Hosting Black and Gold Invitational tonight...

Marching Millers ready to face their “Phobia”

By RICHIE HALL

People who are in a high school's marching band know two things: They will be judged in competition, and many other people will be watching them.

Now for some people in a band, that could cause them to get a little scared. So why not face their fears? That's just what the Noblesville High School Marching Millers have been doing this summer.

The Marching Millers presented "Phobia," their band performance at a contest in Muncie earlier this month, placing sixth out of 17 teams. Noblesville will show it again tonight at its own contest, the Black and Gold Marching Band Invitational. Twenty-one bands will compete at the event, which starts at 6:50 p.m. at Hare Chevrolet Field.

"It's the fourth time to have the contest, and the third year for the band to host it," said NHS Band Director Eric Thornbury. The Noblesville Cultural Arts Commission hosted the contest in its first year, and is still around as a sponsor.

The evening begins with the National Anthem at 6:50 p.m., then competition starts at 7 p.m. Bands perform at eight-minute intervals, with a break at the halfway point of the contest. The awards are scheduled to be announced at 10:20 p.m.

The Marching Millers will be the 17th band to perform; they are scheduled for 9:24 p.m. When they do, the judges will see "Phobia," which takes a look at "the complex world of clinical fear, specifically fears associated with being a part of a marching band," according to the band's information sheet.

The three big fears are those of being seen (scopophobia), being judged (social phobia) and failure (atychiphobia), along with others. Serious topics, to be sure, but Thornbury noted that the band members had fun with it - there's even a fear of bald people, and Thornbury just happens to be bald.

Thornbury said the show "starts off scary, and we're trying to be scary," but not in a Halloween-type way. Thornbury said it's more about someone dealing with "internal conflict and the battle within your own head."

The fears are manifested with props of demented-looking marching band members in tattered uniforms, while the color guard waves flags that feature giant eyeballs. All the while, creepy voices whisper "I see you" and "we're watching you" as the band members stop, start and fearfully weave and duck throughout the production.

"But then it kind of turns into this moment where we deal with that conflict and we're not going to be held down by our fears and we end kind of triumphantly, over-

We did it...

Another way to deliver the latest to you

By DON JELLISON
Reporter Editor

The Hamilton County Reporter did it again.

We came up with another way to deliver more news and photos in a faster way. Of course, that's what we've been doing from Day I.

O u r a n n o u n c e d p u b l i s h i n g promise to you readers is that we publish a weekly print edition each Tuesday and then we publish a daily email edition (each morning at approximately 6 o'clock) on Mondays and Wednesdays through Sundays.

The Reporter is the only newspaper in Hamilton County EVER to publish on Sundays. What that means to our readers is receiving news such as sports; obits, and all the other news which happens on Saturday in Hamilton County.

That's one way we're different.

Here's another way. Since we started publication of the email edition less than a year ago, we've published seven "special editions" on Mondays. That's the day, you understand, that is

Bill Curl retires from Sheridan PD

By BRIAN REDDICK

Thursday night's Sheridan Town Council meeting was standing room only for a couple of reasons.

One very controversial rezoning issue for a proposed industrial park was on the table and 29 year veteran Bill Curl was retiring from the Sheridan Police Department. Captain Curl started his career with the Sheridan Police back in January of 1985. He has seen a lot of changes in the small town over his career but says "small town life is what I prefer."

Capt. Curl was presented with his badge and his service weapon in a very emotional presentation by Sheridan Police Chief Bob Shock. Capt. Curl isn't quite through with his law enforcement career though: He still plans to put in a few more years as a security deputy at Riverview Health.

our day off. We’ve published weather special editions; we’ve published sports special editions; we’ve published special editions with the latest breaking news.

Our last special edition came a couple of weeks ago when we did a six-page spread on the Sheridan fire.

During the life of The Reporter, we’ve published on holidays. Most holidays. The latest was July 4. Why, we wondered, that just because July 4 is marked in red on the calendar, people in Hamilton County wouldn’t want to know the latest news and sports and obits.

Then this last Tuesday our publisher, Jeff Jellison, came up with another idea. There had been a shooting in Noblesville, and everyone wanted to know who, what and how.

Our Tuesday print edition had already gone to press, printed on Monday afternoon and ready for early morning post office distribution on Tuesday. No way that could be changed.

What Jeff and Richie and Brian did was to take that eight-page print edition and slap on a two-page special on the shooting and send all of that to you readers as an email edition on Tuesday morning.

Anytime something big happens in Hamilton County, understand that the story (and great photos from Brian and Kent) will be published by The Reporter faster than any other newspaper.

We do all kinds of things to have the news published first. In sports, for example, there isn’t another newspaper in the area (including Indianapolis) that deadline allows for all the major league baseball scores. Heck, we even had that 14-inning, 5-hour Yankee victory this past week.

We’re also working at bringing our readers more state-wide news. We feel it’s important to cover all of Hamilton County, but Hamilton County also is concerned with the state. Sure, we’re very much local, but we also can daily publish enough pages to handle all the local news and the state news.

We’ve been averaging about 11 pages a day of pure news, photos and local advertisements. We almost broke our own record last week when during the Hamilton County 4H Fair we published a 20-page edition.

The 4H Fair was big, and we knew that. But, believe it or, many, many people who live in Hamilton County aren’t all that connected to or interested in the Fair. Just like high school sports. Not everyone follows high school sports.

So, last week while giving you the best story and photo coverage of the Fair, we did not have to reduce our regular news or sports coverage.

I kind of wonder when I go to bed each evening, what’s next? What will be the next way The Reporter will invent to get the latest news to you. It’s kind of scary to think about!

Little Star Center opens third facility

Little Star Center, a non-profit therapeutic applied behavior analysis center currently serving children, teens and young adults with autism, officially opens its third Indiana facility in Bloomington today, Thursday, July 24, at 2 p.m., at Westbury Village, 3101 N. Canterbury Court. Little Star, which opened in 2002, is Indiana’s first ABA center, with locations in Carmel and Lafayette.

Business and community leaders in Monroe County are anticipated to attend the grand opening, which includes a ribbon cutting ceremony and center tour.

“We are proud to open this new center in Bloomington providing support to families affected by autism,” said Mary Ross-wurm, executive director of Little Star. “As Indiana’s leading ABA center, we bring more than 10 years of proven success in helping children, teens and young adults with autism lead productive lives. Our experienced team of professionals welcomes the opportunity to not only work with families enrolled in our facility, but community groups in the Bloomington area that are committed to increasing awareness about autism.”

Since 2002, Little Star has impacted the lives of hundreds of learners with autism. Little Star has grown from one center in Carmel to three, including Lafayette and Bloomington. Services have expanded to meet growing needs and now include in-home therapy and community-based programs.

Little Star Center, with centers currently serving families in Carmel, Lafayette and now Bloomington is Indiana’s first applied behavior analysis center founded in 2002 and is focused on providing a place where kids with autism learn to live in the world and parents learn they are not alone. Little Star provides in-home and center-based ABA therapy, along with transition to school and community-based programs for children and families. Statistics show autism is one of the most rapidly growing developmental disabilities in the United States with one in 68 children diagnosed each year. To learn more about the non-profit organization visit www.LittleStarCenter.org.

coming our fears," said Thornbury. Indeed, the final song of the performance is "We Shall Overcome," the anthemic song forever associated with the Civil Rights Movement that is still used as a song of hope today.

After their sixth-place finish at Muncie, the Marching Millers talked to the judges afterwards, and they said one of Noblesville's transition was "a little abrupt," said Thornbury. So they re-worked it for their home contest - "what you saw last week is not what you're going to see this week, exactly," said Thornbury.

If you'd like to cheer on the Marching Millers, head to Hare Chevrolet Field tonight. Admission is $6, with children under 3 admitted for free. Spectator parking will be located at the parking lot right outside the field, as well as at First United Methodist Church and Noblesville High School.

The Marching Millers will perform "Phobia" at the Indiana State Fair Band Day next Saturday, Aug. 2. It'll be a busy day for Noblesville - meet at the school at 5 a.m., arrive at the Fairgrounds at 7 a.m., then perform at 9:40 a.m. If all goes well, the Marching Millers will perform again later that evening as part of the Sweet 16 bands, then get awards, load the bus, and be back at NHS by 12:45 a.m.

BlueSky Technology expands into Canada

Press Release

BlueSky Technology Partners, Inc., a Noblesville-based eCommerce technology company, has officially expanded into international territory with the opening of their new Canadian headquarters in the Toronto, Ontario area. BlueSky has experienced a steady incline of growth in 2014 serving clients throughout the U.S. Now, with BlueSky Canada established, BlueSky will begin to prospect for business opportunities in Canada as well.

Ditslear

Noblesville Mayor John Ditslear said that he was "very pleased" for the company. The Mayor also said that "BlueSky is an innovative company that works hard for its customers, employees, and the community. They join a number of other businesses who have found success here in Noblesville and also internationally."

BlueSky Canada hosted an open house and ribbon cutting ceremony on Thursday, July 17, at their new Unionville, Ontario office. The ribbon cutting celebrated the official Canada headquarters opening and the open house was well attended by local dignitaries and eCommerce industry experts.

BlueSky established BlueSky Canada on Oct. 21, 2013, and since has been hiring eCommerce experts, positioning the company for growth in Canada. Founding partners Todd Irwin and Eric Warne are forecasting solid growth for the Canadian enterprise and believe there is tremendous potential in Canada.

"Expanding internationally has been a long time goal for BlueSky," said Warne, co-founder and president of BlueSky. "Establishing BlueSky Canada was an important milestone for BlueSky. The Toronto area is rich with talent and our prospects for growth in Canada are strong."

Founded in 2006, BlueSky has steadily grown in the U.S., lifted by a strong partnership with IBM. IBM has a large presence in Markham, Ontario, making the BlueSky Canada office location a plus for collaboration and partnering between the two firms.

BlueSky recently appointed Rob LeRoux as Manager of Canadian Operations. A lifelong resident of the Toronto area and eCommerce industry veteran, Rob will oversee the daily operations of the Canadian office.

"I'm very excited about the opportunity to expand BlueSky's global reach into Canada," LeRoux said. "We have a great team in place and our goal in Canada is the same as the U.S., which is to provide high quality consulting services and to grow our business one satisfied customer at a time."

Great weather, great music...

Art of Wine celebration was biggest in six-year history

A near perfect combination of great weather, great music from a nationally known band and the city's growing love of art and wine produced the biggest crowd ever at the annual IU Health North Hospital Art of Wine held last weekend in the Carmel Arts & Design District.

Preliminary figures show nearly 32 percent growth of the event, which is unprecedented in an event's sixth year; and a crowd of 8,000 descended on the District, the largest crowd ever. Typically, the growth forecast at this point is for 10-15 percent, according to event organizers. Main Street was shut down and it was standing room only most of the evening. For the first time, event organizers reported that every specially engraved wine glass – purchased in order to sample from the 14 different wineries on hand – was sold out.

"We are very excited that the number of guests exceeded our outside growth projections," said Nancy Heck, Director of Community Services and Economic Development. "We want to thank everyone who came to the event to enjoy our thriving Arts District, discover great wines and hear an amazing band. We are already planning for more growth at next year's event."

District businesses were also reporting big numbers from the constant flow of foot traffic.

Donatello's reported being "twice as busy as a regular Saturday night." Owners there said they overheard customers speaking positively, "very happy that the city was tweaking the event every year to make it better."

"That is truly what these events are all about," said Heck. "Sure it's fun to gather for a party, watch a big soccer game or enjoy an art and wine festival. But the reason we work so hard on these events is because it adds to the quality of life in Carmel while also helping our local businesses thrive in the District."

The musical entertainment was provided by St. Paul & The Broken Bones, which is quickly becoming a national sensation following recent appearances on "The Late Late Show with Craig Ferguson" and "Jimmy Kimmel Live." In addition, there were a number of other attractions that helped draw the crowd, including colossal-size wine bottles decorated by local artists. The participating wineries included: Best Vineyards, Cedar Creek Winery, Crush & Brew, Ertel Cellars Winery, French Lick Winery, Harmony Winery, Holtkamp Winery, Huber's Orchard Winery & Vineyards, Mallow Run Winery, Rettig Hill Winery, River City Winery, Trader's Point Winery, Vine & Table and Winzerwald Winery.

"The Greening of Carmel" seminar scheduled for Sept. 23

The Carmel Green Initiative, the City of Carmel and the Carmel Public Library will sponsor a sustainable living seminar, "The Greening of Carmel," from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. Sept. 23 at the Carmel Clay Public Library, 55 4th Ave. SE.

Carmel Mayor James Brainard will be the special guest speaker and will talk about the green initiatives the City of Carmel has taken to reduce its carbon footprint. Mayor Brainard will also talk about his experience with the President's Task Force on Climate Preparedness and Resilience.

The public is invited and encouraged to attend this free program.

Door prizes will be raffled.

Part 2 summer football Fishers

Tigers play with the big boys

By DON JELLISON
Reporter Editor
Playing in the tough Hoosier Crossroads Conference, when three struggling conference schools left this season Fishers had an opportunity to soften up its football schedule when adding three non-conference foes.

That didn't happen. That's not how they play football at Fishers, a school just four years removed from winning a state championship. Fishers became the "youngest" high school to ever win the crown.

"Our (now, seven-team) conference is very strong," said Coach Rick Wimmer, Fishers' only football coach in this the ninth season for the sport at the school. "On any given night, any team can beat any other team."

Fishers' three new foes are North Central, Pike and Indianapolis Tech.

"North Central and Pike are from the strong MIC Conference," Wimmer pointed out. "Tech is a program which has gotten better the last three or four years. They almost beat Carmel last season. They have lots of athletes at Tech, having last season won the state basketball championship."

Fishers has just ended its summer season with a team camp. That followed a youth camp the previous week.

"With the team camp, we start at ground zero," Wimmer said. "This is required. The summer season isn't. This was the first time we've been in pads and helmets since June."

The Tigers' big summer event was a three-day camp at DePauw University.

"We took 80 kids to DePauw," said Wimmer. "We got to see six other teams."

Now, Fishers will start preparing for the regular season. School doesn't begin until Aug. 13, but Wimmer doesn't plan many, if any, two-a-day practices between now and then. New IHSAA rules don't permit teams to hold two-a-day practices on back-to-back days.

"We did that a couple of times last season, but, actually, we haven't scheduled two-a-days for a couple of years," said Wimmer. "The IHSAA also has some new time limits on practices and time between practices. All are good rules."

Fishers lost only two games last season. The Tigers fell to Noblesville during the regular season and then defeated the Millers in the sectional before being eliminated by Carmel.

Gone is quarterback Connor Christiansen, who passed for 2,152 yards and 20 touchdowns before ending the year with an injury. He was replaced by then-sophomore Zach Eaton, who will be the starting QB this year. Eaton's backup is junior Brent Hays.

Also gone are running back Harvey Allen, who carried 125 times for 698 yards and seven touchdowns, and also the Tiger who Wimmer said "can't be replaced," J-Shun Harris, who caught 62 passes for 1,027 yards and eight touchdowns. John Williams, who caught 32 passes for 499 yards, also graduated. Maurice Campbell, who carried 95 times for 882 yards and a dozen touchdowns, will return. Two candidates to replace Allen are junior Roberto Rodriguez and junior Jermaine Huddleston.

Summer play has shown Fishers could be deep at the receiving positions, although inexperienced.

On defense, Wimmer predicts Fishers will be strong in the secondary with the return of R.J. Potts, Josh Lloyd and Jeremy Chinn. Potts was a starter last season while only a freshman and Chinn was just a sophomore.

Linebackers and defensive tackles are needed, although the return of ends Joel Wilcox and Shawn Taylor will help a bunch. Taylor started as a sophomore last season.

Fishers will open its season on Aug. 22 just a skip and a jump down the highway at North Central.

Brown, Brantley win Royals Varsity Club scholarships

The Royals Varsity Club has announced the winners of the 2014 RVC Scholarship: Rachel Brown and Georges Brantley received the honor of winning the second annual $1500 RVC Scholarship. Rachel played soccer for the Royals and is headed to Indiana University. Georges, a football player and wrestler, will begin this fall at Purdue University.

Below are excerpts from the essays by Rachel and Georges. To be considered for the scholarship, applicants had to be in the class of 2014, must have participated in athletics as a senior, had to write an essay about "What it means to be a Royal," and highlight their academic achievement, school activities, community service and leadership roles. A letter of recommendation was also required.

Rachel Brown:
"...I think it was our embrace of the struggle that bound us (girls' soccer team) together and reminded us that regardless of who we were, each of us was fighting the same fight. Looking back, I think that has a lot to do with what being a Royal is all about...It's about struggling with someone else for the sake of fostering a sense of collective effort and eventually collective improvement."

Georges Brantley:
"My athletic experiences taught me that sacrifice is mandatory for greatness. Sacrificing one's time, energy, and body, is what one needs to do in order to succeed in sports, at school, and especially at being a Royal. As a Royal, I have learned that hard work with sacrifices is required for success in everything."

Carmel's Rothrock sets 100 free record

By RICHIE HALL
Reporter Sports Editor

The Age Group State swim meet began Thursday, and Hamilton County already has six champions.

Trude Rothrock won two events for Carmel Swim Club, setting a new meet record in the process. Rothrock reset the mark in the Girls 13-14 100 freestyle, finishing that race in 57.25. Later Rothrock, won the 400 individual medley in a time of 5:04.10.

Emma Nordin finished first in the Girls 13-14 800 free, clocking in at 9:13.88. Carmel also got a boys winner, with Wyatt Davis taking the 11-12 200 backstroke in 2:20.69.

The Fishers Area Swimming Tigers picked up a pair of victories in the Boys 10 and under category. Reed Beaumont won the 50 breaststroke in a time of 41.76, while Kyle Ponsler was first in the 200 individual medley, finishing in a time of 2:48.85.

Action continues all day today at the IUPUI Natatorium.

Fishers golfers fall in Match Play quarter-finals

Hamilton County's two remaining golfers competing in the IGA Match Play tournament at The Legends Golf Course in Franklin lost in the quarter-finals in Thursday's action.

Both were from Fishers, and both were former stars at Hamilton Southeastern. Wes Bowman lost to Bremen's Zach Gurtner 3&1, while Tyler Davis fell to Fortville's Preston Smith 5&4.

Gurtner advanced to this morning's championship match, which starts at 7:30 a.m. He plays Evan Stoker of Richmond, who beat Smith 3&2 in the semi-finals. Gurtner defeated Greenwood's Joshua Oldham 11 up in his semi-final match.

"I've been having a blast for the past two days," said Gurtner, who will be a freshman at the University of Indianapolis this fall. "I have just tried to stay consistent and not get down when I hit bad shots. If I were able to win tomorrow it would be amazing. I never expected to be in this position when I signed up for this event. It would be a big confidence boost."

Stoker of Richmond, Ind. also says a win this week would give him a lot of confidence heading into his sophomore year - also at the University of Indianapolis.

"I have been playing well the past couple of days," said Stoker. "I look at all of these events as great preparation for college tournaments and a win here would be huge."

Tribe’s King dethroned by Knights

The Indianapolis Indians (56-51) issued six walks as part of a seven-run sixth inning to allow the Charlotte Knights (47-59) to claim a 9-2 win and series sweep on Thursday night at Victory Field.

Starter Nick Kingham breezed through the first five frames, retiring 15 of 17 batters, before being chased in the sixth. The right-hander was tagged for a two-run double after walking the bases loaded, and once the outing was capped with the second of two RBI free passes, the Tribe’s starter departed with four runs to his ledger.

The Indians bullpen took over with one out in the sixth and yielded both a bases-loaded, two-run double and sac fly to bring each of Kingham’s remaining runners home for a career-high seven earned runs against the righty.

Jaff Decker homered in the fourth for the Tribe and Tony Sanchez scored the remaining run by doubling, taking third on a single from Blake Davis and sliding through home on a wild pitch to give the Indians a 2-0 lead after five.

For the Knights, spot starter Matt Zaleski picked up his first Triple-A win of the season in place of the regularly-scheduled Andre Rienzo. With Rienzo on recall to Chicago, Zaleski filled in by allowing just two runs in five innings for the Knights.

Richardson enjoying “Day One” in Anderson

Sunny skies in Anderson did nothing to dim the spotlight on key players as the Colts went through the first two practices of camp.

Storylines dotting the off-season started unfolding today as 87 players got some form of work.

Fresh off having two teeth pulled recently, Trent Richardson was asked how hard 2013 was and if he ever achieved comfort in the offense.

“Toward the end of the season, I felt more comfortable. By that time, I was more injured. A lot of people don’t know I broke a shoulder last year, a torn AC joint,” said Richardson. “I wasn’t swimming around the whole year (mentally) but when I got a chance to know the offense, I was injured. I was still out there fighting.”

Drafted two slots behind top pick Andrew Luck in 2012, Richardson joined Luck in the Colts’ backfield in week three after Indianapolis yielded its top pick this year.

Coordinating a rushing attack is such a unified effort that Richardson was behind the eight-ball trying to reach the speed of others.

“I didn’t have time to progress, learn the system, learn what everybody else was doing, be the second set of eyes for the quarterback,” said Richardson, who says being in Anderson for the first time is fun because of the time it affords him to get acclimated completely in 2014’s offense.

“A lot of people might not like camp, but I like camp with the situation I’m in. This is Day One. You have to treat every day like Day One. You have to give your all each day.

“Time like this, you get to be around your team. You get to be a unit. You get your timing. I thought my timing was so off from everybody last year, with the offensive line, the quarterback. Even with certain handoffs and certain steps, I thought my timing was off.

“Now, you’re working everything back in, especially with the off-season. Everything went well. I’m happy to be out here, try to be a guy who steps up every game.”

The backfield is stocked also with Ahmad Bradshaw and Vick Ballard, who were with the Colts this time last year.

Bradshaw had nominal time in camp, then hurt his neck in week three and missed the rest of the season. Ballard had a solid opener before being felled by a non-contact knee injury the next week in practice.

It was at that point Indianapolis traded for Richardson.

Chuck Pagano noted the number of backs the Colts have needed during his two years and knows camp will tell much of the story how the attack forms in 2014.

“We have a stable of backs, proven guys who have played at a high level,” said Pagano. “It’s going to shake itself out. You want one bell cow? Yeah, you’d like to have a bell cow. We’ll see if that happens.

“It’s a long season. Injuries are going to happen. We’ll do a great job of getting guys the necessary reps they’ll need. If someone separates himself and becomes that guy, then that’s your bell cow and we’ll find a role for the (others.)”

Richardson focuses on himself and not the competition. He says the group mindset is to field the best team.

“We’re here to win the Lombardi Trophy, to make each other better. We don’t ever put ourselves in a situation where, ‘I hope he gets hurt, or I hope he fumbles.’

“We’re out here doing what we can to better each other. If it’s a community (effort), it is what it is. We’ll let the coaches decide. We’re going to do everything we can to be that guy on third down, first, second or fourth down.”

PLAY OF THE DAY

D’Qwell Jackson took a lateral from Bjoern Werner and raced in for a touchdown after Werner picked a batted pass off Luck. Jackson weaved his way through teammates, none of whom had his back turned while holding a horn in the end zone.

PRACTICE HIGHLIGHTS

Luck was 25-of-35 with one interception, hitting 11 different receivers during 7-on-7 and 11-on-11 drills. Luck worked extensively in third-down offense and completed a number of impressive throws, one being a fourth-and-one pass to Coby Fleener.

T.Y. Hilton had 10 of Luck’s completions in a busy day. Werner later in practice batted a Matt Hasselbeck pass that Cory Redding returned for a touchdown.

Chandler Harnish had the only two scoring passes of the day, finding Erik Swoope and Tony Washington.

NEWS/NOTES OF THE DAY

Reggie Wayne went more than half of the practice before being pulled by Pagano.

“We want to stay the course, even if I don’t agree,” said Wayne. “I give Coach Pagano this first round. He won this first round.

“This is what I work hard for. This is all the two- and three-a-days rehabbing. Today felt pretty good. I felt like old Reg.”

Wayne said he never once thought about the injury, saying doing that can only lead to trouble.

“When you’re out here thinking and worrying, that’s when you get hurt. You do the things you’ve been doing...play football.”

Wayne had two of Luck’s 25 completions on the day.

INJURY UPDATE

LaRon Landry and Vontae Davis were held out of afternoon work for “precautionary reasons.” Both are expected to return to practice soon.

Know Your Zone at the Speedway

Race fans looking for the most efficient ways to avoid heavy traffic en route to the 2014 Kroger Super Weekend and the 21st running of the Crown Royal Presents the John Wayne Walding 400 at the Brickyard Powered by BigMachineRecords.com on Sunday, July 27, are encouraged to follow the Indianapolis Motor Speedway's KNOW YOUR ZONE driving routes and parking program.

Fans should plan their routes ahead of time for an easier, more efficient drive to the track. In its third year, the KNOW YOUR ZONE program is designed to help Speedway guests identify the best driving routes to parking lots located near their respective seating locations.

With the track opening at 6 a.m. on NASCAR Sprint Cup Series Race Day on Sunday and the race beginning at 1 p.m., officials suggest fans arrive in Marion County no later than 8 a.m. to ensure arriving to IMS in time to experience all the traditional pre-race activities, the Brickfest Music Festival featuring great live country music headlined by Brantley Gilbert and the start of the race.

"All Roads Lead to Indy" driving routes have been created by the Indiana State Police and match KNOW YOUR ZONE colors at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway:

- Orange: The southern end of IMS.
- Red: The northern end of IMS.
- Green : Between the Orange (southern) and Red (northern) zones.

For more information about the KNOW YOUR ZONE program, including details about special ticket and parking packages, visit www.ims.com/knowyourzone.

All infield parking permits for fans for the NASCAR Sprint Cup Series race Sunday, July 27, must be purchased in advance, with entry by pre-paid permit only. Holders of those permits are recommended to enter through Gate 2 (Tunnel 2) off 16th Street. As a reminder, motorists traveling east on 16th Street will not be allowed to turn left into Gate 2. All pre-paid permits should be clearly displayed at all times to expedite traffic.

Turn 3 reserved infield parking passes are on sale for the NASCAR Sprint Cup race on Sunday, and are ideal for all fans looking to park inside the iconic Indianapolis Motor Speedway and enjoy tailgating. Front-row parking spaces are available for $75 each, with additional general parking spaces available for $25 each. All passes must be pre-purchased prior to Race Day at the main IMS Ticket Office in the IMS Administration Building.

A limited number of reserved parking spaces for the NASCAR Sprint Cup race on Sunday in the Lot 7 (North 40) parking lot are available for $25 each and can be purchased in person at the IMS Ticket Office, by calling (800) 822-INDY or (317) 492-6700 between 8 a.m.-5 p.m., or by visiting www.ims.com/tickets. Limited free parking on Race Day is also available in Lot 7 on a first-come, first-served basis.

Free parking will be available outside the oval for fans attending all IMS events in 2014, with access to lots from both east-bound and westbound 30th Street.

Vehicles traveling west on 30th Street from Lafayette Road will be routed into Gate 10 until the area is full, then west-bound traffic will be diverted to Lot 1C (Coke Lot), west of Georgetown Road. Vehicles traveling east on 30th Street from Moller Road will be routed into Lot 1C.

Recreational vehicles and buses, with the exception of those with proper placards or credentials, will not be allowed inside IMS property. Sufficient parking is available for oversize vehicles in Lot 1C. For information on general parking restrictions for the Kroger Super Weekend at the Brickyard, visit: Town of Speedway Parking Restrictions.

Follow these recommended routes for limited free parking via 30th Street (Lot 1C and Gate 10).

From Southbound I-65: Use Exit 119 (38th Street) and proceed to the Kessler Boulevard North Drive exit, turn south (right) on Kessler Boulevard North Drive, turn west (right) onto 30th Street, Gate 10 or Lot 1C will be on the left.

Super Weekend begins with IMSA qualifying

Ryan Dalziel on Thursday drove the Extreme Speed Motorsports No. 1 Patron HPD ARX-03b Prototype to the pole position for the TUDOR United SportsCar Championship's Brickyard Grand Prix at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway. Dalziel, who won the pole with a best lap of 1:17.603, will share Brickyard Grand Prix driving duties on Friday with 2001 Indianapolis 500 polesitter Scott Sharp. "We were really good in the first practice, but we didn't know what to expect," Dalziel said. "We didn't expect the track to be this hot this time of night or for the times to be done so early in the session, usually for us we keep plugging away. Had we reversed and gone back out we would have pushed even harder on those early laps. It was a good day - it's National Tequila Day. We could not have asked for anything better."

The 2-hour, 45-minute Brickyard Grand Prix starts at 5:45 p.m. (ET) Friday on the 14-turn, 2.435-mile Indianapolis Motor Speedway road course. Johannes van Overbeek qualified second at 1:17.879 in the No. 2 Extreme Motorsports Patron HPD ARX-03b that he'll share Friday with Ed Brown. Indy Lights veteran Gustavo Yacaman was third at 1:17:908 in the No. 42 Oak Racing Morgan Nissan that he'll share with Ho Pin Tung. Colin Braun won the pole position for the third time this season in the PC class with a fastest lap of 1:19.849 in the No. 54 CORE Autosport ORECA FLM09 Chevrolet that he'll share with Jon Bennett. Qualifying second in the PC class was six-time Indianapolis 500 starter Bruno Junqueira with his time of 1:20.076. Junqueira will team up with Duncan Ende in driving the No. 09 RSR Racing Linospresso USA ORECA FLM09 Chevrolet in tomorrow's race.

"It was a good run," Junqueira said. "I had four or five laps 1 minute, 20 (seconds) flat, I couldn't go below the 20. It was a very close qualifying. The team did a good job to improve the car from practice. The car wasn't good. But the car was decent in qualifying, and I'm happy to start on the front row. This is the first time I've been here on the road course. I've always been on the oval for the Indy 500. It's a very nice track, very nice pavement - very smooth. I like the track."

Giancarlo Fisichella posted the fastest time in the GTLM class of 1:22.378 in the No. 62 Risi Competizione Ferrari that he'll share with Pierre Kaffer. Fisichella was an eight-time starter in the United States Grand Prix Formula One race at IMS, with a best finish of third in 2006. Dane Cameron drove the No. 94 Turner Motorsport BMW that he'll share with Paul Dalla Lana to the pole with his best lap of 1:26.058 in the GTD class. Andy Lally won the pole for the GS class of the Continental Tire Sports Car Challenge, an event also taking place Friday at IMS. Lally's quickest lap was 1:34.821 in the No. 9 Stevenson Motorsports Camaro Z/28 that he'll share with Andy Lally. Adam Isman won the pole for the ST class at 1:39.318 in the No. 4 Autometrics Motorsports Porsche Cayman that he'll share with Remo Ruscitti. The 2-hour, 30-minute Continental Tire SportsCar Challenge race on Friday will begin at 2:35 p.m. NASCAR Sprint cup Series and Nationwide drivers will practice on the IMS oval starting Friday morning. Nationwide Series drivers practice from 8:30-10 a.m. and 10:30-11:25 a.m., preparing for the Lilly Diabetes 250 on Saturday. Sprint Cup drivers will begin preparations from 11:35 a.m.-1 p.m. for the Crown Royal Presents the John Wayne Walding 400 at the Brickyard Powered by BigMachineRecords.com on Sunday. Here's what some of the other racers had to say: ADAM ISMAN (No. 04 Autometrics Motorsports Porsche Cayman, ST polewinner): "We definitely have more momentum, we missed the pole by a fraction of a second at Kansas and at Mosport, so it's nice to get a pole here. This is my first time here; this is an incredible facility. Just all the history - you can feel it. We get to be here on the same day (Friday) with NASCAR on the track." (On qualifying run): "The track felt really good. We were quickest in practice but only by a little bit. We made a couple of changes after the last practice. The changes we made definitely helped and will help us in the race. We weren't off at all; we were quickest. We felt like the car had a little bit of understeer so we dialed that out. I can't say enough about my team, Autometrics Motorsports; they worked really hard and gave me an awesome, awesome car for qualifying." (On winning the pole at Indy): "That's awesome!" MATT BELL (No. 46 Stevenson Automotive Group Camaro Z28, GS polewinner): "It's been awhile (on the pole). A couple years ago I used to get poles all the time, so a slump like that is frustrating. But this one wasn't as much my doing as it was Team Chevy. They built an awesome new Z28. It's very well-suited here. Stevenson Automotive Group set this thing up flawlessly and they have a great strategy behind us for the race. It was just kind of 'run by the numbers' really. I just went out and did what the car could do, I wasn't really pushing unduly, and I waited for the tires to come up. When the tires started to fall off, we pitted and hoped that that would be good enough for pole." (On 2013 track vs. 2014): "I was here last year but this was the first time on the new configuration. With the new configuration, it's a whole new race track now. There are very few parts of this track that are in common with the old track, and it's very well-suited to the Z28. COLIN BRAUN (No. 54 CORE Autosport Chevrolet, PC pole winner): "I am really happy with the run. It was a really good lap. It's cool to be on the pole here at Indy, for sure. I didn't drive the old road course, so I have nothing to compare it to, but I thought it had good grip. I really enjoyed it. It was fun. I was pretty happy with the whole thing. It was a pretty straightforward session for us. I think the race will be exciting. Obviously, that's the important one. The pole is nice but I am really looking forward to the race." GIANCARLO FISICHELLA (No. 62 Risi Competizione Ferrari, GTLM polewinner): "It's certainly nice to be back here in Indianapolis. I got great memories here. I scored a podium with Formula One. It's a great circuit. I'm really happy to be here and proud about the qualifying session. We're on pole. The shape of the circuit is different than a few years ago, but I like it. Our car performed (well) here. I feel comfortable and confident in the car. I did a perfect lap. I'm really proud of it." (On what he thinks of the reconfigured track): "It looks nice. It's difficult to say because driving with a Formula One car and driving with a GT (Le Mans) car is different. But I prefer the circuit the way it is now."

ZONE

From Northbound I-65: Use Exit 116 (29th/30th Street) and proceed straight past 29th Street, turn west (left) on 30th Street, Gate 10 or Lot 1C is on the left. From I-70 West of Indianapolis (Eastbound): Use Exit 69 (I-465 North/I-74 West) and follow I-465 directions seen above. From I-70 East of Indianapolis (Westbound): Use Exit 83B (I-65 North toward Chicago), Merge onto I-65 North, use Exit 116 (30th Street), continue straight, turn west (left) on 30th Street, continue west on 30th Street, the entrance is on the left. In an effort to increase the safety and security of race patrons, Georgetown Road will be closed between 16th Street on the south and 25th Street on the north beginning at 7:00 a.m. on Brickyard 400 race morning to all vehicular traffic. After Georgetown Road is closed, no vehicular traffic, including placarded traffic, will be allowed to access the roadway. Those race patrons with placards who are accustomed to entering IMS Gate 7 will have to enter through Gate 2 (W. 16th Street) or Gate 10 (30th Street). Local residents who reside on this stretch of Georgetown Road are encouraged to make provisions for this temporary traffic restriction as vehicles will not be permitted to access Georgetown Road from McCray Street, 24th Street, and all other access points in this area.

The second notable change involves the reopening of Georgetown Road after the race is complete. Georgetown Road will remain closed to vehicular traffic until the vast majority of race pedestrian foot traffic clears from the roadway (approximately 1 hour after the race). An additional thoroughfare that will be closed during the running of the Brickyard 400 will be 16th Street between Olin Avenue on the east to Georgetown Road on the west from noon until the end of the race. In addition, 16th Street will not be accessible from Polco Street, which will be closed at 10th Street. All traffic traveling east on Crawfordsville Road from the west will be turned around at Georgetown Road. Traffic traveling west on 16th Street from downtown will be diverted south on Olin Avenue.

Fans leaving IMS following all races during the Kroger Super Weekend should be aware that whatever direction they are sent, they will never be more than 1 to 4 miles away from a main interstate artery. Officers will direct traffic in the quickest, most efficient way and may suddenly change routes due to traffic congestion. Drivers can learn the locations of work zones and highway restrictions by calling INDOT's TrafficWise at 1-800-261-ROAD (7623) or viewing an online map at

From Page 10 www.TrafficWise.IN.gov. ISP will offer updates on traffic and parking on Twitter and Facebook. Fans also can learn more about Race Day traffic tips at www.in.gov/isp/2967.htm. A series of eight videos showing fans the best routes to access various parking lots from all directions for the Kroger Super Weekend at the Brickyard is available at www.ims.com/how2park. Each video offers step-by-step instructions, featuring audio and Google Earth maps. Fans also can avoid traffic and parking issues on NASCAR Sprint Cup Race Day on Sunday by using the shuttle bus service provided by the Free Enterprise System and Star of Americas' Park-N-Ride Shuttle. Online advance registration for bus service from three downtown locations and the Indianapolis International Airport is available at: www.brickyard400parking.com.

All taxis will drop off customers at Main Street and Gilman Street just south of IMS. Following the race, all taxis will stage at Main and Gilman to pick up customers. IMS will enforce its one cooler-per-person rule, and the size of each cooler can be no larger than 18 inches by 14 inches by 14 inches. Coolers may be hard-or soft-sided. Fans will be allowed to bring one cooler and one standard backpack or book bag per person.
