The County Line

Great history exhibits could be ours with a little effort

By FRED SWIFT

I was in the old courthouse a few days ago with some friends who were admiring the huge antique wooden cabinet in the first floor hallway. It's one of several surviving pieces of original furnishings bought for the building when it was built in 1878. The cabinet, made by the Wooten Company of Richmond, IN, was used for keeping records long before computers or even file cabinets.

Behind the glass doors on the upper tier of the cabinet is a rather dusty collection of items from the historical society. These items have been there for nearly 20 years and are not very inspiring.

Somehow this brought to mind the fact that we are less than seven months away from celebrating Indiana's bicentennial and I wondered what county government and the county historical society are doing to prepare for the big anniversary. I suspect the answer is: not much.

I know local government feels it has its hands full with highway maintenance, tax collection, elections and various other tasks. And, I know the historical society doesn't have much money or many members to do more than keep the jail museum open. But, we need a plan for next year.

Our history is important because it tells us what brought us to our present situation. And, it's a colorful story worth making the public aware of. So many local residents are relatively new to the area that they have little understanding or appreciation of local history.

I know I'm a history buff. But, somebody has to be. And somebody in local government needs to be. I know that Brenda Myers at the Tourism Bureau is heading up a Bicentennial effort. It will carry out programs suggested by state officials and the Bicentennial Commission.

Brenda and her staff will do a good job as they always do. But, Tourism exists to lure conventions and tourists to the county and get them to spend their money here. We also need the resources, manpower and knowledge that exists in government, public schools, and historical societies to get a complete package.

Seeing that giant old cabinet at the courthouse made me think what great exhibits we could have with a little effort. What do we have to show the public about our history? How about exhibits on the county's contribution to World War II, famous people from Hamilton County from William Conner to Steve Wariner, maybe something on Alexander Hamilton for whom the county is named?

There are many possibilities like the county during the Civil War, the Gas Boom of the 1880s, the exciting high school sports history of the county, artifacts from the prehistoric Strawtown mounds, the history of the Courthouse as site of the nationally publicized D.C. Stephenson trial, or the treasured Arcadia glass products.

I'd bet the vast majority of county residents don't know what most of these events, items and individuals have meant to the development and present status of Hamilton County, but next year would be a good time to find out.

And where could you place our treasures of history? Doesn't every library, school and retail store have glass display cases? It's kind of a simple idea I guess, just something that came to me as I told my friends about that old cabinet in the courthouse hallway.

Madison McFadden waves to the audience after she was crowned Hamilton County 4-H Queen at Friday night's pageant. McFadden, a member of the Purdue Collegiate 4-H, just finished up her freshman year as a Boilermaker.

McFadden crowned Hamilton County 4-H Queen

By RICHIE HALL

Madison McFadden will have some stories to tell when she returns to Purdue University this fall to begin her sophomore year.

They will likely revolve around the Hamilton County 4-H Fair, which begins next week. And they start with "I was crowned the 4-H Queen." McFadden was one of 23 young women that took part in the 55th annual 4-H Fair Queen Pageant Friday night at the 4-H Fairgrounds.

McFadden, 19, is a Noblesville High School graduate and just finished her freshman year. She took her 4-H experience with her, as she is a member of the Purdue Collegiate 4-H.

"It feels like an incredible honor," said McFadden. She said the experience was "definitely nerve-wracking," but gave credit to her competitors and "the wonderful women we have backstage" with helping her to get through everything. As a result, she was able to keep calm and be "ready to go out on stage and be myself."

McFadden is studying Animal Science, Agri-Business and Agriculture Communications at Purdue.

The contestants were interviewed by the three judges prior to the pageant, then had two competitions during the event: Professional wear, where they introduced themselves to the hundreds of people in the audience, and the evening gown competition, where they answered a question presented by master of ceremonies Gregg Knapp.

Right before the queen was announced, Knapp revealed Miss Congeniality and the Queen's Court. Brittany Mayfield, of the Heartland 4-H'ers won the Miss Congeniality award. It was easy to see why, as the recent Noblesville High School graduate was charming and sweet as she described her 4-H Queen Pageant experience.

"I was actually kind of surprised just because every girl that was in the show this year was really, really sweet, really nice," said Mayfield, 18, who is headed to Ball State University to study Special and Elementary Education. "Everyone was super friendly. I felt like I had a pack of sisters before it was all over with. So I was surprised that it

Sheridan to conduct meeting on recent fires

By JEFF JELLISON

Sheridan Police Chief Bob Shock announced a public meeting will be held on Monday, July 13th to discuss recent suspicious fires that have occurred in Sheridan.

The most recent fire occurred on Monday, July 9 in the area of 5th and California Street. Shock said a vehicle was set on fire that also damaged a portion of a nearby residence.

Found at the scene of Monday's fire was the word "HEX" spray painted on a nearby vehicle. Sheridan police indicated the same graffiti has also been found at other area fires.

"We need the public's help," said Shock. Police ask that if anyone sees anything suspicious to call 911.

Flyers advertising the Arson Hotline telephone number have been posted in several Sheridan businesses. Sheridan Fire Chief Bret Merriman recently said, "There is a reward for information leading to the conviction of the person responsible." Fire personnel asked that if anyone has information to call the Arson Hotline at 1-800-382-4628.

Monday's meeting will be held at Sheridan Town Hall at 7 p.m.

"HEX" was discovered spray painted on the west wall of a recent Sheridan fire located at 104 W. Main Street. Police and fire personnel indicated HEX was also spray painted at the scene of other area fires.

Children's Healthy Adventure Fair gets kids ready for school

The Children's Healthy Adventure Fair is more than a few fun hours during summer vacation. It's an opportunity for families to take measures to keep their children safe, healthy and ready for school.

HOPE Family Care Center, which provides free medical and dental care to uninsured adults and children, will host the Adventure Fair from 1-4 p.m. July 25, rain or shine, outside the clinic at 270 W. Jackson St.

Everything at the fair is free, including games, school supplies and food. New to the three-year fair, the K-ID's BMV, sponsored by Peyton Manning Children's Hospital, will provide ID/medical cards to children. Backpacks will be available to the first 100 school-age children that arrive, and totes filled with age-appropriate activities will be given to the first 40 preschoolers. Area merchants, individuals and organizations have provided a variety of valuable door prizes.

"School supplies will include the basics found on every school list - the kinds of necessary things that add up quickly to a big bill," said Mike Jenkins, HOPE Family Care Center CEO. Free supplies will include paper, pocket folders, pens, pencils, crayons, colored pencils, glue, scissors, rulers and markers. Additionally, each child will take home a book.

In a national survey, the National Retail Federation determined the average family would spend about $670 on school supplies, clothing and electronics last year.

"Our clinic is open to uninsured people no matter where they live, and so is the Children's Healthy Adventure Fair," Jenkins added. "The carnival lets us offer some entertainment and education to kids, and it helps raise awareness about the high-quality, free health care that's available to the uninsured and underinsured."

Public invited to "Color Me Green" on July 20

Hamilton County residents can join the Hamilton County 4-H Program in their inaugural one-mile "Color Me Green" Fun Run in conjunction with the Hamilton County 4-H Fair July 16-21. The public is encouraged to participate in the run on Monday, July 20, at the Hamilton County 4-H Fairgrounds, 2003 Pleasant St., Noblesville. Registration will begin at 11 a.m. in front of the commercial tent and the one-mile run will start at 11:30 a.m. The cost to participate is $10. Proceeds from the event will go to the Purdue Extension Hamilton County Education Fund for youth programming.

Volunteers will also be collecting canned goods during registration. All goods collected will be donated to a local food pantry. Registration forms and waivers can be found in the Purdue Extension Office or on the Fair page of the extension's Web site: www.extension.purdue.edu/hamilton. Click the Hamilton County 4-H Fair link in the center of the page. From there you select the Color Me Green Fun Run. Forms are also available in the Purdue Extension Hamilton County Office.

Color Me Green is a Purdue Extension/Indiana 4-H Youth Development-sponsored color run being held across Indiana between March - July. As in other color runs that have become popular across the country, runners will be showered with colored powder at various stations along the run. Color Me Green will be using green dyes for the event. The race is untimed and has no winners or prizes - it's all done in the spirit of fun.

The Hamilton County 4-H Fair is organized and sponsored by the Hamilton County 4-H Council, Inc. and Purdue Extension Hamilton County. For more information on the 4-H Fair or the Purdue Cooperative Extension Service, contact Purdue Extension Hamilton County at (317) 776-0854 or visit www.extension.purdue.edu/hamilton.

Sports: Noblesville's American Legion survived some weak fielding with hard-hitting and strong pitching to sweep over the weekend. Coach Don Dunker's crew won the opener, 2-1, captured the second game of a Saturday double-header, 11-6, and then blasted Seymour Monday afternoon, 15-7.

Rep. Cook selected to serve on education study committee

House Speaker Brian C. Bosma (R-

Cook

Indianapolis) has announced the interim study committee assignments for the Indiana House of Representatives.

State Rep. Tony Cook (R-Cicero) has been appointed to serve on the Interim Study Committee on Education.

"My education career spanned 40 years, including 25 years in various leadership capacities at Noblesville and Hamilton Heights," said Rep. Cook. "I am honored to bring that expertise to education policy discussions, both during the legislative session and now during the interim. This summer and fall, we will be looking at possible ways to make the administration of the ISTEP test more cost and time efficient."

Following each legislative session, the Legislative Council assigns topics for study during the interim. Most interim committees begin meeting in July and conclude their work toward the end of October.

Interim study committees play a crucial role in the legislative process. Although session is adjourned for 2015, lawmakers continue their duties throughout the year by conducting in-depth studies of various topics assigned to their committees. Interim study committees with specific expertise receive testimony from experts and members of the public as well as work out the details of legislative proposals before they are introduced in the 2016 session.

"K-12 and higher education spending make up nearly two thirds of our state budget," said Rep. Cook. "These are issues that matter to Hoosiers everywhere, and I look forward to working to ensure that every student in our state has the opportunity to access a high quality education."

Summer football....

Things look good on The Rock

By DON JELLISON
Reporter Editor

With summer football winding down and the regular season not that far away, Westfield coach Jake Gilbert is a couple of steps from being in football hog heaven.

Westfield’s new stadium is about to open. It’s one of the finest facilities in the state.

“The players and the community are excited,” said the coach. “Football families moving into the area now are giving us a look. It wasn’t that way in the past.”

Another topic for excitement is the offense Gilbert will put on the field this fall. It’s highlighted by two quarterbacks. It’s highlighted by one of the best passing combination in the Hoosier Crossroads Conference.

“We’ve got two good quarterbacks,” Gilbert agrees.

One is senior Ryan Pepiot, who last season threw for second-best in the conference with 1,757 yards. Right on Pepiot’s trail is junior Andrew Sweet.

The passing combination returning from last season is Pepiot firing to now-senior Milo Beam. He was second in the conference a year ago with 678 yards. He caught 32 balls.

Pepiot and Beam also are baseball players. Many predict they will go baseball after leaving high school.

However, when looking at the door to hog heaven, the defense could be Westfield’s biggest challenge. Only returning starter is free safety Noah Smith.

Fifteen seniors and what Gilbert calls a “ton of juniors” will be asked to fill the defensive holes.

Senior Austin Dollens is one of the linemen that will return to the Westfield football team this season.

“We’re searching for the best 11 guys, those who can go out and tackle people,” said Gilbert.

There are some prospects, such as senior Sam Trompen, sophomore Bryan Hoover and senior Martell Fletcher.

Big hole to fill on the offense is running back Elvin Caldwell, who rushed for 1,187 yards. Ready to step in is senior Brandon Karsnick, who last year rushed for 276 yards in 53 carries.

The offensive line will be led by Jonathan Mendoza.

“He’s a good one,” said Gilbert.

Also returning in that line are senior Jordan Long, junior Austin Dollens, senior Bryce Sears and senior Zach Krieg.

There’s a transfer that has Gilbert pleased, junior Johnny Swidan, a tackle from Guerin Catholic.
