The County Line

Stage is set for Hamilton’s general election

By FRED SWIFT
Just ahead of the deadline to file candidates for November ballot positions not filled in the May primary, Democrats have entered the names of four new candidates for local office.
You can read more about the Democratic candidates in the article below.

Democrats apparently failed to find a candidate for the new office of Fishers mayor. Earlier reports indicated the party had talked with a possible candidate, but no candidacy resulted.
Republicans filled their ticket for November with the filing of Stacy Mahan for a seat on the Wayne Township Board. She currently serves on the board, but had not filed in time for the May primary.

The stage is now nearly set for the general election with Republicans certain to win all countywide races by default and most municipal and township offices at stake in this year's "off-year" balloting.
Still to come are candidates for non-partisan school board seats in the county's six school districts. Filing for these positions begins July 23 at the county elections office.

Voters will elect a member of Congress, Indiana Secretary of State, Auditor and Treasurer along with state legislators, and a host of local officials including school board members when they go to the polls Nov. 4.

Sunday in Noblesville was...

Garrick Mallery Day

The City of Noblesville celebrated “Garrick Mallory Day” on Sunday. Mallory has been a leader in Noblesville for decades. He was honored with an open house at the Noblesville Forest Park Inn that day.
Noblesville Mayor John Ditslear issued the following proclamation:

WHEREAS, In 1820, a pioneer family by the name of Mallery arrived in Hamilton County. Mr. Garrick Mallery was born in Wayne Township in 1927 and has since been a resident of Hamilton County. He earned a degree in agricultural economics from Purdue University; hosted a weekly farm show on Purdue’s radio station, WBAA; attended the United States Military Academy at West Point; and also served as an Officer in the Cryptography Division of the United States Army. Garrick married Nancy Everson of Fishers, Indiana and they had four children; Carol, John, Fred, and David; and

WHEREAS, In 1951, Garrick returned to Noblesville to begin his career in real estate. He has served Noblesville in many capacities over the years. These accomplishments include being one of the founders of the Noblesville Elementary Football League; Finance Chairman for the construction of the First United Methodist Church on Monument Street; a dedicated 4-H Leader for more than 25 years; and President and long-time Director of the Noblesville Chamber of Commerce; and

WHEREAS, During his first year as Director of the Noblesville Chamber of Commerce in 1962, the inaugural Christmas Parade was held. Garrick portrayed Santa in the parade for the following seven years, as well as in the 50th Anniversary of the parade in 2012; and

WHEREAS, Garrick Mallery has put his stamp on Noblesville and Hamilton County by appraising, developing, buying and selling real estate. He has seen it all from selling his first house in Noblesville for $3,000 in 1947 to helping other developers locate and purchase a site that he used to pass by on bus on the way to school, now known across the country as Klipsch Music

Garrick Mallery was honored with his own day in Noblesville on Saturday. A lifelong resident of Noblesville, Mallery has been a dedicated leader in the city for decades.

Center; and

WHEREAS, Garrick is not without a hobby that he loves. He breeds, trains, and races standard bred horses, both pacers and trotters. Some were winners around central Indiana tracks. One of his personal favorites over the years has been Black and Gold Pete.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, John Ditslear, Mayor of the City of Noblesville, of the State of Indiana, do hereby call upon all citizens to recognize Sunday, June 29th, 2014, as “Garrick Mallery Day” in the City of Noblesville and call upon all citizens to recognize this individual for outstanding efforts he has put toward the growth of community in Noblesville and Hamilton County.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I, John Ditslear, have hereunto set my hand and caused to be affixed the official seal of the City of Noblesville, State of Indiana on this 29th day of June 2014.

Hamilton County Democrats appoint four candidates

Hamilton County Democratic Party Chair, Keith Clock, has appointed four candidates to vacancies on the general election ballot. The local party has a deadline of July 3 to appoint vacancies left on the ballot following the May primary election.
The candidates appointed are:
Rosemary Dunkle - Hamilton County Council, District 1
Maryellen Bein - Fishers City Council, At Large
Mike Davis - Noblesville Township Trustee

Peggy Russell - Noblesville Township Board
“I am pleased that these well-qualified candidates stepped forward to give Hamilton County voters more of a choice when it comes to vote on Election Day,” said Chairman Clock.
“Only 12 percent of Hamilton voters turned out to vote in the May primary election. It would be a shame to allow just 12 percent of Hamilton County’s registered voters to pick our representatives in local government. As Democrats, we will continue to try and recruit quality candidates to give voters not only a choice, but a superior one as well.”

The appointed candidates will join Democrats elected in May:
Shawn Denney – Congress, 5th District
J.D. Ford - State Senate, District 29
Joe Marcum - State Representative, District 29
Bob Ashley - State Representative, District 32

David Russ - State Representative, District 39
Jim Blessing - Clay Township Board
Sheryl (Sherry) Peters - Sheridan Town Council, At Large
Kent S. Nelson - Fishers City Council, NW
Gregory A. Purvis - Fishers City Council, SC
Justin Kilgore - Fishers City Council, SW

Up to 400 new jobs created...

Systems in Motion expands Carmel, Kokomo operations

News release

Governor Mike Pence joined executives from Systems in Motion, LLC, an enterprise technology consulting firm, today to announce the company's plans to expand its operations in Kokomo and Carmel, creating up to 400 new high-wage jobs by 2017.

The Newark, California-based company, which acquired Indiana-based Zuna Infotech earlier this year, will invest $5.4 million to lease, renovate and equip its Indiana delivery centers. This includes leasing up to 25,000 additional square feet of office space in the Firestone Building in downtown Kokomo and growing its current Carmel office by approximately 15,000 square feet. The expansions, which are expected to be complete by December 2016, will allow the company to expand its service capabilities across the Midwest.

"We are very excited and thank Systems in Motion for having the confidence in Carmel to expand its workforce here," said Carmel Mayor Jim Brainard. "Today's news confirms what national surveys have been telling us over the past few years. The Carmel and Indianapolis areas are among the fastest growing hubs for high-tech jobs in America. We look forward to a long and lucrative relationship with this growing technology firm."

"A hot spot for business is radiating from Indiana, where we are syncing business needs with an environment built for growth," said Pence. "While other states raise taxes, we are lowering them and investing in our infrastructure and workforce. Indiana's tech sector continues to grow because companies like Systems in Motion recognize Indiana as a state that works."

Systems in Motion, which currently employs hundreds of associates across the country, plans to begin hiring in Indiana for additional software development and testing and support positions next month. As part of the project, approximately 240 of the 400 new positions will be located in Kokomo, with the remaining 160 new associates to be housed at its Carmel office. Interested applicants may apply at www.systemsinmotion.com.

"As the leading pure-play onshore IT services firm, Systems in Motion is making domestic outsourcing a strategic option for U.S. enterprises today. As we expand, we are relying on Indiana to provide us with the top-notch technical talent required to move IT jobs back onshore," said Stephanie Moore, executive vice president and chief strategy officer at Systems in Motion. "Indiana represents a pivotal part of Systems in Motion's supply creation strategy."

Founded in 2009, Systems in Motion is a U.S.-based information technology consulting and outsourcing firm, working with clients in the financial service, retail, life science, entertainment, mobility and hospitality sectors. Providing services such as application development and management, business analytics and testing services, the company was recently featured as one of five Cool Technology Vendors by technology research firm Gartner Inc. Systems in Motion operates seven locations across the United States, with its two Indiana operations joining locations in Ann Arbor and Lansing, Michigan, Minneapolis, Minnesota and St. Louis, Missouri.

"Systems in Motion's decision to expand in Kokomo is a clear message that our investments in quality-of-life amenities and infrastructure will attract new companies to our city," said Kokomo Mayor Greg Goodnight. "Their announcement is evidence that Kokomo's economy is growing and that we are serious about investing in our workforce."

The Indiana Economic Development Corporation offered Systems in Motion, LLC up to $5,650,000 in conditional tax credits and up to $100,000 in training grants based on the company's job creation plans. These tax credits are performance-based, meaning until Hoosiers are hired, the company is not eligible to claim incentives. The city of Kokomo approved additional incentives at the request of the Greater Kokomo Economic Development Alliance. The city of Carmel also supports the project.

High-tech companies are recognizing the advantage they gain in Indiana. According to TechPoint, between 2009 and 2012 computer-related employment in Indiana grew 5.4 percent, six times faster than the state's overall job market. There are currently 61,000 computer-related jobs in Indiana.

Bailey named Hamilton Heights Middle School Principal

Hamilton Heights School Corporation is pleased to announce that Bret Bailey has been named as the new principal for Hamilton Heights Middle School. Bailey steps into the role held for the past four years by Elizabeth Wright, who recently accepted the position of principal at Hamilton Heights Elementary School.

“I am honored to be selected as the next principal of Hamilton Heights Middle School, pending Board approval at the July meeting,” said Bailey, who earned his administrator’s license from Indiana Wesleyan University in May

2013. “With Mrs. Wright’s energy and collaborative leadership, the HHMS students, staff, and families have established a positive culture and a high standard of academic achievement. HHMS is an outstanding school, and I am excited to join the HHMS team. My goal is to continue this tradition of success, and I look forward to serving the HHMS community in this new capacity as we work together to help all students become the best version of themselves.”

Bailey joined Hamilton Heights High School as an English teacher in 2009 and became its Dean of Students in 2012. A year later he became the Assistant Principal and School Safety Specialist for the District. Bailey earned his Bachelor of Arts degree at Huntington University (2003) and Master of Education at Indiana Wesleyan (2011).

Bailey’s interest in education began in high school when he was a cadet teacher working with students who struggled with their assignments. “Watching a student “get it” changed my life, and I am still inspired by students every day when they overcome life’s challenges,” explained Bailey. In his decade-long tenure in public education his experiences included mowing crew, summer cleaning crew, substitute teacher, GQE remediation instructional assistant, middle school and high school English teacher, coach, advisor, dean of students, and most recently assistant principal. Bailey credits the diverse roles in the field of education in helping him to fully understand and appreciate the importance of each team member as essential in working together to the benefit of the students.

When the position of principal at the middle school became available, Bailey made his interest known. Turned out his was the right fit at the right time.

“Serving at the helm of the middle school is an exciting next step in Bret’s career at Heights,” said Hamilton Heights School Corporation Superintendent Dr. Derek Arrowood. “He brings a passion for the middle school experience, successful experience as a teacher and administrator in HHSC, and a willingness to go above and beyond to meet the needs of the students, staff, and parents of the schools he has served. Bret was selected by a search committee of HHMS teachers and parents from a pool of over 50 applicants.”

Letter to the Editor...

Libertarian candidate speaks out against NSA

Last Friday, a coalition of 21 organizations from across the political spectrum launched StandAgainstSpying.org, an interactive website that grades members of Congress on what they have done — or, often, not done — to rein in the National Security Agency (NSA). Susan Brooks, Indiana’s 5th Congressional Representative, received a grade of ‘F’ from StandAgainstSpying.org because of her support to increase funding for the NSA!

The NSA, with assistance from major telecommunications carriers including AT&T, Comcast and Verizon, has engaged in a massive unconstitutional dragnet surveillance of domestic communications and communications records of millions of ordinary Americans. Incidentally, all three of these telecommunication giants have donated money to Susan Brooks through their PACs.

If you think that the NSA’s spying on you is no big deal, then, by all means, support Representative Brooks this November. I, however, believe the NSA has greatly overstepped its authority and needs to be reined in. If you agree that the government has no business spying on your personal life, I would appreciate your vote this November.

John Krom
Libertarian 5th District Congressional Candidate

Westbound I-465 exit ramp shifts take place this week

Beginning Tuesday at 9 p.m., contractors planned to shift traffic lanes on the westbound I-465 Exit 31 ramp to U.S. 31/Meridian Street. The exit ramp will be restricted to a single lane until 6 a.m. as crews paint lane striping. Lane restrictions on the ramp are expected to repeat Wednesday and Thursday nights as crews install temporary concrete barrier wall along the exit ramp shoulders. The configuration of the ramp after the shift will maintain two lanes to exit and two turn lanes each to both directions of U.S. 31/Meridian Street.

E & B Paving and Gradex are INDOT contractors for the $141 million contract to upgrade U.S. 31 to freeway standards from 96th Street to the Monon overpass. The contract builds new roundabout interchanges at 106th, 116th, 131st and 136th streets and improvements to the U.S. 31 and I-465 interchange, including two flyover ramps from southbound U.S. 31 to eastbound I-465 and eastbound I-465 to northbound U.S. 31.

Kroger, General Mills, IMS and John Andretti announce plans for multiple fund-raisers benefiting Riley Hospital for Children

Kroger Central Division, General Mills, the Indianapolis Motor Speedway, NASCAR/IndyCar driver John Andretti and radio personality Dave Wilson are launching a comprehensive fund-raising effort benefiting Riley Hospital for Children at IU Health that includes: the Window World Progressive Dinner, the “Kroger Race for Riley Presented by Cheerios,” Kroger and General Mill’s red wagon scan promotion in 103 Indiana stores, fund-raising during four races at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway as part of the “Kroger Super Weekend at the Brickyard” and the “Get Healthy, Give Hope” fund-raising campaign supported by Kroger vendors. The campaign has raised $2.36 million for Riley Hospital in previous years.

“Kroger Race for Riley Presented by Cheerios” was started in 1997 by Andretti and Wilson. They raised almost $4,000 in the first year. It wasn’t long before others started to take notice and joined Andretti and Wilson in making a major impact on the positive work being done at Riley Hospital for Children. Now known as the “Kroger Race for Riley, Presented by Cheerios,” what was once just a go-kart race, has now turned into a week-long series of activities, and the “core” group of five people Andretti assembled works very hard in making sure the values of each event live up to the standards he and Wilson set, making each element of the week fun for the patients, sponsors and spectators and raising as much money as possible.

Among the events taking place are:

Atrium Party at Riley Hospital: Friday, July 18th, 2:00-3:30 PM

A party for patients and their families in the Simon Family Tower Main Lobby at Riley Hospital is jointly hosted by John Andretti, Dave Wilson, Kroger, General Mills and others. Activities include crafts, refreshments, an autograph session with Andretti, General Mills equity characters Trix the Rabbit and Buzz the Honeybee, goodie bags and more. Prior to the atrium party, Andretti will visit patient rooms for those children unable to visit the party, offering encouragement to families and sharing gifts with Riley kids.

Andretti Autosports Tour: Monday, July 21st, 11:00 AM – 12:30 PM

Ten Riley patients and their families will join John Andretti on a tour of Andretti Autosports. In addition, they will be served lunch and have time to talk with Michael and John Andretti. The “personal touch” given by everyone at Andretti Autosports is just another example of people getting behind the “Race for Riley.” [Note to media: This is not a public event, but media access can be authorized in advance through Rick Posson and Jason Mueller.]

Kroger Race for Riley Presented by Cheerios: Tuesday, July 22nd, noon-3:00 PM

Progressive Dinner: Wednesday, July 23rd, 6:00-9:00 PM

Zink Distributing are donating drinks. The dinner includes entertainment by nationally-known performers, a silent auction, as well as a live auction with unique experiences for bid that are not available anywhere else. The dinner is hosted by Andretti and Wilson. To register, visit www.race4riley.com.

Fan Fest at East Rockville Road Store: Thursday, July 24th, 4:00-6:00 PM

Includes a customer race party in the parking lot of the Kroger store at 8150 Rockville Road, as well as NASCAR show cars, simulators, music, raffle prizes, refreshments, driver autograph session with John Andretti and Austin Dillon from 4:00-5:00 PM and a customer shopping spree for General Mills products at 5:15 PM.

Kroger Super Weekend at the Brickyard: Thursday, July 24th thru Sunday, July 27th

During the four-day, four-race “Kroger Super Weekend at the Brickyard,” there will be multiple fund-raising activities for Riley, including college students collecting individual donations from race fans. The Indianapolis Motor Speedway will promote support of Riley Hospital for Children at IU Health throughout the four day weekend.

Fishers Freedom Festival draws over 50,000 attendees

By BRIAN REDDICK

The 26th annual Fishers Freedom Festival went out with a bang on Sunday evening.

The annual Fourth of July festival is one of the largest in central Indiana drawing over 50,000 attendees and growing bigger every year. The two day festival has a little something for everyone including food venders, arts and crafts, a parade and ending with a spectacular fireworks display. Roy G. Holland Memorial Park was packed full Sunday evening with young and old awaiting the fireworks display.

Entertaining the crowds prior to the fireworks was "Big Daddy Caddy", drawing the adult crowd. Most of the teen crowd stayed with the Radio Now 100.9 tent on the north end of the park. Freedom Fest planners did not disappoint this year, putting on a fantastic fireworks display lasting about 20 minutes with a spectacular red, white and blue grand finale.

Millers win H League Tourney...

Varsity edged by Marion

By DON JELLISON
Reporter Editor

What the coach called a “great week” nearly ended with a perfect Sunday for the Noblesville High School basketball teams at the Super Hoops Tourney in Marion.

Almost perfect. A couple of points shy of perfect.

Sunday began with Noblesville’s H varsity team (the second varsity team) winning the bracketed tourney by pulling back to back upsets over heavily favored teams from Penn and Hamilton Southeastern.

Noblesville defeated Southeastern, 43-39, in the H tourney championship game after edging Penn, 37-35, in the semifinal round. Early in the morning, the Millers started their day by beating Western.

Noblesville had finished 4-4 in the pool play, action which included a 36-31 loss to Southeastern. The Royals breezed through pool play with a 7-1 record, losing only to Penn, 41-29.

While the H team was doing something which, arguably, not many thought would happen, Noblesville’s No. 1 varsity team, in the S League, on Sunday made it to the finals in the consolation round, losing, 28-26, to the Marion Giants. The Millers missed a wide-open, 10-footer on the base line and Marion rebounded with a fast break bucket to win the game.

Noblesville finished 4-4 in pool play and then on Sunday fell, for the second time in the tourney, to eventual tourney champion Columbia City.

Falling to the consolation bracket, the varsity Millers trailed East Noble, 21-19, at halftime, an East Noble team Noblesville had easily defeated 48-32 Saturday in pool play.

Junior-to-be John Kiser opened the second half with four straight field goals and senior-to-be Sean Wilson scored five straight points to sail Noblesville into the lead. Kiser scored 14 points in the half and finished the game with 20 points. Also in the fourth quarter pounding NHS dished out to East Noble, sophomore-to-be Max Finchum fired in a pair of 3-pointers and senior-to-be Joey Brewer and senior-to-be Joey Herron each connected from the field.

“It was a great week,” said Miller coach Brian McCauley. “This team got better, and that’s what we were trying to do.”

Against East Noble, Noblesville’s 10th game of the weekend, Kiser took over like, perhaps, no Miller took over in the tourney.

“We’ll need that from all our players,” McCauley said. “We’ve been together for only three weeks, so it’s still a learning situation. We’re evaluating the players and the players are evaluating the coaches.”

Hamilton Heights’ varsity team nearly made it to a second meeting with the Millers. The Huskies opened on Sunday in tourney play by beating Portage, but then lost to Penn and then lost to East Noble, with East Noble advancing to face Noblesville.

Heights, playing up in the larger schools division, was 2-6 in pool play.

The Noblesville Swim Club senior group takes a break between training and competition for dinner out. The team completes their training trip to North and South Carolina this week.

Noblesville Senior Swim Trip...

We are a family

NOTE: The Noblesville Swim Club is in North Carolina for its annual Senior Trip. Delaney Brake will be writing about the trip. She is an incoming senior at Noblesville High School, a state level qualifier for Noblesville Swim Club and a member of the National Honor Society. This is the fourth article in the series.

By DELANEY BRAKE

Our last day in South Carolina was a success. Prelims could not have gone better and most people finished with season bests or personal bests. Finals were even better! The energy we had for the meet today blew everyone out of the water. We had great swims from Bri McBride in the mile, Anne-Marie Yeakey in the 200 back, Leigh Roberts in the 200 back, Josie Griffin in the 200 IM, and Nathan Olberding in the 50 free.

Brake

I'm very proud of my teammates this week for overcoming the uncontrollables, working hard, and still competing when they were exhausted. Not only am I proud of the incoming freshman for their hard work and confidence throughout hard training on their first senior trip, but I am also proud of my own class. The class of 2015 has grown up together not only as teammates, but developing as people. Some of us have been together as long as ten years. We have become a very tight-knit family. This team has proved to be a blessing for us for many different reasons. One of the biggest reasons for me is that they have provided a shoulder for me to lean on whether it was swimming related or personal. Our bond is unbreakable and that is something we will hold on to forever. Even though the senior girls in my class out weight the boys they have always held their own and given us a sense of leadership and motivation. For us seniors, next year, we will all go our separate ways, but I know for a fact that we will still be a family wherever life takes us. And not only just the senior class, but throughout the past years and this past week swimming alongside the underclassmen has created an unforgettable bond for me and many others. Their passion for the sport has inspired me even more to push myself to my limits and carry into my upcoming seasons.

The biggest thing I will take away from this trip is a silly yet meaningful quote by the one and only Aaron Helms, a freshman new to our senior group. In a team meeting on Saturday night he lifted everyone's spirits by telling us, "Our team is like a muffin. We may be rough on the edges; we may contain some nuts, but when you put the ingredients together, we can make something great." Aaron's short speech and incredible performances throughout the training and the meet is what makes him and his words a great addition to the Wolf-pack.

This week has been great, but it's time to go home and continue on with our everyday lives. This biggest thing I hope everyone on our team takes away from this trip is to continue the hard work we put in this week back at home. I can't wait to see what our team will do this year and I have high hopes for each individual on the team.

Last-minute Indians rally halted at warning track

Matt Hague added to his league-leading RBI total (56) with a home run and two RBI, but it wasn't quite enough as the Indianapolis Indians (47-38) fell to the Toledo Mud Hens (41-45) 5-3 on Tuesday night at Victory Field.

After already facing a 2-0 hole in the bottom of the fourth, Hague cut the lead in half by driving in the Tribe's first run of the game, scoring Jaff Decker from second base on an RBI double to right field to make it 2-1.

The Mud Hens, however, more than matched the score by plating one run in each of the third, fourth, fifth and sixth innings to extend their lead to 4-1 after the sixth frame, before Hague struck again.

Leading off in the bottom of the seventh, Hague crushed a towering solo home run to deep left field that cut the deficit to 4-2.

The Mud Hens would again null the score by bringing another man plateward in the top of the eighth to boast a 5-2 lead in the bottom half of the ninth. For the Indians, Hague and Tony Sanchez then started a ninth-inning comeback attempt with back-to-back singles that brought the tying run to the plate. After Toledo retired the next two batters, Michael Martinez singled through the hole at second base to score Hague and trim the deficit to 5-3.

With the tying runs now on base and the potential winning run at home plate, the Indians fell just short of completing the comeback as their two-out fly was caught just a few feet in front of the left field warning track.

Hamilton County Reporter Boys Golf Player of the Year Graham McAree, Hamilton Southeastern

Consistency can be difficult to achieve in golf, which is why it’s admirable to see a golfer have that ability during an entire season. And even in an incredibly talented golf county, Hamilton Southeastern’s Graham McAree managed to stand out.

The Royal senior is this year’s Hamilton County Reporter Boys Golf Player of the Year. McAree achieved this distinction with consistently low scores and strong performances. His season includes victories at the Muncie Central Invitational, and the Yorktown regional. Both events took place at The Players Club in Yorktown, and both times McAree carded 70s. He also had three 71s, and they were all at big meets: The Hoosier Crossroads Conference, the Noblesville sectional and the second day of the state meet.

Cheering on the U.S. Men’s National Team

Reporter photos by Richie Hall

It was a roller coaster of emotions for fans of the U.S. Men’s National soccer Team Tuesday. Carmel fans got a chance to watch the Americans take on Belgium in the round of 16 at the World Cup in Brazil, as the city set up a Jumbotron at the intersection of Main Street and the Monon Trail. The game was tied at 0-0 after full time, but the Belgians scored two goals in extra time, which had fans despondent (top). However, the Americans scored to cut the lead, which got the fans back into it (bottom). Despite the U.S.’s best effort (and 16 saves from goalkeeper Tim Howard), Belgium won 2-1. Around 500 fans turned out to watch the game.
