Mosaics plans told

By DON JELLISON
Reporter Editor

Plans were announced for the 2014-2015 school year for the Hamilton County Mosaics School at a board of directors meeting Friday morning, but the long-term future of the school became more cloudy than in the past when it was announced that Westfield Schools plan to leave the co-op at the end of the school year.

Steven Wornhoff, Director of Mosaics, told the board that a letter had been received from Westfield Washington Schools Superintendent Dr. Mark Keen stating that Westfield will leave the co-op in July of 2015.

Keen did not attend the meeting, and the Reporter, when trying to reach the superintendent, was told that he was out of the office.

However, when directed to Director of Business & Operations Nick Verhoff the Reporter was informed by Verhoff, "A final decision has not been made at this time. We are still in discussion with the Mosaics people."

Should Westfield Washington leave, it would be the third Hamilton County community to make that move. Carmel and Hamilton Southeastern left the co-op two years ago.

The Reporter on Friday afternoon contacted Wornhoff, who at that time read Dr. Keen's one-sentence letter. There was no mention that Westfield might reconsider or was weighing options as to what direction to take.

"Members of the co-op have until July 1 (of the current school year) to express their intentions to leave the co-op," Wornhoff said. "That is what Westfield has done. They may be considering their options."

Asked if the loss of Westfield could bring down the co-op, Wornhoff answered, "No. There are smaller co-ops than ours."

Wornhoff said that approximately 30 students would attend Mosaics this school year and that about one-quarter of those students are from Westfield.

Another piece of the puzzle is with Noblesville Schools, were Dr. Libbie Conner, who has been a strong supporter of Mosaics, is retiring and will be replaced Dr. Beth Niedermeyer. The assistant superintendent at Hamilton Southeastern, Niedermeyer is coming from a school system which now supports its own special needs students.

Asked if he thinks Noblesville's position of being in a co-op might change, Wornhoff replied, "I can't read people's minds."

Superintendents from Westfield Washington, Noblesville, Sheridan, Hamilton Heights and Lapel/Frankton from Madison County govern the Hamilton-Boone-Madison Special Services Cooperation. At the meeting, the superintendents decided to search out other schools districts which might have an interest in joining the co-op.

The immediate hurdle Mosaics faces is having lost its "home base." The school once was housed at Carmel and most recently was

"Working people" should mean all those who work

By FRED SWIFT

There's a term thrown around a lot lately that really bugs me. Certain national politicians and sociologists increasingly refer to "working people" as though they are the only ones who work. An office-seeker will often say he is running to help the working people.

I know what they mean, but it's kind of an insult to many others who also work. How about small businessmen, doctors, public safety officers, lawyers, teachers, preachers, farmers, engineers, accountants, artists and journalists? They are also working people, and most work hard to make a living.

That term "working class" supposedly means the folks who do manual or industrial labor for hourly wages as opposed to the people who work for an annual salary. It comes from a theory of Karl Marx who claimed the working class labored to produce the wealth for the men who owned the means of production.

I suspect that politicians and academics who overuse or misuse the term are making a thinly veiled attempt to stir hostility between Americans, often to get votes, sympathy or notoriety. It probably works to some extent, but in the end it works to the detriment of everyone.

I don't think I can do much about all this, but I sure wish responsible people would include a wider group, like almost all of us, when talking about working people.

On second thought, I guess I have to exclude myself from all this because when most folks like me get somewhere past 65 they become part of another class, the retired class, and I don't mind being labeled with that class.

Peaceful shopping? It's possible with roundabout/overpass at 37 and 126th

Photo provided

Imagine shopping at the various businesses at the intersection of State Road 37 and 126th Street and not being distracted by the backed up cars - along with the noise, horn-honking, exhaust and loud music! This busy intersection in Fishers is one of several along the state highway that would see its stop lights replaced by a roundabout interchange and have the cross streets become overpasses above 37. The interchanges would be designed to help alleviate traffic on the busy 37 corridor.

Upcoming restrictions near US 31 at 116th, 181st streets

Lane restrictions on 116th Street and Pennsylvania Street on June 16
On Monday, June 16, crews expect to restrict the right lane of eastbound 116th Street between Illinois Street and US 31 for work on a nearby water line. Additionally, they expect to restrict the left lane of northbound Pennsylvania Street near 116th Street. These restrictions are expected to occur between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. on Monday.

Temporary closure of 181st Street west of US 31 on or after June 23
On or after Monday, June 23, crews plan to close 181st Street just west of US 31 for approximately three days for a utility structure installation. Access will remain available to/from US 31 via SR 32.

I-465 lane restrictions took place Friday night
On Friday night, the left lane of both eastbound and westbound I-465 near US 31 was closed to allow crews to install a barrier wall along the inside shoulder. The lane restrictions were just west of the Spring Mill Road bridge and were expected to end by 6 a.m. this morning. Setting the barrier wall will allow crews to build a sign foundation in the median.

housed at Noblesville. When Noblesville ran out of space, Mosaics needed to find a new home this school year. That new home was to be the Noblesville Armory, which was purchased by Noblesville Schools. But, following an inspection of the armory after the purchase was made, it was decided the that converting the building into a school would be too expensive.

With the school year just a few months away, Mosaics had to come up with a new plan.

That plan was revealed by Wornhoff at the Friday meeting.

One elementary class will be held at Hamilton Heights Elementary School.

Two middle school classes will be held at White River Christian Church in Noblesville.

One high school class will be held at Hamilton Heights High School.

A class for students with life skill needs, along with academic needs, will be held in a portable on Noblesville Schools property.

White River Church once was being considered to house all of Mosaics, but it was decided that not enough space was available.

“The White River Church people have been great to work with,” Wornhoff said. “They will charge us what will cover their costs.”

Wornhoff said co-ops throughout the state are experiencing all types of problems and facing new situations.

“We are more centralized than most,” he said.

Changes at Hamilton Heights...

Wright named Elementary Principal; Watson Assistant Principal

Pending a final approval at the June 19 School Board Meeting, Hamilton Heights

Wright

School Corporation plans to name Elizabeth Wright as the new principal for Hamilton Heights Elementary School and Ken Watson as assistant principal.

Wright, now in to her 16th year in education, began her career at Heights as a special education teacher in 2010. During her inaugural year at the high school, she worked with students with various disabilities as well as took a team teaching approach in the inclusion environment. With strong leadership skills and potential, Wright quickly moved into the assistant principal role her second year at Heights.

Watson

Here she excelled and took a leadership role in developing an innovative collaborative teaching environment through professional learning communities, classroom management support and school data analysis. The following year she accepted the position of principal at Hamilton Heights Middle School. While transitioning into her second year as principal of this Four Star School, she has already taken an innovative school to the next level of personalized instruction through 21st Century learning.

Watson's development as an educator and administrator over the past 22 years at Hamilton Heights has taken him from an instructional assistant to classroom teacher and assistant principal prior to being named building principal in 2012. Watson's new role places him in a strong position to be a valuable asset as a part of the elementary school's leadership team while enabling him to continue his professional development.

"I have thoroughly enjoyed the opportunity to lead the school for the past two and a half years and look forward to the opportunity to work closely with Elizabeth Wright as she transitions into her new role at the elementary."

"This is a special opportunity for Elizabeth to serve at the helm of the elementary, the third Heights' building during her four-year tenure with the corporation," said Hamilton Heights School Corporation Superintendent Dr. Derek Arrowood. "We are excited that Ken will continue his service as assistant principal. Jessica DuBois, who has served as the Assistant Principal at Heights Elementary for the past two years, moves to the high school where she will teach Science and Math."

"This transition represents a win-win for the students, staff and parents who will benefit through the nearly four decades of combined teaching and administrative experience Wright and Watson bring with them," Dr. Arrowood continued. "Moreover, the high school benefits from an invaluable educator who brings her knowledge, experience and skills back into the classroom on a daily basis."

A replacement for Wright has not been named.

A nice way to spend Father’s Day at Forest Park...

Car Show to feature vintage vehicles

What’s a better way to spend Father’s Day than celebrating at Forest Park in Noblesville? Even better because this Father’s Day (Sunday), along with playground, swimming pool, miniature golf, antique train museum and other attractions, there will be a car show.

A huge car show. Central Indiana Vintage Vehicles, sponsor of the events, calls it a “class-less (no class) car show.”

Cars built before 1990 are eligible, or customized/altered. For those not already registered, a registration period will be held from 9 a.m. to 12 noon. Registration is $10 per car. Awards will be announced b 3 p.m.

Awards will be given for best of show; best interior; best paint; best engine. There will be 20 additional awards with winners determined by drawing numbers from among all entries.

Fantastic ‘50’s, ‘60’s and ‘70’s music will be another highlight.

The show will be held rain or shine.

Gas leak reported in downtown Noblesville

The Noblesville Fire Department responded to the report of a gas leak in downtown Noblesville Friday. Responders found a burner left on in an apartment above Matteo's Italian Restaurant on North 9th Street.

Fishers Police warn of telephone scam

The Fishers Police Department is urging residents to be aware of a recent telephonic scam. Over the past couple of days officers have responded to several reports of residents receiving suspicious telephone calls at their homes. The caller (perpetrator) claimed to be with the IRS and explained the resident owed back taxes. The perpetrator also informed the homeowner that an arrest warrant would be issued, by the Fishers Police Department, if they did not immediately pay the amount owed. Thankfully these residents recognized the calls as suspicious and did not fall victim to this scam. In these situations we recommend residents simply hang up the phone. The IRS has recently released information regarding this scam <http://www.irs.gov/uac/Newsroom/IRS-Reiterates-Warning-of-Pervasive-Telephone-Scam>

We also encourage any resident that feels they have be a victim of a scam to immediately contact the Hamilton County Dispatch Center, at 317-773-1282, and request to file a report with a Fishers police officer.

Legacy Travel Club secures funding from local investors

A significant milestone in Legacy Travel Club history has been achieved. Legacy has secured initial funding from two local investors— which will play a vital role in returning the long awaited nonstop air service to Indianapolis International Airport.

"The magnitude of this is absolutely extraordinary," said Founder and President Chris Allen, who bootstrapped Legacy from the ground up after the loss of ATA Airlines in 2008. "This is exactly what we (Legacy) needed; the first domino to fall. This demonstrates that the need for better air service in Indianapolis is clearly apparent," he added.

While the precise amount of funding will not be disclosed, Allen cites numerous airline mergers and declining air service as the pain Legacy Travel Club and his silent investors aim to resolve. "We are not out to be the next Delta or Southwest, but to bring back the niche travel market Indianapolis enjoyed for over 40 years with ATA and Voyager 1000." Legacy's vision will feature a fleet self-owned and operated 114 passenger MD-80 aircraft - configured with first class amenities. "It's the sweet spot between private charter flying and the commercial carriers," Allen added. "First class flying, without the first class price tag," he said.

Allen also cites the recent merger between AirTran and Southwest as key factors in flyer's frustrations and misery. "Once Southwest obtained all of ATA's routes, it had free reign on what it wanted to dictate to Indy," Allen said. "I can't tell you how many upset and frustrated people I've talked to that can't even get to Florida without getting a tooth pulled, it's that painful."

Additional financing will need to be secured to raise the required $5.4 million needed to begin full-time operations for Legacy's hub at Indianapolis International Airport. "Raising money is never easy," Allen said. "But our investors share our ideals that flying should be enjoyed, not endured."

Allen also points out the benefits of returning first class, nonstop flights to the Indianapolis area." he said. "Whether traveling personally or professionally, getting to and from Indianapolis and the surrounding areas will no longer be a challenge."

To date, Legacy has over 155 Lifetime Members, over 1000 flyers in its database, and two accredited investors. "I applaud the private sector for Legacy's success. It truly is an effort that is "by the people, for the people." said Allen in closing.

Milan team to celebrate 60th anniversary of state title

Team members from Milan's 1954 high school basketball team will be gathering in Milan Saturday, June 21 to celebrate the 60th anniversary of the year they won the Indiana State Basketball Championship against Muncie Central High School. A parade, autograph signing, street dance, and special dinner are all part of the celebration, and everyone is welcome to join in the party, which will be focused around the Milan '54 Hoosiers Museum, 201 W. Carr Street, Milan, Indiana.

Members from the 1954 team expected at the event include: Glen Butte, Ray Craft, Jinky Craft, Noblesville's own Rollin Cutter, Barter Dobson, Clarence Kelly, Pat Marshall, Bobby Plump, Roger Schroder, Ken Wendelman, Gene White, Bob Wichmann, and Mary Lou Wood (Coach Marvin Wood's widow).

The parade is scheduled to begin at 1 p.m., and antique cars and community groups are welcome to join in (please, no politics). Free Masons from Coach Marvin Wood's hometown of Morristown will be honoring his memory with the Murat Shrine Veteran Car Club, and possibly some other Shriners groups. The planned route is from the Milan High School parking lot, across S.R. 101, and down Main Street, then on to Carr Street, and around the block, behind the Milan '54 Hoosiers Museum. Those wanting to be in the parade should call the Ripley County Tourism Bureau at 812-689-7431.

An Autograph Session will begin as soon as the parade is over, in the Milan Town Hall on Carr Street. It will be $15/admission to get all the autographs of the 1954 Team present, on up to three items.

Games will be held on Carr Street, in front of the museum, and will include a Hoola Hoop Contest, basketball games, and other games. Lydia Woodward will be giving 1950s dance lessons in front of the band tent from 2-2:30, for anyone who wants to learn some new "old" moves.

The Ripley County Tourism Bureau is sponsoring a live band, The American Kings, to play 50s and 60s music for a free street dance on Carr Street. They are scheduled to play from 2:30-4:30. Everyone is encouraged to bring their dancing shoes and show their moves.

A special Anniversary Dinner is scheduled from 5-7pm at the Reservation Restaurant in Milan. It will be a special time where the public may meet and dine with members of the 1954 team. Reservations are required, $54 person, call Katherine at 812-689-7431.

The Milan '54 Hoosiers Museum will be open Saturday, June 21, from 9:30am until 4:30pm. The museum is full of treasures from the 1954 Indiana State Basketball Champion game, items from each of the players, and things from the 1950s era. It is also home to the "Hoosiers" Collection, the largest collection of items from the movie "Hoosiers", which includes team uniforms, the hospital set, and other memorabilia. A special, limited edition, plaque commemorating the 60th Anniversary will be available for sale that day.

More information about the museum is available at www.milan54.org, or by calling 812-654-2772. The Milan '54 Hoosiers Museum is open Wednesday-Saturday 10am-4pm, or by appointment. Information about places to stay, or other things to do while in Ripley County, visit www.ripleycountytourism.com or call 888-747-5394.

Two Ivy Tech programs included in Manufacturing Skills Standards award

The Great Lakes Manufacturing Council awarded the "Best U.S. National Program" to the Manufacturing Skills Standards Council (MSSC) for its "Talented Workforce Initiative," citing Ivy Tech Community College as the benchmark for two unique workforce development programs. In ceremonies today at Cobo Convention Center in Detroit, The Big M event heralded resurgence of manufacturing and honored the key players in the renaissance. Thirty programs were nominated but only four earned top awards.

The two Ivy Tech programs which were included in the top honors: Ivy Institute of Technology for Machine Tool Technology at the college's South Bend campus, as well as the Advanced Manufacturing training program through Ivy Tech Corporate College at the college's Lafayette campus. The Council created its Talented Workforce Initiative to identify the most imaginative and effective solutions for building the region's pool of manufacturing talent. The goal of the Council's far-ranging outreach is to share the best ideas and approaches for resolving a critical workforce shortage issue that threatens nearly all manufacturers and communities in the bi-national Great Lakes economy.

The 30 Great Lakes nominations included programs in cities in seven states and two provinces, as well as four US and Canadian national programs. Characteristics of the successful and promising initiatives included their ability to: recruit or attract talented workers, train or educate new workers, retrain incumbent workers, and retrain displaced workers.

Skills shortages are one of the primary challenges facing many manufacturers. Manufacturing is the cornerstone of the Great Lakes economy and is intrinsic to its success. Manufacturing makes the Great Lakes trading area home to the world's fourth largest economy, with a combined annual output of nearly $6 trillion.

"The Manufacturing Skill Standards Certification is a highly-regarded, industry-recognized and valuable career asset for Hoosiers, seeking to enter and advance with the major local manufacturing companies. The Great Lakes Manufacturing Council award recognizes MSSC's leadership and proactive engagement with Ivy Tech as a key success partner. The unique Benchmark for Talented Workforce Initiative combines flexible training programs and industry- recognized certifications with employer networks, linked employment opportunities and support resources that will certainly advance the Midwest as "The Center of the Universe" for competitive manufacturing, technology and logistics initiatives," noted Ivy Tech President Thomas J. Snyder.

The Great Lakes Manufacturing Council is a bi-national organization dedicated to the success of manufacturing in the Great Lakes region. Membership to the Council is open to all who share that goal. The Council covers the provinces of Quebec and Ontario, and the states of New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Michigan, Indiana, Illinois, Wisconsin and Minnesota. It is organized as a 501c3 non-profit and includes manufacturing organizations, chambers of commerce, economic development organizations, government agencies, colleges and universities.

Royals, NHS' Wright qualify for state

It's safe to say that The Players Club in Yorktown is one of Graham McAree's favorite places to play golf.

The Hamilton Southeastern senior won his second consecutive individual regional championship there on Friday. Better still, McAree and his Royal teammates will get a chance to compete for a state title.

Southeastern carded a team score of 303 at Friday's Muncie Central regional, placing them second. Yorktown edged HSE with a 302 to claim the team championship. Pendleton Heights was third with 309; the top three teams advance to next week's state tournament at The Legends in Franklin.

"At the end of the day, it's survive and advance, and that's what it's all about," said HSE coach David Young.

McAree finished the day with a two-under par 70. He drained five birdies on his way to the first-place medal, including back-to-back birds on holes 9 and 10.

"Yeah, I love it," said McAree of the Players Club course. "It sets up well for me." He said he was able to hit the ball "nice and straight," which allowed him to hit the greens. He also putted well, which gave him all those birdies.

As a team, the Royals had a consistent day. Johnny Watts scored 75, including a birdie, while Chase Campbell had a pair of birdies on his way to a 79. Cedric McAree carded 79, with Nick Kuster birdieing the 18th hole for an 80.

"We have our directive, we get going with practice, and obviously come out as strong as we can on Tuesday," said Young.

The state meet is played over two days, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Noblesville, unfortunately, will not be there as a team. The Millers finished sixth at the regional, with a score of 315. However, Jackson Wright qualified as an individual; his 74 was good enough to get one of the top five spots for those not on an advancing team. Wright tied for fourth overall.

"Getting there is obviously an accomplishment," said Wright, who will play at state for the third straight year. He is shooting for a top 10 finish at state.

"I was All-State last year, and I think that's the only way I'm going to get back there is to finish top 10," said Wright.

Wright had two birdies on the day. Josh Keating had one while shooting 79, and Chase Kluth made two birdies on his way to an 81.

Fishers had two individuals at regionals. Jackson Brooker carded and 81, including two birdies, while Jason Feuerstine scored 86.

Team scores: Yorktown 302, Hamilton Southeastern 303, Pendleton Heights 309, Lawrence Central 310, Cathedral 315, Noblesville 315, Connorsville 318, New Castle 319, Bellmont 321, Shelbyville 324, Heritage Christian 325, Oak Hill 328, Richmond 335, Mount Vernon 339, Marion 347, Centerville 358, Muncie Central 368, Wapahani 385.

Medalist: Graham McAree (HSE) 36-34=70.

Other Southeastern scores: Johnny Watts 36-39=75, Chase Campbell 42-37=79, Cedric McAree 42-37=79, Nick Kuster 38-42=80.

Noblesville scores: Jackson Wright 36-38=74, Josh Keating 38-41=79, Noah Lodin 41-40=81, Chase Kluth 40-41=81, Collin Kinkad 43-46=89.

Fishers scores: Jackson Brooker 38-43=81, Jason Feuerstine 39-47=86.

Carmel's Zach McRoberts scored 11 points for the Indiana Boys All-Stars in their 104-94 win against Kentucky Friday night.

County players contribute to Indiana All-Star wins

It looked like a shoot-out at the O.K. Corral in Kentucky Friday night, as Indiana recruit and Indiana All-Star James Blackmon Jr. "out-gunned" Kentucky Mr. Basketball (Quentin Snider) scoring 41 points in 39 minutes of play. Blackmon's performance help propel the Indiana Boys All-Stars to a 104-94 victory at Transylvania University.

Carmel's Zach McRoberts scored 11 points.

The Indiana Girls All-Stars were 83-70 winners, with Fishers' Alex Hochstedler scoring four points and Westfield's Kayla Brown adding two.

The All-Stars hope to close out the week with another victory on home soil as they host the Kentucky All-Stars at Bankers Life Fieldhouse tonight.

A vertical poster for the Noblesville Fourth of July Parade & Fireworks Festival. The top section has a dark blue background with the word 'Noblesville' in large, white, stylized letters decorated with stars and fireworks. Below this, 'Fourth of July' is written in large white letters, and 'Parade & Fireworks Festival' is in yellow. A decorative border of red, white, and blue stars separates the top from the middle section. The middle section has a white background with faint, large, stylized fireworks in red, white, and blue. It features the text 'Parade 5pm' in large red letters, followed by 'Sponsored by: COMMUNITY BANK' with the bank's logo. Below that, it says 'It's a Grand Old Flag' in red, 'Grand Marshal: Chuck Layton' in blue, and 'Free Fireworks Festival 6pm-10pm' in blue. 'Fireworks 10pm' is written in large red letters. The text 'Festival held at Noblesville High School, 18111 Cumberland Rd.' is in blue. Another decorative border of stars separates the middle from the bottom. The bottom section has a yellow background and lists activities: 'The Kids Zone' (balloon artists, face painters, etc.), 'For all ages' (music, animal shows, etc.), and 'Food Vendors'. It also includes a disclaimer: 'No fireworks, sparklers, alcohol, or smoking permitted on school grounds'. The footer is a solid blue bar with the website 'www.NoblesvilleFireworksFestival.com' in white. The entire poster is framed by a border of red, white, and blue stars at the top and bottom.

Hall-of-Famer Bruce Sutter to appear at Victory Field today

Courtesy of a continued partnership with AT&T, Hall-of-Famer and 1979 NL Cy Young Award winner Bruce Sutter is scheduled to appear at Victory Field this afternoon. The former Chicago Cubs, St. Louis Cardinals and Atlanta Braves closer will hold a media session from 2:30 to 3:30 p.m. in the home dugout at Victory Field, prior to his scheduled autograph session in the PNC Plaza located in center field.

The centerfield PNC Plaza gates will open at 5:00 p.m. and Sutter will sign autographs for fans starting at 5:15 p.m. He will take a short break at 6:45 p.m. to throw out a ceremonial first pitch, before returning to the PNC Plaza to continue to sign. Fans are allowed one signature and Sutter’s appearance is limited to the first 500 fans.

Over his 12-year career, Sutter compiled 300 saves with a 2.84 ERA and took home the 1979 National League Cy Young Award as a member of the Chicago Cubs. He also earned the save in Game 7 of the St. Louis Cardinals 1982 World Series Championship, was named to six NL All-Star teams, and was the first pitcher in baseball history to record 45 saves in a single season.

Hague doubles, has 3-RBI night...

Durham ends Indians win streak

On its third try, the Durham Bulls got the Indianapolis Indians, as a 10th-inning run sent the Tribe to a 10-9 defeat Friday night at Victory Field, ending Indy’s five-game winning streak.

The Indians scored their run in the sixth inning, with Robert Andino’s single getting Jaff Decker home. Decker singled to get on base, then advanced to second on a passed ball.

But the Bulls scored in the ninth inning, ending the Tribe’s 24-inning scoreless streak and forcing an extra inning. Ali Solis got Durham’s 10th-inning run, getting on base with a single. He was sacrificed to second by Hak-Ju Lee, advanced to third on a single from Jayson Nix, then was sent home when Cole Figueroa hit a double.

The Indians were held to just four hits. Nevin Ashley was 2-for-3, including a double. Nick Kingham pitched seven innings, tossing eight strikeouts. Three different pitchers threw one inning each.

The Indians drop to 40-28, but still comfortable lead the International League West, with a five-and-a-half game advantage over Columbus.

The Tribe and Durham will finish their four-game series at 7:05 p.m. tonight at Victory Field.
