Empowering adults to prevent sexual abuse...

Stewards of Children program

By RICHIE HALL

It's a frightening statistic: One out of 10 children are sexually abused by their 18th birthday.

That number alone makes the Stewards for Children® program important. The monthly program is presented by Chaucie's Place, a Carmel-based organization that is dedicated to preventing child sexual abuse and youth suicide.

Stewards for Children takes place every month at a different location in Hamilton County. The November presentation is scheduled for 5:30 to 8 p.m. Monday, Nov. 16 at the Noblesville Schools Education Service Center, 18025 River Road. Stewards of Children is a prevention training program that teaches adults how to prevent, recognize, and react appropriately to child sexual abuse. The program is designed specifically for parents or adults who work with children; those who attend must be over 18.

Toby Stark, the executive director of Chaucie's Place, said that the presentation is "very, very powerful," but also eye-opening and empowering as well.

"We educate folks about the depth and breadth of child sexual abuse in our community," said Stark.

While the presentation is geared to those adults who work with children, such as educators, and adults who work at camps and youth organizations, Stark said the program "is very broad-based in knowledge." Parents will benefit from attending the program, as well as any adult who works with children in any capacity.

"We give them very concrete and pragmatic things they can do," said Stark.

The Stewards for Children program will teach adults about the warning signs of abuse, because "oftentimes those warning signs are right in front of us," said Stark. In addition, the program lets people know how they should respond to a disclosure or suspicion of abuse - not just their legal responsibility, but also the way to respond that will be in the best emotional interest of the child.

"One of the things we talk about is how to minimize one-on-one situations between children and adults, or older children," said Stark, noting that "80 percent of all child sexual abuse happens in one-on-one situations.

In addition, the program also teaches adults the importance of letting a child know that if he or she ever discloses abuse, it's important to say "I believe you." Stark said that whether a child is believed after a disclosure is "the biggest indicator of how the abuse will affect that child for the rest of their life."

At the end of the program, those that attend are asked to write down one thing they will do differently after having gone through the training. Stark said the reactions they get range from "stunned and sad" because of the statistics to "empowered" that they were able to identify one or two things they can do that will better protect children.

"After taking this program, it's really the beginning of something," said Stark. "It's not something you check off your list that you've done."

Registration for the Nov. 16 Stewards of Children program is still available, but those interested in attending are advised to register now, since space is limited. The cost is $15, and registration is available at the Chaucie's Place Web site, www.chauciesplace.org

If you can't make the November program but wish to attend in the future, the December Stewards of Children program is scheduled for 5:30 p.m. Wednesday, Dec. 9 at the Fishers YMCA, 9012 E. 126th St.

It's all about the cackle

By JANET HART LEONARD

Cackle

1. :to make the sharp broken noise or cry characteristic of a hen, especially after laying an egg.

2. :to laugh, especially in a harsh or sharp manner.

Any way you define it, you know the sound. Anyone who has been around me and my best friend from Junior High knows the sound.

On Monday, I sent Patrice a text, "Hey, do you want company on Wednesday?" Last minute. No planning. I took a mental health day from work and drove the two hours to her home in Ohio.

I am not sure what it is about seeing a best friend that warms your heart, makes it do cartwheels and just makes you smile all over...but it does.

My Dad used to say that whenever Patrice spent the night, he got very little sleep. He would just doze off and then hear it...the cackle. We saw the "funny" in the craziest things. We still do. Just ask my husband and hers. We are partners in crime.

Ray said for us to take the Mini Cooper when we went shopping instead of my Flex. We knew he thought it meant less shopping. He should know by now that where there is a will, there is a way with us. Patrice and I wrestled a bar stool into the Mini. I said "well, if it won't fit I'll just sit on the roof rack and hold it. Picture that!" And we cackled.

We had the sales clerks in the outlet store cackling with us. They said they envied our friendship, said it was rare. We told of my husband having the rule that if you buy something, then you have to get rid of something. Remember last time Patrice and I went shopping I bought an island for the kitchen then I threw away a sippy cup. Chuck clarified the rule to be in equal proportion of the item bought. Not sure what item of HIS that I will get rid of since I bought the barstool for the island in the kitchen. (He never clarified that it had to be something of mine.)

We headed back to Patrice's house. We shared about how much we are alike. We call ourselves, sisters from other mothers. Sometimes we finish each other's sentence. We know, we just know. Sometimes, when we lose our train of thought or discussion, we grab the "squirrel" and get the other one back on track. "What was I saying?" may be the question and hopefully the other one remembers. When neither one of us can remember...we just cackle. It's just so us. We may remember, down stream, later in a conversation.

Someday, in about 30 years, we may struggle to remember that we are best friends but I bet we become best friend...again. How will we recognize each other? The cackle. I am loving growing old with my friend. To me she will always be that pretty girl who sat beside me in Mr. Fleming's home room class when we were in the seventh grade. I am sure he remembers the cackle.

Past president, old friend...

Former Sheridan Rotarian makes visit

The Sheridan Rotary Club recently welcomed an old friend and past president of the Club. Jim Stoops, a former Sheridan businessman and merchant, came to the most recent club meeting to present a travelogue about his visit to mainland China. His trip covered the cities of Shanghai and Beijing and points in between and took place in 2010, just prior to the Beijing Olympics.

The interest for Rotarians, of course, is that Rotary is an international organization. While not yet a presence in mainland China, Rotary clubs exist throughout the Asian continent in multiple other countries, promoting the ideals of this humanitarian organization. Stoops' PowerPoint presentation about China gave Sheridan club member's further insight into this powerful developing nation which, arguably, is the world's largest economy.

Sheridan Rotary has formal meetings the first and third Tuesday evenings at 6:15 pm in the Community Room of the Sheridan Public Library. We always have a guest speaker or interesting program to present to members and the general public if they care to attend. If you would like to attend a Sheridan Rotary meeting, please contact any local member or club secretary Steve Martin at the library (758-5201). The Sheridan Public Library is located at 103 West First Street in beautiful uptown Sheridan, just on the country side of Hamilton County, Indiana. The public is welcome to attend.

Great defensive effort...

Millers cruise to home-opening win

By RICHIE HALL

Reporter Sports Editor

If the true measure of a basketball team is how it bounces back after a tough loss, then the Noblesville girls are pretty good.

The Class 4A No. 4 Millers scored the first 20 points of its Saturday night game with Fort Wayne Snider Saturday in their home opener at The Mill, and cruised on to a 91-50 victory over the Panthers. It was Noblesville's first win of the year, two days after it opened the season with a loss to Lawrence North.

The Millers had 11 players take to the floor, and all of them scored.

"We definitely had a really good last 36 hours just talking about our approach to defense," said Noblesville coach Donna Buckley. "Lawrence North, we did not guard anybody, we didn't really have a purpose. We spent the last 36 hours talking about re-focusing and doing a better job of being a team and playing defense. That definitely was reflective in the way we played tonight."

While the Millers were pouring in their first-quarter points, their defense completely shut down Snider, at times barely allowing them to get past mid-court. Alexis Shannon scored eight points in the first period.

"I knew they were going to play well," said Buckley. "They were ready to go. Lawrence North was a great opener for us to really get ourselves focused, and for our young kids. We have a bunch of new kids, and so it was good for them to kind of realize what level you have to play at on the defensive end to be successful."

The Panthers made a slight comeback as the first quarter moved into the second, getting as close as 26-12 at the 5:53 mark. But Noblesville went on another dominating run, outscoring 28-7 in the remainder of the half. The big story was Rachel Shipman, who sank four 3-pointers in the first half.

The Millers cruised through the second half, taking their largest lead at the end of the third quarter. A Sam Salmon jump shot made the score 76-30, and Emily Kiser began the fourth period with a jumper to get Noblesville ahead 78-32. The Millers' held their lead in the fourth quarter, with some good play from the bench - Olivia Morales, Mallory Johnson and Kailyn Mertens all scored baskets.

Katelyn O'Reilly had a perfect game, scoring 19 points by making all six of her field goals and all seven of her free throws. Shannon added 18 points, while Shipman finished with 17, including five 3-pointers.

Kiser yanked 10 rebounds, with Brooke Herron handing out five assists.

The Millers host Tech on Tuesday.

Kara Gerka, the returning ace of the team, is sidelined with an injury and hopefully will be back by mid-season.

The Gerka who is picking up some of the slack is “little sister, Kara’s sophomore sister.

Ali Gerka poured in 22 points as Fishers nearly defeated Southport in the Hamilton Southeastern Shootout on Saturday. She canned two 3-pointers to force the game into overtime and then hit two more in the extra period, but Fishers fell short, 46-43.

Earlier in the day Fishers lost to a veteran Ben Davis team 61-41.

“Their pressure killed us in the Ben Davis game,” said Fishers coach Michael Gaines.

“It will be good when we get Kara (Gerka) back. She really competes and that is what this team needs to learn, how to compete.”

Lady Royals split...

HSE can't handle quick Giants

By DON JELLISON
Reporter Editor

What a difference a few hours between games can make. Tackling a tougher opponent also had something to do with it for Hamilton Southeastern Lady Royals while opening the season Saturday in the Hamilton Southeastern Shootout.

After blowing out Southport 50-30 in the morning round, the tables were turned on Chris Huppenthal’s club while losing to Ben Davis 52-35 in the nightcap.

Two different games. Two different opponents. Two different performance by Southeastern.

In the morning opener Bre Lloyd poured in 23 points and Megan Walton was close behind with 17 in a romp against Southport

As good as Lloyd and Walton were, Huppenthal said a key to victory was the play of two other Royals.

“Give Kyndall Williams and Chelsea Maxey a ton of credit for the defense they did in the middle,” said the coach.

Williams led HSE on the boards with six rebounds.

In the evening game, Southeastern led Ben Davis 15-11 overall but then the Giants went on a 17-3 run in the second quarter.

“They are just too quick and physical for us to be able to handle a team like that this early in the season,” Huppenthal said of the Giants.

Walton and Lloyd again led Southeastern’s scoring, notching 15 and 11 points.

Eagles worn down in the second half...

GC falls to Zionsville

The Guerin Catholic girls basketball team played a good first half in its season opener Saturday, but visiting Zionsville wore down the Golden Eagles in the second half and sent them to a 58-43 loss at the Eagles Nest.

Guerin led 27-21 at halftime before the Zionsville Eagles blasted through the third period 18-3. That gave Zionsville a 39-30 advantage, and it increased the lead over GC during the fourth.

“I thought we played a tremendous first half,” said Golden Eagles coach Scott Miller. “We were up six at the half. We really talked to them about mental and physical toughness tonight, and I thought in the first half we were very tough mentally and physically. I think we just got worn down a little bit in the second half with their size and their aggressiveness.

Sarah Yount led the Guerin scoring with 15 points, while Abigail Wampler added 10 points. Miller said he thought Wampler played a “tremendous first half” for the Golden Eagles.

Guerin Catholic will have next week off, then return to action Friday, Nov. 20 at Decatur Central.

Battle of ranked teams...

Northside Lions outrun Northwest Warriors

It was the Northside Lions' depth and don't quit attitude that enabled them to prevail over conference rival Northwest Warriors from Whitestown 68-53 on Friday night in the Lions first home game of the 2015-16 season. In a highly anticipated game a packed house saw, the 29th nationally ranked Northwest HomeSchool Lions upset the 9th ranked Northwest Home-School Warriors in what turned out to be a fast paced yet physical game.

In the end, however, the Lions were able to outlast and pull away from the Warriors for the upset win. But the win didn't come without a price as two Lions players went down with head injuries during the game.

Senior Stephen Schwartz was undercut by two Warrior players while vying for a rebound under the basket during the first half and had to come out of the game. A concussion test had to be administered to Schwartz but no concussion symptoms were detected and he was allowed to reenter the game. In the 4th quarter senior Sean Tharp crashed hard into a wall just beyond the padding at the end of court. After concussion testing was administered to Sean it was determined that he sustained a possible concussion and will see a doctor on Monday.

The game started and ended on the run as both teams played a very fast paced transition game. However, it was the Lions who outran, outplayed and outscored the Warriors in every quarter. The Lions held the upper hand at the end of the first quarter 16-11 and held on to a 35-29 lead at half-time. The Lions started to distance themselves from the Warriors in the 3rd quarter outscoring the Warriors 15-10 for a 50-39 lead and pulled away in the 4th quarter outscoring the Warriors 18-14 to take the win 68-53

The Lions had multiple stars in this game. Each time the Warriors tried to mount a run at the Lions, someone different stepped up to stifle their momentum. Aaron Tharp came up big with two 3-pointers during one Warriors run in the second half. Caleb Jones came off the bench at point guard in the first half to contribute several key assists, two big steals and three timely driving floaters down the lane. Lions' center Stephen Schwartz was big on the boards and had several key baskets in the paint.

The Lions had balanced scoring from everyone with 4 players in double figures. Daniel Abbott lead the Lions in scoring with 12 points including two 3-pointers. Stephen Schwartz and Aaron Tharp were right behind Abbott with 11 points each with Tharp nailing three 3-pointers. Sean Tharp finished the double figure scoring with 10 points including one 3-pointer. Rounding out the scoring, Jones had 8 points, Vitales and Stieglitz had 6 each and Job had 4 points. Stephen Schwartz lead the Lions with 7 rebounds and 4 steals and Caleb Jones lead the team with 7 assists.

The Lions travel to Goshen next Friday and Saturday to play two more conference games at Goshen College as they face-off against two Rockford, Illinois foes. On Friday night the Lions take on the Illinois Impact and on Saturday they face the Rockford Fire.

Westfield girls are 2-0...

'Rocks hold off Pendleton comeback

The Westfield girls basketball team improved to 2-0 Saturday, with a win at Pendleton Heights.

It wasn't easy, though. The Shamrocks led 47-24 after three quarters, but the Arabians made a huge fourth-quarter comeback, scoring 29 points. But Westfield was able to hang on for the 57-53 victory.

Haliigh Reinoehl led the way for the 'Rocks with a double-double of 17 points and 13 rebounds. Maddy Grennes also added 17 points, including three 3-pointers, and handed out four assists. Allison VanDyke drained four 3s on her way to 14 points.

Westfield plays its home opener Tuesday, hosting Franklin Central at The Rock.
