Former NHS teacher represented by high-profile attorneys...

Court date set for Douce

By JEFF JELLISON

Former Noblesville school teacher Michael Douce will appear in Hamilton County Superior Court 1 on January 21st for an initial hearing. Douce was charged last week with 11 felonies related to sexual misconduct with two female students.

Representing Douce will be two Indianapolis based defense attorneys, James Voyles and Dennis Zahn. Both charged with 23 counts of child molesting. are well known for their defense work in high profile felony cases.

Voyles' long list of high profile clients includes Mike Tyson, Al Unser Jr. and Indianapolis Colts owner Jim Irsay. Voyles also represented National Guard recruiter Eric Vetesey, former Carmel police officer Paul Terry, and Westfield resident Bruce Doles. All three were charged charges accusing Douce of having sexual contact with two with sex crimes in Hamilton County.

Vetesy, while working as a recruiter for the National Guard, was charged with multiple counts of sexual battery when he allegedly forced sexual acts on seven young women he recruited from area high schools.

Terry, a police officer in Carmel at the time, was explicit text messages on both victims' cell phones.

House Page Program currently accepting applications

State Representative Tony Cook (R-

Cook

Cicero) is encouraging Hoosier students to apply for the Indiana House

Page Program. The program students ages 13 to 18 the chance to visit the Statehouse and see a full day of legislative activity.

"The Page Program is an exciting way for students to learn more about state government," said Rep. Cook. "I look forward to working with our community's next generation of leaders.'

Pages have the opportunity to observe floor sessions and committee meetings, as well as help members of the legislative staff. They have the opportunity to tour locations like the governor's office and the Indiana Supreme Court. Students who serve as pages are excused from school for the day and are responsible for their own transportation to and from the Statehouse.

"Pages get to see firsthand how a bill becomes a law," said Rep. Cook. "At the end of their experience, the students will better understand how each branch of our state government helps to serve the people of our state."

With spots filling up fast, students who are interested in the Page Program are highly encouraged to schedule their visit quickly. Students are asked to include two separate dates to visit. Those dates should be between the first weeks of January through April. Recommended days to serve include Mondays, Tuesdays and Thursdays when the House is in session. There are no pages on Fridays.

For more information or to sign up, please call 1-800-382-9841 or visit http://www.indianahouserepublicans.co m/page-program-2015/.

First Sheridan "Smart Future" meeting is next Wednesday

By DAVE MUNDY

Sheridan Schools Superintendent

This fall Sheridan Community Schools was very fortunate to be one of three districts to receive a portion of the Duke Ener-Grants. This opportunity affords Sheridan to work in collaboration with the Marian University Academy for Teaching and Learning Leadership to conduct a district-wide needs assessment. As we continue to watch the population trends, we realize that Hamilton County is the fastest growing area in the state. This growth will inevitably affect the town of Sheridan, especially our school system. We want to be very cognizant of what the community desires and how the school district can meet the needs of our families. We want to engage our faculty and community to help guide our course of action over the next five years. We are fortunate that this grant will allow Marian University, as an outside leader of the project, to work to provide services planning marketing/communication materials to maximize the impact of the project. We are hoping we will get at least 200 people to be a part of this project and help shape the future of our school and community.

Sheridan Community Schools would like to invite you to the first of four "Smart Future" meetings on Wednesday, January 21, starting at 6:30 p.m. (ending no later than 8:00 sharp) in the Sheridan Elementary School cafeteria. This is the beginning of our strategic planning session which will guide where we focus our upgrades and planning over the next four to five years. Let your voice be heard. Share your opinions and hopes of what you want the future of Sheridan Community Schools to look like over the next short time period. Please express your thoughts in these meetings. I, like all of you, want the best for our community, school system, and especially our students. This opportunity will be an important step in achieving these goals.

If you are able to attend, please RSVP Childers Mrs. Kim at kchilders@sheridan.k12.in.us. RSVP's are not required for attendance, but would be helpful for planning purposes.

Thanks and we hope to see you next Wednesday, January 21.

Bloomington Economic Development Corporation awarded Duke Energy grant

"Every working Hoosier must benefit from a growing economy. Tonight, we heard nothing about the deepening chasm between the richest and the rest of us. There was nothing said to pay even lip service to the deteriorating wages and salaries paid to so many. Once again, the focus is on hoping the very few will do nice things for the rest of us.

"When you don't have anything new 'surprises' like a balanced budget amendment to the state constitution. Tech first up on Friday

By DON JELLISON

Reporter Editor

With the schedule Guerin Catholic has faced this season, the Golden Eagles have played in lots of challenging games.

Perhaps none more challenging than the upcoming weekend.

Guerin will play at defending state champion Indianapolis Tech on Friday and then host Terre Haute South on Saturday.

"We've got two great challenges ahead this week," said Golden Eagles coach Pete Smith.

"Tech (8-5) has the leading candidate for Mr. Basketball in 2016 in Purdue recruit CJ Walker, who along with Trey Lyles led them to the 4A state championship last season," said Smith. "Terre Haute South (9-3) comes in to town having their best season in a long "Both teams love to play transition basketball and play pressure defense. So do we, but we can't run for 32 minutes with those guys. Heck, they're both averaging over 70 points a contest.

"I also want us to play our style of basketball, so we have to choose wisely when we fast break and when we go into our secondary break," said Smith.

Guerin Catholic was out of school on Monday.

"We missed a day of practice," Smith continued. "But, when we have been on the court it has been with an emphasis of handling their traps and getting back defensively.

"We play some super athletes this weekend," the coach added.

Smith will make a change in his lineup.

"Cameron Lindley will return as our starting point guard," Smith said. "Matthew Godfrey averaged 13 points a game in the four games he came off the bench to start the season. I believe this gives us more versatility coming off the bench. Heck, he's our second leading rebounder on the season, too. Lindley has been practicing well, and Godfrey knows he'll likely get even more minutes as he was early by coming off the bench.

"We're also excited to get one of our captains, Nick Schneider, back this weekend, if all goes well. He's been out with a concussion."

Guerin Catholic is 10-4 and currently ranked No. 6 in the Class 3A poll.

The Eagles are led in scoring by Matt Holba and Christian Munson, each with a 17.1 average. Godfrey is scoring at a 9.7 clip. Holba has 141 rebounds in 14 games.

Tech has lost its last two games, falling to Lawrence North 98-86 and Chicago St. Rita (Illinois) 77-51. Other losses have been to Warren Central 80-77, Huntington Prep (West Virginia) 88-59 and McCutcheon 73-60.

Terre Haute South's three losses have come at the hands of Columbus North 86-59, Terre Haute North 64-60 and Evansville Reitz 100-79. Reitz is ranked No. 3 in the state and Columbus North No. 6.

One advantage Guerin may have over Terre Haute South is that on Friday South will play rival Terre Haute North. Back on Dec. 30 South defeated North 64-60.

Leonard comes home to Chatard...

Brownsburg big contest

By DON JELLISON

It will be a 38-year homecoming, of sorts, for Coach Joe Leonard when he brings his Fishers Tigers to Chatard this Saturday evening.

"I went to Chatard, so it is a homecoming, of sorts," Leonard said. "It took me 38 years to get back."

While the Saturday game at Chatard will have a little extra for Leonard, top game of the weekend for the Tigers will be a Friday road trip, this one to Brownsburg for a Hoosier Crossroads Conference game.

Fishers, 6-6 overall, stands 2-0 in the conference with wins over Noblesville 55-42 and Hamilton Southeastern 50-45.

Two of Brownsburg's three losses have been to No. 1 ranked Southport, 54-39 and 66-49. The Bulldogs, who are ranked No. 16 in the 4A poll, also have lost to No. 9 Pike, 65-54.

Brownsburg has defeated Lawrence Central 65-58, Warren Central 65-63 in overtime, East Chicago Central 60-56, Lebanon 62-26, Ben Davis 47-34, Penn 45-31, Frankfort 67-34, Plainfield 65-39, Cascade 66-29 and Danville 51-37.

"Brownsburg is a very good and experienced basketball team," Leonard said. "They play with a toughness that we as a team are working on. They have some really in 12 games.

'Hounds win all-county dual meet

By RICHIE HALL

Reporter Sports Editor

A Wednesday all-county wrestling meet went Carmel's way, as the Greyhounds beat Westfield 42-16 in a meet that took place at the Carmel Fieldhouse.

While the score makes it look like an easy victory, it was closer than it seemed. The 'Hounds won nine matches to the Shamrocks' five. Carmel helped itself by getting four pins on the night, including one in the very first match. Zachary Bradley got the fall with a second to go in the second period to win at 182 pounds.

Also getting pins for Carmel were 106pounder Dominic Pecoraro, Sam Bublick at 152 and Nick Fox at 160.

Keep in mind that the sectional is not far were Evan Eldred at 132 by major decision, away - it takes place in 16 days, on Jan. 31. That's already on the minds of the coaches.

Carmel won the 195 (Sam Hipple) and 113 (Adam Jerde) matches, both by close decisions. Hipple won 6-5 and Jerde 4-2.

"So we were happy with winning two out of three of those," said Pendoski.

Michael Steele got the 126-pound match for Westfield, also in a razor-thin decision, 4-3.

Other key victories were from Jack Eiteljorge, who won at 120 pounds by a tech fall. Jerrod Smith got a major decision win
