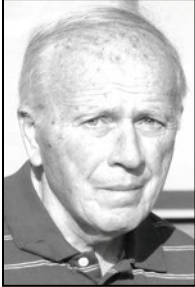

The elections office final tally showed 24,969 of the county's 205,897 registered voters cast ballots.

What an election...

Two great young people

By DON JELLISON

Pardon me, Senator. (sorry, that's a habit I'll need to break when addressing a Kenley, now that we have two Kenleys as government officials).

I tried again. Pardon me, Mr. Township Trustee.

Newly elected Tom Kenley, the brother of Senator Luke Kenley, looked at me and gave me that "dumb jock" glance.

I asked Tom Kenley last evening what office is next on his list.

Another "dumb jock" look. Still, Tom gave me a break, knowing full well that I knew more about the softball game I had just covered than I did about the election I was trying to cover.

"I just won this race; that's all I'm thinking about," Kenley answered.

Sure, sure, but with that Kenley blood running and now that you're a full player in the game of politics, you must have a goal on down the line.

"Dumb jock."
Kenley called his opponent, Theresa Caldwell, a "worthy opponent" and noted how hard she had worked trying to defeat him.
"I worked hard, too," Kenley said. "I walked the streets; I attended the meetings."

If there ever was an election which tugged at the hearts of the community, this hard-fought battle between two local young people was that election.

Caldwell with the experience of working with her Township Trustee mother, Billie, all these years. Caldwell against Kenley, the brother of the Senator, yes, but a man who already had started to play the political game when in 2010 he won in the field of four a position to the Township Board. Tom filled a vacant spot on the board for eight months by being selected through a Republican caucus and then was elected to a full term in 2010.

Experienced? How could anyone be any more experienced than Theresa, who has been administrative assistant at the Trustee Office for the past 11 years?

Kenley had said that if elected as Trustee he would increase the efficiency of township government without reducing services to those in need by better operation management. He said he would put retiring the current township debt as a priority.

Having worked side by side with brother Luke for more than 20 years in the old Kenley's Supermarkets, Tom must have learned a few things.

"Luke helped," he admitted. "He gave me tips about how to run a campaign."

It goes without saying that Billie Caldwell was a great role model for daughter Theresa in her campaign for office.

It was one of those races which in a small town like Noblesville folks must have been rooting for both candidates.

How do you thank the Caldwells for guiding Noblesville Township for all those years? You simply say "thank you" and you know damn well that's not enough.

You also say "good luck" to Tom Kenley, for now and on into the future.

There are times when politics aren't all that much fun.

We must keep our promises to our veterans

By SUSAN BROOKS

Dear Friends,

As I work to be your voice in Congress, I continue to look for ways to save taxpayer dollars and increase government efficiency. We must build a leaner and smarter federal government that eliminates wasteful spending while still supporting vital priorities.

One priority I know all of us share is meeting the needs of Indiana's 490,000 military veterans. They've made tremendous sacrifices for us, and we owe them a debt of gratitude we can never fully repay. Unfortunately, too many of them are jobless, homeless or lost in the bureaucratic and slow claims process administered by the Department of Veterans Affairs (VA). Sadly, these sobering facts apply to veterans returning from recent wars and those who served decades ago. Something must be done.

That's why just a few days ago I voted in favor of the Fiscal Year 2015 Military Construction and Veterans Affairs Appropriations Bill, legislation which provides new levels of targeted support for programs that can truly make a difference in the lives of our veterans.

This legislation fulfills our moral and legal obligations to our veterans, making sure they receive top notch medical care, helpful job training programs and other benefits they have earned. It increases discretionary funding for veterans programs by $1.5 billion above last year, providing $158.2 billion in total for our nation's veterans.

A majority of this funding goes toward essential medical services that include mental health care, suicide prevention, traumatic brain injury treatment and rural health initiatives. Did you know that one VA study found 22 veterans commit suicide every day? Our veterans struggling with mental health challenges must know they have a strong and effective support network on which to lean.

It's also time for the VA to finally modernize its services and operations. That's why this past week's legislation also includes funds for the digital scanning of health records and a centralized mail system. This will increase the timely and accurate exchange of medical data between the VA and the private sector. Right now, claims for medical assistance and reimbursements often take years, sometimes decades, to be resolved. That's simply not good enough. We must do better.

All of this funding will only go so far if the VA is not held accountable for providing excellent service to our veterans. As your Member of Congress, I promise I will continue to support efforts to hold the VA accountable to the most rigorous standards. The legislation I voted for just a few days ago actually withholds funds from the VA if it can't demonstrate measurable progress toward key performance goals and prohibits performance bonuses for senior executives.

Since my swearing in, I've met so many wonderful, talented and hard working veterans while traveling the 5th District. The struggles they've faced and the challenges they've overcome have inspired me to become a passionate advocate for our veterans. Last May, I was honored to lead passage of the bipartisan "Helping Heroes Fly Act" on the House Floor. This legislation requires the Transportation Security Administration (TSA) to ensure expedited screening for our nation's wounded warriors. Those who've put everything on the line to protect our freedom should be treated with the highest level of respect and dignity as they travel through our airports.

I also held a Veterans Listening Session last November at the Anderson Flagship Center. This event brought the many government and non-profit organizations that serve veterans together to discuss the challenges our veterans face and the opportunities we have to solve those challenges. In addition, last May I joined several of my colleagues in sending a letter to President Obama calling on him to take direct action to end the VA backlog. This is an issue our nation's highest executive must lead on.

It's an honor to represent so many of our military veterans in Congress and I will do everything I can to make sure we keep the promises we've made to them. These brave men and women are heroes and it's time to make sure every single one of them is treated like one.

Cigarette causes residence fire in Fishers

The Fishers Fire Department responded on a reported residence fire at approximately 1 p.m. Monday at the home of James Wallen, 10620 Kyle Court in Fishers. A passerby called in reporting a fire showing on the back half of the house. The homeowner was alerted, and he sprayed water from the garden hose dousing the flames. The fire was out upon arrival of the first engine. Companies checked the residence for extension inside the residence and cleared smoke from the home. Mulch was the origin of the fire which extended up the back of the house and the fire is believed to have started with an improperly discarded cigarette.

Firefighters remind residents to keep combustibles away from dry mulch and to always discard smoking materials in a proper container after assuring the fire is out.

Noblesville wins with power

By DON JELLISON
Reporter Editor

It was a tale of two offenses, this Tuesday evening crash between Hoosier Crossroads Conference powers Noblesville and Hamilton Southeastern, played at Noblesville.

Each coach had a different story to tell. “We got 10 hits and left nine runners on base,” said Hamilton Southeastern mentor David Cook. “We’ve got to do a better job getting runners in.”

“We didn’t get many hits, but the ones we got were big,” countered Noblesville coach Mike Ramsey.

You think, Coach; really you think?

The Lady Millers collected only four hits but two of those went out of the park. Noblesville scored all of its runs off those home runs in a 4-2 win over Southeastern.

The loss was Southeastern’s first in the HCC. Noblesville has dropped two conference games.

Noblesville’s attack was short and sweet, and, very powerful. The first homer was a solo shot by freshman Brooke Herron in the second inning. The second home run was a three-run blast by sizzling hitting junior Zoe Schafer in the third. Aly Compton had walked and Ellie Baker singled before Schafer delivered her shot over the left field fence. That proved to be the game winner.

Southeastern pecked away for its two runs, getting three hits in the first to score once and then getting another three hits in the third, again scoring just one run. Madi Maloof and Ashley Scurlock delivered RBI hits.

While it was Noblesville’s power game which made the difference, both pitchers threw well. Savanna Copeland, the HSE freshman, allowed just the four hits and she struck out nine. Noblesville senior Ashley Cleverly, who has battled throughout the season after surgery last summer, allowed the Royals 10 hits and she fanned three.

“Before this week I didn’t think Cleverly could hang together this season,” admitted Ramsey. “Now, I do. She may still need more surgery following the season.”

Southeastern played without its No. 1 junior pitcher, Maggie Armstrong, who has a broken thumb and could miss the rest of the season.

Defense also played a big part in the game. Noblesville shortstop Stephanie Ramsey started an outstanding double play and third sacker Maddie Moore fielded a hard shot to cut short a Southeastern rally in the sixth.

Carmel's Sam Pash hit a home run for the Greyhounds in their 16-3 softball win over Hamilton Southeastern on Monday.

HSE a no show; Carmel wins big

By DON JELLISON
Reporter Editor

If the Carmel-Southeastern softball game on Monday, at HSE, was indeed a showdown for the favorite's role in the upcoming 4A softball sectional, it appeared that the Lady Royals weren't informed. They didn't show. Carmel did.

The Lady Greyhounds came away with a 16-3 victory.

Carmel, a terrific hitting team, collected 10 hits, five of which were extra base blows. Carmel pitcher Adrienne Jones allowed just five hits and fanned seven batters.

In a game which was ended after five innings because of 10-run rule, Southeastern committed seven errors. Only two of Carmel's 16 runs wee earned.

"It was a nice win for us," said Carmel coach Emily Good, whose club now is 11-4 on the year.

"We've got some things to work on. All of us (teams) will get better the next three weeks. I've been coaching in this sectional for 11 years. When the tourney begins, you can throw out all the (regular season) records," Good added.

Carmel belted the ball in all directions. Sam Pash hit a home run. Maddy Griffin collected a triple. Haley VanNess hit two doubles and Pash also had a two-bagger.

As a team, after 15 games, the Lady Greyhounds are batting .409 with 30 doubles, five triples and 20 home runs.

Hello.

Southeastern is another good-hitting team, but not on this day; not against Jones. The Lady Royals had but five hits, three of which came off the bat of Madi Maloof.

But, Southeastern coach David Cook had more to worry about than his team not hitting well. With a big conference game coming up at Noblesville the next day, Cook went with his No. 3 and No. 4 pitchers in the game. He saved Savanna Copeland, a freshman, for Noblesville. His senior ace, Maggie Armstrong, broke her thumb in a game at Pendleton Heights last week and could be lost for the season.

"We had played 12 games in 13 days before today," said Cook. "All those games before spring break were postponed because of bad weather and now we're trying to make them up. We've had no time to practice."

Is Rhodes “No. 1” in area?

Is there an ace pitcher who can enter a very tough local 4A baseball sectional and shutdown a bunch of talented offensive teams?

Arguably that ace could be Fishers’ Nathaniel Rhodes.

Monday evening on the road against Harrison in a Hoosier Crossroads Conference game Rhodes fired a two-hitter as Coach Matthew Cherry’s Tigers knocked off Harrison, 9-0.

The win pushed Fishers within a game of first place in the HCC, with Noblesville losing last evening at home to McCutcheon. The Millers have lost only two games in the conference; Fishers has dropped three. Overall, Fishers is 14-4-1.

Rhodes posted his fifth win without a loss. He tied the school record with 11 strikeouts on his way to his second shutout and fourth complete game this season.

Rhodes got plenty of help from his offense. Nine different Tigers combined for 14 hits.

Fishers took a 3-0 advantage in the second and then later blew away the Raiders with two runs in the fifth and four in the sixth.

Griffin Hulecki hit a home run and Taylor Canter and Mike Chakiry each clubbed a double. Jacob Totman, Brandon Yoho, Canter, Chakiry and Joe Rura each had two-hit games.

Royals snap losing streak

Finally!

After battling a seven-game losing streak, Hamilton Southeastern got back on track Monday at home in a 4-1 Hoosier Crossroads Conference victory over Lafayette Jeff.

With the score tied at 1-1 David Herrmann hit a two-run double in the fifth and the Royals tacked on another run in the sixth, riding the super two-hit pitching of Bryan Roberts to their fifth win in 16 games. HSE is 2-7 in the conference.

Roberts, who through 31.1 innings has a 1.12 ERA and a 2-1 record, was nearly untouchable. He fanned eight and walked three. Lafayette Jeff’s only run was unearned.

Herrmann’s key double was his third hit of the game. Matt Nash had a two-hit night and Brendan Burns also doubled.

Loss at The Dunk hurts NHS

A loss at The Dunk to McCutcheon (or, a loss to any Hoosier Crossroads Conference team on the Millers’ home diamond) is not what Noblesville needed to keep its leadership of first place in the HCC.

That’s what happened to Noblesville Monday evening as McCutcheon took an early 5-1 lead and then fought off the Millers in the last four innings.

Garrett Christman fired a five-hitter and fanned eight batters but two Noblesville errors accounted for two McCutcheon runs.

Noblesville now leads the conference by just one game.

The Millers collected eight hits. Brian McLean stayed hot with a triple and two RBIs and Zack St. Pierre hit a home run in the loss. St. Pierre and Bret Rundle each had a two-hit game.
