Replacing caution with confidence is good government

By MARY SUE ROWLAND

As a follow up to a front page article by Fred Swift last week concerning the fall election, he noted no new names has been added to the fall ballot and the deadline has passed. With no challengers for the Noblesville Mayor's position, it is official John Ditslear will lead the community for the next four years starting in January, 2016. He is the first four term Mayor in the history of the city. That is a true accomplishment.

Mayor Ditslear has stated his approach to community development will go forward "cautiously". In wondering just what a "cautious approach" to community development truly means, there are concerns. The next four years in Noblesville has a new opportunity in its future if action is taken. Starting the New Year as a 2nd class city with two additional council seats and four new members, means new opportunity for Noblesville.

During the election in May there was a conversation about Noblesville falling behind compared to Westfield, Fishers and Carmel. Another recent comparison left Noblesville off the list of the safest cities in Hamilton County giving the title to Carmel, Fishers and Westfield. Does not mean Noblesville is not safe but just not recognized. A trend that seems to be continuing when comparing cities.

With current discussion of dog parks, school zones, roundabouts, downtown street light replacement, and alcoholic beverage permits, there is room to look at the big picture of visioning including a review of what is and what could be for the historic county seat. January gives oppor-

More questions than answers

By JANET HART LEONARD

Last week when we were in Tampa I had time to ponder, reflect, think, meditate, and pray. In other words...I was sick.

I came back from vacation as white as a Hoosier in mid summer 2015. The year it rained forever. I spent much of my vacation on the sofa fighting an ear infection. I finally raised the white flag and went to the Urgent Care Clinic. I think it is still ok to raise the white flag.

I read social media. I watched the news. I read the newspaper every morning. All I could do was shake my head and take my meds. I had so many questions.

Did common sense get stolen? Have we become so politically correct that we can't understand that we are all just people wanting to be treated fairly?

When did simple kindness to one another become so complicated? Close your eyes and listen to what you are saying. Listen to how it sounds. Put yourself in the other person's situation.

Does being right, in our eyes, blind us to the possibility of being wrong?

Has money and power drowned out the voice of reason and personal responsibility?

Do we put a value on the opinion of others simply by the money we think they may have in their bank account?

Does having the most money make us the winners? Can integrity be bought?

Oh I know I am old-fashioned. I was raised by parents who taught and practiced the Golden Rule. I was raised with the Ten Commandments memorized and obeyed.

Have the "Thou shalt nots" been erased by those who beg to differ with them?

Have we redefined morals to make us more comfortable?

Has common decency become a thing that is only seen in history books? It does not seem to be all that common anymore.

Proceed cautiously when it comes to supplements

By SHARON MCMAHON
He who buys what he does not need steals from himself – Swedish proverb

The good news: We recently celebrated our country’s 239th birthday! The bad news: We are one of the most obese countries on our planet...and spending billions of consumer dollars in our quest to get in better shape! While I had not intended for this to be my topic this week, I ran across something that gave me pause as it relates to products we often purchase with the very good intent to help our bodies become healthier and more fit. I was browsing through a local publication (not this one!) and came across an article that was promoting a particular “health” product that is “guaranteed to make losing weight faster/easier” etc. The article was written by a person who actually owns a company which sells the product. Okay so far, right? The author of the article may have had some credentials other than owning the business but those were never stated in the article or at the end of the article. I was also surprised to see that the publishers did not include a disclaimer at the end of the article for their own protection – though I am first in line to say that I am not a legal expert, I would never include suggestions of a supplement purchase that could be detrimental to anyone’s health issues who may be reading the article and would purchase those items. The particular supplements that were being promoted in the aforementioned article are contraindicated for anyone who is pregnant, diabetic or pre-diabetic, who is within two weeks of a surgical procedure, who may have blood clotting issues, taking certain prescription drugs, or have heart irregularities. There are many people who fall within those parameters who might read such an article promoting a supplement or substance, and begin using that item without the knowledge of their physician or licensed health care practitioner. Complications from usage or over-usage of supplements are an important issue in our quest to become healthier. Additionally any nutrition consultant should, without fail, encourage their clients to obtain a full physical and discuss with their physician their intent to work with a nutrition/wellness consultant or coach. I actually insist upon this when working with my clients. If there is any indication by their physician that they may be pre-diabetic or have other serious health issues it is critical to know this going forward. That information may preclude the client from working with the nutrition consultant until those conditions have been addressed by the physician. Additionally, the nutrition consultant should be advised of any prescription medications that the client may be taking upon advice of their physician. Look around, it is possible to get “advice” on losing weight, feeling better, gaining muscle, etc. from many sources. Most of us do not take our cars to a car wash to have them maintained or repaired or pour additives into our gas tank, why would we readily consider casual recommendations on supplements which may not be in our best interests? I believe that supplementation is warranted and helpful in many cases, but as stated above, the proper protocols should be followed. If you consider working with a nutrition or wellness consultant, ask questions about their experience and training. Currently the State of Indiana does not require licensing for this profession. A nutrition consultant is not licensed to prescribe a specific diet to a client; only a licensed health care professional is authorized to do so. A nutrition and wellness coach can be very beneficial to a client who wishes to lose weight, feel better and stronger, and learn more about making better food choices. Most often a client’s plan will include behavioral changes and attitudes about food as well as changes in the food items the client selects. Bottom line – proceed cautiously in your quest, do your own research, take responsibility for your food and supplement choices, and perhaps incorporate a nutrition and fitness coach to help you get started. After all, a good coach can make a difference in reaching your goals!

JANET

My parents looked for the good in people, even if they were, as my mother would say...funny turned. They went to work even if they didn't feel like it. They never made excuses for not being able to do something. They just found a way to do it. If something was broken, then they found a way to fix it. My parents always looked out for their family and neighbors. They never asked for anything in return.

Perhaps I am just an almost 60 year old woman who still believes in doing what is right for the sake of what is right. I care. I care about my family, my friends, and my country. I care about the kids growing up today in a world that looks nothing like what I grew up in. Perhaps my old fashioned upbringing is a thing of the past but my kids and grand-munchkins will tell you... this grandma believes that it still works.

tunity to get the newly elected and current elected officials headed in the right direction. After all, the elected official will make many important decision affecting every citizen during the next four year. The future of Noblesville is the job that belongs to the citizens (not just the elected officials) and the citizens need a forum for discussion. Elected officials let's give the community a forum!

The need for a plan of action and a vision is long overdue.
A New Year is a good time to invest in some expert leadership to bring the community together and share ideas. There are organizations like "Partners for Livable Communities" centered in Washington D.C. who do this work around the world. "Partners" was in Noblesville some 20 years ago leading workshops, charrettes and sharing the best thinking in community development from that overarching view.

It's called "best practices" and addresses all elements of the community including what the citizens want and that is number one most important. What do the citizens want? Often citizens vote for an candidate not for their vision but because they are familiar. Because a candidate wins a seat does not mean the job is done. Engaging the community in "best practices" is the "best" thing an elected official can do for their community. "Best Practices" is a strategic review of the overall livability, quality of life and economic development for the community. A community check up is the result of a comprehensive strategic review narrowing topics to regional cooperation, sustainable development, a creative economy, downtown neighborhoods and transportation. A strategic review of the overall livability, quality of life and economic development agenda for Noblesville making a great start for the New Year, the new 2nd class city status, newly elected officials and for all citizens. This process is not "cautious" but it is good government. Have a conversation with your representative and encourage a first of the year Comprehensive Strategic Review of Noblesville and promise to participate. Elected officials like it when offered the opportunity, the community gets involved. That is really good government when those door open and new ideas are shared. Tell your elected officials that 2016 is a great time to do a check up on the general health of the community. Everyone should have a check up more often than every 20 years! In only a short five months, a New Year will begin and what better time to discover a vision and put a plan in place to follow for the next four years. This approach to community development is an organized and educated approach presented by the best thinking and best practices worldwide. Noblesville could, with just some effort, give itself the edge. With conviction, vision and dedication, "caution" can be thrown to the wind because the future will be driven by good decisions for now and for years to come. For the entire community, exchange "caution" for "confidence" in the future of the place you call home, work and raise a family. The community should require a "call to action and an opportunity to move toward a solid future" in which every citizen has a part to play. Happy New Year!

Local IMCU branches collecting for...

School Supply Drive

Indiana Members Credit Union (IMCU) and Foundation have partnered with Indy Backpack Attack, along with the Indianapolis Zoo, IPS, IUPUI, UPS, YMCA, Teachers' Treasures, Jerrell Freeman's Rise Above Foundation, United Way of Central Indiana and other programs in the areas IMCU serves, for their 11th Annual School Supply Drive through July 17, 2015.

The IMCU Hamilton County branches located at 4790 E. 96th Street, Indianapolis, 9710 Butterfly Drive, Noblesville and 4005 Westfield Road, Westfield, as well as the other 21 IMCU branches in Central Indiana will serve as public collection sites for the school supply drive, with bins in their branch lobbies during branch hours, through July 17th. Some needed items for the drive include: backpacks, erasers, #2 pencils, calculators, crayons, markers, spiral notebooks, pens, art boxes, pencil sharpeners, rulers, notebook paper, scissors, pocket folders, colored pencils, glue sticks, hygiene products, hand sanitizer, tissues, alarm clocks and composition notebooks (College Rule).

Indy Backpack Attack has collected more than 3.5 million school supplies since 1999 for children in the Indianapolis Public Schools district (IPS) as well as other schools in Boone, Delaware, Grant, Hamilton, Hancock, Hendricks, Johnson and Marion counties.

It's reported that 80 percent of the families in the IPS school system need help with basic school supplies. IMCU has partnered with programs in Marion and surrounding counties to provide underserved children the supplies they need to start the school year.

Mandy Emery, Treasurer of Indy Backpack Attack and VP of community involvement for IMCU, stated, "IMCU was founded on the campus of IUPUI over 57 years ago, and is passionate about supporting the education system and helping children succeed in school. And one way we can do this is by putting the tools necessary to succeed into their hands. IMCU has been a proud supporter of Indy Backpack Attack since 2004 and has served on the Indy Backpack Attack Committee for the past 6 years."

For more information on Indiana Members Credit Union's branch collection sites or if your business would like to participate with Indy Backpack Attack please visit their website at: www.imf4kids.org or visit www.indybackpackattack.org.

50 Years Ago

July 12, 1965

News: The Hamilton County Commissioners held a day long session yesterday and heard a suggestion for cutting off the County Courthouse tower during proposed remodeling operations. The tower is described as being in poor condition and in desperate need of repair.

Sports: Arcadia still has a long path ahead to complete an undefeated season, but the Hamilton County Pony League's leaders took a big step in that direction when Kent Carson fired a no-hitter and slipped past tough-throwing Johnny Hughes and his Westfield teammates. 1-0, Monday evening.

Put God first, then country

By LEANN WILSON

"But know this, that in the last days perilous times will come: For men will be lovers of themselves, lovers of money, boasters, proud, blasphemers, disobedient to parents, unthankful, unholy, unloving, unforgiving, slanderers, without self-control, brutal, despisers of good, traitors, headstrong, haughty, lovers of pleasure rather than lovers of God" 2 Tim 3:1-4 (NKJV).

Society is in a state of turmoil, government has run amuck and with federal and state judges going beyond the bounds of their roles and legislating from the bench and in light of the notorious court decisions being made, including one made by the Oregon Bureau of Labor and Industries that has stomped all over a young, small business owner's constitutional and first Amendment right to exercise their freedom of religion in their place of business, now is a good time to read, for many maybe for the first time, what the First Amendment under The Bill of Rights actually states. But let us first start in brief in The unanimous Declaration of the thirteen United States of America, July 4, 1776:

When in the Course of human events, it becomes necessary for one people to dissolve the political bands which have connected them with another, and to assume among the powers of the earth, the separate and equal station to which the Laws of Nature and of Nature's God entitle them, a decent respect to the opinions of mankind requires that they should declare the causes which impel them to the separation.

We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable Rights, that among these are Life, Liberty and the pursuit of Happiness.--That to secure these rights, Governments are instituted among Men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed, --That whenever any Form of Government becomes destructive of these ends, it is the Right of the People to alter or to abolish it, and to institute new Government.....

The US Constitution of The United States of America, which again in brief and beginning with the preamble reads:

We the People of the United States, in Order to form a more perfect Union, establish Justice, insure domestic Tranquility, provide for the common defence, promote the general Welfare, and secure the Blessings of Liberty to ourselves and our Posterity, do ordain and establish this Constitution for the United States of America.

Article I, section 1
All legislative Powers herein granted shall be vested in a Congress of the United States, which shall consist of a Senate and House of Representatives.

THESE ARE OUR FIRST TWO RIGHTS. RIGHTS DESIGNED WITH THE PURPOSE OF PREVENTING THE GOVERNMENT FROM SEIZING TOO MUCH STRENGTH

Amendment 1

Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof; or abridging the freedom of speech, or of the press; or the right of the people to peaceably to assemble, and to petition the Government for a redress of grievances.

Amendment 2

A well regulated Militia, being necessary to the security of a free State, the right of the people to keep and bear Arms, shall not be infringed.

God hath said: "Now prepare yourself like a man; I will question you, and you shall answer Me. "Where were you when I laid the foundations of the earth? Tell Me, if you have understanding. Who determined its measurements? Surely you know!" Job 38:3-5 (NKJV). The tumult of the enemies of God rises up and increases continually (Psalms 74:23) and evil will continue to triumph until good men, and women, stand up and do something. So cast political correctness into the garbage where it belongs, search the scriptures for truth as this is the standard for the people of God, and gird up your loins for the battle! Let our voices be heard in the market places and in the public square. Prepare to no longer vote this country into moral and financial bankruptcy. Or, continue to sit back and do nothing - then just look to Greece to see our future; watch the persecution rise across the eastern continents and pray for our brethren and for ourselves as the seeds of persecution are rooting in the west!

As my husband would say (in his non tongue-in-cheek way) "the government needs an enema!" Brethren wakeup, it is God first then country, and the country that rejects God will perish. "Now therefore, fear the LORD, serve Him in sincerity and in truth, and put away the gods which your fathers served on the other side of the River and in Egypt. Serve the LORD! And if it seems evil to you to serve the LORD, choose for yourselves this day whom you will serve, whether the gods which your fathers served that were on the other side of the River, or the gods of the Amorites, in whose land you dwell. But as for me and my house, we will serve the LORD" Josh 24:14-15 (NKJV).

"A general dissolution of principles and manners will more surely overthrow the liberties of America than the whole force of the common enemy. While the people are virtuous they cannot be subdued; but once they lose their virtue, they will be ready to surrender their liberties to the first external or internal invader.... If virtue and knowledge are diffused among the people, they will never be enslaved. This will be their great security" Samuel Adams 1779

Summer football....

Nothing “new” about Hebert

By DON JELLISON
Reporter Editor
John Hebert carries the tag as the new head football coach at Carmel, replacing Kevin Wright. “Head coach” he is. But there is nothing “new” about Hebert when it comes to coaching at Carmel.

Hebert has spent 18 of his 20 years coaching football at Carmel. He was the defensive coordinator before being named head coach. The two years he didn’t coach at Carmel (2003-04) he was an assistant coach for Bo Belden at Westfield. Bo, the son of Hall of Fame former Carmel coach Jim Belden, was a high school all-stater while playing for Carmel.

In other words, Hebert bleeds blue and gold and he has a great deal of experience coaching championship teams.

That doesn’t mean Hebert won’t make some changes in Carmel football. But, not only has Hebert been Carmel-blessed, so has his 20-plus coaching staff. Only one retired when the coaching change was made. After that, Carmel hired four new coaches, including two, David Walker and Daniel Muir, who had experience with the Colts. Walker is the father of Jalen, a star with the Greyhounds last year while only a sophomore.

Walker and another sophomore last season, Ethan Merriweather, were outstanding wide-receivers. Hebert said Walker may be a tailback this fall, a position formerly held by graduating all-stater Shakir Paschall.

Carmel has just finished what Hebert calls a “very successful” youth camp. The coach said the summer program has been a good one.

“The team chemistry has been good,” said Hebert. “This is a tight group of players, a group which is eager to go out and prove itself.”

One thing which comes across loud and clear from the new coach is building a team with two players at every position. That’s something Carmel, with its numbers, can do.

That’s true at the tailback position. Two good prospects, along with Walker, are senior Tobias Watkins and senior Stephen Watts. Neither has a lot of varsity experience.

Even senior Michael Viktrup, who quarterbacked the Greyhounds in last year’s state finals championship game, will have Senior Michael Viktrup quarterbacked Carmel to the state championship game last season. Despite missing some playing time due to injuries, he threw for over 600 yards during the season.

competition. He missed some playing time last season because of an injury, but still threw for over 600 yards. This summer, Viktrup has been sharing time with Thomas Stone, a junior.

Hebert says the strength of the team is the offensive line, calling it Carmel’s best in the last three or four years. Starters returning from last year are senior Simon Pachciaarz and senior Cayden Cronnin. The junior class is very strong.

“We have seven or eight guys who are smart and talented,” said Hebert.

The defense has talent returning, too, including starters Andrew Verhulst at the nose, Noah Burks at outside linebacker, Cameron Hunt at inside linebacker and Alex Akins at safety. A good looking junior linebacker coming up is Justin Fleck. Also look for Britt Beery, a junior defensive lineman.

Hebert says this time a year ago he had no idea he would become a head coach at Carmel.

“It was a surprise,” said the coach. “I didn’t go into it, but now I’m giving it my best shot.”

Swims are going fast at the Enchanted Forest meet

By RICHIE HALL
Reporter Sports Editor

As usual, there's excitement in the air and in the water at the Noblesville Swim Club's Enchanted Forest Swim Meet.

The annual outdoor meet is going on this weekend at the Forest Park Aquatic Center. The swimming has been fast, a good time is being had by the swimmers, and the weather is cooperating as well.

"The meet so far has gone very, very well," said meet referee Mickey Smythe. "We've had some great times with swims for all the different athletes from different clubs. We've had a great turnout of officials from the different clubs, so the meet's been well-staffed."

The meet features swimmers from 20 clubs, mostly from Indiana. There are two clubs each from Ohio and Illinois, and a swimmer from the Land of Lincoln turned heads with her performance in the 1500 freestyle.

Eliot Kennedy, 12, of the Bloomington/Normal Waves, dominated the 11-12 division of the 1500 free in a time of 17:46.63. As it turns out, Kennedy's swim is third fastest in the country for 12-year-olds in that event. Kennedy swam her 800 split in 9:24.84, which is also the nation's third fastest time at that distance.

"That's why we do it," said Smythe. "That's exactly the reason we put on the swim meets and that's why we volunteer to do these events, is to have exactly that happen. A wonderful young lady who puts in a top 10 national time, top three in the country for two events. That's why we do this. It's for the kids."

Here's a list of county Top 20 finishers from the Friday evening and Saturday afternoon sessions. More results will run in a later edition.
