tions as being among the best places in America to live, work or raise a family. Noblesville, Carmel, Fishers and Westfield were all cited for quality of life.

Number 4: General elections were held this year with the most interest but least participation in the May primary where county, township and some municipal officials were essentially chosen. Incredibly, only about one in ten eligible voters took the trouble to vote in May, and fewer than three in 10 in November.

Number 5: Probably the most vicious crime of the year was the robbing and beating of Arcadia resident Bud Moore. The 94-year old veteran of WW2 was attacked in a home invasion. The crime shocked the community cost the town marshal his job. Moore survived and two suspects were arrested.

Number 6: A drug raid on a Carmel doctor's office resulted in a dozen arrests including the doctor, Larry Lay. The case dragged on for months and is awaiting at February 2015 hearing on motions to dismiss all charges.

Number 7: The multi-million dollar expansion of Noblesville High School was completed for the school year. The expansion, undertaken due to rapidly increasing enrollment, came after a decision to keep one high school and the approval of a referendum to finance the improvements.

Number 8: Highway construction caused headaches for many residents as U.S. 31 and other roads underwent major reconstruction in an effort to accommodate an ever-increasing traffic volume. Some of the road projects as well as new ones will continue in 2015.

Number 9: The study and debate of a public transportation plan lasted most of the year. The state legislature approved the option for a local referendum on funding for a commuter bus system from various locations in the county to downtown Indianapolis. During the debate, a light rail proposal was dropped.

Number 10: In local sports, always big is the sectional basketball tourney where this year Carmel was denied a possible 3-peat as state champions when Southeastern finally won the local tourney. But, the Royals with some outstanding individual players in recent years, were ousted in the regional.

And, finally this sad story of the year:

The announcement was made this year that the last vestige of Noblesville's 150-year history as a grain processing center is ending. Farm Bureau Co-op closed its local operation and will demolish its landmark silos and elevator early next year due to ever-expanding suburban development.

a new nature preserve and make improvements at East Park, said city planning director Christy Langley.

Howard was quick to note that the fees alone would not pay for the development of East Park; that will require TIF funds as well as money from the county option income tax.

Ditslear said that while developers would prefer not to pay the fees, he is not aware of Noblesville losing out on new developments because of the fees.

The impact fee increases are just one of many new development-related topics the council will tackle in the coming months. They will soon address new proposed subdivisions near Sagamore Golf Club and one off of Hazel Dell Road, as well as installing a new roundabout to replace the dangerous intersection at Greenfield Avenue and Howe Road east of S.R. 37.

And those decisions will come under new council leadership. The council will meet in a special 5:30 p.m. meeting on Jan. 5 to select a new council president, said City Councilor Roy Johnson.

Southwest Quad update

The city has completed its plan to revitalize the southwest quad, bordered loosely by the White River, Cherry Street to the north, 8th Street to the east and South Street to the south.

After meeting with residents in the fall, the city contracted with urban planner Corrie Meyer (who also is the executive director of the Carmel Redevelopment Commission) to formulate a plan.

The result is a formula to which both the city and resident will contribute. The city plans to make infrastructure upgrades to sidewalks, lighting and trails. Residents have pledged to involve the local arts community, make home repairs and engage neighbors with events like a community cleanup day on April 11.

The residents also want to bring back the Proud Heritage Picnic, create a neighborhood crime watch and look for land to build community gardens.

Langley said she will eventually return a comprehensive project analysis to the council for prioritization and funding consideration.

A draft version of the plan is available at the city planning department's Web site at:

Hamilton Heights sets 2015-16, 2016-17 school calendars

Hamilton Heights School Corporation has set its school calendars for the 2015-16 and 2016-2017 school years. The calendars, approved by the Hamilton Heights School Board at its December 23, 2014 meeting, set the first day of school for students at August 11, 2015 and the last day at June 2, 2016 and for the following year the first day of school for students at August 9, 2016 and the last day at June 1, 2017.

“The recommended revisions to the next two years’ calendar were the result of careful review of data from the previous year and input from the leadership team comprised of parents, teachers and administrators,” explained Dr.

Derek Arrowood, Superintendent, Hamilton Heights School Corporation.

These calendars include a later start date including two week days of State Fair that students are not in session. In addition, Fall Break will consist of one week off following the last day of the first quarter; three days at Thanksgiving; two weeks for a Holiday Break following the last day of the second quarter and first semester; and two weeks for Spring Break the last week of May and first week of April. Six Flex Days have been worked into the calendar to be used in the following order: the first two days include a potential of a four-day weekend in February. The fifth and sixth Flex Days include the first two days of Spring Break.

“These enhancements continue to allow us to utilize the positive aspects of a balanced calendar continuity to provide the best possible calendar for our students and teachers while helping to prevent us from going deeper into June due to weather-related school closings,” added Dr. Arrowood.

The calendars can be found online at www.hhsc.k12.in.us.

Issachar Church to present “I Love My Church” series

Americans still think highly of the Church. A 2014 Pew Research survey, “How Americans Feel About Religious Groups,” shows the public places a high value on people of faith. Does the Church return the favor?

Joshua Kennedy, Pastor of Issachar Church, says yes, the Church values the local community, and has a responsibility to show that care and concern. Beginning December 29th, Joshua presents a five-week sermon series titled, I Love My Church.

“The church has been offering answers to questions that no one has been asking, it is time for the church to step up and give ‘real’ answers to ‘real’ questions that people are asking” said Pastor Joshua.

Services will be held starting Sundays at 10:10 a.m. The church is located at 417 S Main St.

“All people are always welcome.”

Issachar Church is excited to be able to invite everyone in Hamilton County to attend this unique series.

Issachar Church is an Assembly of God church located at 417 S Main Street, in Sheridan. For more information go to www.issacharchurch.com or call 317.473.5981.

Scam threatening arrest for missed jury duty and court dates continues to circulate

A pervasive scam that continues to circulate in Hamilton County is the threat of arrest for not appearing in court or for jury duty. The Sheriff’s Office has recently been made aware of residents who have received telephone calls requiring them to purchase prepaid credit cards and submit a payment in order to avoid arrest. In yet another twist on the scam, the perpetrators use the names of real police officers and Sheriff deputies to make the scam seem more legitimate. In recent cases, the victim has been told to purchase a Green Dot Money Pack Voucher as means of payment. The victim is told to take the prepaid credit card to court but then called back and asked for the card number.

The Sheriff’s Office would like to once again remind area residents that arrest warrants in the county are never served by telephone. Bonds and other similar payments are not generally paid by prepaid credit cards or wire transfers. Technology can provide false and misleading Caller ID services so if in doubt, disconnect from the call, look up an appropriate phone number, or call the Hamilton County Communications Center at 317-773-1282 so an officer can investigate the complaint. Warrants are entered daily and taken out of the computer system once served. To check for active Hamilton County warrants call 317-776-9800 and choose option 2.

No coach, no problem; Murphy was there...

Tigers open with 52-41 win

By DON JELLISON
Reporter Editor

Michael Gaines didn't make it to Hanover Friday morning for Fishers' first round game in the Rumble on the River Girls Basketball Tourney. The coach was nursing the flu, an illness which during the past week had gone through nearly half of the Fishers team.

The Lady Tigers, for whatever reason, arrived late, about six minutes into the game. Fishers trailed 6-0 before finally getting a shot to drop with 1:41 left in the quarter.

But, the Tigers got healthy ahead of – way ahead – of their coach while romping to a 52-41 victory over Austin.

“Austin was well prepared for us,” said acting Fishers coach Lauren Vail, who was serving as a head coach for the first time in her career.

“Austin knew what they wanted to do,” Vail continued. “They caught us by mixing up their defenses.”

Vail also admitted that a two-hour, early-morning bus ride from Fishers to Hanover didn't help Fishers get ready for a 10:30 a.m. game.

But, once Fishers caught fire it was all over for Austin.

Better put, once senior guard Adrianna Murphy caught fire it was all over Austin.

Murphy scored a couple of baskets off defensive steals; Brooke Sugg hit a 3-pointer and Kara Gerka added a field goal as Fishers took a 9-6 advantage before that opening quarter ended.

Then, Fishers outscored Avon 19-3 in the second quarter to settle any doubt about the outcome of this game.

Murphy hit 8-of-11 first half shots while scoring 16 first half points.

“Adrianna really got us started,” said Vail.

Fishers, which once led by as many as 17 points, won the game even though Austin canned 10 shots from 3-point territory and scored 30 of its 41 points by connecting on 3-pointers

The Tigers were led by their usual 1-2-3 punch of the two senior guards, Murphy and Sugg, and 5-11 junior center Kara Gerka. Murphy led the scoring parade with 18 points, followed by Gerka with 14 and Sugg with 11.

Sugg was 3-of-8 shooting 3s for a Fishers team which went 5-of-21. From 2-point range, the Tigers were 18-of-22, with Murphy hitting 9-of-11.

Murphy also led Fishers with four assists and five steals. Gerka pulled eight of the Tigers' 25 rebounds.

Much of Fishers' slow start could be attributed to six turnovers in the quarter. The Tigers had only a combined three turnovers in the next two periods and roared into the fourth frame with a 44-29 advantage.

By winning, Fishers broke a two-game losing streak which came against an undefeated Noblesville team and a Southeastern team which had lost just one game.

Next up, was a 9 a.m. second round game this morning against Connersville.

Time Out: Jellison with the Tigers on the Banks of the Ohio...

Bagienski misses shot at FHS

By DON JELLISON
Reporter Editor
Connersville ruined a good sports story for fans of Hamilton County girls basketball. Darned Lady Spartans. Had Madison defeated Connersville Friday afternoon in the Rumble on the River Tourney near the banks of the Ohio River in Hanover, a man who coached at Noblesville even before Fishers broke away from Hamilton Southeastern to become Fishers would have taken on Fishers in Round 2 of the tourney. Here's the deal.
Rich Bagienski, Madison's coach, is a former coach of the Lady Millers. He coached eight years at Noblesville, before Fishers was Fishers, and then moved on reside, teach and coach on the banks of the Ohio.

Yesterday, Connersville knocked off Madison, 51-45, and so it was Connersville which played Fishers in a 9 a.m. second round game this morning.
"I'd like to play Fishers, but first we've got to beat a good Connersville team," Bagienski said. Playing at Southwestern High School in Hanover, Madison and Connersville squared off soon after Fishers defeated Austin.
Bagienski said he enjoys being at Madison. Actually, it's Rich's second tour as coach of the Lady Cubs. He coached for nine years and then stepped aside for five years before returning this season.
"Actually," said Bagienski, "it is like night and day living here."
Bagienski pointed to the economy.
"We don't have the money down here like they have in Hamilton County," he said.

"We don't have facilities at Madison like the schools have in Hamilton County."
Bagienski's current team got off to a great start. Madison lost its season opener to East Central and then won seven straight. But, the Cubs came to the holiday tourney having lost three straight, including a 20-point decision to No. 1 ranked Bedford North Lawrence the game before the tourney.
Rich led Madison to a sectional championship back in 2006-07. The Cubs lost to Evansville Bosse in the regional.
The Connersville team Fishers met this morning is a pretty good basketball team, and a hot team. The Spartans are 7-5 and have won four of their last five games, with victories over Lawrenceburg, Muncie Central, South Dearborn and now Madison and a 69-61 loss to a good Greenfield Central team.
Connersville has played three overtime games, losing to Batesville and beating

Anderson and beating Greensburg in double overtime.
The Rumble on the River is a good tourney, even though all of the opponents have smaller enrollments than Fishers. Lots of folks are predicting a championship showdown between the former Hoosier Crossroads Conference foes once-beaten McCutcheon and Fishers. McCutcheon ran all over Scottsburg, 48-29, late yesterday afternoon after earlier in the day Scottsburg knocked off Southwestern, 41-34.
Fishers certainly has the tools to win it all.
The Lady Tigers have lost three games by a grand total of 23 points and against three very good teams. They've fallen to once-beaten Lake Central by 6; undefeated Noblesville by 12, and once-beaten Hamilton Southeastern by five.
Too bad Madison didn't make it to that 9 a.m. game today.

Carmel girls lead swim rankings, but there's...

Something for every county team

By RICHIE HALL
Reporter Sports Editor

As the high school swimming season approaches the halfway point, Hamilton County has a not-so-surprising honor: Every single girls team is ranked in the state.

There are 47 girls teams rated by the Indiana High School Swimming Coaches Association in its latest rankings, which came out Dec. 23. Leading the way - again, this should not be a surprise - is Carmel.

The Greyhounds are the 28-time defending state champions. When the state tournament rolls around in February, they will be going for a 29th trophy, which would tie the all-time national consecutive state championship record set by the Punahou boys swimming team. The Honolulu school won its titles from 1958-86.

"All the girls know it," said Carmel coach Chris Plumb prior to the start of the season. "You can't avoid it. We emphasize day in and day out, it's about the process and being the best you can and taking care of your job and knowing your role and executing that. If you do those things, the end result will take care of itself.

"It's an opportunity, that's how we view it. It's not anything else but an opportunity to go and show the world what we're all about and the work that we do."

The world already knows. If it didn't before, it certainly got a look when Carmel senior Amy Bilquist competed at the 2014 World Short Course Championships in Doha, Qatar earlier this month.

Bilquist was part of a 200 meter freestyle relay team that broke the American record in that event with a time of 1:34.61. The old record had stood for 10 years. Bilquist and the US team finished second at Doha.

Bilquist is ranked first in the state in the 50 and 100 freestyles, events she won at the state meet last year. The rankings take into account a swimmer's best performance over the current and previous years, since they tend to peak for the tournament.

Claire Adams, a junior, is top-rated in the 200 free and backstroke, again based on her state championships in those events last season. Adams has won eight state titles so far in her career. Carmel also has the No. 1-ranked medley relay with a time of 1:44.80. Relays take into account only this season's performances.

Veronica Burchill, a junior who has won seven state championships, is ranked second in the 50 freestyle, the event in which she placed third at state last year. Alex Clarke is rated second in the breaststroke and third in the individual medley, while Kendall Smith is also ranked third in the 100 free.

Carmel's girls top the ranking charts with 342 points. The team rankings are compiled by taking each individual event and applying the state meet points to them, with a swimmer's best two events counting in the rankings.

The No. 2-ranked team is one of the Greyhounds' next door neighbors: Fishers. The Tigers had their best-ever finish at state last year by placing third, and were just a few points away from the runner-up trophy. Crown Point edged Fishers for second at state 209-203 last year, but the Tigers are ahead 210-207 in the latest rankings.

Laurn Parrish is the highest-ranked Fishers swimmer, as she is rated second in the 100 free. Parrish is also third in the 200 free event. Also rated third are Abbey Schneider in the 500 free and Maggie Jahns in the backstroke.

Hamilton Southeastern, a perennial powerhouse, is fifth in the current team rankings with 161 points. (Chesterton is fourth with 171). The Royals relays are performing well, with the 200 free relay currently ranked first in the state with a time of 1:37.16. Southeastern's medley relay is rated third. Robyn Clevenger is the highest-ranked individual, at fourth place in the 50 free.

Noblesville is tied for 19th in the rankings with 32 points. The Millers' relays are showing strength, with the 400 free relay ranked 12th and both the medley and 200 free relays rated 13th. Freshman Alyssa Conley is ranked 11th in the 50 free.

Hamilton Heights is tied for 23rd with 20 points. All of those come from sophomore Brooke Schultz, the diving sensation.

Hamilton Heights' Brooke Schultz is far and away the top-ranked diver in Indiana. Her six-dive total of 364.55 points would've placed her 16th at the 11-dive state meet last season.

Schultz has a best six-dive score of 364.55 points - that score would've placed her 16th in the 11-dive state finals.

Westfield is tied for 32nd with nine points. Emily Verbrugge is ranked 11th in the breaststroke while the Shamrock 400 medley relay team is ranked 16th.

Guerin Catholic is tied for 44th with two points; the Golden Eagles' 200 free relay is rated 16th.
