Kokomo ranks third in nation for job growth

Press Release

Kokomo was the third-ranked city in the U.S. for job growth in 2013 according to the Bureau of Labor Statistics (BLS) data. Kokomo added 2,300 jobs between August 2013, and August 2014, for a total job growth rate of 5.3 percent.

For the same period, Kokomo's unemployment rate shrank by more than two percentage points, while its labor force increased by 1,817, as the city continues to be a best place for job seekers.

The Talent Tribune listing is based on BLS data for the total number of employed residents in August 2013 and August 2014. The organization calculated the number of jobs added, as well as the percentage of job growth.

"The Kokomo economy continues to outpace the state and national economies," said Kokomo Mayor Greg Goodnight. "Our community is thriving at the same time we are making quality-of-life investments for our residents. Kokomo's job market is one of the best in the U.S., and our housing stock remains one of the most affordable in the nation as well."

This report follows a U.S. Conference of Mayors announcement that Kokomo's Gross Metropolitan Product (GMP) growth rate of 2.4 percent in 2013 placed it 61st of 363 metro areas in the nation.

Talent Tribune is a blog dedicated to reporting on matters related to Human Resources i.e. jobs, workplace culture, talent management, recruiting, and more.

"A very expensive project, but we pulled up our boot straps, retied them tight, and re-energized our team."

Boyd indicated the decision took an excessive amount of time, planning, resources, that threw his development into a slew of meetings with many government officials for approvals to move the project forward.

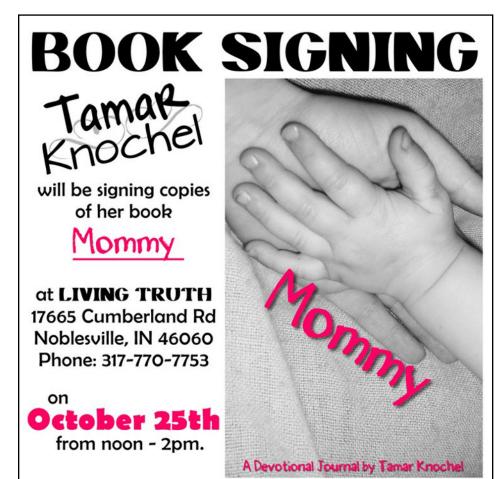

Boyd said he has received over a hundred emails from local residents thrilled with perserverance and positive attitude of his team, which includes Gary Kyzr Sheeley in land planning, Chuck Goldfarb and Tres Eldridge on the restaurant side.

Boyd said he is moving forward now at full steam with the restaurant and Key West style bar. "Nothing but good things coming now to the Cicero residents and the people of Morse Lake, including the expectation of new jobs coming to Cicero in December," concluded Boyd.

'Hounds, Royals advance to semi-final showdown

By RICHIE HALL

Reporter Sports Editor

The semi-finals are set at the Westfield volleyball sectional, after first round action finished up on Thursday.

Carmel, the two-time Class 4A state runner-up, overcame the host Shamrocks in four sets, while Hamilton Southeastern cruised past Zionsville to avenge an earlierseason loss. The Greyhounds and the Royals will play each other in the second semifinal at around 12:30 p.m. Saturday, following the 11 a.m. match between Noblesville and North Central.

Carmel won 18-25, 25-22, 25-9, 25-17 over Westfield. The Shamrocks started strong in taking the first set, and were still tied with the 'Hounds at 15-15 in the second set. Carmel was able to win that set, and the momentum carried them through the remainder of the match.

"We made some adjustments offensively and defensively that kind of helped us a little bit," said Greyhounds coach Rich Coleman. "We stuck to our game plan. We had a scouting report and a game plan and we executed that pretty well."

"I think that Carmel stepped up their game," said Shamrocks coach Stacie Pagnard.

Carly Skjodt led the Greyhounds with 24 kills and Morgan Seaman had 43 assists for the Greyhounds. Skjodt and Jamie Scherb paced the defense with 19 and 18 digs respectively.

"We were kind of amped up," said Coleman. We were really excited about the environment early, and Westfield came out and played excellent. Between those two factors, we didn't have a whole lot going our way that first set. Once we finally got calm and relaxed and started playing Carmel volleyball, we were in pretty good shape."

Westfield did show some fight in the fourth set, something Pagnard attributes to her two seniors, Samantha Reed and Lucy Grenda.

"They've been preparing all week," said Pagnard. "You look at their games individually, they played about as good as they could play. They have something to kind of hang their hats on, they should have no regrets. But we've got to have a full-team effort if we want to make a run."

The Shamrocks finished their season at 22-12. Stats were not available for West-field as of press time.

"We start a majority of sophomores," said Shamrocks coach Stacie Pagnard."I think five out of the six kids on the floor at some point in time are sophomores. Obviously the future is bright, but the senior class is really special to me, so I was just hoping that we could pull something out for them."

A pumped-up Southeastern team breezed through the Eagles 25-14, 25-20, 25-21. When the two teams met earlier in the year, Zionsville won in four sets, including a 28-26 fourth set. Needless to say, the Royals were ready to go.

"I thought we came out and played fantastic," said HSE coach Jason Young. "I loved the energy of the girls. Obviously playing a conference opponent that had beaten us earlier in the season, opportunity to get some revenge from that standpoint, settle that."

Hayden Huybers had a strong night with 12 kills; Young said she "dominated the net." Lauren Boswell had her best night of the season with seven kills and no errors; Young said it was her "best night of the season." Caitlin Kane hit eight kills, Gina Furlin made 30 assists and libero Jordan Dixon made 15 digs.

"I liked the effort," said Young. "I liked how cool we played when things got tight. Loved the senior leadership. They stepped up today and I thought we made a lot of good, athletic plays."

IHSAAtv.org to stream Lawrenceburg-Guerin Catholic football game

The IHSAA's internet television portal, IHSAAtv.org returns to action tomorrow stream during the 2014-2015 school year evening with the first round of the high school football state tournament.

Part of the IHSAA Champions Network, IHSAAtv.org has aired state championship events and tournament pairings shows in recent years and will now be expanding its broadcast schedule to include regular season, sectional, regional and semi- state football and basketball games.

Friday's first round sectional game featuring Lawrenceburg (7-2) at Guerin Catholic (6-3) will be webcast in high- definition through iHigh.com, the official streaming partner of the IHSAA. Hall of Fame announcer Jerry Baker will be may be found at IHSAAtv.org or by joined by Jan Boser, Jeremiah Johnson, Greg Rakestraw and Mark Jaynes. Veteran Producer Rick Vanderwielen will serve as Executive Producer.

A total of 70 IHSAA broadcasts will including state championships in football, soccer, volleyball, boys and girls basketball, wrestling, softball and baseball. Coverage of the golf and track and field state championships will also begin next spring.

"I am very pleased that we have expanded our coverage of IHSAA tournament events on our digital platform at IHSAAtv.org," said Commissioner Bobby Cox. "Viewer demand for high school sports continues to increase across our state and throughout the country and we're excited to add quality programming for our patrons."

A schedule of contests to be streamed following @IHSAAtv on Twitter. Also, a list of upcoming events appears at right.
