NWMS' Waldner named...

Counselor of the Year

By RICHIE HALL

Lauri Waldner said that "honored" may be an overused word, but that's exactly what she thinks about receiving the Indiana Counselor of the Year award.

Waldner is the guidance director at Noblesville West Middle School, and was recently named as Middle School Counselor of the Year for the state of Indiana by the Indiana School Counselors Association. Candidates nominated for the award were evaluated based on their overall contributions to the counseling field, as well as their professional goals and progress in achieving them.

"Educators spend their days in the trenches, working harder than in any career I know," said Waldner. "To receive this award among my peers is incredible."

Waldner

Waldner has been with Noblesville Schools for 25 years, working as a district at-risk coordinator and a counselor at Hazel Dell Elementary prior to her current role at NWMS. She also has a bachelor and Master's degrees in School Psychology and School Counseling from Butler University.

Waldner began her career at Noblesville Schools in 1990 as the At-Risk Coordinator. Two years later, she was given an opportunity to start the district's elementary counseling program.

"At this point, I had my School Psychology degree, but wanted to have more direct, continual contact with students, so I pursued an additional degree in School Counseling," said Waldner.

Waldner maintains a long list of career accomplishments including:

- Designing and implementing the elementary counseling program for Noblesville Schools

- Redesigning the middle school counseling program for Noblesville Schools
- Serving as an adjunct professor at Butler's Graduate School of Counseling
- Leading the Butler Testing Clinic
- Serving on the Red Cross mental health team during Hurricane Katrina
- Serving as Guardian-Ad-Litem for Hamilton County Courts
- Presenting at state ISCA conferences

"Lauri is one of the hardest working people I know," said Stacey Swan, principal of Noblesville West Middle School. "Her passion and commitment are hard to match. She works tirelessly to serve all groups within Noblesville West and we are very fortunate to have her sharing her ideas and determination to make Noblesville

Richardson, Torr among caucus and committee chair assignments

Two Hamilton County state representatives are part of the caucus and committee chairmanship assignments that were announced by House Speaker Brian C. Bosma (R-Indianapolis) on Thursday.

State Rep. Kathy Kreg Richardson (R-Noblesville) will serve as the Majority Caucus Chair, and will also be the vice chair of the Elections and Apportionment Committee. Also, State Rep. Jerry Torr (R-Carmel) will serve as the Chair of the Committee on Joint Rules, and be the vice chair under Bosma for the Committee on Joint Rules

"I firmly believe that committees are the workhorses of our legislative institution. Much of the heavy lifting is done in our committees, which are requiring more from legislators than ever before," Bosma said.

Bosma announced the appointment of State Rep. Mike Karickhoff (R-Kokomo) as deputy speaker pro tem, and State Rep. Sharon Negele (R-Attica) as assistant majority whip. State Rep. Bill Friend (R-Macy) continues as the Speaker Pro Tempore, and State Rep. Bob Heaton (R-Terre Haute) remains the Majority Whip. State Rep. Eric Koch (R-Bedford) and State Rep. Greg Steuerwald (R-Avon) will serve as assistant Majority Caucus Chairs.

Other changes include State Rep. Martin Carbaugh (R-Fort Wayne) as the new chairman of the Insurance Committee, and State Rep. Cindy Kirchhofer (R-Beech Grove) as chairwoman of the Public Health Committee. Former Public Health chairman State Rep. Ed Clere (R-New Albany) will assume a role on the Ways & Means Committee.

Hamilton County EMA conducts exercise

Officials from public agencies and organizations across Hamilton County came together for a functional planning exercise at the Hamilton County Emergency Management Agency on Thursday.

The exercise was designed to test the operational response, from activation to staffing to management, of the Emergency Operations Center in Hamilton County. Plans, policies, procedures, and capabilities were examined as they were put through a practical application.

The exercise scenario consisted of a tanker of hazardous material overturned on a bridge across the White River in Hamilton County, releasing contents both in the water and in a cloud. To further exacerbate the problem, the incident occurred on a busy Saturday autumn afternoon when multiple events were in progress around the county. As the incident unfolded, numerous injects of real-life possibilities were given to officials to test their reactions and the resources available. Medical facilities, public utilities, organizations, and others joined forces with public safety officials to address potential issues and problems that were generated by the exercise. Evaluators from outside Hamilton County also attended to review the response by local authorities.

Through functional exercises and trainings such as this, public officials from various agencies evaluate their knowledge as they prepare for any unusual situations, such as terrorism, hazardous materials, epidemics, natural catastrophes or manmade disasters that may occur in Hamilton County. Officers and officials regularly practice and prepare for all types of incidents that may occur in and around the county to ensure the safety of area residents.

Noblesville Parks to debut Bubble Ball Soccer Friday

The Noblesville Parks & Recreation Department will offer the newest trend in sports – Bubble Ball Soccer. The activity is similar to bumper cars with a soccer ball, but is safer than football, cheaper than hockey and bouncier than basketball.

"You're playing soccer inside a giant inflatable bubble," said Noblesville Parks Assistant Director Mike Hoffmeister. "You get in the bubble – secured by straps and covered above your head to your knees – and hit people as hard as you want. Falling over and ramming people doesn't hurt at all. It's fun to play, and even funnier to watch."

The parks department offers two different bubble balls sizes: medium and large. To get the public knowledgeable about the sport, the parks department is offering two open houses at the Recreation Annex located at Ivy Tech Community College, 300 N. 17th Street. Guests are asked to enter off

Harrison Street, Gate 18 across from the football stadium.

The free open houses are 7 to 9 p.m. Fridays, Nov. 20 and Dec. 18. In addition to trying out Bubble Ball Soccer, the parks staff will have other recreation activities available like Pickleball, basketball and dodgeball.

For those that enjoy the twist on traditional soccer, the parks department is creating a six-week Bubble Ball Soccer League from January 8 through February 12. Games will be scheduled between 6 to 10 p.m. Friday nights. Teams are $200 and consist of four to six players, ages 16 and older. To register or for more information, call 770-5750.

"We are excited about our Recreation Annex and the expanded programming opportunities it provides. I think teens and adults will enjoy Bubble Ball Soccer and not realize the workout it provides," Recreation Director Nichole Haberland said.

Schools the best environment for all families."

Besides her work in Noblesville, Waldner said that traveling to Biloxi, Miss. to help with victims of Hurricane Katrina was a defining moment for her, both personally and professionally. She said the devastation of that hurricane could only be experienced by being at "ground zero."

"I worked at a shelter with the newly homeless for two weeks," said Waldner. "The three hours that I'll never forget involved working with a man who had decided that suicide was his only path. He and I reflected on how he could draw on his survival skills of past tragedies to sustain him in his current crisis."

As for working at Noblesville Schools, Waldner said she has "loved working with staffs who share the same love of children that I do."

"I absolutely love my job," said Waldner. "What's more gratifying than that?"

Hamilton County WIC to host Baby & Me Tobacco Free classes

Hamilton County Women, Infants and Children (WIC), Partnership for a Healthy Hamilton County (PHHC) and Hesalthe Communities of Clinton County (HCCC) have partnered to offer Baby & Me Tobacco Free (BMTF), a program funded by the Indiana State Department of Health to assist pregnant women in smoking cessation. Participants who complete four classes, quit smoking during pregnancy and remain smoke-free are eligible for $25 in diaper vouchers for up to 12 months postpartum. They do not have to be WIC clients to participate.

"We are excited about this opportunity to assist pregnant women who smoke and their unborn babies," said Sharon Barrett, director of Indiana Health Centers Hamilton County WIC program. "Smoking while pregnant increases the likelihood of low birth weight, preterm delivery and decreased respiratory function. This program fits with WIC's mission to help women deliver healthy babies by educating them about proper nutrition and self-care, and to keep their babies healthy after delivery by offering breastfeeding classes and checkups."

Components of the Baby & Me Tobacco Free program are a commitment to become a non-smoker while pregnant and after delivery, program enrollment, attendance at four prenatal smoking cessation classes which include education about Indiana's Tobacco Quitline, 1-800-QuitNow, and passing a breath test for up to 12 months after the baby is born. Successful participants receive $25 in diaper vouchers monthly, which are redeemable at CVS Pharmacy or Walmart. Women who deliver twins or multiples are eligible for vouchers in the same amount for each child. Classes are held the first Tuesday of the month, 10:30 a.m., and the third Tuesday of the month, 1 p.m., at the WIC office in the Hamilton County Service Center, 942 North 10th Street, Noblesville, 46060. Classroom space was donated by owner and landlord Senator Luke Kenley.

Those with questions or who are interested in registering can call 765-659-6063.

The classes came to Hamilton County through a partnership between HCCC and PHHC. Both counties hold ISDH Tobacco Prevention & Cessation grant funding, which promotes Indiana's Tobacco Quitline, 1-800-QuitNow. HCCC also has grant funding for Baby & Me Tobacco Free and is encouraged to share the program with surrounding counties.

"As counties we share the same goals of smoking cessation and Quitline promotion, and offering BMTF furthers both of those goals in a targeted, high-risk group," said Kathy Martin, tobacco prevention and cessation coordinator and BMTF facilitator for HCCC, who will teach the classes. "We want all babies to be born healthy and on time and are happy to collaborate in order to do so."

"BMTF broadens PHHC's reach in a critical component of its tobacco prevention and cessation program by offering cessation services to a population in which smoking endangers not just one, but two, people," said Holly Wheeler, assistant director, PHHC, and interim tobacco prevention and cessation coordinator for the county. "It's all about decreasing smoking rates, and helping pregnant moms do so just makes sense. WIC was a natural choice for collaboration because of its commitment to keeping pregnant mothers healthy and because of the relationships it builds with its clients."

The BMTF program is available to other residents and caregivers to whom the mother and baby will be exposed before and after delivery. The child's father or other regular caregiver, such as a grandparent, who complete BMTF classes, quit smoking and pass monthly breath tests, also are eligible for monthly $25 diaper vouchers.

All BMTF participants are encouraged to use Indiana's free, phone-based tobacco cessation service, 1-800-QuitNow. Further information about the service can be found at www.indianaquitline.net.

Westfield's Shari Wagner named Indiana State Poet Laureate

The Indiana Arts Commission (IAC) announced on Thursday the selection of Shari Wagner, Westfield, Indiana, as the new Indiana State Poet Laureate.

Wagner teaches poetry and memoir writing at the Indiana Writers Center and literature for Butler University's Religion, Spirituality and the Arts seminar. She holds an M.F.A. in Creative Writing from Indiana University – Bloomington and is the author of two poetry books, The Harmonist at Nightfall: Poems of Indiana and Evening Chore. Her poems have been featured in Ted Kooser's syndicated column, American Life in Poetry and in Garrison Keillor's radio program, The Writer's Almanac.

Born in Goshen, Indiana, Wagner grew up in rural Wells County, near the town of Markle, Indiana. She is married and has two grown children. She has taken part in international cross-cultural experiences in Somalia, Kenya, Haiti, and Honduras as well as domestic cross-cultural experiences working and living with the Clifton-Choctaw of Louisiana. Her special interest is in Native American history and Indiana history and folklore.

"I am delighted and honored to represent poetry in a state that has shaped my artistic vision in so many ways and given me such a wealth of subjects to explore," Wagner said. "In the next two years, I look forward to traveling its length and breadth as I promote Indiana poets and foster the writing and reading of poems in a variety of settings – schools, parks, libraries, senior and veteran centers, and historic sites. It's exciting that Indiana's bicentennial and the centennial of its state parks will occur during my term, significant anniversaries I plan to celebrate by emphasizing poetry's connection to history and nature."

Wagner will begin her two-year term as Indiana Poet Laureate January 1, 2016 and will continue serving through December 31, 2017.

The Indiana Arts Commission conducted a statewide call for nominations which were reviewed by a selection committee comprised of representatives from Indiana's major institutions of higher education.

"Indiana is fortunate to have an abundance of creative talent promoting the art of poetry and its ability to enrich the lives of all ages," said Sarah Fronczek, IAC Community Development Manager and Poet Laureate Program Director. "Shari Wagner possesses a special gift and ability to communicate her knowledge and love of nature and humanity through written and spoken verse. She will carry forward the fine work of all of Indiana's previous gifted and dedicated laureates."

Wagner succeeds George Kalamaras, becoming the sixth State Poet Laureate since the program was created.

Increasing awareness of poetry and the power of the written and spoken word was the inspiration behind legislation signed into law in 2005 creating the State Poet Laureate Program. The legislation provides for the development of special educational programming coordinated between the Indiana Arts Commission, the Indiana Department of Education, and the State Poet Laureate.

To learn more about the Poet Laureate program, please visit: www.in.gov/arts/2393.htm.

The Indiana Arts Commission is dedicated to the vision of the arts everywhere, everyday, for everyone in Indiana.

Dottie Hancock visits Sheridan Rotary

The Sheridan Rotary club was honored to receive a visit recently from Dottie Hancock who is the chair of the central Indiana Rotary District 6560 Rotary Foundation. Hancock presented the club with information regarding the goals and achievements of the Foundation which is dedicated to educational, health and humanitarian projects throughout the world.

Rotary clubs across the world are dedicated to doing good things for people who need help. Through the generosity of the hundreds of existing Rotary clubs many of our less fortunate neighbors have received wells to provide clean water, schools to provide adequate education, equipment and training to provide adequate food, and, of course, support to help eradicate diseases such as polio.

Also featured at the club's most recent meeting was the induction of Sheridan resident Clifford Biddle into club membership. Cliff was the second new member within the past few weeks. His nephew Chris Adams was inducted into membership 2 weeks ago. Congratulations to Cliff and welcome to Sheridan Rotary.

Sheridan Rotary meeting on Tuesday, December 1 will feature guest speaker Debra Lanning. Ms. Lanning will talk about her work in the field of Alzheimer's disease and long term memory care and how patients and their families can find the resources to lessen the burden of this terrible disorder. The program will begin at 6:45 pm and is open to the public.

Sheridan Rotary meets for formal meetings with a meal and a guest speaker on the first and third Tuesday evenings of each month at 6:15 pm at the Sheridan Public Library. If you are interested in coming as a guest for a meeting and meal, please contact any Sheridan Rotary member or contact club secretary Steve Martin at the library (317-758-5201) to make arrangements. As noted above, guest speaker programs are always open to the general public starting at 6:45 pm. The Sheridan Public Library is located at 103 West First Street in beautiful uptown Sheridan, just on the country side of Hamilton County, Indiana.

Sheridan will be led by 4 seniors

By DON JELLISON
Reporter Editor

Chris Schrank, in his second year as coach of the Sheridan Blackhawks, will ride the backs of four seniors into a Nov. 25 home opener with Rossville.

“At this point, we will probably start with our four seniors, Chris Roberts Patrick Weitzel, Jacob Chesney ad Taylor Ly,” said Schrank.

“The senior have done a nice job providing leadership, and their effort has been great.

“The fifth spot in the starting line is up for grabs, but frontrunners there would probably be between Aidan Roaten and Tommy Glidden,” Schrank added.

Glidden is a 6-1 junior and Roaten is a 6-4 junior.

Schrank believes finding backup help will be a strength of the team.

“That is one positiive hat I am looking forward to this year,” explained the coach. “I think we have 10 guys that we could put into a game and we shouldn’t see much drop off.

“Our starting lineup may change from game to game because guys have worked and earned a spot in practice. Certainly, Weston Burtron (6-6 junior) could start, especially in games where we need his length. Our younger guys (6-2 sophomore Jack Waitt, 5-11 sophomore Austin Hunter and 5-6 freshman Drake Delph) will have to work to overtake others right now, but they have all done well in practice so far and also will earn some time.”

Sam Crail was injured and will not be able to play his junior season.

“I am excited about our group,” Schrank continued. “We have a group that has put in a lot of work in the off-season to improve individually and collectively.

“We have been competitive in practice so far. We have good energy. Ultimately, through, the results from game to game will depend on how well we executive, how bought in we are, how smart we play and how hard we compete. I think the opportunity is there for us to have a successful season.

“Wins and losses will be mostly determined by how well we do the things I have mentioned above,” Schrank added.

The Hoosier Heartland Conference has changed. There are now two 5-school divisions. Sheridan will play in the East, along with Clinton Central, Eastern, Taylor and

Royals are young and talented

By DON JELLISON
Reporter Editor
Last season was a disappointing year for Hamilton Southeastern’s Royals.

Schofield

Miller

Bemby

“We had to fight through injuries and illness,” Coach Brian Satterfield explained.
“This year the team will be young again, with only three seniors. However, there should be plenty of competition for varsity positions.” Satterfield added. “The coaching staff feels there are many players who will be competing for varsity minutes.”
One of those players will be one of the best juniors in the Hoosier Crossroads Conference and one of the best players in the sectional area, 6-7 Zach Gunn. Last year he averaged 18.2 points and 10.2 rebounds a game.
Other lettermen returning will be 6-3 senior Greg Miller (6.7 points and 2.5 rebounds); 6-8 sophomore Brennan Schofield (3.4 points and 2.0 rebounds); 6-0 senior JD Bemby (3.0 points), and 6-1 junior Austin Holzum (1.6 points).
Bemby is injured and expected to miss the first week of the season. Miller, 6-1 junior Conner Rotterman, Gunn, Schofield and 6-4 junior Jack Davdison likely will be in Satterfield’s starting lineup when the Royals begin play on Nov. 24 at home against Muncie Central.
“The keys this year will be finding players who have great chemistry, provide leadership, are unselfish and they limit turnovers,” said the coach. “The one piece that was missing last year was a lock-down defender. If we can find that person(s), we feel we can have a very good season.”
Averaging a double-double last year, Gunn is getting looks from high major D-1 schools.
Miller and Bemby got into the starting lineups at times last season and will provide senior leadership. Schofield ad Holzum were two other payers who saw quality time and bring special qualities to the team.
The remaining cast for this year could come from any of several players, including 6-5 senior Jaylon Tapplar, 6-4 junior Brock Burns, 6-2 junior Jack Habegger, 6-6 junior Aaron Shank, 6-2 junior Trevin Trabue, 5-11 sophomore Nick Bowman, 5-10 sophomore Cobie Dillard, 5-10 sophomore Josh Fugate, 6-5 freshman Aaron Etherington and 6-0 freshman Noah Smith. Etherington had two brothers that graduated from Hamilton Heights, and both are playing Division I basketball in college.
“All have shown times of being able to help us out,” said Satterfield. “Thus, practices should be very competitive. We will use the first half of the season to help us figure out who gives us the best opportunity for success in the post season.
“The challenge for the team will be gaining the varsity experience that it lacks and gaining cohesiveness with each other at both ends of the floor.
“The staff feels we will be very capable if all understand what is needed for success at both ends of the floor. Being active and communication will be vital for the team to achieve it.
“This could be another great opportunity for the Royals to have a successful season,” Satterfield added.
Southeastern will play in a big 12-school, Dec. 29-30 event at Columbus City, Huntington North High School and Huntington University. Playing in Pool A will be Columbia City, South Bend Washington, Blackhawk Christian; Pool B New Haven, Lake Central and Jeffersonville; Pool C Huntington North, South Bend Riley and Horizon Christian, and Southeastern will play in Pool D with Norwell and Merrillville. On Dec. 29 HSE will play Norwell at 2 p.m. and Merrillville at 6 p.m. at Huntington North High School.

Hamilton Southeastern’s Zach Gunn averaged a double-double for the Royals last season. Gunn scored 18.2 points and pulled 10.2 rebounds per game.

Playoff games will be played Dec. 30 at Huntington University and Huntington North.

Hamilton Heights’ Trezdon O’Neal was one of three semi-state qualifiers for the Huskies wrestling team last season. O’Neal is also one of seven seniors that is listed to start the season at Heights’ Super 6 on Saturday.

Wrestling preview...

Young Millers, experienced Huskies start at Super 6

By RICHIE HALL
Reporter Sports Editor
The Noblesville wrestling team will be a young one this season, although the Millers do have a little bit of experience back as well.
Noblesville will begin its varsity campaign on Saturday, when it travels up to the Hamilton Heights Super 6. It's the first of two November invitational for the

D. Kitko

Millers, with the second one on Nov. 28 at Triton Central.
Among some of the familiar names returning for Noblesville are junior David Kitko, who qualified for semi-state last season and was a champion at the Hamilton Heights sectional at 132 pounds. Senior Dylan McGuffey (at 182) and junior Nick Brady (at 106) were regional qualifiers as well.
After that comes a huge squadron of freshmen. Many of them will be wrestling junior varsity, but a few of them are also slated for varsity action. With that, NHS coach Tom Knotts knows that his team will need more experience, which the Millers will get with their tough schedule.

"Hopefully we will improve by end of season to a point where we are competitive," said Knotts. "We will rebuild this year and try to have a winning season."
Meanwhile, Hamilton Heights has the opposite situation - quite a bit of experience. Seven seniors are set to be on the mat when the Huskies host their Super 6 on Saturday.
That includes sectional champions David Bryant (at 106) and Trezdon O'Neal (at 126), plus regional qualifier Cody Turner at 113. Clayton Cowan is a junior, but he also won a sectional last season, taking the 145 crown. Bryant also won a regional title, joining O'Neal and Cowan as semi-state qualifiers. Junior Chris Loy is another regional qualifier; he advanced at 120.
Other returning seniors are Hunter Haynes, Lucas Pieper and Jaleel Pugh. Junior Riley White had a nice football season and will try to replicate that success on the mat.

Boys Tennis Players of the Year

Zach Hennessey and Kenny Miller, Carmel

Carmel seniors Zach Hennessey and Kenny Miller were a perfect match during this year’s boys tennis season, and their near-perfect record at No. 1 doubles makes them this year’s Hamilton County Reporter Boys Tennis Players of the Year.

Hennessey and Miller finished the season 14-1, with their only loss coming in the quarter-finals of the state meet to a North Central team that went on to win the team and individual state championships. Along the way, they helped the Greyhounds to a sixth consecutive appearance at the state finals.
