The journey to happier

By JANET LEONARD
It will be fourteen years next month.

I remember walking out of the doors at the courthouse. The divorce papers had been signed. Twenty-five years and there was no happy ending. I tried so hard to catch my breath and hold back the tears. Exhaling seemed impossible. Tears seemed inevitable.

Fear was an evil package of thoughts that had been let loose in my mind. So many what ifs were the sparks that kept the fear raging.

One of my greatest fears had come to full blown fruition. I was alone.

Had you told me that I would be alone that many years, well it would have been like throwing gasoline on a fire.

I will tell you that getting used to sleeping single in a queen size bed was exhausting. I wanted to pull the covers up over my head and wake up in the morning and it all be a bad dream. But it was not. I wrestled with so many thoughts. I went to bed exhausted and woke up exhausted.

How do I do life alone?

Making major decisions like which furnace to buy when mine refused to fire up were forever on the horizon. Minor decisions consumed my days. Could I learn to adapt my favorite recipes for one? Would I ever get used to walking into a restaurant and dining alone? Would I always be sitting in the odd numbered chair? The questions allowed fear to sleep with me every night.

Eventually I got used to this new normal. I realized that happiness was not in the number two. Happiness was a decision made by one. Me.

So for fourteen years I never used the excuse...but I am all by myself. I became stronger. Decisions became somewhat easier. So what's the worst that can happen? I had dealt with the worst and survived.

About three years ago I had the grand-muchkins in the car headed to church. Abby was seven at the time. We were on Cherry Tree Road when Abby, sitting in the back seat, all of a sudden exclaims "Grandma you need a husband!" I burst out laughing and then calmly ask her "and just why do you think that?" In my rearview mirror I saw her sweet smile and she said "so you can be happy!" I told her that I was happy and that someone can't MAKE you happy. She told me that she thought I would be "happier" if I had someone. I reassured her that I was just fine. And I was.

Then this wonderful, witty, charming, handsome man waltzed ever so slowly into my life. I find it ironic that we met in the "waiting" room at my work. He would always be working a crossword puzzle while waiting for his car to be serviced. I would always interrupt his train of thought with a "Hi Chuck! How are you?" Never would I have dreamed that I would be interrupting his thoughts on a daily basis. But I do. And because of those fourteen years I have a deeper appreciation of having him in my life.

Yes it's like a Hallmark movie...a bit sweet and a whole lot schmaltzy. And just like in a Hallmark movie, Abby was right...I am happier.

The County Line
Dick Nyers Indiana Football Hall of Fame induction is long overdue

By FRED SWIFT
In the summer of 1958 a just-released 24-year old player for the Baltimore Colts showed up at a small Hamilton County high school looking for a teaching and coaching job. It was the school's lucky day.

Dick Nyers, a native Hoosier, was hired at Carmel High School to coach a football team that had a less than spectacular history in the sport. That fall only 29 youngsters showed up wanting to play at the school which had barely 400 students.

In his first year, Nyers' team was 5-5 for the season. That was followed by nine seasons with winning records including two undefeated years. The young coach had started a winning tradition. Since then Carmel has been the state's team to beat for half a century.

Dick was in Carmel on Tuesday to have lunch with some of his former students and players. He's now 79 and lives in Columbus, Indiana, but says he still closely follows all Carmel sports in the news media.

During lunch the veteran coach modestly mentioned that on June 12 he will be inducted into the Indiana Football Hall of Fame. It is certainly an overdue honor for the former high school, college and professional player and coach at the high school and college level.

Dick played for Manual High School and then for Indiana Central College (now University of Indianapolis), before playing for the Colts where he caught Johnny Unitas' first touchdown pass as a pro. But, after two seasons the Colts said they no longer needed Dick's services. He was later offered a position with a West Coast team, an offer he turned down because he had by then already accepted the Carmel job.

After ten successful years at Carmel, he was offered and accepted an assistant coaching job at Ball State, then the head position at his alma mater, Indiana Central. He left coaching in the 1970s to enter the private sector with Arvin Industries in Columbus. Next, he started a woodworking business of his own.

Later he sold the business and retired. Now he plays a lot of golf and enjoys time with family and old friends. He's a legend in Indiana football and a good friend of a grateful Carmel sports community.

Get your homemade cobbler in Arcadia

By MARY SUE ROWLAND

This is a special invitation to join friends and have some really good treats in Arcadia on June 21st. Toni Dickover, the president of the Historic Train Depot/Museum and a outstanding cobbler maker sent over the information below with a special invitation. If you want a taste of the old days, read on. I will see you on the deck, sitting on a bench, eating cobbler and thinking "life is good"!

A special invitation from Toni:
As part of Nickel Plate Art Days, on Saturday, June 21, 2014, the Historic Train Depot/Museum, in Arcadia, Indiana, will be having "Cobbler on the Deck". We will be selling homemade cobbler and bottled water from 11am – 2pm. Also, we will be featuring art work, completed by several of Mrs. Trachtman's elementary art students from Hamilton Heights Elementary School. They had a paint-in on Saturday, May 17, 2014 and are anxious to display their finished work.

In its hey-day, Arcadia was home to glass and tin factories powered by the natural gas boom of the 1880s, and later through alternative means of power. Arcadia is one of several towns that dotted the inter-urban rail line, one of the largest electrical trolley systems in the country.

The Arcadia Depot is a part of this rich railroad history. The historic Nickel Plate Road began as the Peru & Indianapolis Railroad in 1849. Many mergers later, the Nickel Plate was part of a comprehensive network that featured 1,683 miles of track, including the 30 miles that constitute the Nickel Plate Arts Trail today. This portion of the track is owned by the Hoosier Heritage Port Authority, operated by Hamilton County, Fishers and Noblesville and is still affectionately referred to as the Nickel Plate.

The Historic Depot, located on South Street, is one block south of Main, on the east side of the railroad. Come in and see our large collection of Arcadia Glass which was made in Arcadia between 1914 and 1932, as well as several artifacts of Arcadia's rich history.

Our normal business hours are Saturdays, 11am to 2pm, May through October. Please stop in for a visit and a tour of our museum.

Feast or Famine

By AIMEE GEBHART

There's a strange phenomenon that I've been experiencing lately whenever I go shopping. When it comes to receiving help from sales associates, it's either feast or famine.

Most recently I experienced a sales associate famine. I received a gift card to a trendy bath shop at the Fashion Mall, and I was really excited to use it. However, I was overwhelmed the instant I walked through the door. This place was like a little workshop of soaps, creams, and goops that I didn't understand. I was intrigued by what I was seeing, but I couldn't get anyone to help me. After 10 minutes of being invisible, I just grabbed some bath fizzies and headed to the counter.

The cashier was having a grand old time with the customer in front of me, throwing her head back and laughing heartily. So when it was my turn, I couldn't help but smile at her sunny disposition thinking she would share her joy with me and change my mind about the experience. No such luck. She greeted me with a flat, serious, "Hello", and that's all I got. Decision made: I don't require fancy bath soaps. A bar of Dial from Walmart suits me just fine.

More commonly, though, I experience the sales associate feast. You know what I'm talking about - those stores where the sales people are like vultures waiting to eat you alive. It happens every time I try to shop for perfume in a department store. All I want to do is sniff some bottles until I find one I love, but I can't because the perfume lady stalks me until I get so annoyed that I just leave. Since when can another person help you with smelling?

This kind of harassment happens to me at clothing stores as well. I admit that I buy my jeans at a store that is geared toward younger, hipper people than me. That makes it hysterical when I go in strictly for jeans and the sales associates start throwing shirts, scarves, belts, and shoes into the dressing room with me. They never listen when I insist that a person my age should not be dressed from head to toe in dragons, skulls, and crosses.

I think the best plan to fight this feast or famine problem is to steal a page out of the Kittles furniture store playbook. They have badges that customers can put on upon entering the store that say "Just looking" to signal the sales associates to leave them alone. I love this idea. In fact, I think the badges should actually say "Back Off", and on the flip side I think they should say, "Help Me, I'm Needy". Can you imagine how much simpler shopping, and life in general, would be if we all wore these? I think a nice, straight forward approach like this is just what shoppers and sales associates need to eliminate any mixed signals. So if you see me out and about with my "Back Off" badge on, please don't take it personally. I probably just forgot to take it off after avoiding a hipster attack at the mall.

Cicero hosts 31st annual triathlon

By BRIAN REDDICK

Saturday morning small town Cicero's Red Bridge Park was host to about 180 athletes from all over Indiana and even a few from out of state. Some were hard core athletes, others were there just to challenge themselves to see if they could complete the three sport endurance race. Cicero is a USAT sanctioned mini-sprint triathlon that consists of a .2 mile swim across Morse Reservoir, a 9.5 mile bike ride and a 3.1 mile run. The event is put on by the Hamilton North Chamber of Commerce and DJ Orion from Radio Now 100.9 keeps the music pumping and the mood upbeat.

This year's top finisher, Sam Morgan, completed the course in 47 minutes, 37.1 seconds a new record for the event. Second place went to John Stroup, the 2013 winner, with a time of 49 minutes, 29.9 seconds.

Ladies top finishers were Leanne Zentz with a time of 59 minutes, 45 seconds and Meredith Langhorst at 59 minutes, 47 seconds.

If you would like to challenge yourself next year to see if you have what it takes, contact Jane Hunter at the Hamilton North Chamber of Commerce at 317-984-4079.

Noblesville’s Andrew Wilson (8) celebrates with his teammates during the Millers’ regional semi-final game Saturday at Loeb Stadium in Lafayette. Noblesville beat Homestead in the semis and Fort Wayne Carroll in the final to win the regional championship.

Keeper’s juggling act sends NHS to semi-state

Millers two wins from gold

By DON JELLISON
Reporter Editor

Noblesville baseball coach Justin Keever did an extremely-successful juggling act on the mound at Lafayette’s historic Loeb Stadium Saturday evening as his Millers came from behind to defeat Ft. Wayne Carroll, 7-4, in the championship game of the IHSAA Class 4A Regional.

By winning, the Millers advance to next Saturday’s one-game semi-state, playing Lake Central. The game will be played either at Kokomo or Plymouth.

Keever, his back to the wall after Carroll exploded for three runs in the top of the first, sent four pitchers from a deep, deep hurling staff to the mound in clinching the championship.

Earlier in the day, Noblesville advanced to the title game with a 7-3 win over Homestead.

Keever started the championship tilt with lefty Trevor Salmon on the mound. He lasted just six batters and one out as Carroll exploded for three runs on a walk, a single and two doubles.

In came another lefty, Cory Conway, who got Noblesville out of the first with a double-play ball and then fanned the side in the second.

“Conway was the perfect replacement,” explained Keever. “He was the only pitcher not being used as a position-player at the time. It would have been difficult to go with one of the other starters at that time.”

But, Conaway, a sophomore who had pitched four innings earlier in the day, tired in the third, giving up two hits and a walk and Carroll’s fourth (and final) run of the night.

“Conway had thrown 55 pitches in the earlier game,” said Keever.

In came a third lefty, Zach St. Pierre.

“St. Pierre did a great job of shutting them down,” said Keever.

St. Pierre got the third out in the third and then held Carroll scoreless on just one hit through the next three innings.

St. Pierre struck out the first Carroll batter in the seventh, but then walked the next and Keever went to the mound for a fourth time, this time picking right-hander Garrett Christman from his shortstop position. Christman gave up a hit, but then nailed the next two Carroll hitters to send his team off to the semi-state.

After Carroll scored the three runs in the top of the first, Noblesville started to eat away at the lead in the bottom of the frame, scoring one run. Andrew Wilson tripled and scored on a wild pitch.

It was the third inning when the Millers took charge, scoring four times to take a 5-4 lead. Wilson, St. Pierre and Dax McLochlin all drew walks in the frame. A sacrifice fly off the bat of Vinny Essig got Noblesville one run. Easton Brock was hit by the pitcher, forcing a second run; and then a single by Connor Christman and a Carroll error on the play scored two more runs and gave the Millers the lead.

They got two insurance runs in the third. Wilson was hit by the pitcher and later, for the second time in the game, scored on a wild pitch. Brian McLean doubled and he scored on a single by St. Pierre.

It was a master piece of a comeback by Noblesville’s offense.

“These kids just don’t quit,” said Keever. “They don’t give up. They didn’t give up tonight.”

In the morning game against Homestead, starter Garrett Christman allowed six hits and three runs in the first three innings, but Conway pitched the last four and allowed just one hit while fanning seven.

Noblesville scored five times in the fifth, breaking open what had been a tight game.

The Millers collected eight hits, including a double and two singles by Essig. St. Pierre and McLochlin each doubled in the game.

The Carmel girls tennis team dominated the state tournament, beating North Central 5-0 Saturday at the Barbara Wynne Tennis Center to win its seventh state championship. The Greyhounds finished their season a perfect 21-0.

Greyhounds dominate for seventh state championship

By RICHIE HALL
Reporter Sports Editor
The words "Carmel" and "tennis" go together like "serve" and "volley."
Everyone knows that the Greyhounds - both the boys and the girls programs - are going to be a threat to win a state championship every year. And Carmel's girls did it again in 2014, defending their state championship in dominating fashion.

The No. 1-ranked 'Hounds beat No. 2 North Central in the Saturday afternoon state finals at the Panthers' tennis courts. Carmel took care of all five matches in straight sets. Let's review that again. The Greyhounds beat NORTH CENTRAL - the 12-time state champion, the No. 2-ranked team in the state at the Barbara Wynne Tennis Center, which has been producing top-level talent for almost half a century.
It's possible even Carmel itself didn't know how dominating it would be on Saturday.
"That's amazing," said CHS coach Mike Bostic. "To do that at North Central, when they are the second-ranked team in the state, and to win that 5-0, I just can't even put it into words. Special effort."
The matches were in straight sets, but that doesn't mean they were easy. Well, a couple of them were. Freshman Zoe Woods breezed through the No. 3 singles match 6-0, 6-0. The No. 1 doubles team of junior Molly Fletchall and sophomore Emma Love got a 6-0, 6-2 victory.
"It feels awesome to get the second point because it takes a lot of pressure off," said Fletchall. "Being up 2-0, there's a lot less pressure on the team to win."
"Obviously the third point's exciting, because that's what captures the title," said Love. "But a point's a point."

At No. 2 singles, sophomore Lauryn Padgett beat a fired-up Caroline McAuley 6-2 in the first set. McAuley played Padgett tough in the second set, but Lauryn was finally able to get the win, 7-5 in the second set. That clinched Carmel's seventh state championship.
Lauryn's sister, No. 1 singles Bailey Padgett, won her match a few seconds later. The senior defeated Claire Reifeis 7-6 (5), 6-3, getting a huge victory over a player that had beaten her twice during the regular season.
"That's what you want from your seniors," said Bostic. "It feels awesome, especially it being my senior year and my last match with my sister as a teammate," said Bailey Padgett.
Sophomores Kristen Layman and Mary Voigt got Carmel's last point, winning the No. 2 doubles match 7-5, 6-3.
Bailey Padgett, who has been Carmel's No. 1 singles player all four years, won the Mental Attitude Award after the meet concluded.
"I was very surprised, pleasantly surprised about that one," said Padgett.
Padgett will return to the individual singles tournament, which takes place next weekend at Park Tudor. She will be the top seed, since she played on the state championship team.
"It's been a dream of hers," Bostic said of Bailey Padgett, who was the individual runner-up last year. "It's been a struggle to get there for her, she's been so close a couple of times." The coach did say that if Padgett played like she did today, "she's going to be awfully tough to beat."
"And we'll have our whole team there supporting her," Bostic added. "That's exciting."
Fletchall and Love will get to play in the doubles state finals, under the same scenario - the top seeds.

"They're awesome," said Bostic. "Great combination of strong groundstroke play with Molly, and Emma's net game. Such a perfect combo."

Fishers' Lorenz wins individual regional, qualifies for state

Fishers tennis player Jessica Lorenz made history on Saturday, as she advanced to the individual state finals.
Lorenz is the first Tigers tennis player to qualify for state. She did so by winning the Carmel regional, which took place at the Todd Witks- en Tennis Center. Lorenz defeated Rebecca Koscielniak of Decatur Central 6-1, 6-0 in the semi-finals and beat Oldenburg Academy's Sarah Wilder 6-1, 6-4 in the final.
"I played pretty well," said Lorenz. "It was rough conditions, it was really windy and hot, but I played well for the most part. My serve was struggling a little bit, but it was definitely a mental game and I just tried to keep it together and it came out my way."
Lorenz will be one of seven players taking part in the individual singles tournament. Her first match will be at 2 p.m. Friday at Park Tudor. The pairings will be made early next week.

HSE headed to state

Savanna!

Like the name? Better get use to it. The Hamilton Southeastern pitcher is the new freshman sensation of the softball world.

Savanna Copeland fired a six-hitter and struck out 12 in a 4-3 first-round win over Penn. Then, she allowed just six hits and struck out 13 in a 5-2 victory over Huntington North.

And, the team that not a whole bunch of folks thought would get out of the sectional has suddenly qualified for the state.

Coach David Cook's HSE Lady Royals again stunned the softball world by capturing the Harrison Semi-State. Southeastern will play Bloomington South in next Saturday's state finals, which take place at Ben Davis.

In the opener Southeastern scored a run in the second, two in the fifth and another in the sixth to take a 4-0 lead over Penn into the seventh. Penn scored three times in the seventh before Southeastern stopped the bleeding and advanced to the title game.

Southeastern collected seven hits, including two by Shelby Mager. Ashley Rohr hit a triple and knocked home two runs.

In the championship game, Southeastern beat a Huntington North team which earlier in the day had upset No. 1 and undefeated Crown Point.

This game, in many ways, followed the story line of the earlier game. Southeastern led 5-0 entering the seventh, when Huntington North scored two runs.

Southeastern had just five hits in this game. Ally Goley hit a triple and Natalie Heiniger doubled. Goley and Heiniger each knocked home two runs.

Carmel's Josh Ebikwo (middle) and Hamilton Southeastern's Khalid Fuller were medal winners in the 100 dash and 4x100 relay at Saturday's IHSAA boys track and field state finals at Indiana University in Bloomington. The Greyhounds finished a close second to Gary West Side, while the Royals were fifth.

Greyhounds' Austin Roberts, HSE's Jacob Wright win individual events...

Carmel edged by Gary West Side

Carmel boys track and field head coach Ken Browner summed it up best after the IHSAA state meet was over: "They'll be proud of it later, but it is disappointing when you get this close."

The Greyhounds came oh-so-close to winning their first boys and track field state meet since 2000, finishing second to Gary West Side at Saturday's meet at Indiana University in Bloomington. The Cougars scored 41 points to Carmel's 39, getting past the 'Hounds on the 4x400 relay, the last event of the night.

West Side's 4x400 team trailed Carmel 39-36 going into the event, then finished fifth to score five points. The Greyhounds finished 25th.

Carmel got itself into contention with a huge performance in the 3200 run. Ben Veatch finished second, and Bobby Browning placed eighth. That was a combined 10 team points, which was a ton in a low-scoring meet like this. (West Side's 41 points were the lowest for a winning team since Fort Wayne Northrop scored 37 points to win in 1997).

"Proud of the kids," said Browner. "They fought, they battled and we gave ourselves a chance down the stretch" - it just wasn't meant to be this year. Still, the Greyhounds' finish was the best since its state championship win in 2000.

Carmel had plenty to be proud of. Austin Roberts won the 100 dash, needing just 10.83 seconds to earn the blue ribbon. Josh Ebikwo was fifth in that race, the first of a three-medal day for him. Ebikwo was also sixth in the 200 dash and joined Garrett Collins, Roberts and John Ramsey to place third in the 4x100.

Roberts got injured during the Lafayette Jeff regional, so for him to come back and win was big indeed.

The Greyhounds opened state with a medal in the 4x800 race. with the team of Teddy Browning, Michael George, Collin McMahon, Daniel Sechuga finishing ninth. Sechuga would later place eighth in the 1600 run.

Hamilton Southeastern, last year's team state champion, finished a strong fifth. Jacob Wright led the way, winning the 110 hurdles in a time of 14.09 seconds. Wright also ran the 300 hurdles, but was injured during the race and did not finish. Wright also joined Lloyd Turner, Khalid Fuller and John Gay to take sixth in the 4x100 relay. Fuller was a 100 dash medalist, placing eighth.

Austin Hogan was the discus runner-up, with his best throw a distance of 186-06. Also in the field, Adam Wenger finished sixth in the high jump.

"The Royals had a great season with much success both individually and as a team," said HSE coach Christopher Swisher.

Fishers scored 16 points to finish 12th as a team. William Carver got runner-up honors in the long jump, with his best leap at 23-04.75. Calvin Kraft finished fifth in the 1600 run; he was named the Mental Attitude Award winner at the conclusion of the meet. The Tigers' 4x400 relay team of Patrick Chavis, Simeon Foster, Josh Lloyd, Michael Ryan placed seventh in that event.

The 4x400 was also a big race for Noblesville, as it placed third in that event. The team of Max Milkey, Michael O'Reilly, Jake Owens and Quentin Swaim finished in a time of 3:18.88, which is a new school record.

That was the finish of a three-medal day for Milkey. The senior placed eighth in the 110 hurdles and ninth in the 300 hurdles. Owens took eighth in the 400 dash.

Westfield's 4x800 team of Johnny Crawford, Eric Gonzalez, Colin Rinne, Ethan Worthington finished sixth in that race. Guerin Catholic's Joseph Taylor also got a medal, finishing seventh in the 1600 run.

Sheridan Men’s Horseshoe results

Below are the results for the June 4th Sheridan Men’s Horseshoe League competition.

The AHPA uses the COUNT-ALL-SYSTEM. A regulation game of horseshoe pitching consists of 25 innings. An inning consists of two shoes pitched by each player (two shoes times 25 innings equals 50 shoes pitches by each player per game). Each player whose shoes are within six inches of the stake count. In league and tournament competition the player scoring the most points, plus their handicap, shall be the winner of the series.

Cline scores six in Junior Boys All-Stars win

Jordan Geist of Penn scored 19 points to lead five players in double figures Saturday night (June 7), sparking the IndyStar.com Indiana Junior All-Stars boys to a 113-101 victory over Kentucky in the finale of a basketball doubleheader at Paul Laurence Dunbar High School.

That boys' win came after the Lawrence North duo of Jordan Hankins and Lamina Cooper combined for 25 points to lead the Indiana Junior girls to an 84-61 triumph over Kentucky.

K.J. Walton of Brownsburg added 17 points and Josh Speidel of Columbus North chipped in 16 points for the Indiana boys, who improved their record to 5-1 in the third year of the Junior series with Kentucky. Harris Brown of Indianapolis Howe contributed 14 points, while Davon Dillard of Bowman Academy had 12 points for the winners.

James Bolden of Holmes topped Kentucky with 21 points. Ray Spaulding of Louisville Trinity tallied 16 points and Jaqualis Matlock of Hopkinsville netted 15 points in support of Bolden.

The teams battled throughout the first half with a layup by Evansville Memorial's Adam Eberhard giving Indiana a 53-50 edge at intermission.

The back-and-forth struggle continued until near the 11-minute mark when a layup by Corydon Central's Bronson Kessinger and followed by a layup, two free throws and another layup by Walton triggered a 23-8 burst that gave the Hoosiers a 95-82 lead with 5:30 to go.

Kentucky momentarily got back in the game with a four-point play by Matt Rose of Lexington Christian Academy and a turnaround jumper by Matlock. But Indiana countered with a Brown jumper, a Speidel layup and a Geist 3-pointer to regain control. A Speidel three-point play and Dillard dunk then ended any remaining doubt.

Kessinger led Indiana with seven rebounds, while Richmond's Joel Okafor contributed a game-high six assists. Kentucky's Aric Holman of Owensboro grabbed a game-best 12 rebounds, while Bolden and Bardstown's Eljay Cowherd shared team assist honors with four apiece.

Earlier, Hankins scored 13 points and Cooper chipped in 12 points as Indiana overcame a 37-33 halftime deficit to improve its record to 6-0 in the girls' series. Jenna Allen of Bedford North Lawrence contributed nine points and a team-high 11 rebounds, while Tori Schickel of Evansville Mater Dei also had nine points.

Dominique McBryde of Bedford North Lawrence and Olivia Crozier each tallied eight points, while Ali Patberg of Columbus North chipped in six points and a game-high five assists.

Reauna Cleaver of Elizabethtown produced game highs of 16 points and 14 rebounds for Kentucky. Morgan Turner of Meade County supporter Cleaver with 11 points, while Alexis Robinson of Ashland had a team-high four assists.

A Cooper jumper, a Hankins 3-pointer and a Cooper steal and layup helped the Indiana girls grab a lead early in the second half, but Kentucky countered to tie the game at 43 when Cleaver converted back-to-back shots from short range.

Indiana, however, then went on a game-closing 41-18 burst -- two free throws by Merrillville's Victoria Gaines, a Crozier jumper and a Patberg steal and layup igniting the game-turning flurry. An Allen turnaround jumper, a Gaines steal and layup and a bucket by Pike's Brittany Ward helped push the lead to double figures, and the Hoosiers were not threatened again.

A night earlier, the Indiana boys won 127-104 and the Hoosier girls prevailed 98-67.

Next week, the Indiana Junior All-Stars will play the Indiana Senior All-Stars in a pair of girl-boy doubleheaders -- at 6 p.m. Monday at Logansport High School and at 6 p.m. Wednesday at Columbus North High School.

The Indiana Senior All-Stars will face Kentucky in another set of doubleheaders -- at 5:30 p.m. June 13 at Transylvania University's Clive Beck Center in Lexington and at 5 p.m. June 14 at Bankers Life Fieldhouse in Indianapolis.
