The County Line

It's time to get moving on the Midland Trail

By FRED SWIFT
It's time to get the Midland Trail underway from Noblesville to Westfield. It hasn't been publicized for so long that many folks may have forgotten or never heard about the proposed hiking and biking trail on the right-of-way of the former Midland Railroad. Given the overwhelming popularity of the Monon Trail, it seems Noblesville has been missing out on an opportunity to join a trail network that will, with Westfield's participation, tie to the Monon. Westfield has gotten portions of its segment completed. Converting old railbeds into public trails is not as easy as it sounds. Some of the right-of-way is now in private hands, some has been in a legal limbo, but now the city is nearly ready to begin acquisition of the 93 parcels needed to create the trail to Westfield limits. For those not familiar with the Midland Railway, it was once an important link across central Indiana from Muncie to the Terre Haute area. It was abandoned in the 1970s as so many rail lines were. In Hamilton County it ran parallel with Ind. 32 about a quarter mile south of the state highway. Plans were proposed more than 20 years ago to convert it to a public trail from Noblesville to Westfield where it would intersect the Monon thus providing a way for non-motorized access all the way to Indianapolis. In the past year a study was authorized to research ownership of the right-of-way in Noblesville Township. Now the city is awaiting results of a required environmental study. Upon receiving it, acquisition can begin. The Indiana Department of Transportation has granted Nobles-vle $600,000 to pay for those parcels that have to be purchased. While waiting for the Midland, a riverbank trail has been built from the city north to Potters Bridge Park. It's an attractive and popular walking and biking trail, but does not connect with other trails. The ultimate goal is to have a network of trails through the entire area whereby the public can get from community to community another without having to walk or ride a bicycle on busy roads. When it's built the Midland would begin at an extension of the riverwalk trail near Vine Street and White River, and proceed across the river on the old existing railroad bridge and continue west on the Midland railroad bed toward Westfield. Construction might finally start as early as next year. It should be a welcome and popular addition to local recreational opportunities.

Hamilton County 4-H Fair Queen Pageant

Freeman wears the winners' crown

By RICHIE HALL
It's possible that the last person to expect Erica Danielle Freeman to win the Hamilton County 4-H Fair Queen Pageant was Freeman herself. But the Noblesville junior-to-be was the judges' choice at Friday night's pageant, which took place at the 4-H Fairgrounds. Freeman was one of 12 young women who were competing for the honor, and she said she was competing just to get the experience. "I'm so surprised," said Freeman. "This is my first year and I wasn't expecting a lot." She said that receiving the honor "is an absolute blessing." Freeman, 17, was representing the Giddy Up Gang. Not surprisingly, her favorite thing about the 4-H Fair is the horse show, "because I get to actually show in that, and I have all my closest friends and family to show with me, so it's a great experience," she said. Freeman will also get the opportunity to hand out awards at this year's fair, which she thinks will be a fun experience. "I think that giving out the ribbons will probably be a lot of fun, because I'll be with my court and I'll be able to make fond memories like the past queens," said Freeman. With the Queen comes the 4-H Fair Court. That will consist of First Runner-up Rachel Flanders (from Hamilton County Jr. Sheep Association), Second Runner-up Victoria Comin (Winners Unlimited), Third Runner-up Kara Moody (Noblesville H&H) and Fourth Runner-up Kendall Gatewood (Forest Hill). Alyssa Wilmot, representing Heartland 4-Her's, won the Miss Congeniality award. Wilmot is a junior-to-be at Hamilton Heights, and will be showing pygmy goats at this year's fair.

Erica Danielle Freeman smiles as she is crowned Hamilton County 4-H Fair Queen by Kyleigh Kimbrell, last year's Queen. Freeman, a Noblesville junior-to-be, was one of 12 young women competing for the crown at Friday's 4-H Fair Queen Pageant. during the show. The contestants were also asked a question as part of the evening gown segment. Freeman was crowned by 2013 4-H Fair Queen Kyleigh Kimbrell, who gave a funny and poignant speech about her experiences that happened during her reign. While the judges were making their final decision, several deserving 4-H members were presented scholarships. Over $7,000 in scholarship money was awarded. Winners were as follows: Hamilton County 4-H Foundation Scholarship: Shelbi Tidd and Morgan Hasler Indiana 4-H Foundation Scholarship: Kyle Schmidt and Courtney Tate Indiana 4-H Foundation accomplishment: Madi McFadden (agriculture) and Kent Hollingsworth (small animals) Geneva Fisher Scholarship: Joel Flanders Farm Bureau Tenure Awards: Kara Moody and Emily Burris Alice Gentry Scholarship: Kyle Schmidt Matthew Huff Scholarship: Joshua Clark and Joseph Box Llama Scholarship: Stephanie Foerder, Zoe Schwab, Chelsea Bays.

Emmanuel United Methodist going on the road for VBS

After many years of successful in-house summer Vacation Bible Schools (VBS) at Emmanuel United Methodist Church (EUMC), this year EUMC is trying something new. They are packing up their stage coach and taking Bible School out to surrounding parks and neighborhoods. Kids will hear a Bible story, listen to a cowboy tale, enjoy a chuck wagon snack, make a craft and do a lil’ singing.

Last summer EUMC tested this innovative way of hosting VBS in the Waterman Farms neighborhood. The concept centers on the logic of taking the gospel to neighbor, instead of expecting them to come to EUMC. The event was so successful and well-received that God nudged EUMC to act and expand upon the outreach again this year. Emmanuel’s mission is “Each One Reach One,” and this gives the congregation an opportunity to meet their neighbors where they are and share God’s love with them.

EUMC will offer seven identical 2 ½ hour sessions during the week of July 21. The week will culminate with a Wild West Celebration on Saturday, July 26, 2-5 p.m., at Emmanuel, for all who attended a Kids Kamp. The Wild West Celebration on Saturday afternoon includes a Roundup Program followed by pony rides, a petting zoo, face painting, a balloon twister, family games and snacks. The weekly Kids Kamp schedule is:

Monday, July 21, 9-11:30 a.m., Forest Park, Shelter 5

Monday, July 21, 1-3:30 p.m., Deer Chase Apartments

Tuesday, July 22, 6-8:30 p.m., Harrison-Thompson Park in Fishers

Wednesday, July 23, 9-11:30 a.m., Cumberland Pointe Neighborhood Park

Thursday, July 24, 6-8:30 pm, Arbor Grove-15799 Symphony Blvd

Friday, July 25, 9-11:30 a.m., Emmanuel UMC

Saturday, July 26, 9-11:30 a.m., Emmanuel UMC

Everyone is welcome to attend and share the events with their friends, family and neighbors. Register at <http://tinyurl.com/WildWestKidsKamp>.

Citizens Police Academy accepting applications

The Noblesville Police Department is currently accepting applications for the next Citizens Police Academy for interested members of the community. The academy is a 11-week course, free of charge, designed to provide community members with an opportunity to become better acquainted with our professional staff and to learn about police procedures. The Academy will familiarize citizens with the operations of the police department. This includes classes on patrol procedures, criminal law, narcotics, search and seizure, tactical operations, investigations, juvenile law, firearms demonstration, emergency vehicle operations, use of force issues and police canine demonstration. Participants will also have the option to ride with a patrol officer and witness the street-activity our officers encounter on a day-to-day basis.

The objective of the Citizens Police Academy is not to create quasi-cops, but to produce informed citizens. The academy is intended to open lines of communication between the community and the police department. By allowing citizens a firsthand look at the police department and how its operations are handled, citizens take away a better understanding of the police role in the community. Additionally, citizens bring a wealth of knowledge about their community and particularly, the problems in their neighborhood. In this way, police are able to learn and better understand the concerns of the citizens.

Eligible candidates must:

1. Be at least 18 years of age
2. Have no felony convictions and no misdemeanor convictions within the last (3) years
3. Pass a background check

4. Reside or be employed in Noblesville
The academy will begin on September 9 and will conclude on November 18, 2014 with a graduation ceremony. Classes will be held every Tuesday evening from 6:30 - 9:30 p.m.

Applications are available online at www.cityofnoblesville.org/police or at the Noblesville Police Department. Class size is limited so be sure to apply as soon as possible. For further information please contact Lieutenant Bruce Barnes at (317) 776-6340, ext. 1261 or at bbarnes@noblesville.in.us.

Honoring ‘Mr. Carmel’...

Jack Badger receives Pillar of the Community Award

Mayor Jim Brainard presented Jack Badger with the Pillar of the Community Award during CarmelFest on July 4th, 2014. Badger is the first recipient of the award, created to honor an individual who has made extraordinary contributions to Carmel’s business, civic, social, educational and cultural communities.

“I’ve often said if I could bestow the honor ‘Mr. Carmel’ on anyone, it would be Jack, who has always said he is so very proud to be a member of a community that is always moving forward, never backward and never in neutral. I think we can say the same about Jack,” said Mayor Brainard.

A tireless volunteer and recognized face in the community, Badger is perhaps most noted as the mastermind behind the CarmelFest Spark Button, which he sells as a fundraiser for the annual fireworks display at CarmelFest. His volunteer ventures also extend to Carmel Dad’s Club, Carmel High School athletics, Carmel United Methodist Church and The Center for the Performing Arts.

Badger first became involved with Carmel Dads Club upon moving to Carmel five decades ago. When the Club expanded in 1978 to create a first-class sports facility, Badger helped facilitate the development and continued to help the Club flourish through many years of volunteer service.

Badger’s 9-year-old son, Mark passed away in 1979 due to an inoperable brain stem tumor. To honor him, Carmel Dads Club named the new sports facility in commemoration of Mark; it is now known as Mark Badger Memorial Park.

“Like a stone pillar, Jack has been one who has stood tall, upright and sturdy, through all challenges,” said Mayor Brainard. “Jack has shown us all how to courageously overcome personal challenges and turn them into opportunities.”

The Pillar of the Community Award was created this year by Mayor Brainard to reflect the recipient’s total commitment to Carmel’s mission of creating a warm and welcoming city, infused with a spirit of volunteerism and goodwill. The recipient of this accolade is a prominent person in the community, whether or not he or she has ever held public office.

At the Carmel Gazebo...

National Night Out scheduled for Aug. 5

National Night Out is a designated evening when communities across America come together to take a stand against crime. This year, August 5th, 2014, is National Night Out (NNO) and the Carmel Police Department will again be partnering with members of the community to affirm our conviction against crime and disorder. This year's event is scheduled to take place at the Carmel Gazebo from 6 p.m. to 8:30 p.m.

Over the past few years the number of participating neighborhoods has increased significantly. In an effort to spend more time with the community, we have decided again to hold this year's NNO celebration at a single, centralized location. We strongly encourage neighborhoods to organize as a group and plan a pitch-in or ice cream social as you have in years past. This year just bring your party to us at the Gazebo. Police and Fire personnel will be there to talk about safety and answer questions. We are also planning to have free hot dogs, drinks, ice cream, music, a bounce house, face painting, etc. for adults and children to enjoy. Please let your friends and family know about the NNO and we look forward to seeing you.

New Palestine man arrested for sending nude photos to minors

A yearlong investigation by Indiana State Police Detective Scott Jarvis culminated in the arrest of a man this week for two counts of Dissemination of Matter Harmful to a Minor, a class "D" Felony. An investigation was started in July 2013 after a complaint was made that a Hancock County man had sent nude photos of himself via email, accompanied by lewd messages, to female juveniles in Henry County.

Suesz

After the investigation was completed it was turned over to Henry County Prosecutor Joe Bergacs, who issued the two count felony warrant for the arrest of Mark Suesz, age 48 of New Palestine. After the warrant was issued investigators discovered that Suesz had moved out of state to North Dakota.

Detective Jarvis received information on Monday of this week that Suesz was visiting relatives in New Palestine in Hancock County. The Hancock County Sheriff's Department located Suesz at the relative's home on July 8th and took him into custody. He was transported to and arraigned in Henry County on July 9th.

Jarvis, a fifteen year veteran of the Indiana State Police, stated that "In my fifteen years as an Indiana State Trooper this is by far the most disturbing case that I've investigated." In Indiana a Class "D" Felony charge carries a maximum sentence of up to three years imprisonment and up to a $10,000 fine.

Second year brings new venue, expanded show floor...

Indiana Toy and Comic Expo returns to Indianapolis

It's a bird! It's a plane! It's the second annual Indiana Toy and Comic Book Expo, and it's coming to the Wyndham West Hotel, Sunday, July 20, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

This family-friendly, fan-organized celebration of toys, comic books, and geek culture returns to Indianapolis for its second year and includes some big changes. This year's show floor has expanded to over 12,000 square feet and features 70 new and vintage toy sellers, comic book dealers, and artists from throughout the Midwest.

Attendees may also participate in several hands-on activities during the event, including the ITCE Costume Contest, Comic Book Kids Coloring Area, and on-site photo opportunities. Costume contest prizes will be awarded in both Adult and Children's divisions and will be judged by local cosplayers, Kayce Super and Michael "Knightmage" Wilson.

ITCE founder Billy Cooper pulled together a small group of friends to organize last year's show, in part, as a tribute to his father, who died in 2012 and fostered Cooper's early interest in comic books and collectibles.

"My father really encouraged my interest in comics at an early age as a way to help me learn to read," said Cooper. "When we started planning the Indiana Toy and Comic Expo, it was really important to our team that we make the event a fun and affordable way for families on a budget to have a convention-style experience without a cumbersome price tag or a long drive to out-of-state venues."

Admission to the one-day show is $5 for adults and children 12 and older. Children under 12 receive free admission with a paid adult ticket. U.S. military and veterans also will receive free admission with a valid military ID. Tickets can be purchased on-site the day of the show at the ITCE Registration Desk.

"We expect a big boost in attendance at this year's show and are encouraged by the number of comics and collectibles events that have started to pop up throughout the state this year," said Cooper. "It's great to see other organizations realize what we discovered with our 2013 show: There's a thriving and dedicated fan base of collectors right here in Indiana, who are excited about toys and comics and have wanted this type of event for a long time."

"We're thrilled that the Indiana Toy and Comic Expo can continue to fill that need with a unique, interactive event designed especially for local collectors and fans by local collectors and fans."

For more details about this year's show, please visit the Indiana Toy and Comic Expo website at <http://www.indianatoyandcomicexpo.com/> or follow ITCE at www.facebook.com/indianatoyandcomicexpo.

Tigers hungry for more after great season

By RICHIE HALL
Reporter Sports Editor

There's so much for the Fishers girls basketball team to be proud of with last season.

The Tigers won their first-ever sectional championship, tied a school record with 21 wins, and produced an Indiana All-State player in now-graduated Alex Hochstedler. But believe it or not, that wasn't enough for Fishers.

Tigers coach Michael Gaines sees it, especially noticing it during his team's summer play. He said that the group of five seniors that will return to the team definitely "want to make their mark."

"There might be a little bit of momentum left (from the sectional win), but I don't think our players were satisfied last year by winning the sectional," said Gaines.

Fishers was busy during the summer. The Tigers played in three different shootouts, one at Ball State, another at Indiana University, and then Fishers hosted a shootout. The Tigers also traveled to Vincennes for their annual team camp.

Gaines said his team "did really well" at all its shootouts. The Tigers struggled through their first game - which Gaines noted is "kind of how our summer goes every year" - but then rebounded to play well in their other games.

"Once we got through that first game, our kids actually did really nice all summer long," said Gaines.

With the exception of Hochstedler and Natalie Brooks, who also graduated, Fishers' shootout line-up was basically the same. Senior-to-be Abby Mozingo came back from an ACL tear, but Gaines said "she was playing in games by the end of the summer."

Also back is senior-to-be Adrianna Murphy. She too had to deal with an injury, but made it back in time to help her team win the sectional.

"Adrianna Muprhy was huge, she's been great," said Gaines.

The coach said that many players have been stepping up their games, hoping to fill in the void that has been left by the graduation of Hochstedler. But by taking a look at who the Tigers have coming back, it appears that finding players to step up won't be a problem.

Junior-to-be Kara Gerka was actually the leading scorer for Fishers last season, averaging 16.4 points per game - just ahead of Hochstedler's 16.1 per game. Gerka was also the team's leading rebounder, with six boards per game. Brooke Sugg, soon to be one of those senior leaders, brings back 10.4 points per game. Murphy handed out 4.0 assists per game, and averaged 6.8 points. Senior Blake Inglis was a 3.9 rebound per game player.

Dixon wins pole for Iowa Corn Indy 300

Scott Dixon set the Iowa Speedway two-lap qualifying track record en route to the Verizon P1 Award to lead a front-row sweep for Target Chip Ganassi Racing during qualifications for Saturday night's Iowa Corn Indy 300 presented by DEKALB. Dixon's two-lap average of 186.256 mph shattered the previous speed record of 180.375 mph held by Takuma Sato since 2011.

Tony Kanaan, the 2010 race winner on the 0.894-mile, variably-banked oval while with Andretti Autosport, recorded a two-lap average speed of 185.891 mph in the No. 10 TNT Energy Drink entry to tie his season-high qualifying result of second.

Dixon, driving the No. 9 entry, is the ninth different driver to claim the Verizon P1 Award during the first 12 races of the Verizon IndyCar Series season. Today's effort marked his 21st career Indy car pole, tying Gil de Ferran for 13th on the all-time Indy car list.

"It's definitely a good thing to see the Ganassi cars at the top," said Dixon, the reigning Verizon IndyCar Series champion, whose previous best qualifying result on an oval this season was seventh at Texas Motor Speedway. "We had been stuck in sort of a rut and it had been a while since my last pole (Baltimore in August 2013). We're winless so we have a bit of work to do. It definitely will be a tough one; the competition is extremely good."

Eight different drivers representing six teams have won this season, though none have been from Chip Ganassi Racing. Andretti Autosport has won five of the seven races at Iowa Speedway, including the past four.

Dixon started on the pole at Iowa in 2007 and 2008, but has yet to win on the oval. His next victory will tie Al Unser Jr. for sixth all-time on the Indy car win list with 34. No driver has won from the pole in the seven races at Iowa Speedway.

Helio Castroneves, who enters tomorrow's 300-lap race tied with Team Penske teammate Will Power atop the championship standings, set the one-lap track record (186.809 mph) on his second qualifying lap in the No. 3 for a two-lap average of 185.685 mph and will join Ryan Briscoe (185.339 mph) on Row 2. Power, battling bronchitis this weekend, qualified ninth in the No. 12 Verizon Team Penske car.

Carlos Munoz qualified fifth and Sebastien Bourdais will join the series rookie in Row 3. The fourth Chip Ganassi Racing car, driven by Charlie Kimball, will occupy Row 4 in the seventh starting position with 2011 Iowa race winner Marco Andretti, who starts eighth.
