The Slab, a remnant of Noblesville’s Firestone building, has been sitting idle since the building’s demolition. But City Hall officials say something new is in the works for the property.

The ghosts of Firestone must be enjoying this...

Is there hope for The Slab?

By DON JELLISON
Reporter Editor

There may be relief coming for Noblesville eastside residents who for the past three years or so wake up each morning to see The Slab.

Or, for folks who drive eastside streets and look off in the distance to see The Slab.

The Slab, of course, is the 10 acres of concrete Firestone Industrial Products left Noblesville when the company put the wrecking ball to a building which once was the life blood of the city. Better known as Firestone Rubber Company in its heyday, Firestone back then was the largest employer in Noblesville and in Hamilton County.

Firestone, local residents were told, was the reason Noblesville was the living, breathing city it was. Firestone often blew its horn about the payroll money being pumped into the community and most often did that following another fire at the dump, located on the corner of Pleasant and 16th Street. The dump is still there, untouched for many years, and securely fenced so no one can enter. When there was a fire at the dump, drivers coming to or leaving Noblesville could see the black smoke for miles and miles.

The plant was located on what today is The Slab. Approximately 4,000 acres of concrete resembles a huge grave yard without any graves. Without any bodies. Maybe, a few ghosts, but no bodies.

But, back to what is happening, or will happen soon, in the Firestone area. What that is I can’t tell you. It’s a secret,

Ringo Starr made two visits to Noblesville

By FRED SWIFT

I find trivia interesting especially when it involves our local area. Here's one case that few people probably know of.

This summer marks the 25th and 50th anniversary of Ringo Starr's two visits to Noblesville. I was never a big fan of the Beatles, but I do recognize the names of the members of that British band that had such an influence on American culture.

A lot of young people under the age of 30 don't seem to know much about the group or realize what an impact they had here when they made their American tour 50 years ago and performed at the Indiana State Fair.

In September 1964 State Trooper Jack Marks of Noblesville was assigned to the Beatles security detail.

Apparently he and Ringo struck up a casual friendship and Marks took Ringo out on the town one night during the Beatles stay in Indy.

They spent the night touring the area, and come morning Marks took Ringo by his home near Noblesville. Ringo had probably never been on a farm, certainly not an Indiana farm. They had coffee in the Marks' kitchen where the trooper felt his wife and daughter would be impressed to see one of the Beatles.

When Mrs. Marks went to the kitchen she was not as impressed as her husband had hoped, but their daughter was thrilled to see a Beatle in the house, and got his autograph. (Nowadays she could get his picture on her iPhone to show classmates, but not in 1964.)

Ringo would return to Noblesville 25 years later. The Beatles' craze had faded somewhat, but Ringo, by then 49 years old, had organized a band of his own known as Ringo Starr's All Starrs.

On July 26, 1989 the band performed at the Deer Creek Music Center. It did not draw the massive attention of the State Fair concert of 1964.

Now, another 25 years gone by and Ringo is 74. He is a grandfather now, and lives part of the time in England and part in Los Angeles. He is considered the wealthiest drummer in history with a net worth estimated at $150 million.

No indication that Noblesville is in his travel plans this year.

Lantern Road accident sends pedestrian to hospital

Shortly after 7:30 p.m. Thursday, Fishers police officers and emergency personnel from the Fishers Department of Fire and Emergency Services responded to a motor vehicle crash involving a pedestrian.

This crash occurred at the intersection of Lantern Road and Turin Court. The motor vehicle involved was a 2005 Toyota Matrix passenger car. After striking the pedestrian the driver of the Toyota, Sarah Suber, 23, Fishers, immediately stopped and rendered aid to the pedestrian, Kimbra Moore, 59, Fishers. The driver reported that she was traveling westbound on Turin Court approaching Lantern Road. As she was preparing to stop at the intersection she became distracted and took her eyes off of the roadway. The driver did not see the pedestrian prior to the crash. According to evidence, at the scene, the pedestrian was walking southbound across Turin Court when she was struck by the Toyota.

The pedestrian was transported to Methodist Hospital in Indianapolis. As a result of the crash the pedestrian suffered serious, but non-life threatening injuries. The Fishers Police Department's Crash Reconstruction Team responded to collect evidence and investigate the crash. The driver fully cooperated with the investigation. At this time it does not appear that drugs or alcohol were a factor.

THE SLAB

a secret known only by City Hall officials and, who knows, known by the Firestone ghosts.

I first learned there was a movement to do something when listening to John Beery a few months ago as the City Engineer conducted an open-door meeting to inform residents in the Firestone area of one-way and stop signs being changed.

No hint from Beery of what that might be.

In an interview with Deputy Mayor Mike Hendricks earlier this week, I asked what might be in the works. "I can't tell you," Hendricks said with a smile. "But, it's going to be big and it is coming soon."

In another meeting I attended, I put the question to City Attorney Mike Howard. "No comments; I know nothing," Howard said while rushing for the nearest exit.

Firestone is in the news for other reasons. There are folks who are interested in The Slab.

Noblesville Schools, in a joint meeting with the Noblesville Common Council, expressed some interest in using the area as a bus barn and maintenance facility. Nothing solid; just a subject put on the table.

Hamilton County Commissioner Steve Dillinger told The Reporter that the County is looking for storage space, and that The Slab might be the answer.

Hendricks said the City could have the same interest.

Hendricks is the City's contact working with Firestone. He said the City first worked trying to get a private business interested in The Slab.

Hendricks told The Reporter that Firestone is not interested in doing anything with a private business; only with a government unit.

Would they be interested in a bus barn and city and county storage?

"They haven't said no," was Hendricks' answer to that question.

Noblesville Common Council member Brad Beaver, when the subject was brought up at a recent Common Council/County Commissioners joint meeting, said trying to find land for a bus barn in Noblesville will not be easy.

"Regardless the price, there isn't lots of land in Noblesville for that kind of thing," Beaver said.

Hamilton North Public Library offering free cards...

September is Library Card Sign-Up Month

Every parent wants their child to succeed, and one of the simplest ways you can ensure your child’s academic success is by making a quick trip to the library. September is Library Card Sign-up Month, a time when Hamilton North Public Library joins with the American Library Association and public libraries nationwide to make sure that every student has the most important school supply of all – a free library card.

All residents of Jackson Township are eligible for an Evergreen Indiana card. Residents of White River Township who are students at Hamilton Heights schools are eligible for a free student card, which gives them access to materials at both branches of HNPL.

Patrons can use their library cards from home, too. Our library offers access to important educational resources, like Inspire.

“HNPL provides students of all ages a welcoming atmosphere where they can explore, discover and create,” says Ann Hoehn, Library Director. “Students learn in a variety of ways. With the resources available at the library, we can meet the needs of children of all ages. Whether that is through homework help, print and e-books, or any of our other electronic resources, the library has something for everyone – accessible with a library card.”

Throughout the month, all students in grades K-5 who sign up for a library card will get a free book.

For more information on how to sign up for a library card, stop in at either branch of HNPL or visit the library online at www.hnpl.lib.in.us.

103rd and Illinois closure delayed

The forthcoming road closure that was scheduled to begin on or after September 8 at the existing roundabout at 103rd Street and Illinois Street has been delayed a minimum of one week to potentially Monday, September 15.

This is the next phase of the Illinois Street Extension project. This will be for the reconstruction and realignment of Illinois Street including realigning the Superior Street connection to 103rd and transitioning 103rd and Illinois from the existing circulating roadway intersection to a Tee intersection. Once the road closes, it will last approximately 30 days before re-opening to traffic.

A detour route using Spring Mill Road, 106th Street and US 31 (Meridian Street) will be in place for the entirety of this work. The city will provide as much advance notice of the closure as possible once the new closure start date is determined.

IDOE submits budget request

The Indiana Department of Education submitted its budget request earlier this week. The budget calls for increases in school funding over current levels for each of the next two years and reduces costs paid by parents. Specifically, it requests a three percent increase from the current biennial budget for public education. In addition, the budget reduces costs paid by parents by including funding for textbooks and instructional materials. Indiana is currently one of only eight states that requires parents to pay for textbook rentals and instructional materials.

In addition to the submission, Glenda Ritz, Indiana's Superintendent of Public Instruction, issued the following statement:

"As a state, our chief priority is to ensure our future shared prosperity. No one factor is more important to that prosperity than ensuring that our educational system is equitable and of the highest quality. This investment will strengthen schools throughout Indiana, both rural and urban.

"As Superintendent, I am requesting a sensible and modest increase in funding over current levels for each of the next two years. This increase will give our schools much needed flexibility in their budgets while they deal with increases in their fixed costs, such as transportation, utilities and technology. I look forward to working with members of the Legislature on this vital investment.

"In addition, I am very concerned with the costs that parents pay associated with the education of their children. Our constitution provides for a general and uniform school system that is equally open to all. That is why we have requested funding for textbook rentals and instructional materials for all students. By funding these at the state level, we can guarantee that all districts have equitable resources for texts while also giving parents a much needed financial break."

The draft budget was submitted to the Indiana Budget Agency this week. The final budget will be voted on next year by the Indiana General Assembly.

Hamilton Heights Middle School students Lily Halik, Keagan Trexler, Trinity Wright, Ana Oldham and Emma Higgenbotham agree that the topic of bullying is important and needs addressed. They say they know at least one person who has or they themselves has been bullied by someone.

Hamilton Heights taking a stand against bullying

Hamilton Heights School Corporation is working with students and staff on a strong, unified message. Bullying will not be tolerated. While Heights has long had their eye on the issue, administrators, staff and faculty continue to seek out innovative ways to keep the topic in the forefront to help curb incidents of bullying wherever and whenever possible.

Corey Kiger, Hamilton Heights Middle School Assistant Principal, says this has been a hot topic in the state and country. “We take the issue very seriously and are passionate about keeping this topic a focal point. To do so, we are being aggressive in our education and prevention efforts through a multi-faceted approach that involves interactive education and awareness programs, mentoring, discussion groups, and helping build skills in the areas of communication, confidence, and conflict resolution to help both students and staff recognize, reduce and come up with workable solutions.”

While the recent anti-bullying convocation at the middle school is the start of the school’s year-long prevention and education efforts, discussion, preparation and troubleshooting is ongoing. The program featured a discussion followed by a presentation entitled “Quest for Respect” which focused on preventing choices of bullying, cyberbullying and at risk behaviors (drugs and alcohol), while creating respect for oneself and others. According to Kiger everything they do related to this topic is designed to help students and staff understand, recognize and address bullying in today’s world.

“The program showed us ways we could help stop bullying and what can happen to you if you do bully someone else,” said eighth-grade student Ana Oldham. Keagan Trexler, also in 8th grade, said she thought the program opened up a lot of student’s eyes. Trexler also said she has been bullied in the past and it doesn’t feel good. Emma Higgenbotham, also in 8th grade, agreed. Emma was a victim of cyberbullying. What made it worse is the bully turned out to be who she thought was a good friend. Trinity Wright, 7th grade, said by working together with peer support networks, we can make a difference by doing our part in keeping the discussion going forward to reduce this problem.

“We provide training to all staff that is aligned with the Indiana Anti-Bullying Laws and Policies, said Cliff Hackman, Assistant Principal/Counselor for Hamilton Heights Primary School. Hackman, has an interactive anti-bullying training program he presents to students one classroom at a time throughout the year to reach 100 percent of students. In addition, the school brought in The Indianapolis Opera and The NED show last year both delivering powerful anti-bullying messages. More programs are planned for this year.

Hamilton Heights High School held a staff training session on Wednesday where they discussed the many facets of bullying from recognition to prevention and a little bit of everything else in between. On September 10, 11, and 12, the entire student body will attend a one-hour simulcast by Nick Vujicic entitled “You Can Overcome Bullying” in the school auditorium. Whitney Gray, Hamilton Heights Assistant Principal, said she’s personally seen one of Vujicic’s presentations and was very impressed. “We are really excited about this opportunity for our students and know they will be positively impacted by his message,” noted Gray. For anyone who may be interested in what the students will be seeing, they can check it out at: <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=1xa8Rr1Aup4>

While schools across the country encourage anti-bullying programs, Indiana is one of the few states that require them. Bullying is defined as an imbalance of power, with a pattern of repeated acts over time, or acts done with the intent to cause harm. Bullying takes many shapes, sizes and forms and knows no age, gender, race or socio-economic boundary. It can be physical, verbal, mental and even more ominous through social media and the internet.

With the passage of Indiana’s anti-bullying law last year, Hamilton Heights, along with other schools across the state are stepping up their prevention efforts as well as consequences for this behavior. The Centers for Disease Control ranks Indiana number three for school bullying. One in four children are victims and 1 in 20 are so fearful they skip school.

“Our hope is that students take what they learn here at Heights back to their homes, neighborhoods and into their adult lives,” noted Kiger.

School lunch waste has long been a topic of concern and discussion among parents, faculty and administrators at schools across the nation. Heights students now have the opportunity to deposit their unopened packages of food items in collection containers instead of pitching them in the trash.

HHSC joins food rescue effort

Hamilton Heights School Corporation is joining other school districts, restaurant owners, caring agencies, and concerned citizens to help solve the problem of food waste.

Patty Hicks, who has been at the helm of the Heights Elementary School’s cafeteria for close to two decades, said the volume of food waste has always been a concern. In fact, according to recent statistics, some 40% of food in America is wasted, while 1 in 6 remain hungry. With some of the obstacles lifted for K-12 food recovery programs, Heights has an opportunity to help neighbors by joining forces with Food Rescue, a service that picks up unopened or un-served food items from eating establishments that would normally be thrown in the trash and delivers it to food pantries.

Hicks, though a collaborative network of industry peers, was able to open the door to the program to help Heights find a way to save and share surplus and previously wasted food - food that was unopened, unused and tossed in the trash. She credits a colleague at the South Madison School Corporation for her efforts in helping to implement a program that rescues usable, packaged food instead of throwing it in the garbage. It’s been a success and one that is making a difference.

“As a ‘lunch lady’ with 19 years of experience, I have seen a tremendous amount of waste,” explained Hicks. “I am so excited that we can now donate unopened, unused good food and beverages to those who need it. We have waited for this moment for years and now with all of us banding together and getting the word out, perhaps we can put a dent in the hunger problem we have in our very own community. This is a great way of teaching our children not only how not to waste food but how to help someone in need.”

Heights’ cafeterias now have collection containers available near the trash cans for students to deposit unopened packages of food items. This will include unopened milk cartons, unopened fruit and vegetable packets, unopened yogurt, unopened crackers, etc. Anything unopened! The students will place the unopened packages into the collection containers as they are returning their trays to the dishwashing area. At the end of the serving period, the food will be placed in the freezer or refrigerator for storage until a representative can swing by and pick up the items for delivery to a food pantry in Hamilton County. This will also include food from the cafeteria that is not served and cannot be reheated.

Hamilton Heights Elementary School's food service team of Karen Versprille, Kay Davis and Lori Klingler are an integral part of launching the school's food rescue efforts. The team is pictured by a sampling of unopened juices and food that has been rescued and will be picked up to help feed the hungry throughout the county.

Fishers' Maurice Campbell scored a touchdown for the Tigers and carried for 104 yards in their 16-13 win over Noblesville Friday at Reynolds Tigers Stadium.

Tigers grind out win over Millers

By RICHIE HALL
Reporter Sports Editor
Win ugly, win pretty, win however you can.

In football, a team does not score extra points by scoring style points. Sometimes one has to grind it out, and that's what Fishers did in a county and Hoosier Crossroads Conference win over Noblesville Friday at Reynolds Tigers Stadium.

The Tigers won 16-13. Fishers scored all of its points in the first half, then was able to hang on even after the Millers scored a fourth-quarter touchdown to cut the lead to three points.

"Kind of ugly, but we're kind of embracing ugly right now," said Tigers coach Rick Wimmer. "Just proud of our kids for fighting though some things. We weren't great tonight. Noblesville has a lot to do with that. They got a very good team."

Fishers (2-1, 1-0 HCC) is pretty good, too. The Tigers gained 207 rushing yards on 52 carries. Maurice Campbell gained 104 of those yards on 22 carries, which seemed almost leisurely after how much he ran in Fishers' game with Pike last week.

"Maurice had 37 carries last week," said Wimmer. "That's a lot of carries and he really struggled getting much done in practice this week."

Still, Campbell had a productive game. His eight-yard touchdown run tied things up at 6-6 late in the first quarter. That answered a six-yard score by Noblesville within the first three minutes of the game. Luke needed to, made some stops when we needed to, got a couple turnovers that were big."

Miller coach Lance Scheib was not happy about letting a close one slip away. It was the first loss of the year for Noblesville, after two wins to open the season.

"It was self-inflicted," said NHS coach Lance Scheib. "Self-inflicted, which is what it was last week. We've got to correct that."

Hayden Stinnett ran for 83 yards, with Jarel Youree rushing for 65 yards. Noblesville's Carl Hardy completed 4-of-6 passes, with Levi Reece also stepping in and making 3-of-4 passes. Josh Donham led the receptions with five.

The Tigers were helped in the rushing department by Jermaine Huddleston and Roberto Rodriguez. Huddleston carried 14 times for 69 yards, and Rodriguez got the ball three times for 14 yards.

"Roberto Rodriguez and Jermaine Huddleston carried the load this week in practice, so we knew they were going to get some reps today," said Wimmer. "They did a great job for us. Just happy for them that when they got their opportunity, they showed what they can do and helped their team."

Both teams will be involved in all-county HCC games next week. Noblesville returns to Hare Chevrolet Field to host Westfield, while Fishers travels to Reynolds Royals Stadium for the always-huge Mudsock game with Hamilton Southeastern.

Melloh, one of the Millers' two quarterbacks, took the ball into the end zone and got NHS on the board.

The second quarter was all defense until the final two and a half minutes. Fishers got itself in scoring position at that point, and Zach Eaton got the ball in from the Miller 1. Anthony Beck converted the extra point kick.

Then, with 1.1 seconds left, Beck nailed a 33-yard field goal, giving the Tigers all of their 16 points.

Most of the second half was a grind, although Noblesville made things interesting early in the fourth quarter. Melloh used a quarterback sneak to score with 9:44 left, and Zack Niezer's kick cut the Fishers lead to 16-13. That would be the last score, as both defenses made stops, and the Tigers were able to get the first down they needed with less than two minutes left.

"They make you tackle a lot out in the open field, and we gave up some yards," said Wimmer. "But we buckled down when we

Eagles defeated in overtime

By DON JELLISON

Tom Dilley wasn't about to accept a "moral victory" following his team's 24-23 loss to Class 5A Terre Haute South Friday evening at the Eagles Nest.

Jordan Hitchcock

"We don't go for moral victories at Guerin Catholic," said the Golden Eagles' first-year coach. Sill, Dilley was "very proud" how his Eagles hung in against the Braves and nearly pulled out a victory at the end.

Guerin, after blowing some scoring opportunities and giving up some points in the first half, trailed 16-0 after three quarters, tied the game at 16-16 forcing an overtime; and took a 23-16 lead in that overtime before Terre Haute South scored a touchdown and added a two-point conversion for their third straight win of the season.

The Eagles dropped to 1-2. "I'm very proud of how our kids came back," said Dilley. "This is something we can build on. We got good leadership and we showed a lot of character tonight."

"We made some mistakes in the first half and we left some points on the field."

Guerin, on its first ball possession of the evening, drove to Terre Haute's South 27-yard line and then was stopped on downs.

The Braves scored on a safety and followed with a touchdown and had a 9-0 spread before halftime.

Guerin Catholic ended the first half running out of time on South's four-yard line.

The third quarter went pretty much the same way. South scored to take a 16-0 lead. A Guerin drive was stopped at South's 14-yard line.

Then came a wild, wild fourth quarter and still another defensive stand by Terre Haute, this time at the 17-yard line.

But, that's when Guerin Catholic started its comeback, all started by a safety with 7:28 left in the game.

The Eagles then drove 51 yards in seven plays. Carter McGinnis scored from the four with 5:12 left, moving the Eagles within eight, 16-8.

Trace Bulger

Guerin Catholic recovered a Terre Haute fumble and scored again. Johnny Swidan bolted up the middle for 20 yards and a touchdown. Matt Labus passed to Evan Hansen for the two-pointer and with 3:15 the score was deadlocked at 16-16.

Guerin scored first in the overtime. On the second play of the series, Matt Labus threw eight yards to Brian Matthews for the score. Freshman Thomas Kaiser booted the extra point for a 23-16 lead.

But, Terre Haute scored on its third play in overtime. The Braves went for a two-pointer and got it on a run by quarterback Timmy Herrin, who had scored the touchdown.

Guerin's defense did a good job controlling Herrin, the Terre Haute quarterback who had passed for over 600 yards in his first two games. Against the Eagles' defense Herrin was 14-of-24 for 158 yards and had two passes intercepted. He threw for one touchdown.

Labus, the Guerin quarterback, was 13-of-28 for 170 yards and one touchdown. He was intercepted once. Matthews had five catches for 62 yards and Cody Brazill caught two balls for 44 yards. Seven different Guerin receivers caught passes.

On the ground, McGinnis led the Eagles with 15 rushes for 70 yards and Hansen carried 13 times for 31 yards.

Guerin Catholic's next game is next Friday at home against Indianapolis Howe.

Great first half, and a...

44-34 Westfield victory

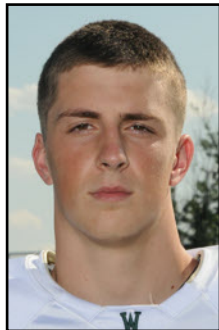

After playing what Coach Jake Gilbert called a “fantastic” first half, Westfield’s Shamrocks had to fight off visiting Zionsville during the final two periods in order to start the Hoosier Crossroads Conference season with a 44-34 victory over the Eagles Friday evening at The Rock.

“We had a great first half,” said Gilbert after Westfield had moved to 2-1 on the season and 1-0 in the conference. “Then, they scored 20 points against us in the second half.

“Give Zionsville its credit,” said Gilbert. “We got tired in the second half.”

Westfield, after scoring 28 points in the second quarter, led 38-8 at halftime.

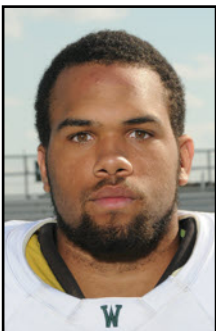

“We couldn’t move the ball in the second half and Zionsville kept scoring and scoring,” Gilbert added.

Westfield had a balanced offense, rushing for 249 yards and passing for 229 yards.

Junior quarterback Ryan Pepiot was 13-of-21 through the air for 173 yards. He passed for one touchdown. Nick Henderson had another strong night receiving the football with seven catches for 84 yards. Ben Lotfalian had four catches for 63 yards.

Westfield’s first two touchdowns and three during the evening came on the running of Elvin Caldwell. After Westfield opened with a 41-yard field goal from Nick Dowd, Caldwell scored from Royals’ HCC opener not a good one...

Royals shut down at Avon

Hamilton Southeastern ran into a Hoosier Crossroads Conference season-opening roadblock at Avon Friday evening, losin to the Orioles 31-10.

The Royals, now 2-1 overall on the season and 0-1 in the conference, trailed 17-3 at halftime after Avon put 10 points on the board in the second quarter.

After Southeastern got back in the game with a third quarter TD, Avon put away the Royals with two fourth quarter touchdowns.

Quarterback Tyler Janney had a good night throwing the ball, hitting on 8-f-21 passes for 130 yards. But, Avon held Southeastern’s rushing game to just 69 yards including a 60-yard night, in 14 carries, by Aaron Matio.

Huskies, 'Hawks games suspended

Hamilton Heights and Sheridan saw their Friday night football games get suspended due to weather.

The Huskies were only a few minutes into their game at Maconaquah before lightning and storms forced it to be halted. Heights' game will resume at 4 p.m. today.

Meanwhile, the Blackhawks were hosting Clinton Prairie, and were trailing the Gophers 20-14 at halftime. That game will also resume at 4 p.m. today at Bud Wright Stadium.

Carmel, Noblesville score huge wins at...

Zionsville soccer invitational

Carmel upset No. 1 Avon, 1-0 and Noblesville defeated the No. 5 ranked team in Kentucky, Tate Creek, 2-0 as the loaded Zionsville Girls Soccer Invitational got started Friday evening.

“Our goal was scored by Sam Eastes,” said Frank Dixon, coach of the No. 3 ranked Greyhounds, “from a very unselfish pass by Jessi Cowen. They kind of overloaded the Avon centerback and snuck in a short shot. It was the first goal allowed by Avon’s Kelsey Dossey this season.

Carmel junior goalkeeper Celene Funke outperformed Avon’s nationally ranked and

Eastes

Missouri commit Dossey in the stat that counts the most, goals allowed.

“Celene has come a long way since first stepping into the goal for us in July” Dixon said. “She never played goal before that time. Although no one would mistake her for a polished goal keeper she is a great athlete and a quick study. She has come so far so fast that it is hard to imagine what she may look like by season’s end.”

Carmel, now 5-0-2 on the year, will play Medina Ohio this afternoon at 4:45 p.m.

Noblesville got goals from Delaney Riester and Gabbi Charles, assists from Karsen Rauch and three saves from

Rauch

Mackenzie Kincaid in its victory over Tate Creek.

“We’re continuing to get better by playing one of the more difficult schedules in the state,” said Noblesville coach Mike Brady. “After playing No. 1 and No. 2 we were up for the challenge against Tate Creek, and we have another big game today, taking on St. Ursula out of Cincinnati.”

Fishers took on St. Ursula on Friday, playing to a 0-0 tie. The game ended early due to the inclement weather.

Hannah Sullivan and Alex Reibel both had two saves for the Tigers.

Carmel boys win

Carmel’s No. 9 ranked Greyhounds moved their record to 5-3 with a 2-1 victory over Ft. Wayne Canterbury.

Senior PJ Gibson scored a goal and had one assist. Carmel’s other goal came from Evan Shaw on an assist from Jake Heckenberg.

“Tonight was a tremendous atmosphere and an exciting game,” said Carmel coach Shane Schmidt. “I am proud of the way we came out and played from the opening whistle. We moved the ball much better mixing up possession and through balls.”
