White River Church not the answer...

Mosaics kids still homeless

By DON JELLISON
Reporter Editor

After nearly two years of botched planning, followed by two weeks of unsuccessful scrambling, the Superintendents Governing Board Friday morning had no answer, no school, for the kids who are members of the Hamilton County co-op Mosaics School.

Not the answer a group of disappointed parents who attended the meeting wanted to hear.

The Mosaics School and its problems were back to page 1, back to nearly two years ago when Noblesville Schools announced they would no longer have space to house Mosaics.

At that time, the superintendents from Noblesville, Westfield, Sheridan, Hamilton Heights and Frankton/Lapel thought their new home, starting with the 2014-15 school year, would be the Noblesville Armory. Noblesville Schools planned on purchasing the Armory, which eventually happened. But, as the federal government moved at a slow pace, the sale didn't take place until only recently. Noblesville committed the building to Mosaics for five or six years. The plan fell apart two weeks ago when Noblesville Superintendent Dr. Libbie Conner announced to the co-op that an inspection of the Armory, following Noblesville's purchase of the building, discovered that it would take more than a

Low primary turnout is disappointing

By FRED SWIFT

I can't help but make some observations on the primary election that took place earlier this month.

We should be disappointed, not by the outcome for individual candidates but by the numbers. Voter participation was pitiful, only 12 percent of eligible voters cared to help choose the people who will be our local leaders during the next four years.

Why is voter turnout taking a nosedive in local elections? There are probably several reasons, but one is that so many of the average citizens fail to read or listen to their local news media.

I realize that most folks reading this column voted last week. But, so many citizens of our county and the other counties surrounding Indianapolis are influenced by the big city TV news and newspapers that they don't get the message that there are events going on locally that deserve their attention.

Besides the poor election day turnout, a part of the election story is the involvement of the Tea Party. Although no candidates were publicly endorsed by the Tea Party, there were at least three candidates on the GOP ballot that received assistance from the group.

Two of the three failed to attract any wide support. David Stockdale who challenged U.S. Rep. Susan Brooks got only about 17 percent of the vote while Don Meier who challenged incumbent State Rep. Jerry Torr received about 37 percent of the vote in Dist. 39, the Carmel area.

But, in the third race, Fred Glynn, candidate for County Council, won with 56 percent in a contest with Andrew Dollard for the right to succeed retiring Merideth Carter in Council Dist. 1. In this race Glynn got support

Grease leads to fire at Fishers home

The Fishers Department of Fire and Emergency Services responded to 9711 Springdale Drive on a reported residence fire on Thursday.

Upon arrival, firefighters found fire and heavy smoke coming from the house, which belongs to Andrew and Wendy Mueller, their three children and three pets. The fire was quickly extinguished and search of the residence confirmed all occupants were out of the building and three pets were later confirmed safe as well.

The cause was grease that had been left unattended on the stove, and the fire eventually spread to cabinets. The kitchen sustained heavy fire damage, while the second floor had heat damage. There was smoke damage throughout. The Mueller's 6-year-old son alerted his 9-year-old brother to the

Charles M. Orff Foundation donates $4,000 to Biddle Park

The Charles M. Orff Foundation via Charlie's Ride/Sheridan American Legion Riders (post 67) is donating $4,000.00 to Biddle Memorial Park for the purchase of 3 pieces of playground equipment. One is a play set with slides; two are spring riders. The equipment will be installed by volunteers including members of the American Legion Riders and Andy Stites. Foundation members are hoping to have the new playground equipment fully installed by July 4th.

Jennifer Stites is the president of the The Charles M. Orff Foundation which was created to honor the memory of Charles M. Orff. Charlie Orff was a native of central Indiana, and attended school in Sheridan and graduated from Noblesville High School. Shortly after graduation, Charlie joined the US Army and served two tours in Iraq. He achieved the rank of Staff Sergeant and continued his service in the Army Reserves.

Upon his return from Iraq, Charlie took a job as a foreman for a central Indiana roofing company. In July of 2008 Charlie was severely injured when he fell off a roof. By February, 2009, he was able to return to work, but on March 22, 2009, Charlie was killed in a catastrophic motorcycle accident near Sheridan.

fire; the older boy pushed his brother outside and they went for help.

The parents had left the home for just a few minutes on an errand. Upon returning, Mrs. Mueller attempted to put the fire out with an extinguisher but when it emptied, the fire grew right back and she exited the structure.

The victims will be staying with family. Battalion Chief Steve White estimates the loss at $300,000. The Fishers department was assisted by the Carmel Fire Department, the Hamilton County Sheriff's Department and the Fishers Police Department.

Fire officials remind residents to never leave food cooking while they are away and to check smoke detectors monthly to make sure they are in working order. Practice with kids to exit the building immediately when it's on fire and to know your meeting place.

COUNTY LINE

from the Tea Party without the Tea Party name being mentioned, and Dollard got indirect support from the GOP organization.

So, the influence of the Tea Party remains somewhat undetermined until and unless it makes public its candidate preferences.

In some of last week's primary races one could determine in what part of the county a candidate resides by the vote he received. For example, Brian Poindexter who challenged Judge Bill Hughes for judge of Superior Court 3, ran well in Clay Township, his home base, while Hughes did well in Noblesville and areas north of 146th Street. No surprise there.

I must confess I took a personal hand in the election on behalf of one candidate. I consider local politics a hobby, so often times I try to encourage and support a local candidate who's trying to get into local government. Such efforts are not very complex, mysterious or exciting. More folks should try it.

Four years ago Matt Snyder got elected to the Clay Township Board, finishing third in a field of five. (Top three win.) This year he finished first in another field of five. In these very localized races money is not the most important factor. The secret is simple; work harder than your opponent, more personal contact, more flyers and yard signs, more public meetings.

Don't believe that some nameless political bosses are pulling the strings at this level. It is really so simple, not easy, but simple. Working usually works.

million dollars to bring the Amory up to code. The school systems involved indicated they did not want to make that type of investment, considering they would have the building for only five or six years.

That sent the co-op folks scrambling the last two weeks, trying to come up with a facility to keep the Mosaics School alive.

"We had discussions with White River Christian Church in Noblesville," said Mosaics Director Dr. Steven Wornhoff. "They offered us space. They have a lot of space, but that space is being used part-time."

Wornhoff said that even furniture used by the Mosaics School would not be the same as used by the church.

"They have something going on each Thursday and then again during the weekend," explained Wornhoff. "We would have to break down our stuff for Thursday evening; set it up again on Friday mornings; move it again Friday evenings and then come back on Mondays."

"It just wouldn't work," Wornhoff added.

So, what then will work?

Wornhoff presented, and the superintendents approved, what the director called a "satellite school."

Beginning next fall, two classes will be housed at Hamilton Heights and one each at Noblesville and Westfield.

That's exactly what some parents made clear isn't what they want, citing splitting up the staff to the point where it would not be effective.

The answer from the board was, effective or not, the plan is necessary. At this point, there is no other option.

Long term?

Wornhoff said that could require building, because there appears to be nothing available in the area.

"We haven't had a good discussion on building," Wornhoff said, "but that could come in our long range planning. We just don't have time to make that happen before school begins next fall."

MAIN STREET

"We are sorry to see Renee leave and thank her for all of her hard work this past year and a half. Renee has helped our organization grow and refocus our mission on the four pillars of Main Street organizations (economic development, design, organization and promotions). Renee wrote and implemented our organizations refocused strategic plan and was instrumental in the implementation. Oldham's outside-in perspective helped identify the need for the collaborative development of a new mission statement for the nonprofit and it was the same perspective that helped create the new "Hipstoric" moniker that is being branded and attached to the fun and beauty of downtown Noblesville. We genuinely wish her all the best in her new endeavors," said NMS Board President Michael Chesser.

All Noblesville Main Street events will continue as scheduled during this transition period.

In the interim, the Noblesville Main Street Board will be establishing a search committee to begin its exploration for a new executive director. During the temporary period, the Noblesville Main Street executive committee of board president, Chesser, Darren Peterson, vice president, Alex Pinegar, secretary and Beau Parsons, treasurer, will be the primary contacts for Main Street.

Letters to the Editor

Grandmother wants answers about Mosaics

I first of all want to thank you for your support and all the positive articles on the Mosaics School. I happen to have a grandson that is transitioning out of the school. If it wasn't for Mosaics I would hate to think where this child would be. I cannot say enough, it saved his life. He went from failing school to "A" student. He was excited about school and seeing his teacher. The difference has been like day and night. The hope that he will go to college is definitely in the future.

Unless a building is found before the school year next year, the hope for the future could be gone for the other children that go to Mosaics. Hamilton County has some of the finest schools but, what happened to the building for Mosaics School? The school system has let the children and their families down. I have no time for excuses. I want answers.

Sincerely,
Vicky Gaskin

Reporter reader says "Hello" from Florida

Hello Don Jellison. This is Steve McDonald. I started playing organized baseball just after moving to Noblesville from Alabama in 1952. Keith Wellman was Ledger sports writer and wrote articles covering the games. You took over a couple years later and you also wrote articles covering the games. I wanted to let you know how much I and my brother Tubby appreciated your kind words about both our accomplishments. My mother kept pretty much all the articles and a couple years ago, my wife Bree surprised me and had them framed in 4 matching frames which I displayed proudly in our game room in Columbus, Indiana. We now live in Ocala, Florida and the frames will soon be going up on our wall again. Thanks again and continued good luck in your and your son's newest endeavor.

The Carmel girls tennis team continued its sectional win streak on Friday, beating Guerin Catholic 4-1 to win its own sectional. The Greyhounds have won 23 titles in a row and 31 overall.

Carmel, HSE triumph in tennis sectional finals

By RICHIE HALL
Reporter Sports Editor

One team made history, and the other team added to its history Friday in Hamilton County's two girls tennis sectional championships.

Carmel won its own sectional at the Todd Witsken Tennis Center, beating No. 8-ranked Guerin Catholic 4-1. The No. 1 Greyhounds collected their 31st sectional championship, and 23rd in a row.

Over at the Noblesville Freshman Center, Hamilton Southeastern beat Fishers 3-2 in a tight championship. It's the first-ever sectional title for the No. 21 Royals.

The Greyhounds wrapped up their sectional quickly. All three singles players - No. 1 Bailey Padgett, No. 2 Lauryn Padgett and No. 3 Zoe Woods - won their matches in straight sets, as did No. 1 doubles Molly Fletchall and Emma Love.

"We played really well today, in all the spots," said Greyhounds coach Mike Bostic. "Overall, what a great team victory."

Bostic noted that Fletchall and Love were 6-1, 6-0 winners. When the two teams played earlier in the season, the No. 1 doubles match went three sets.

"That's big for us," said Bostic. "Bailey had a great match. That was her last match on these courts. We wanted her to go out strong and she did. Lauryn and Zoe are just tough."

The Golden Eagles' victory came in No. 2 doubles, with Maddie Fremion and Julia Broadbent winning in three sets. Guerin finished its season with a 10-5 record, and has continued to make strides in such a short time. The Golden Eagles were 1-4 early in the season, then went undefeated in the regular season until meeting Carmel.

"It was a great season, it's just we've got a tough sectional," said GC coach Kevin Gill. "We've got the best team in the state to go up against. But it was a great season. It was probably one of our most balanced teams and it was fun."

Carmel will play in the Kokomo regional Tuesday, with semi-finals beginning at 4:30 p.m. The 'Hounds will await the winner of the West Lafayette sectional, which will be either the Red Devils or No. 24 Harrison. Eastern and Logansport play the other semi-final.

Carmel's 31st sectional championship puts it third on the all-time list. Munster has the most with 39, followed by Marion with 33. Both teams won sectionals again this season.

Southeastern, of course, was happy to finally get its first.

"Any time you make history like that, it's a big deal," said HSE coach Kirk Webber. He called it "an amazing feeling" that Southeastern was finally able to get that first championship.

"I still am in a little bit of shock, I think, because it wasn't looking good for a while," said Webber. "But we pulled it out."

The Royals and Tigers have had epic battles over the years, and this was no different. It wasn't until No. 3 singles Nicole Spafford won a 6-4 third set that Southeastern's dream finally became reality.

HSE's No. 1 doubles team of Andrea Updike and Kelsey Cahlamer also had to tough out its match, coming from a set down to win 7-5 in the third. The Royals did get an easy win at No. 2 doubles, with Maria del Mar Davila and Nicole Delozier emerging victorious by the score of 6-0, 6-3.

Fishers' wins were both in singles, and in straight sets. No. 1 Jessica Lorenz was a 6-2, 6-4 winner, while Caitlin Gardner got a 6-3, 6-1 victory at No. 2. Since Lorenz is 2-0 in the post-season, she will advance to the individual singles tournament, which begins next week.

The Royals' first ever team regional will be at North Central, and HSE takes on the No. 2 Panthers in Tuesday's semi-final. The other semi-final will see Lawrence North (which won its sectional by upsetting No. 26 Lawrence Central 5-0) play Mount Vernon, which rallied to beat New Palestine for a sectional championship. All action begins at 4 p.m.

No tie for Justin’s Millers...

NHS is HCC champion

Settle for a tie? No way. Not this Noblesville team. Not after the battle put up all season long by Coach Justin Keever’s Mllers through an 18-game grind in the tough Hoosier Crossroads Conference.

Noblesville, on the road Friday evening, completed its two-game sweep of Harrison, coming away with a full share of the conference championship.

Just as in the Millers’ one-run win Thursday at The Dunk in Noblesville, Harrison didn’t take it easy on Noblesville, the Millers finally earning a 5-3 victory.

Noblesville was held to seven hits, all singles. Trevor Salmon and Connor Christman each pounded out two blows. Salmon drove home two runs.

While the hitters did their job, it again was outstanding Noblesville pitching which led the Millers to the win. Garrett Christman worked 6.2 innings and allowed just six hits, while striking out seven. When Harrison scored a run in the bottom of the seventh, Salmon came in to slam the door.

Noblesville now will look forward to hosting the local Class 4A sectional. The tourney will start at Don Dunker Field on Wednesday, May 28 with Carmel and Fishers going head-to-head. Noblesville drew a first round bye and will not play until Monday, June 2.

Surprise, surprise, it's pitching...

Huskies edge Sheridan, 3-2

By DON JELLISON
Reporter Editor

Two long-time, backyard Hamilton County baseball rivals, each this season better known for hitting than pitching, Friday evening hooked up in a slinger's battle at Arcadia.

Jacob Hammel and Zac Moffatt and Coach Rick Hawley's host Huskies won out, 3-2, over Austin Hoover and Coach Matt Britt's Sheridan Blackhawks.

Sam Reel, who had walked, scored on a single by Lukas Sipe, which was mis-played into a two-base error, in the top of the sixth to provide Hamilton Heights with the winning run.

Hoover was the tough-luck losing pitcher for the Blackhawks. Moffatt, in relief of Jacob Hammel, got the pitching victory.

With the game tied at 2-2 and two Blackhawks on base, Moffat came to the mound with two out in the top of the sixth and got two of the hottest hitters in Hamilton County, Sam Crail on a pop to short and Hoover on a strikeout. After Heights scored in its half of the sixth, Moffat returned to the mound and finished off Sheridan in 1-2-3 style.

"Moffat really did a great job," Hawley said. "He pitched well in a game earlier in the week. And, he is such a great kid. Jacob Hammel threw well, too."

Hamilton Heights had scored in the first, but it took three walks, a fiedler's choice, a Sheridan error and two stolen bases to get that one run.

The Huskies' second tally was an unearned run in the fourth Sheridan got both of its runs in the fifth, coming off a double by sizzling-hitting Jordan Kyriakopolos, a triple by Crail and a fielder's choice RBI off the bat of Nathan Pflugh.

"We had our chances with men on base," said Britt. "We just couldn't get them in. And, two of their runs were unearned."

Sheridan ended its regular season with a 12-10 record. The Blackhawks will host a 2A sectional next week, having drawn a first-round bye. Sheridan will meet the winner of the Tipton-Alexandria game.

Hamilton Heights, 10-14, will close its regular season today playing a double-header at Frankfort. The Huskies will face host Yorktown in the first round of the sectional.

Fishers clinches third in HCC...

Tigers sweep Brownsburg

Fishers secured a third-place finish in the Hoosier Crossroads Conference Friday by beating Brownsburg 9-5, getting a sweep against the Bulldogs.

The Tigers finished 11-7 in the HCC, and are 20-9-1, the second time in three seasons they have won at least 20 games.

Fishers' aggressive offense once again sparked a big inning as the Tigers played seven runs in the fifth inning to take an 8-3 lead. Senior Nicholas Podlogar and junior Brad Burton each had two hits.

Fishers used five pitchers on the mound tonight. Senior Jeff Kutz started and pitched 1.2 innings allowing two earned runs. Senior Grant Small relief Kutz and pitched 1.1 innings allowing one earned run. Senior Chris Seymour (2-2) pitched a scoreless fourth inning and earned the win as the pitcher of record. Freshmen Luke Duermitt pitched two innings allowing two earned runs. Senior Mike Chakiry pitched the final three outs in the seventh.

Helping the Tigers pitching was the outstanding defense behind them. Canter made several tough plays on hard hit balls to second base. Podlogar made a perfect throw to Chakiry who relayed it to Yoho to hang a runner up rounding third. Burton made a heads up play in the hole at short recovering a ball that kicked off of Yoho's glove and then throwing back to Yoho to get the out at third on the fielder's choice.

The Tigers even turned a rare 1-5-3 double play. In the seventh, Chakiry caught a runner between second and third bases after fielding a comebacker at the mound.

The Tigers will now turn their focus to the Sectional where they will play Carmel on Wednesday at Noblesville at 6 p.m.

It will be a 12-school conference...

Heights joins the Hoosier

By DON JELLISON
Reporter Editor

Hamilton Heights, along with Northwestern, Cass and Western from the Mid-Indiana Conference, has joined the Hoosier Conference.

Effective July 1, 2015, those four schools will join the Hoosier Conference in what now will be a 12-team league.

“The existing member schools of the Hoosier Conference, which include Benton Central, Delphi, Lafayette Central Catholic, Rensselaer, Tipton, Twin Lakes and West Lafayette, are excited about this expansion and look forward to growing the Hoosier Conference,” said Benton Central principal Corey Robb, who chairs the new conference.

“This expansion will help the Hoosier Conference on its path to become one of the premier conference in the state,” Robb added.

The move, rumored for weeks, was announced on Friday afternoon.

“We are excited,” said Hamilton Heights athletic director Kurt Ogden. “The Hoosier Conference will become one of the premier mid-school conferences in Indiana”

Ogden said many of the details of the merger will need to be worked out, such as having a 12-school conference for football.

“We will need to go to divisions in football,” Ogden said. “Then, will we have a playoff the last week of the season? That remains to be worked out.”

The new conference will bring together two old rivals, Hamilton Heights and Tipton.

“We will also build new rivalries,” said Ogden. “All the schools have good athletic programs.

“Also, on the academic side, we’re bringing together some 4-Star schools,” Ogden added.

Dunn leaving Sheridan for Rossville?

The Hamilton County Reporter has learned that Sheridan boys basketball coach Cory Dunn will leave to become the new head basketball coach at Rossville High School.

Contacted by The Reporter, Dunn neither confirmed or denied the move.

The Rossville School Board will meet on June 3 and will make the announcement at that time.

Dunn at this time has not resigned at Sheridan.

If that happens, Sheridan School Superintendent Dave Mundy told The Reporter that the Sheridan job will be posted.

Mundy was asked if there are candidates for the basketball job.

“Everyone is a candidate,” Mundy said with a smile.

Steve Hawthorne named new NHS head volleyball coach

Noblesville Schools announced today that Steve Hawthorne has been named head girls volleyball coach at Noblesville High School. Hawthorne replaces Steve Ward.

“We are very excited to have Coach Hawthorne as a part of our community and to lead our volleyball program from top to bottom,” said Mike Hasch, athletic director for Noblesville Schools. “His expertise and knowledge will lead our entire program in the right direction.”

Hawthorne spent this past season as the girls volleyball coach at Lebanon High School and is currently a club volleyball coach at Indiana Volleyball Academy (IVA). Prior to this, he was club director and associate club director at IVA, head volleyball coach at Guerin Catholic and assistant at Zionsville High School.

Hawthorne stated, “I am both honored and humbled for the opportunity to lead the Noblesville girls volleyball program. This is a program with an immense amount of talent and potential and I'm looking forward to seeing what we can build and achieve together.”

Scott Dixon, Ganassi win Pit Stop Challenge

For the second time in three years, Target Chip Ganassi Racing and Scott Dixon have won the Tag Heuer Pit Stop Challenge, which determines the fastest pit crew in the Indianapolis 500.

Today's contest at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway featured 12 teams in four rounds of action. Each team was timed while performing a pit stop that required crews to change four tires and execute a simulated fuel hookup during each round of competition. Teams went head-to-head with the faster time advancing to the next round. Crews had to be careful however, as penalty time was added for various infractions, such as loose wheel nuts or running over air hoses.

Dixon and the No. 9 Target Chip Ganassi crew took first place and earned a $50,000 payday after defeating Indianapolis 500 rookie Sage Karam and his Dryer & Reinbold-Kingdom Racing crew by over half a second (Dixon's crew recorded a time of 11.658 seconds; Karam's registered a time of 12.163 seconds).

The No. 9 Target Chip Ganassi Racing crew includes: Chief Mechanic and outside front tire, Blair Julian; inside front tire, Adam Rovazzini; outside rear tire, Greg Shuker; inside rear tire, Tyler Rees; airjack, Andy Schneider; and fueler, Todd DeNeve.

"Every week it's pretty tight (between teams in the pits)," said Julian. "We've been fortunate enough to do a good job here on pit lane - today and in the races. It's working out pretty good. There is not a huge amount of (pit stop) practice throughout the season; it's mainly on race weekends. We try and get a few pit stops in during the practice sessions, unless we have a big problem, and everything has been going pretty good this year."

"It's actually one of my most stressful days apart from Race Day because you don't want to mess it up," Dixon said. "I've been very lucky and blessed to have such a great team for many years and to win the pit stop competition two times within three years is pretty tough to do. Without them, I wouldn't have had the success I have had. They are one of the best teams on pit road. It's definitely going to help me a lot come Race Day this weekend."

Today also marked the second time Dixon and the No. 9 crew have ever won the Tag Heuer Pit Stop Competition, as they earned the top spot in 2012 after defeating Oriol Servia and Panther/Dreyer & Reinbold Racing.

The 98th Running of the Indianapolis 500 Mile Race is scheduled for noon ET on Sunday, May 25.
