Hare awarded Isuzu commercial truck franchise...

Taking over Goeke building

Exciting things are happening at Noblesville's oldest business and the Nation's Oldest Transportation Company.

Back in December 2014, Hare was awarded the Isuzu Commercial Truck Franchise for this area. The Service Department at Hare has been working on medium duty trucks for businesses in Central Indiana for a long time, and now with the Isuzu truck franchise awarded, they have the ability to sell the trucks as well.

With Hare Chevrolet hitting all kinds of records in sales and service in recent years, including being the largest GM store in Indiana for a decade, the need for additional space is a significant. The ownership team at Hare consists of the 6th generation of the Hare family, sisters Courtney Cole and Monica Peck. The sisters had a desire to find new land and/or building for a truck center but keep it close to their Chevrolet store. The former Goeke dealership located on State Road 32 just east of State Road 37, provided an ideal fit. Slight modifications will have to be done to fit the building for the sales and servicing of larger trucks.

Hare will be selling and servicing Isuzu trucks out of the Chevrolet location until the remodeling is complete, anticipated to be finished by Spring 2015. Along with the Isuzu truck franchise, Hare is also a Certified Chevrolet Business Elite dealership. The Commercial Sales team works with businesses of all kinds and sizes to match them with the right vehicles, whether it's a fleet of vehicles, or just one at a time.

Peck

A team of current Hare Chevrolet employees will lead the new Hare Truck Sales & Service Center. John Pence, a long-time Hare service advisor, will be heading up the service side of the business. Long time Noblesville native, Todd Thurston, will be the Sales Manager. Although, most of the staff will be coming from the Chevrolet location, there are job openings for both the Truck Center and the vacated open positions at Chevrolet. All in all, there will be about 10 total job openings. Hare Chevrolet currently employs just over 200 people.

So who's driving the CIRT bus?

By FRED SWIFT

You've got to wonder who's driving this bus, and where this bus is headed.

The driver of the bus I'm talking about is apparently the Central Indiana Regional Transportation Authority (CIRTA) whose goal is to get a $100 million commuter bus service started to transport commuters from selected points in Hamilton County and Johnson County into downtown Indianapolis.

This drive to get public transportation service for central Indiana began about 2007 when a few political appointees decided it would be a great idea for Indy to have a mass transit system like other big cities and at the same time help

In addition, SOHC gives the adults continuing opportunities to develop physical fitness, demonstrate courage, experience joy and participate in the sharing of gifts and friendship with their families, other Special Olympics athletes, and the community. SOHC currently offers over 20 different sports to over 1,000 families in Hamilton County, and these numbers are growing each year. SOHC has over 30 coaches that volunteer their time to be able to provide sports to families and a management team of 12 volunteers who help run the program.

Bridge preservation project to restrict State Road 32

The Indiana Department of Transportation (INDOT) plans to begin a bridge deck overlay this spring on the State Road 32 bridge over Little Eagle Creek three miles west of U.S. 31. A temporary traffic control signal will be installed on or after March 1 to regulate alternating directions of traffic sharing one lane across the bridge.

The temporary signal allows crews to maintain traffic on State Road 32 throughout the project while completing the bridge overlay one half at a time. Once the first half is complete, traffic will be shifted to begin work on the second half.

Bridge deck overlays preserve the structures, protect against moisture and provide a renewed driving surface for motorists. The $467,000 contract was awarded to Duncan Robertson, Inc. of Franklin, Indiana. All work on the project is expected to be complete by September.

Stay informed about INDOT projects by subscribing to receive email updates. For updates on social media, Follow @INDOT ECentral on Twitter and like Indiana Department of Transportation: East Central on Facebook.

out the financially troubled city bus system. It seemed reasonable.

Supporters of this idea got $3.3 million in tax money from federal sources to finance some limited bus routes to Fishers, Carmel and Greenwood. At first there were reportedly 500 folks who rode the bus from Fishers every day and probably similar numbers from Carmel and Greenwood.

Then the federal grant money ran out, tickets prices had to be increased, ridership dropped off. The bus to Greenwood was given up. Last year the Carmel service was stopped, and this week CIRT announced the Fishers service has run out of gas. The service will end in May because there is a daily average of only 60 riders.

Now CIRT claims the failure of the $3,300,000 experiment means nothing and says they plan to proceed with a new $3,000,000 "study" to see if the expanded $100,000,000 service plan is feasible. The study money comes, one third, from Fishers, Carmel, Greenwood and Indianapolis taxpayers and two thirds from the federal tax money.

They ought to do a heck of a study for that money. And, when $3,000,000 is given to a group to study something that they very much want, the taxpayers have a right to know that the study is going to be absolutely unbiased and conducted by folks not associated with the situation in any way.

In the meantime, Hamilton County Express (HCE) seems to be doing an adequate job of providing transportation for the elderly, the handicapped and others who have no means of transportation. HCE is the Janus Developmental Services tax-supported countywide bus system.

Remember, ‘diet’ is a noun, not a verb

By SHARON MCMAHON

Have you had enough of winter yet? This is the time of year when we yearn for the “green” here in Indiana! I am pleased to say that gardening seems to be gaining popularity and indulging in local, fresh produce is both encouraged and enjoyed. However, today’s column is not directly referring to gardening (believe me, you don’t want gardening or seamstress tips from me!) instead I will discuss the analogy above from Mr. Shakespeare. A garden will only flourish when it is tended, fertilized properly, watered, weeded, and cared for – if our bodies are our gardens, how is your will doing as a gardener?

If there is one thing I would ask that you take away from today’s column it is this – the word “diet” is a noun, not a verb! We tend to think of “dieting” (verb) as opposed to a healthy, nutritious diet (noun) or food plan. Another problem with the word “diet” is that the word is closely associated in our minds with “deprivation.” We humans do not like to be deprived! When you omit something from your food plan, introduce a food item to take its place. A great place to start is the grocery store. Unless you are providing potato chips for the annual family reunion, skip that aisle but be sure to pick up a lovely red pepper in the produce aisle and a small container of hummus to enjoy as a snack. One suggestion is to also purchase small portion cups and divide your hummus into those so that you monitor your snack portions. Now, let me also be clear – we all need to indulge in our “comfort food” occasionally! Thanksgiving, you bet! Some cheese ball, cookies and fudge at Christmas, oh my yes! Super Bowl goodies, of course! Keep in mind that these are specific occasions, not our everyday cuisine.

Dr. Brian Wansink, director of the Food and Brand Lab at Cornell University, in his book, Slim by Design: Mindless Eating Decisions, recommends changing your eating environment. According to Dr. Wansink, a primary predictor of healthy or unhealthy weight is what food is out on the counter in the kitchen. People who keep chips or cookies on the counter, even a single cookie, weigh an average of ten pounds more than their neighbors who don’t. When the cookies are in sight, you must repeatedly make a decision about eating them. You might resist 25 times, consider it on the 26th, and give in on the 27th. Cereal is even more enticing, according to Wansink, because we perceive it as healthier. If cereal is on the counter, you’re likely to weigh 20 pounds more than average, he indicates. Keep those chips and snacks, if they are in your house, behind closed doors and preferably on a high shelf! Is ice cream your thing? If so, try a fruit/veggie smoothie in your blender or food processor – here is one I especially like: Fresh kale, chopped + fresh chilled pineapple chunks + a good quality protein powder + crushed ice + unsweetened almond milk. Blend all in your blender until smooth and enjoy! Experiment to taste; start with small amounts of kale if you need to do so and increase proportionately. You can also substitute frozen bananas or berries for the pineapple. If you are one who likes to keep some yummy items on your kitchen counter, try a container of varieties of green tea, there are many delicious flavors from which to choose. You will enjoy a filling and tasty beverage and at the same time benefit your immune system, a win-win situation.

I will caution you to be wary of shelf-stable and processed foods. Many canned food items are fine to add occasionally to your meals, but be aware of the sodium content. Boxed “meals” in particular are usually very high in carbohydrates. While today’s busy schedules sometimes call for quick family meals this is one which should not be included on a frequent basis. One of my favorite “quick” meals consists of the following veggies which can simply be stirred into olive oil (using a wok is fine, but not necessary) over a low heat: Brussel sprouts (microwave briefly as they are very dense) along with sliced bell peppers, mushrooms, several cloves of garlic (great for your immunity) some sliced potatoes, and one or more of green beans/snow peas/asparagus – whatever you like best. Combine all in a large frying pan (or wok) when the oil is ready. Stir for several minutes. For added flavor, some low-sodium soy sauce and curry could be added. You may have noticed that I have not included a meat item here but you certainly could, perhaps chicken breast (cook thoroughly before adding to your veggies) or salmon would be a delicious addition. You might wish to add some rice as a side dish, although I would suggest brown rice instead of white rice.

You may wonder why I am not mentioning “fast food” and, frankly, I do not have enough space in my column this week to do so! Those menu items should be rarely included in one’s eating plan, although there are a few suggestions which can be incorporated on a limited basis – more about that in a future column.

While endless commercials, ads, and apps would endeavor to convince you that their “proven methods” work for your healthy weight-loss goals, (there is a reason that the “diet industry” is a multi-billion dollar industry!) remember that each one of us is different and we need to find the approach that works best for our personality, schedules, family life, and lifestyle. The changes you make in your eating habits should be changes that you plan to incorporate for a lifetime. A nutrition coach can help you find your best plan to begin and sustain a more healthy eating environment and life-long positive changes. There is no one “diet” or identical plan for everyone. You will be surprised how reduction in your consumption of dairy, sugar, salt, flour, rice, “diet” sodas (that’s an oxymoron if I ever heard one!) and other simple carbohydrates can make a difference. The addition of good protein sources and complex carbohydrates will leave you more satisfied with the way you feel and your appearance – not to mention better health, better sleep, and more energy!

Indiana is known to many as the “Basketball State” and we Hoosiers are definitely proud of that fact! However, Indiana has also been designated 8th in the “top 10 least healthy states” and “41st out of all 50 states in overall health” according to Indianapublichealth.org. Those are statistics that can, and should, change – and we are all part of that change. Let’s work together to reduce Hoosiers’ obesity rate, which is largely responsible for diabetes, heart problems, and many other health issues. We can do this!

For child sexual abuse prevention training...

Lids Indiana Bulls partner with Chaucie’s Place

The Lids Indiana Bulls, the baseball affiliate at Grand Park, is taking a proactive approach to protecting the youth involved in their programs. They have partnered with Chaucie’s Place, a Hamilton County child advocacy organization, for an annual child sexual abuse prevention program for adults called Stewards of Children®. The training program begins this week and is now required for all the Lids Indiana Bulls volunteer and paid coaches and staff.

“Our ‘Bulls Tradition of Baseball Excellence’ has always come from developing the top amateur baseball talent in Indiana. But I’ve never been more proud to be a part of this organization as it evolves into formally – through policies and ongoing training – making certain the young men who are entrusted to us are as safe as possible both on and off the field,” said Mike Mundy, executive director of Lids Indiana Bulls.

Stewards of Children is a child sexual abuse prevention program developed by the national organization Darkness to Light. This program educates adults to prevent, recognize and react appropriately to child sexual abuse. This training program is designed for parents and any adults who work with children or adolescents. Stewards of Children is the only nationally available program scientifically proven to increase knowledge, improve attitudes and change child-protective behaviors. Chaucie’s Place is an authorized Stewards of Children facilitator.

“Coaches and sporting organizations can sometimes seem to have a singular focus on performance,” said Toby Stark, Chaucie’s Place executive director. “By mandating child sexual abuse prevention training for all its coaches and staff, I believe the Bulls leadership has just raised the bar for all sports organizations across Indiana.”

"We are extremely proud of the Indiana Bulls, Grand Park's diamond sports anchor, for taking this important step in making sure that Indiana's youth athletes are given the opportunity to compete in a safe, supportive environment," said Westfield Mayor Andy Cook.

For more information on Stewards of Children training, contact Chaucie’s Place at \(317\) 759-8008.

'Hounds dominate prelims; Millers send all to championship

The first step to another state championship was a perfect one for the Carmel girls swim team at Thursday Noblesville sectional preliminaries.

The Greyhounds advanced all 27 of their swims to the championship heat of Saturday's finals. Carmel is going for a 29th consecutive state championship, and put itself in excellent position to qualify many (if not all) of its swims to next weekend's state meet.

Meanwhile, the Millers had a fantastic night as well, qualifying all 27 of their swims into the championship heat. Westfield advanced all 27 to Saturday's finals, with 13 reaching the championship heat and 14 qualifying for the consolation heat.

Carmel finished first in every single event, and was 1-2-3 in six of the eight individual events. The 'Hounds swam faster than the state cut time in 16 of their 27 swims. A swimmer advances to state by either winning her event or swimming equal to or faster than the state cut time during Saturday's sectional final.

Claire Adams and Amy Bilquist both earned two top seeds for Carmel: Adams was the fastest in the 200 freestyle and backstroke (where she set a new sectional record of 53.89), while Bilquist finished first in the 50 and 100 freestyles. Other Greyhound top seeds were Trude Rothrock (individual medley), Veronica Burchill (butterfly), Emma Nordin (500 free) and Haley Harris (breaststroke). Carmel also finished first in all three relays.

Noblesville's top finishes were in the relays, with the 200 and 400 freestyle relays each taking second. Individually, the Millers had a tie for fourth-place in the butterfly, with Alexa Akers and Kate Holtkamp sharing Noblesville's highest seed.

The Shamrocks got a second-seed performance out of its 200 medley relay team, with Emily Verbrugge placing third in the breaststroke for Westfield's highest individual finish. The Shamrocks' 200 and 400 free relay teams both finished third.

Hamilton Heights had 12 swims advance to Saturday's sectional finals, with two in the championship and 10 in the consolations. Both of the Huskies' championship swims will be in the relays, in the 200 and 400 freestyle relays.

Guerin Catholic sent eight swims to the finals, three in the championship and five in the consolations. All three championship swims are in the relays.

Westfield looking for upsets...

Fishers, Heights eye titles

By DON JELLISON
Reporter Editor

This weekend Fishers, in the Hoosier Crossroads, and Hamilton Heights, in the Mid-Indiana, will continue their bids for boys conference basketball championships. Westfield will try to knock off the Tigers and the Huskies.

It should be Hamilton County basketball at its best.

The battles for conference crowns will be tonight when Fishers visits Westfield and Hamilton Heights travels to Maconaquah.

Fishers currently is tied with Zionsville, each at 4-0, at the top of the HCC. A victory at Westfield will send Coach Joe Leonard's Tigers into a Feb. 20 home court showdown with Zionsville.

In the Mid-Indiana, Hamilton Heights is 3-1 and tied with Northwestern and Lewis Cass for second place. Eastern leads the conference with a 4-1 record.

Heights and Fishers should be heavy favorites going into the games. Maconaquah is 0-5 in conference play and 3-11 overall. Westfield is 0-5 in conference play and 3-13 overall.

Leonard isn't looking for an easy night at Westfield.

"We have been practicing hard for Westfield," said the Fishers coach. "They are playing better and getting everyone healthy. Westfield is a hard place to play, so we know we have to play well to win.

"Watching Westfield play," Leonard continued, "they have very good shooters. If you leave them open, it can be trouble.

"We feel like we played a very good game vs. Lawrence North, and would like to continue that type of play tonight."

Fishers, after a three-game win streak, now is coming off back to back defeats to Lawrence Central 73-63 and Lawrence North 61-56.

The Tigers have blown hot and cold this season and will travel to Westfield with a 9-8 record. But, they've been unbeatable in the conference.

Although far from Leonard's mind at this point will be a difficult Saturday game at Anderson. Although they no longer have the famed Wigwam as their home court, the Indians are tough to beat at Anderson.

Anderson is 4-13. After winning two in a row over Huntington North 61-59 and Hamilton Southeastern 59-55, Anderson has dropped its last three to Harrison 65-63, Brebeuf 72-67 and Lafayette Jeff 78-75 in two overtime.

Westfield, 2-12 on the year, will move on Saturday to what will be a tough challenge at Hamilton Heights. The Huskies are 12-7 entering tonight's game at Maconaquah.

It will be a challenging week for the Shamrocks.

"Fishers comes in leading the conference and is obviously very good," said Westfield coach Eric Rauch. "They are talented, athletic and well coach. I look forward to a war tonight.

"Saturday night we will have to find a way to match the athleticism of Grant Weatherford, Hunter Crist and company. The Huskies are very good.

"Should be a great weekend for the Rocks," Rauch added.

Hamilton Heights has won three straight over Sheridan, Tipton and Taylor.

"The Hamilton Heights game with Westfield is a big Hamilton County game," said Heights coach Chad Ballenger. "It is our last home game of the year. It will be a very tough game for us. It is always hard to bounce back from a big MIC game. Westfield's schedule is extremely difficult. The amount of talent they face night in and night out is just crazy. So, their record does not mean much to me.

"Westfield is always one of the better teams on our schedule.

"We already celebrated senior night, but this will be our last home game with these seniors. So I hope that fuels the fire for the seniors.

"We will again play without Garrett Paull and Sterling Weatherford. Hopefully, we will get them back in another or two, before the tourney," Ballenger added.

Of course, the road trip to Maconaquah is the most important game this weekend for the Huskies as they fight for a conference crown.

"It's a must win in the MIC for us," Ballenger agreed. "Maconaquah is young.. But playing hard. They have a 6-8 sophomore in Wyatt Hughes who is playing pretty solid. We must keep him off the board. They are also isolating him, so we must be able to defend him off the dribble. Their point guard is a 5-9 freshman, Chandler Pitts. We need to get after him and get some pressure on him. He is solid, but we need to turn him over.

"They seem to always have bigs at Maconaquah. We can't win if we don't own the paint. We must get after them in the full court and speed them out. If we let them play half court and dictate the game, they will throw it into the post all night long," Ballenger added.

Hot Royals being tough road home...

Warsaw comes in Saturday

By DON JELLISON
Reporter Editor

It would be quite a challenge for Hamilton Southeastern to finish the regular season with a winning record. In order to do that, HSE, which currently is 7-11, would need to win out. Winning out means victories over Warsaw, Carmel, Pike, Brownsburg and Lawrence North.

Quite a challenge for any team.

But, if the Royals can continue the type of consistent good play as they've shown of late, Southeastern, as usual, will figure to be in the mix for the Carmel Sectional championship.

Coach Brian Satterfield's club is on a three-game win string, beating Mt. Vernon, Noblesville and Columbus North. Next up, this Saturday at home, will be Warsaw.

"Our team keeps moving in the right direction," Satterfield said. "However, we will get challenged the rest of the month by quality opponents."

The final run will begin against a Warsaw team which is 13-3 and has lost only to Homestead by two points, Fort Wayne Snider by eight and Fort Wayne Northrop by seven.

The Tigers will host Elkhart Memorial tonight before the Saturday trip to Southeastern.

"Our next game is against a very good Warsaw team," Satterfield said. "They are very disciplined at both ends of the floor. They make you earn your points and make good decisions at the offensive end of the floor."

"It will be neat to coach against Doug Ogle (188-97 in his 13th season)," Satterfield continued. "His nephew, Mark, played for us a few years back."

Southeastern, of late, has rolled on the firepower of sophomore Zach Gunn, who is averaging a double-double with 18 points and 10.7 rebounds a game.

Chris Ford is scoring at a 9.6 clip and Greg Miller at 8.1 points a game.

"We hope to be at full strength soon," said Satterfield. "Brennan Schofield is back practicing and we will see how things go as we move forward."

"The game against Columbus North was an emotional one. We tried to help out the best we could for the coaches and players as they were trying to weather the storm through some tough times. The players handled things really well and found a way to play a good game on top of the main focus of the evening."

A defensive nightmare for opponents...

University on 5-game string

By DON JELLISON
Reporter Editor

At one time it was a terrific 1-2 punch with Tyler Diehl averaging 21.8 points a game and Connor Holly scoring at a 19.3 clip. Then last weekend Mikhail Liston returned from a season-long injury He's averaging 14.7 points.

It's a defensive nightmare which University High School offers its opponents.

Last weekend, with Liston playing, the Trailblazers defeated Traders Point 83-56 and Anderson Prep 99-53.

Tonight, Coach Brandon Lafferman's club will visit International, a team University could face in Sectional 58.

International is 8-10. Last time out, a night before University played Anderson Prep, the Gryphons defeated Anderson Prep 90-69.

University is 11-6 and riding a five-game win string.

"International has made big strides as a program the past couple of seasons," said Lafferman. "We haven't faced them since 2010. I expect them to be a very tough game, especially at their place."

International's Alex Skyler scored 57 points in the win over Anderson Prep.

"He definitely showed he is one of the better players in the state," said Lafferman.

"I am really happy with how we have played during our five-game win streak," said the coach. "Our defense has improved since the start of the season."

"Offensively, the ball movement has been fantastic in our last few games. Holly, Diehl and Liston are playing well together."

Tough regular-season finale for Noblesville...

Millers overrun by Lawrence North

Star of the Game: Erin Wood scored eight points and had eight rebounds.
Noblesville Record: Won 19, Lost 3.
Next Up: The Millers play Carmel on Tuesday in the Southeastern Sectional.

By RICHIE HALL
Reporter Sports Editor

It wasn't the easiest regular-season final week for the Noblesville girls basketball team. But, that was by design.

The Millers faced their second team ranked in the top four of the Indiana coaches' poll on Thursday when No. 4 Lawrence North came to The Mill. The Wildkats beat Noblesville 61-40 to hand the No. 6 Millers their second straight loss, this after NHS fell to No. 3 Heritage Christian on Tuesday.

Noblesville enters the Hamilton Southeastern sectional with a 19-3 record, still its best mark since 2001-02, when the Millers had 18 wins.

Lawrence North was too much for Noblesville on Thursday, though. An 18-8 first-quarter lead became a 35-18 halftime advantage for the Wildkats. This was despite Katelyn O'Reilly's six first-period points.

"They rushed us offensively, which is what we like to do to people and kind of definitely had that come back at us tonight," said NHS coach Donna Keck, who admitted her team "didn't handle it very well."

"But they're an outstanding basketball team," the coach said about Lawrence North, which has three players heading to Big Ten teams on full-ride scholarships.

The Millers were trying to hang around in the third quarter, and were down by a reasonable 45-29 with 1:42 left in the period - plenty of time to come back. Becca Bergman scored five points in the third.

But LN wouldn't have that, scoring nine straight points to take a 54-29 lead early in the fourth quarter. The Millers made one last push with a 6-0 run to cut the Wildcat lead to 54-35, and LN responded with a 3-point play and a 3-point basket to push its lead back up to 60-35.

O'Reilly scored 12 points for Noblesville, while Erin Wood had a good game, scoring eight points and grabbing eight rebounds. Bergman handed out six assists.

A look at the North Montgomery regional

By RICHIE HALL
Reporter Sports Editor

It's off to Linden this weekend for the wrestlers who qualified out of the Zionsville sectional.

Linden is the town where North Montgomery is located, and the Chargers will host the wrestling regional. The five Hamilton County teams (Carmel, Fishers, Hamilton Southeastern, Sheridan and Westfield) that will participate in the regional will get a chance to see the best that west-central Indiana has to offer, and usually it's pretty good.

The Zionsville sectional is always tough, and usually the athletes that get out have a good chance at winning the one match needed to guarantee a top four finish and a place at the New Castle semi-state. But the Crawfordsville sectional, the other site that feeds into the regional, has gotten better over the years, and provides even more tough competition. Everyone will be good.

Here's a look at each weight class:

106 pounds
Klayton Anderson (Hamilton Southeastern), freshman, 32-1 vs. Luke Gill (Turkey Run), sophomore, 30-6
Colton Mennen (Clinton Central), junior, 38-4 vs. Corwyn Hall (North Montgomery), sophomore, 27-13
Alexander Strueder (Fishers), freshman, 32-7 vs. Mitchell Rogers (Crawfordsville), freshman, 28-10
Ethan Greene (Lebanon), sophomore, 24-9 vs. Alex Grino (Southmont), junior, 32-5
Breakdown: The one-loss Anderson is ranked first in the My House New Castle semi-state rankings, and second in the My House state rankings, which makes him a favorite here.

Hamilton Southeastern's Klayton Anderson is ranked second in the state at 106 pounds.

Semi-state No. 7 Strueder could face Grino, 24-10 vs. Adam Jerde (Carmel), sophomore, 17-9
Harley Steele (Seeger), sophomore, 31-9 vs. Azariah Ellis (Zionsville), sophomore, 31-8
Corbin Haas (Attica), junior, 24-7 vs. Austin Holmes (Hamilton Southeastern), junior, 35-3

Breakdown: A loaded weight class at the Zionsville sectional, with semi-state No. 1 Holmes, No. 6 Ellis, No. 8 Jerde and No. 9 Hutson all making it to the regionals. Just be thankful the draw is arranged so that none of them wrestle each other in the first round. Holmes is also rated seventh in the state.

120 pounds
Caleb Bocock (Lebanon), junior, 34-2, vs. Rodney Hendricks (South Vermillion), freshman, 20-13
Sam Gobeyn (Zionsville), freshman, 20-20 vs. Skylar Crum (Crawfordsville), freshman, 25-5
Jack Eiteljorge (Carmel), freshman, 18-10 vs. Tanner Henry (Attica), junior, 29-3
Caleb Wright (Fishers), junior, 31-11 vs. Zach McCoy (North Montgomery), senior, 33-5
Breakdown: Bocock is semi-state No. 3, McCoy No. 4 and Eiteljorge No. 6. Wright will be well-prepared for McCoy thanks to the Tigers' tough schedule. In the state rankings, McCoy is No. 12 and Bocock 13th.

126 pounds
Boone Welliever (Southmont), sophomore, 34-2 vs. Kody Wagoner (Zionsville), freshman, 28-9
Jonah Shillings (Crawfordsville), sophomore, 21-9 vs. Zachary Steele (Westfield), junior, 26-13
Hunter Eads (Attica), junior, 23-2 vs. Morgan Pruitt (Carmel), senior, 21-6
Noah Navarre (Covington), junior, 21-13 vs. Skyler Collins (Frankfort), junior, 37-3
Breakdown: Welliever is ranked at No. 7 in the semi-state (and 14th in the state), but there are no easy matches in this weight class: Everyone has at least 21 wins. Collins is semi-state No. 9 at 132 pounds, so he makes 126 even tougher.

132 pounds
Jack Chastain (Hamilton Southeastern), senior, 35-3 vs. Cade Groves (North Montgomery), freshman, 22-19
Noah Scott (Fishers), junior, 23-18 vs. Cameron Douglas (Crawfordsville), junior, 24-14
Evan Eldred (Westfield), junior, 29-6 vs. Kyle McManus (Southmont), junior, 19-12
Cole Wilson (Zionsville), junior, 15-20 vs. Hayden Estes (Attica), sophomore, 26-4
Breakdown: Chastain is semi-state No. 2 and Eldred No. 3, and both get decent Montgomery County wrestlers in the first round. So does Scott, a potential Mudsock match-up for Chastain in the semi-finals. In the state rankings, Chastain is fifth and Eldred sixth.

138 pounds
Connor Moore (Southmont), junior, 32-5 vs. Brenden Montgomery (Lebanon), sophomore, 9-5
Cody Parker (Attica), senior, 27-5 vs. Sam Kern (Zionsville), senior, 12-10
Alex Haddock (Fountain Central), senior, 30-5 v. Jerrod Smith (Carmel), junior, 19-9
Tyler Bilyeu (Crawfordsville), junior, 26-8 vs. Keegan Stansberry (Hamilton Southeastern), senior, 31-0
Breakdown: Undefeated Stansberry (semi-state No. 3, state No. 6), gets a 26-win junior in his first match. Kern, rated seventh in the semi-state, looms in the top half of the draw.

145 pounds
Mason Gaines (Fishers), senior, 32-4 vs. Danny Brewer (Covington), sophomore, 19-14
Adam Dombrowski (Hamilton Southeastern), senior, 15-15 vs. Wayne Highfield (Southmont), senior, 29-3
Matt Kern (Zionsville), senior, 26-11 vs. Alex McMahan (Seeger), sophomore, 32-12
Justin Miller (Westfield), sophomore, 9-12 vs. Collin Strange (Fountain Central), senior, 26-5
