Census estimates released...

Three county cities among fastest growers

Press Release

Three of Indiana's largest cities -- Indianapolis, Fort Wayne and South Bend -- again saw comparatively strong population gains in 2014, while suburban communities in Central Indiana continued to be the state's pacesetters in terms of the rate of growth, according to estimates released by the U.S. Census Bureau and analyzed by the Indiana Business Research Center at Indiana University's Kelley School of Business.

Indianapolis had the state's largest numeric gain with 5,479 new residents in 2014. This number was below the nearly 9,000 residents added in 2013 but remains well above the average annual increase of roughly 3,800 a year from 2000 to 2010. Looking over the past four years, Indianapolis has grown by an average of 6,854 residents per year.

Despite this relatively strong growth, Indianapolis was passed by Jacksonville, Fla., and San Francisco on the list of the nation's largest cities in 2014. Indianapolis now ranks as the 14th most populous city in the U.S. with 858,325 residents.

Fort Wayne remains Indiana's second-largest city with a population of 258,522 in 2014. After adding nearly 2,000 new residents in 2013, this city grew by another 1,658 people last year. To put these numbers in perspective, Fort

They will be joining the other 23 statewide Extension choruses on stage under the state organization's name, "Melody Makers of Indiana Association". Over 400 women will come together to sing that night celebrating 10 years under the guidance of the MMIA. Tickets are available at the door for $7.

Twenty-six women from Sheridan, Cicero, Westfield, Carmel, Fishers and Noblesville make up the "Silvernotes" chorus. The "Silvernotes" history started in 1934. They appear throughout the county at churches, restaurants, private parties, civic organizations, hospitals and nursing homes. To join or book call 317-773-9263.

Little military hardware has come to Hamilton County police departments

By FRED SWIFT

In the years since the end of the Cold War the U.S. Government has made military surplus available to state and local police agencies. But, in the past few days the Obama administration has backed off their program of sharing some weapons and vehicles in an apparent effort to defuse the potential for rioting such as seen earlier this month in Baltimore.

In a further effort to appease leaders of civil protests the administration has now indicated it is considering the recall of some of the most powerful weapons, heavy armored vehicles or other offensive weaponry that were given to municipal law enforcement agencies.

Apparently little if any of this military hardware has come to Hamilton County. Noblesville Police Chief Kevin Jowitt says

Noblesville Mini Marathon takes place Saturday morning

The Noblesville Police Department would like to remind citizens to expect delays, lane restrictions and road closures during the Noblesville Mini Marathon this coming Saturday.

The event is slated to start at 7:30 a.m. and end at approximately noon. Police officers and volunteers will be assigned throughout the three different courses in order to assist runners and motorists. The NPD is encouraging all citizens to practice patience and understanding as the department tries to make this event as safe as possible for everyone involved. Your assistance and cooperation would be greatly appreciated.

Additional information about the event can be found at <https://noblesvilleminimarathon.com> On behalf of Chief Kevin Jowitt and the rest of the Noblesville Police Department, the NPD would like to wish everyone a safe Memorial Day weekend.

If you should have any additional questions or concerns, please feel free to contact Lt. Bruce Barnes at the Noblesville Police Department at 776-6340 ext. 1261.

In addition to the half-marathon, there will be 10K and 5K runs. Turn to Page 2 to see maps of each course.

the only items NPD has gotten is a quantity of bayonets. They are not, and were never intended to be, used to affix to rifles. They are simply used as tools to cut seat belts or pry loose something that might have a person trapped in an accident or other emergency.

Carmel Police Chief Tim Green says his department has not asked for any of the military surplus that is no longer being offered or under consideration for recall. Several years ago the CPD did acquire a bullet-proof Peacekeeper vehicle which can be used to give officers protection when approaching a barricaded suspect or other such dangerous situations.

While the likelihood of violent civil unrest in Hamilton County is very remote, the police chiefs say that in such an event mutual assistance agreements would allow them to get immediate help from State Police or other agencies that could bring the manpower and equipment needed to handle the situation.

So, local law enforcement is not going to be disarmed or left in need of military weaponry. But, the question arises as to whether restricting certain weapons in Baltimore or any city will have the desired effect of reducing future violence. Time will tell, but it's hard to imagine how reducing police access to weapons will discourage anyone interested in creating trouble.

CITIES

Wayne's next-largest annual population gain since 2000 was 790 residents in 2011. Furthermore, Fort Wayne experienced essentially flat growth from 2000 and 2010.

Evansville (120,346 residents in 2014) and South Bend (101,190) are the only other cities in Indiana with a population above 100,000. After growing by an average of 100 residents a year from 2010 to 2013, Evansville had a slight decline (-30) last year. Meanwhile, South Bend's population grew by 268 in 2014 -- its largest one-year growth in more than 20 years. South Bend's population declined by roughly 700 residents a year last decade.

The rest of Indiana's 10 largest cities or towns are Carmel (86,682), Fishers (86,325), Bloomington (83,322), Hammond (78,384), Gary (77,909) and Lafayette (70,654). Carmel, Fishers and Bloomington each added residents in 2014, while Hammond, Gary and Lafayette saw declines.

Many suburban areas still growing fast Among Indiana's 20 largest cities and towns, 13 of them posted a population increase in 2014. Of this group, the two fastest-growing communities were Hamilton County's Fishers (3.0 percent growth) and Noblesville (1.8 percent). Greenwood (1.6 percent), Jeffersonville (1.3 percent) and Carmel (0.9 percent) complete the top five fastest-growing communities among the state's larger communities.

Looking at all Indiana cities and towns with a population of at least 2,000, Whitestown in Boone County, which grew at a 25.4 percent rate in 2014, was Indiana's fastest-growing locale for the fourth consecutive year. Whitestown registered a population of only 5,258 residents in 2014, yet its addition of 1,065 residents last year ranked as the seventh-largest numeric gain among all Indiana cities and towns.

Avon in Hendricks County (7.8 percent growth) was the second fastest-growing area in 2014, followed by Hancock County's McCordsville (5.7 percent), Hamilton County's Westfield (5.7 percent), Winfield in Lake County (3.9 percent) and West Lafayette (3.7 percent).

Sharp differences in Lake County According to these estimates, communities in Lake County account for four of the seven-largest numeric population declines in the state. Hammond and Gary both lost roughly 600 residents in 2014 according to the estimates, while East Chicago declined by 228. These losses represented a 0.8 percent decline for each of these cities in 2014. Hobart had the seventh-greatest decline with a loss of 168 residents. Cities outside Lake County that also had large losses in 2014 include Connersville (-208), Marion (-200) and Richmond (-172).

While many communities in the northern part of Lake County are losing population, some cities and towns farther south are adding residents. In numeric terms, St. John had the largest gain in 2014 with 465 new residents, followed by Crown Point (238), Winfield (197), Cedar Lake (146) and Merrillville (134). In all, six of the county's 19 cities and towns added population in 2014.

Town and country Most Hoosiers live in cities or towns. Of Indiana's nearly 6.6 million residents in 2014, 66.3 percent live in incorporated places. This share is up slightly from the 65.5 percent mark recorded in the 2010 census. Indiana's cities and towns as a group accounted for 82.5 percent of the state's total population growth in 2014.

IMPD officer charged with operating while intoxicated in Hamilton County

An Indianapolis Metropolitan Police Department officer was charged with operating while intoxicated in an incident in Hamilton County early on Thursday.

White

According to a Hamilton County Sheriff's Office report, a deputy first came into contact with Christopher M. White, age 32 of Noblesville, in the 12800 block of Brooks School Road shortly before 3 a.m. when the deputy observed White's car weaving and crossing traffic lines. During a traffic stop, the deputy conducted field sobriety tests and then detained White for a certified chemical test. The certified test showed White's alcohol level at 0.182.

White was driving a personally owned vehicle, not an IMPD car, at the time of the stop.

White was booked into the Hamilton County jail on initial charges of Operating While Intoxicated and Operating While Intoxicated Endangerment, both misdemeanor charges, with a bond of $2,500. A charge is just an accusation and all persons are presumed innocent until and unless found guilty in court.

Boys track and field sectional...

Carmel wins team trophy, 5 county schools get champions

Even though the team score was decidedly in favor of the host Carmel Greyhounds, several teams had reason to be happy after Thursday's boys track and field sectional.

Two records were shattered, and six different schools claimed at least one champion during the meet. In addition, the top three in each event qualified for next Thursday's regional at West Lafayette, with many more expected to receive callbacks to the meet.

Carmel scored 164 points, comfortably ahead of runner-up Hamilton Southeastern's 123. The 'Hounds had five individual wins, with senior Isaac James getting his team off to a fast start: He ran away with the 100 dash in 10.79 seconds.

Meanwhile, the longest event produced one of the new records. Junior Ben Veatch dominated the 3200 run in a time of 9:02.31; that blasted the old record by 15 seconds. Veatch was also part of Carmel's winning 4x800 relay team, joining Teddy Browning, James Pescio and Andrew Rigbee to win that event in 7:57.43.

"The kids did very well," said 'Hounds coach Ken Browner. The coach was excited because he said his team "we got all the kids through that we expected to get through, and then got some bonuses. So we've set ourselves up well for next week and hopefully things will get better for us next week so we can advance that same group on to the state meet."

The Carmel boys track and field team defended its sectional championship Thursday at Carmel Stadium. The Greyhounds scored 164 team points and won five individual events.

The Greyhounds' other winners were Jalen Walker in the 300 hurdles and Vince Laconi in the shot put.

The Royals got had the second record of the day, which belonged to Ethan Bray. The junior set a new pole vault record of 16 feet, 4.75 inches, over a foot above the old record and over three feet ahead of second place.

Southeastern won a majority of the field events, with Francis Ehigbai edging out Fishers' Noah Rogers in the high jump. Both jumped 6-5; Ehigbai needed fewer attempts to clear that height. Tiger Guillory, a senior who competed in track and field for the first time this season, was the long jump winner with a leap of 22-5.75.

Back on the track, HSE's Jordan Wright won the 800 in a photo finish over Guerin Catholic's Christopher Bluish - the showdown between the seniors was decided by 0.03 seconds. Wright won in 1:57.48, Bluish crossed the line in 1:57.51.

Fishers placed third as a team, and scored three wins. Trevor Thompson paced the 1600 run, while the Tigers claimed the 4x100 and 4x400 relays. Keyshawn Burrell ran on both relays, joined by Tres Carver, Jeremy Chinn and Jontel Hackett on the 4x1 and Jordan Cates, Josh Lloyd and Jalen Moss on the 4x4.

Noblesville finished fourth, with Jake Owens leading the way. The senior continued his strong season, scoring wins in the 200 and 400 dashes.

Michael Defoe picked up a win for Hamilton Heights, pacing the 110 hurdles.

Team scores: Carmel 164, Hamilton Southeastern 123, Fishers 95, Noblesville 85, Westfield 55, Hamilton Heights 32, Guerin Catholic 28, Lebanon 27, Western Boone 12.

Millers host HSE, Carmel hosts GC in today's championships

After a day's delay due to rain, Hamilton County's tennis teams faced off in sectional semi-final action on Thursday.

At Carmel's Todd Witsken Tennis Center, the No. 1 ranked Greyhounds advanced to a championship showdown with No. 9 Guerin Catholic at 4:15 p.m. today. Carmel beat University 5-0, while the Golden Eagles got past Westfield 3-2.

The 'Hounds won all their matches in straight sets. Meanwhile, Guerin got wins at Nos. 1 and 2 singles, and the Golden Eagles' No. 2 doubles won as well.

The Shamrocks had wins at No. 3 singles, and the No. 1 doubles team of Annika Mabe and Arie Sprout was also victorious. Mabe and Sprout will now advance to the doubles tournament, since Westfield is out of the team competition.

Over at Noblesville, the host Millers and No. 18 Hamilton Southeastern will play for that championship at 4:45 p.m. today. Noblesville defeated Hamilton Heights 4-1, while the Royals beat No. 26 Fishers 4-1 as well.

The Millers swept the singles matches, and also got a No. 1 doubles win. The Huskies No. 2 doubles team of Abby Hardacre and Lauryn Martin won their team's lone match.

HSE picked up two singles and two doubles victories to advance. The Tigers' Jessica Lorenz won a gutsy No. 1 singles match, which qualified her for the singles tournament.

The winner at Carmel advances to next week's Kokomo regional, while the winner at Noblesville heads to North Central for that regional.

Hoover, Kyriakopoulos explode, but.....

Sheridan is defeated, 11-7

Sheridan got off to a good start in a high school baseball game at Tri-West Friday evening, but the finish wasn't so good. After leading 3-0 after one inning and 5-1 entering the bottom of the fourth, the Blackhawks ran into trouble. Tri-West scored six times in the fourth and went on to an 11-7 victory over Sheridan.

"We scored enough to win," said Sheridan coach Matt Britt, "but Tri-West made a lot of solid contact and we had some very untimely mistakes that cost us a good opportunity to get a road victory."

Austin Hoover had a big night at the plate, hammering two triples and a single, scoring two runs and driving home two runs. Jordan Kyriakopoulos also had a huge night with a home run and a double and Sam Crail added a double.

On defense, Sheridan made five errors, allowing six unearned runs.

Sheridan, now 18-8 on the year, will try to break a four-game losing streak tonight at 6 p.m. when hosting Hamilton Heights.

Sheridan has added a game before sectional time. The Blackhawks will host University on Tuesday at 5 p.m.

Tigers look for win after 5-0 loss

Zionsville stayed in the running for second place in the Hoosier Crossroads Conference Thursday with a 5-0 home field victory over Fishers.

The visiting Tigers stayed in a slump. "Our offense struggled all night, finishing with 15 strikeouts and only three hits," said Fishers coach Matthew Cherry.

IMS reveals logo for 100th Indy 500

Next year, the Indianapolis Motor Speedway will celebrate its greatest milestone with the 100th Running of the Indianapolis 500 Mile Race, which will take place on Sunday, May 29, 2016. In preparation for this historic event, IMS unveiled the logo that will provide a symbol for the year-long celebration.

"Each year we design a new logo for the Indianapolis 500, but this year's effort has been given special consideration," said Mark Miles, CEO of Hulman & Co. "The logo for the 100th Indianapolis 500 recognizes both our illustrious past and an even brighter future."

This is a once-in-a-century milestone culminating next Memorial Day weekend with the 100th Running of the Indianapolis 500 Mile Race. Somewhere along the line, the Indianapolis 500 became more than just a race. It has taken on a deeper meaning to competitors and fans alike, providing a spectacular example of human progress highlighting the imagination, innovation and drive required to stake a claim in sporting history.

The Indianapolis 500 Mile Race also means a tremendous amount to the city of Indianapolis and the state of Indiana, and has become a part of the lives of so many of its residents.

"The Indianapolis community has shown time and time again that we rise to the occasion and get behind historical opportunities to generate results that surprise even ourselves," said Allison Melangton, senior vice president of events, Hulman Motorsports Corporation.

In 2016, the Indianapolis Motor Speedway will celebrate our desire to push forward, to reach farther and to go faster. With those ideals in mind, preparation for the 100th Running of the Indianapolis 500 Mile Race has begun as today's drivers will look to eclipse the feats of legends.

Be sure to read The Reporter this weekend for Indy 500 coverage, including a story on Noblesville's two drivers, Bryan Clauson and Conor Daly.
