Great place to live....

Hamilton County is healthy

By RICHIE HALL
If you see healthy people around Hamilton County, it's no coincidence: There are numbers to back it up.
Hamilton County was named the healthiest county in Indiana by the 2015 County Health Rankings, which were released on Thursday. The rankings, a collaboration between the Robert Wood Johnson Foundation (RWJF) and the University of Wisconsin Population Health Institute, the Rankings allow each state to see how its counties compare on 30 factors that impact health, including education, transportation, housing, violent crime, jobs, diet and exercise. The Rankings are available at www.countyhealthrankings.org.
Hamilton ranks first in both health outcomes and health factors. The outcomes are divided into two subcategories:

Premature death, in which the county is ranked first, and quality of life, where Hamilton is second.
The county also was first in three of the four "health factors" subdivisions. Health behaviors, clinical care and social and economic factors. The health behaviors ranking was aided by the fact that Hamilton County has the least percentage of adult smokers in Indiana (12 percent) and was tied with Monroe County for least amount of obese adults (23 percent). One bad statistic, however, was that 36 percent of driving deaths were alcohol-impaired, putting the county tied for 81st (with Lake County) out of 92.
The clinical care marks were high, thanks to the county's 10 percent uninsured rate, and Hamilton's being ahead of the state average in diabetic monitoring and mammography screening. The social and economic factors included a 93 percent high school graduation rate, low unemployment of 5.3 percent, and a high availability of social associations: The rate of 9.8 is 11th in the state.

Hamilton County ranked 31st in physical environment. That was affected by the rate of people who drive alone to work (85 percent), with 43 percent driving alone in a long commute (more than 30 minutes).
Nationally, the ranking show that premature deaths are dropping, with 60 percent of the nation's counties seeing declines. For instance, in the District of Columbia premature death rates have plummeted by nearly one-third based on data from 2004-2006 and 2010-2012. This marks the highest drop in the country for counties with populations of

Mayor, council relationship hot topic at Carmel debate

By FRED SWIFT
Cooperation between the mayor and members of the city council was the big issue in a candidate forum Wednesday night at Carmel. Sixteen Republican candidates in the May 5 primary faced off in the League of Women Voters public appearance at City Hall.
A crowd of about 60 citizens heard the candidates debate and occasionally clash over questions of city debt, second class city status, transparency in government, funding of street resurfacing, bike paths and roundabouts.
But, beneath the surface was an obvious split between two factions; those who generally support Mayor Jim Brainard's plans and policies for the city and those who often do not. And, the amount of city debt, generally accepted to be in the hundreds of millions, is the main point of contention.
City council incumbents Ron Carter, Sue Finkam, Kevin Rider and candidates Bruce Kimball and Jeff Worrell maintained the current debt is acceptable and manageable while incumbents Luci Snyder and Eric Seidensticker and candidates Ron Houck and John Acceturo expressed doubts and a need for caution.
Brainard claimed the debt is not excessive and takes only 15 percent of city revenue to finance. His challenger for the city's top job, Rick Sharp, claims the debt has already forced one re-financing and should be carefully managed.

Another major disagreement between factions exists over whether Carmel should move to second class city status. Under Indiana law cities of more than 35,000 population may be classified as second class. Carmel with 85,000 remains a third class city after the city council rejected a proposal to move up.
As a second class city, Brainard would appoint a comptroller to take over the treasurer duties from the current clerk-treasurer Diana Cordray. The council has made clear that they want Firefighters battled a blaze that started at Bolden's Dry Cleaners in Noblesville Thursday afternoon. No one was injured in the fire, but damage is estimated at $200,000.

Fire damages Bolden's Dry Cleaners

No one was injured, but the damage was substantial at Bolden's Dry Cleaners Thursday afternoon after a fire broke out in the building.
The Noblesville Fire Department was dispatched to Bolden's, located at 151 N. 8th St., at approximately 3:31 p.m. for a possible fire. At 3:35 p.m., the first arriving units on-scene stated they had heavy smoke and flames coming from the east side of the business.
Arriving units immediately marked this a working incident. At 3:36 p.m. it was benchmarked as having water on the fire and was marked under control at 3:48 p.m.
Bolden's was open for business at the time of the fire. Two employees and one customer were in the building when the fire occurred. The customer first noticed the fire and immediately informed the two employees in the store of the fire. The customer attempted to extinguish the fire with an extinguisher but was unsuccessful due to the intensity of smoke and heat conditions in the business. All occupants were able to safely evacuate the business and call 911. All occupants were medically checked out on-scene by Noblesville Fire Department medical personnel. One employee was transported to Riverview Hospital for further evaluation with non-life threatening injuries.

Upon interviewing the two employees and one customer, all stated they noticed the fire above a clothing carousel at the ceiling level. The estimated damage to the building has been estimated at $200,000. This incident has been mitigated and all units departed the scene.
The Noblesville Fire Department would like to remind everyone in case of a fire to please exit the structure and call 911 from a safe meeting place.

Easter Egg hunt Saturday at Forest Park

By RICHIE HALL
It will be chilly Saturday morning, but there's still fun to be had in Forest Park.
The Noblesville Parks Department and Hare Chevrolet will host the annual Easter Egg Hunt that morning, at Shelters 3 and 5 at the park. The event is free, and anyone is welcome to participate: Just show up and enjoy the fun (dressed warmly, of course).
There will be four different areas for children hunting eggs, all determined by age. The areas will be for ages 1-2, 3-4, 5-6 and 7-10. Erin Hinshaw-Portman, administrative assistant for Noblesville Parks, said any youngster that collects the right egg will receive an age-appropriate prize.

The hunt itself begins at 11 a.m., but there will be activities all morning. The Noblesville Sunrisers Kiwanis host a pancake breakfast from 8 to 10:30 a.m., with pancakes, sausage, juice, coffee and milk available. The breakfast costs $5, "all of the proceeds from that go to a children's charity," said Hinshaw-Portman.
The hunt activities begin at 10 a.m. Hinshaw-Portman said there will be a bounce house, including "one of the big obstacle course bounce houses," plus a DJ will provide music. The Easter Bunny will also be in attendance, so kids can get their pictures taken with him.
"Plus the playground and just all kinds of stuff to do down there," said Hinshaw-Portman.

Westfield Parks Department, Playhouse team up to tell Underground Railroad tale

Westfield’s Parks Department has received $3,000 from Hamilton County Tourism to assist with the creation of a musical production for Indiana’s bicentennial next year.

The parks department is partnering with the Westfield Playhouse to produce a musical focusing on Follow the Drinkin’ Gourd, a song first published in 1928 that tells the story of the Underground Railroad.

“The Westfield Playhouse and the parks department believe that the musical will be a meaningful production that touches on Westfield’s involvement with the Underground Railroad,” said Melody Jones, parks department director.

“We are hiring a playwright who will create the script for the musical, as well as the adaptation of the musical score,” Jones said. Some of the money will also be used for staging/costumes.

John Sampson with Westfield Playhouse will be in charge of recruiting actors and singers, and managing the overall production of the show.

Follow the Drinkin’ Gourd will likely take place in June of next year. Plans call for it to be a ticketed event, which will likely be held outdoors in Asa Bales Park.

Barley Island to host benefit for Tourette Syndrome Camp

Barley Island Brewing Company, 639 Conner Street in Noblesville, will host a night to raise awareness and education for Tourette Syndrome and Coprolalia at 8 p.m. Saturday, April 25.

The evening will feature live music by Zach Craft, Toni Marshall, and Jordan White as well as an eclectic DJ set by Jeter Smithee.

Attendees can also browse and bid at a silent auction. All proceeds will be donated to the Tourette Syndrome Camp Organization, www.tourettecamp.com.

For more info, call 317-213-6176.

CARMEL

the clerk-treasurer to remain the fiscal officer despite Brainard's offer to allow the council to approve of his selection for comptroller.

The mayor and his supporters feel a financial expert should have the fiscal duties and clerk-treasurer candidate Christine Pauley agrees. Incumbent Cordray does not, and points to 19 years experience and various awards for auditing excellence as sufficient reason to keep the present system.

Sharp and Brainard clashed over matters of transparency in government decision-making with Sharp saying a need exists for more openness while Brainard said his administration meets all public access laws and in some cases goes beyond mandated notices and postings.

On one issue nearly all the candidates tended to agree. Roundabouts, for which Carmel has become widely known, are here to stay and should continue to be built. But, the mayoral candidates disagreed on how to improve the clogged intersection of Keystone Parkway and 96th Street.

Brainard is planning a grade separated interchange while Sharp said technology exists to utilize better signals thus saving a multi-million dollar fix.

The two and a half hour forum ended with sometimes sharp closing statements which highlighted the differing positions between Brainard and Sharp and their supporters. The Carmel election will essentially be decided in the May 5 GOP primary since no Democrats have filed or are expected to compete.

HEALTHY

65,000 or more. But for many counties these rates are not improving - forty percent of counties are not making progress in reducing premature deaths.

This year's Rankings show that almost one out of four children in the U.S. lives in poverty. Child poverty rates are more than twice as high in the unhealthiest counties in each state than in the healthiest counties. The report also looks at distribution in income and the links between income levels and health.

Beyond poverty and income inequality, the 2015 County Health Rankings Key Findings Report highlights two other key social and economic factors that drive health: violent crime and employment. These findings show that:

Violent Crime Rates are Highest in the South: Violent crime rates, which affect health, well-being, and stress levels, are highest in the Southwest, Southeast, and Mississippi Delta regions.

Having a Job Influences Health: Unemployment rates are 1.5 times higher in the least healthy counties in each state as they are in the healthiest counties. During the recession, counties in the West, Southeast, and rust belt region of the U.S. were hit hardest by growing unemployment. Many, but not all, of these counties have seen their unemployment rates drop since the recession ended in 2010.

This year's Rankings data also shines a light on the characteristics of healthy and unhealthy counties. The healthiest counties in each state have higher college attendance, fewer preventable hospital stays, and better access to parks and gyms. The least healthy counties in each state have more smokers, more teen births, and more alcohol related car crashes.

"Retired... Let's try Rewired Instead!"

By SHARON MCMAHON

Retire - withdraw from one's position or occupation: having concluded one's working or professional career.

Rewire - To provide with new wiring: rewired the old house.

I just love the "rewire" definition (Merriam-Webster online version) "rewired the old house" - I had to laugh when I read that one! While I love the "Rewire" definition, not so much the "Retire" - at least not the word concluded! Okay, that is the first thought that many people have when contemplating the retirement issue for themselves or regarding others. As I recently realized that it has been an entire year since I "retired" I was amazed at how quickly the time has passed. In large part I believe that is because I made the decision to "rewire" in my so-called retirement. Frankly, I loved my career of over 35 years in non-profit organization management, but there is a time that comes for most of us when we yearn to spend more time on other pursuits and adventures. Change can provide personal growth, more energy, and a life-zest that is very healthy and rewarding.

Have you noticed how many print, online, and media reports there are on the subject of "retirement" - maybe it is due in large part to us "baby boomers" reaching the sixties? I find it interesting how the term "60's" has played such an important term in my age group. We literally came of age in the 1960's and we are once again coming of age in our own 60's! As a young adult finishing school, raising children, embarking on a long career, and making a way in the world, I could not imagine what I would be doing at the age of 65. Finding that out has been fun and sometimes even exhausting - in a good way!

My professional career and training associated with my career has paved the way for me to spend time consulting with non-profit groups in their strategic planning goals, an activity which I thoroughly enjoy. Additionally, in years past I obtained my credentials to teach fitness classes but had little time to actually teach. Upon retirement I have also added my credentials in nutrition coaching and am now able to both teach fitness classes and provide information and help to those who wish to lose weight and become healthier. I feel very blessed and excited to use both my career skills and my interest in fitness in these endeavors.

What talents, interests, and activities have you wished to pursue leading up to your "retirement" - whether you are leaving the corporate world, have owned your own business, taught school, worked in a factory, etc. the sky is the limit for you to take a deep breath and change it up! Change can be scary, even the best kind of change. However, did you know that you will actually "fire up" those neurons and quite possibly live longer, and better, when you incorporate positive change in your life? Whether you pursue new interests in the area of business, spend more time volunteering, join a book club, take art classes, ballroom dance, or learn to play the piano, your brain and body will benefit from these new endeavors.

Today's "retirement" is not our grandparents' retirement, thankfully. We have more opportunities, better health, and more inclination to stay fit and active, give back to our communities and families, and broaden our talents and experiences. Staying fit by continuing to move as well as improving your eating habits will give you the motivation and the necessary fuel to engage in rewarding activities and maintain youthful vitality. Go for it!

Fire at Bolden’s Dry Cleaners

Noblesville firefighters responded quickly to a Thursday afternoon fire at Bolden’s Dry Cleaners in downtown Noblesville. Crews arrived at 3:35 p.m., and had the fire under control by 3:48 p.m. There were no injuries, but the fire caused an estimated $200,000 in damage.

Lilly Foundation donates $250,000 to expand Community Health Network’s Zero Suicides prevention initiative

Community Health Network Foundation has received a $250,000 donation from the Eli Lilly and Company Foundation that provides funding needed to expand Community Health Network’s Zero Suicides initiative. The investment will be used to save Hoosier lives through early intervention and prevention, the construction of a robust Central Indiana crisis network and the utilization of innovative mental health diagnostics and treatment protocols.

This donation allows Community Behavioral Health physicians and leaders to continue implementing a bold plan launched in October 2014 to reduce the number of suicide attempts and deaths among Indiana’s youth and adults. Throughout the state, more than twice as many Hoosiers die from suicide than homicide, and suicide is the second leading cause of death among 15-34 year olds and the third leading cause of death among 10-14 year olds.

Community’s Zero Suicides strategy brings crisis, telepsychiatry and intensive care coordination services to more than 600 primary care physicians, 11 emergency departments and 13 hospitals located throughout the state. These locations are a mix of Community facilities and other healthcare providers where Community provides behavioral health services, and they are all connected with 24-hour access to Community Behavioral Health Crisis Center and Hospital, Indiana’s largest and most robust acute hospital exclusively providing inpatient behavioral health services.

The Lilly Foundation donation also provides resources needed to build a Central Indiana crisis network that will include Indiana’s schools, foster care system, juvenile justice program, primary and specialty healthcare providers, policy makers and suicide survivors. These partners will be trained to identify people at risk of attempting suicide, provide timely intervention and quickly connect them with Community’s crisis providers. Indiana’s state government is a key partner in building the statewide crisis network.

Community is Indiana’s most comprehensive provider of youth behavioral health services, and announced in 2014 its commitment to becoming the first health care system in the United States to fully implement the Zero Suicides model, developed by the National Action Alliance for Suicide Prevention and other partners.

Community’s Zero Suicides initiative is solely funded by individual donations and grants received from the Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration (SAMHSA), The Glick Fund, a fund of Central Indiana Community Foundation, and now the Eli Lilly and Company Foundation. With this announcement, support for the suicide prevention initiative totals $4,029,084.

“The Lilly Foundation is pleased to support this critically important work,” said Dr. Ora H. Pescovitz, US Medical Leader for Eli Lilly and Company. “We have far too many Hoosiers—including too many of our children and adolescents—who attempt or commit suicide. It is incumbent upon all of us to do what we can to prevent these terrible tragedies. We believe that Community, as our state’s leader in behavioral health, can make a profound difference for the better.”

“With this generous support from the Lilly Foundation, we can provide the training and resources needed to save the lives of our state’s citizens,” said Suzanne Clifford, executive vice president of behavioral health at Community. “Zero suicides is a bold goal, but no other goal is acceptable. With this funding, we will be able to radically expand our ability to provide early intervention, prevention and treatment that will save thousands of lives.”

Those concerned about someone who is contemplating suicide can call Community Health Network’s crisis hotline at 800-662-3445.

The JCPenney store at Noblesville's Hamilton Town Center is one of four Indianapolis-area stores that were honored as one of the company's top performing stores with the Founder's Award at a special leadership conference in Dallas on March 25.

The Founder's Award is the Company's highest distinction for leadership excellence, recognizing top performers from across the Company. At this year's ceremony, only 104 of approximately 1,060 stores, six out of 52 districts and four out of 14 supply chain facilities received the award.

Jason Friedenson is the Noblesville JCPenney store manager.

"Our Founder's Award recipients have shown a true passion for winning with our customers in 2014, striving for excellence and innovation in everything they do," said Myron E. (Mike) Ullman, III, chief executive officer.

The Founder's Award is presented to teams that truly excel in the areas of financial performance, customer and client service, and business expertise.

Other area stores that received the Founder's Award are in Indianapolis, Plainfield and Greenwood.

Defending champs are ready

See Champs...Page 9

Seeing double is one thing, but this spring the Hoosier Crossroads Conference will be asking their baseball fans to “see triple.” Instead of back-to-back conference games as played in past season, this season HCC teams will play three-game series. Back-to-back-to-back.

Non-conference games will be few and far between during the season.

Noblesville’s first taste of the new scheduling will be April 7-9-10 when the Millers hook up with Fishers.

The first game will be April 7 at Fishers. Noblesville will host the Tigers at The Dunk on April 9. On April 10 the two teams will meet a second time at Fishers.

All games will count in the conference standings.

Westfield opens Tuesday

By DON JELLISON
Reporter Editor

When Westfield begins its 2015 diamond season on Tuesday at sectional rival Carmel, Shamrock fans will see a mixture of returning veterans and newcomers.

“This year’s club will feature some familiar faces, but many new ones as nine seniors graduated,” said head coach Ryan Bunnell.

That Westfield team was ranked No. 1 in the state for two weeks and finished fourth in the tough Hoosier Crossroads Conference.

Returning players include outfielder Chris Ayers, catcher Bailey Partlow, outfielder/infielder Nick Rhodes and pitcher/infielder Jacob Robinson. Ayers has committed to play college baseball at Indiana State and Beam at Purdue.

In experience, Westfield is strong behind the plate with four-year starter Partlow and strong in the outfield with the return of Ayers, Beam and Rhodes.

“The infield will have to be rebuilt completely,” said Bunnell, “fielding a new starter in every position.”

The Shamrocks’ pitching staff has depth and talent, returning 101 innings on the mound from last year’s club Ayers was 3-0 with a 1.31 ERA; Max McCool 3-3 with a 2.92; Robinson 4-2 with a 2.38 and Julian Lytle with a 0-1 and 1.00 ERA.

Bunnell has projected a starting lineup of Beam, Ayers and Rhodes in the outfield; sophomore newcomer Brian Skelton at first; senior Caleb Graff or junior Logan Schneider at second; newcomer junior Harrison Freed at third; newcomer junior Ryan Pepiot at short and Partlow behind the plate.

Schneider, McColl, Robinson or Dustin Taylor will be the DH. Bunnell hasn’t named an opening day pitcher, but who that hurler is will change other spots in the lineup when Ayers, Beam and Rhodes are on the mound.

“Players will have to handle pressure well,” said Bunnell. “New players will have to step into their roles; seniors will have to provide great leadership and, most importantly, everyone will have to persevere through adversity and pull on the same end of the rope.”

Westfield Roster Varsity

Blackhawks flying high...

Sheridan opens big, 13-2

Coach Joe Grant’s Sheridan Lady Blackhawks opened their 2015 softball season smoking with a 13-2 victory over Heritage Christian.

Sheridan scored 11 times in the first two innings in a game called after five innings.

“I thought we played well tonight for it being our first game and it being a bit cool outside,” said Grant.

Payton Buckner had three singles and scored two runs. Senior Abby Gwin had two singles and senior Shannon Padgett unloaded three hits and knocked home two runs.

“We had some young players step up as well,” Grant said.

Freshmen Cassie Vargas and Audrey Reed each had two hits and Reed drove home three runs.

Padgett also pitched and gave up only three hits while striking out nine.

“We played together and did not make too many mistakes,” Grant continued. “Our girls had fun and it was just nice to be outside and putting it all together.”

“If we can continue to play mistake free ball and continue to gel as a team we may have a pretty good year,” Grant added.

IBCA announces All-State boys teams

Fifteen seniors and 15 underclass boys basketball players have earned IBCA/Subway "Supreme 15" All-State honors for 2014-15, it was announced Thursday (March 26).

In a new level of awards, the IBCA also named 30 Large School All-State players (15 seniors, 15 underclass) and 30 Small School All-State players (15 seniors, 15 underclass).

The "Supreme 15" is the top honor awarded, and players were voted to that group without regard to school size. The Large School and Small School all-state teams are secondary accolades -- the Large School group including players from Class 3A and Class 4A schools and the Small School group including players from Class A and Class 2A schools. P layers who make the Supreme 15 are not considered for Large School or Small School honors.

In addition, 78 more seniors and 77 more underclass players were selected honorable mention all-state. The honorable mention laurels are awarded without regard to school size.

Those voted to the IBCA/Subway Supreme 15 Senior boys' team are: Pat Bacon of Lawrence North, Harris Brown of Indianapolis Howe, Devin Cannady of Mishawaka Marian, Ryan Cline of Carmel, Hyron Edwards of East Chicago Central, Drew Hackett of Munster, Sean McDermott of Pendleton Heights, Joel Okafor of Richmond, Chris Palombizio of Chesterton, Josh Speidel of Columbus North, Caleb Swanigan of Homestead, K.J. Walton of Brownsburg, Chandler White of Carroll (Fort Wayne) and Jaelan Sanford and Alex Stein of Evansville Reitz.

Those voted to the IBCA/Subway Supreme 15 Underclass boys' team are: Tucker Blackwell of Bloomington South, Nai Carlisle of West Lafayette, Parker Chitty of Columbus East, Eron Gordon of Cathedral, Zach Gunn of Hamilton Southeastern, Kyle Guy of Lawrence Central, Damien Jefferson of East Chicago Central, Romeo Langford of New Albany, Reontre Lawrence of South Bend Riley, Kyle Mallers of Carroll (Fort Wayne), Dru Smith of Evansville Reitz, C.J. Walker of Indianapolis Tech, Kris Wilkes of North Central and Joey Brunk and Paul Scruggs of Southport.

The IBCA/Subway All-State teams are selected through a process organized by the Indiana Basketball Coaches Association and presented by Subway Restaurants of Indiana.

All IBCA-member head coaches have the opportunity to nominate top players from schools in the traditional regional structure of the non-class tournament format. Representatives from each of those 16 regional areas, plus six district representatives (two each from IHSAA Districts 1, 2 and 3), then meet to review those nominations, vote and finalize the selections.

Subway Restaurants of Indiana once again is making a financial contribution to the IBCA Scholarship Fund as the presenting partner of the IBCA all-state teams. As part of the partnership, Subway also will provide plaques to Supreme 15 honorees and certificates to players receiving Large School All-State, Small School All-State or honorable mention all-state recognition. Those items will be available to each recipient's coach at the annual IBCA Clinic in April, allowing her coach to present the award to each player.

The IBCA thanks Subway Restaurants for being a partner in this annual project.

Bucks hold off Pacers, 111-107

By DARREN THOMAS
Courtesy nba.com/pacers
The Indiana Pacers (31-41) lost a critical game against Milwaukee (36-36) on Thursday night at the BMO Harris Bradley Center, 111-107. George Hill had a shot to play hero for the second night in a row, but his game-tying 3-point attempt from the left wing rattled out and Milwaukee grabbed the rebound to seal the game. With the win, the Bucks extended their advantage over the Pacers to five games in the Eastern Conference playoff race.

Playing for the second consecutive night, the Pacers came out flat on both ends of the court. They quickly found themselves with an early 23 points deficit they were never quite able to overcome. The Bucks, meanwhile, shot an impressive 74 percent from the field in the first quarter, led by Ersan Ilyasova who connected on 7-of-8 first quarter shots.
Indiana battled back in the second quarter to cut the Milwaukee lead down to seven after a flurry of three-pointers from C.J. Miles. The Bucks quickly rallied back to take a 12-point lead into the halftime intermission.
David West suffered an allergic reaction before the game which caused him to miss action for the first time since he returned from an ankle injury in late November. In place of West, Luis Scola got the start at the power forward position, contributing 15 points and a game-high nine rebounds.

The Pacers made it interesting in the final quarter, outscoring Milwaukee 33-26. George Hill came alive in the final period, notching 15 of his 24 points in the fourth, including a 3-pointer that pulled the Pacers within two points with six minutes remaining. Milwaukee would stretch the lead, but Indiana stayed within single-digits for the rest of the game and would find themselves down by just three with 11.6 seconds remaining. That's when George Hill made his ill-fated 3-point attempt with 1.9 seconds left, the shot just missing.
Milwaukee never trailed in Thursday night's contest as they shot 53 percent from the field while Indiana shot 42 percent. The Pacers owned the battle on the boards 42-30, but that advantage was essentially negated by their 23 turnovers.
Indiana had a strong advantage from the free throw line, capitalizing on getting into the penalty early throughout the night. The Pacers went 33-of-43 from the charity stripe but their defensive effort was not up to their Blue Collar standards.
Ilyasova scored a career-high 34 points to lead Milwaukee, scoring from inside and outside. Each of the five starters for the Bucks reached double figures in the scoring column.
Miles was the key offensive weapon throughout the night for the Pacers as he led the team with 26 points on only 14 shot attempts. C.J. Watson was effective off the bench in the absence of Rodney Stuckey (sore left calf). Watson finished with seven rebounds and seven assists to go along with his 23 points.
This was the final game between the two Central Division rivals this season. They split the four-game series.
