The County Line...

Will Dillinger
run for an 8th term?

By FRED SWIFT

For months County Commissioner Steve Dillinger has been considering whether or not to run for an unprecedented eighth term on Hamilton County's powerful executive body.

He still has not made public his decision, but invitations to a fundraiser to be held in coming weeks gives a clear indication that he will indeed run again to become Indiana's longest serving executive officeholder.

Will it be an easy re-election? Dillinger has his critics, he's always had an opponent in the Republican primary and there are those who may oppose him again. But, Steve draws criticism because he is a doer and not bashful about pushing for what he thinks needs to be done. And he's done a lot in his 27 years as a commissioner.

I think we must look at local government to see why Hamilton County is what it is today. The school systems have certainly done their part to create the image of the best in education. City governments have done their part in creating safe, attractive surroundings in which to live. And, county government has done its part of produce the infrastructure and facilities that serve countywide needs.

With this three-part effort the county has become the envy of the state. More people want to live here than anywhere else or so it seems as we watch all the new building and improvements. Dillinger has been a big part of this along with the help of some good fellow commissioners which is absolutely necessary in county government where there is no single executive. A majority is needed to do anything. And over the years Steve Holt and later Bill Karns and Christine Altman have provided that majority.

When elected in 1988 Dillinger, Holt and holdover Commissioner Peg Goldberg faced big challenges: 300 miles of gravel roads, a terribly overcrowded courthouse, a county jail operating beyond capacity, a lackluster fairgrounds. Riverview Hospital needed upgrading and expansion to meet approaching competition, we had no emergency management system, no hazardous waste and trash disposal center, no enforcement of accurate weights and measures, no county airport and essentially only one county park.

When we look across the county today we see corrections to all these shortcoming we faced a quarter-century ago. Is it all perfect? No, and not likely to be. But, most has gone well, very well. So, I'm glad to see Dillinger on the verge of declaring for another term in office. There is still work to be done and we know who can do it.

Meijer supports Noblesville
Fire Toy and Food Drive

The City of Noblesville thanks Noblesville’s Meijer for supporting the Noblesville Fire Department. In addition to bringing food to the department on Nov. 24, the store donated $1,000 to the Annual Firefighters Food and Toy Drive. Donations of items or money will be accepted until Dec. 11 at any Noblesville fire station or City Hall.

New Riverview Health facility planned for Westfield

If all goes well Riverview's new Westfield outpatient facility will get underway within the next four months. The 100,000 square foot building will occupy the northeast corner of U.S. 31 and Ind. 32, formerly Westfield school property.

Architect for Riverview Health's Board of Trustees is American Structurepoint of Indianapolis. Structurepoint presented drawings and received approval last week at a hospital board meeting, according to Riverview administrator Pat Fox.

The Westfield project will come before any expansion on the Noblesville campus, Fox said. Eventually Riverview is planning to make some type of major expansion either east of the hospital on the former Kahlo Auto property or south on the eastside of River Road.

Hospital officials are expected to coordinate with city and county officials on the expansion in Noblesville. The city has hopes of developing the west side of White highway improvements and a new bridge River and the county has hopes of seeing several blocks south of Ind. 32.

Increase in trash and recycling fees...

Westfield City Council
approves Garbage Ordinance

In a unanimous vote the Westfield City Council approved the Garbage Ordinance at Monday night’s City Council meeting. The new ordinance includes a $.68 monthly increase in trash and recycling fees.

“The Westfield City Council’s primary focus is being fiscally responsible,” explains Chuck Lehman City Council President. “This small increase is necessary in order to maintain the same great level of customer service Ray’s Trash provides to our citizens.”

The monthly trash fee will go up from $11.64 to $12.32, which calculates out to $2.04 a quarter. The increase is effective January 1, 2016, but property owners will start noticing the increase in their December 2015 bill as the service cycle is billed ahead of time.

M. Gavin Stuart

November 28, 1932 - November 22, 2015

M. Gavin Stuart, age 82, of Westfield, Indiana, passed away at Harbour Manor of Noblesville on Sunday evening, November 22, 2015, surrounded by his loving family. Gavin was born in Noblesville, Indiana on November 28, 1932, to the late Roy J. and Martitia (Tomlinson) Stuart. After graduating from Westfield H.S. with the class of 1951, he proudly served his country during the Korean War as a soldier with the U.S. Army. Gavin was a lifelong dairy farmer. His cows were his pride and joy. After 52+ years, Gavin finally retired from farming in 2007. Besides his duties at the farm, Gavin was also very active within many organizations. He was a member of the Eagle Creek Friends Church, and a member of the Soil and Water Conservation for over 20 years. He also served on the board of Directors of the Farm Bureau CO-OP and DHIA - Indiana State Dairy Association.

Gavin had many passions in his life, but none was more important to him than his family. He is survived by his loving wife of 62 years, Cherie (Osborne) Stuart of Westfield. She and Gavin were married on November 27, 1952. He is also survived by his daughter, Terri Anne (Ty) Shafer of Westfield; 2 grandchildren, Brian Cox (Brooke) of Greencastle and Greg Cox (Glenda) of Iowa; and 4 great grandchildren, Henry, Josie, Akasha and Haley.

He was preceded in death by his parents. Services were held on Saturday, November 28, 2015, at the Eagle Creek Friends Church, Westfield, Indiana, with visitation prior to the time of service. Burial followed at Eagletown Cemetery. In lieu of flowers, memorial contributions may be presented to the Eagletown Cemetery c/o Stuart Davis, 3924 W. 186th St., Westfield, Indiana 46074.

It is time to say it again

By MARY SUE ROWLAND

There is only one message to each and every person in our world, find some happiness, somewhere. It is that time of year, the holidays. The air is filled with wonderful things and we all should count our blessings. So why is the world in such a mess. The world has been "crazy" for some time now but recently it seems worse. People who have no business hurting other people seem to be doing more of what they do.

Living in the United States is very special and we should have little to complain about yet many just cannot find a place for happiness. The very worse day ever in the United States is better than most days in other places. It has always been the little things that count the most. A smile and a positive attitude usually will go a long way to make others happy and bring happiness back to those who give.

So the challenge this week is to add something to someone else's life. Maybe it is a warm smile or a hot meal or a toy. A donation to the many gifting efforts, going on now, would be nice. Pick one thing and help someone else. This is how it works in the United States. Helping others help themselves.

How about a volunteer effort or a visit to a new church you have been thinking about attending. How about changing something in your life? How about dropping something out of your life? How about helping someone else? How about just saying "thanks" for living in the greatest nation in the world?

Yes, the "crazies" seem to have the edge but no one can take away the pride of country, family or hometown. Think about the good times and try to create them again. What made those times good? It is that time of year. Reflection, memories, new adventures, and happy times could add to everyone's holiday spirit. A new year, a new idea, a new commitment, never give up and always look up is the message. If you need something, find someone who can help you. If you know someone who needs help, help them or find them help. Neighbors and family bring support and can make everything right again. Reach out. These are times when we miss those loved ones who have stayed away for lots of different reasons. A kind word or thought or note would be appropriate. Even a note that you write and never send will help your heart to beat a little better. A note to a loved one lost telling them all the things that did not get said helps to soften a broken heart. Let's keep the faith that all will be right with the world and all is right with our world. Happy Holidays.

Like everyone else, the holidays bring so many thoughts of the past, it was just the right time to say what has been said a hundred times. Maybe it will help you know just how lucky it is to live in these great United States.

A legacy from the heart “Water is the only drink for a wise man.” - Henry David Thoreau

By JANET HART LEONARD

Funny how a simple comment can open a floodgate of memories. Ten year old Jake said to me, this week, while Christmas shopping, "Grandma, if I don't spend all my Christmas money would you just give the rest to charity." His heart is 10% mischievious and 90% kind. You see, every year I take my grandmunchkins out to dinner and then Christmas shopping. They are given a certain amount of money to spend. This was Jake's remark while shopping for shoes and socks and a few surprises. That boy loves shoes almost as much as his grandma does. Anyway, his remark reminded me of my Dad. Jake was 3 months old when Dad passed away. Jacob has the middle name of James, after my Dad and a heart that is so like his Pop Pop's. Some fifty years ago I remember my Dad carrying in a large packing box. He and Mom filled it with a few dolls, trucks, toy guns and games, along with a couple of ladies wallets and toiletry gift sets. Each item was carefully chosen and tucked inside with a name. I recognized the names of my cousins and aunts in Kentucky. Dad had been raised poor, actually POOR. He knew what it was like to have one shirt to wear and holes in his shoes. He knew what Christmas felt like when the only gift was an orange and apple in a stocking. He made sure everyone in his family had a nice Christmas when he grew up and could provide a few surprises. This became a tradition. I believe my cousins thought Santa lived in Indiana. I believe that also. I learned at an early age just how much fun it is and how your heart is hugged when you pay it forward. They didn't call it that back then. It was just "doin' what is right for other folks." That is how both of my parents lived their life. I learned from their example. The most fun that my parents had was when they could do something for someone without them knowing it. They never did anything for the recognition. But their daughter recognized it. I believe generosity and kindness is a legacy that is passed from generation to generation. It's not about writing a check or maxing out a credit card. It is the small gestures of kindness. It is the gifts from the heart. It's recognizing a need and find a way to fill it. It's a lifestyle. Jim Hart would be proud of Jake. He inherited his kind heart. Who in your life needs a bit of kindness shown to them? Whose doorstep do you need to show up on? Who needs a card sent to them with a gift card for groceries with the card simply signed, Santa? I just have to ask...What's in your heart?

Consider this “part II” of my last article, “Holiday Indulgence” but really who in the world wants to be reminded about that at this time of year?? Please recall that I mentioned last week that I, too, have to remind myself to keep in mind the various delicacies we are bombarded with this time of year and how we respond to those goodies!

However, let us move on to a more potentially serious indulgence, that of alcohol. The obvious and most important reasons aside, that one should not over-indulge in alcohol (breaking the law and endangering lives) leaves us with the potential damage to our bodies and overall health. Many times during the holiday festivities we are faced with more opportunities to imbibe at holiday dinners, parties, and other social gatherings. An extra glass of wine or cocktail here and there is usually prevalent during these festive occasions.

I am sometimes asked by my clients about the health benefits we hear relating to red wine or more recently, beer. While much has been put forward regarding this it is important that we remember that we are talking about moderate alcohol consumption, not more than one drink per day, according to the U.S.D.A. Dietary Guidelines for Americans. The holidays can bring on a certain level of stress on their own: schedule changes, dietary changes, financial issues, etc. Alcohol consumption can rise easily. There are several repercussions from over-indulgence of alcoholic beverages. Dehydration is a problem and one should remember to drink plenty of water when drinking alcohol. Many people think that a glass of wine, in particular, is helpful for a good night’s sleep. You may fall asleep faster, but the sleep will not be as deep as what you require. Alcohol can prevent restorative deep REM sleep, which is needed to regenerate cells and allow you to feel rested. Excessive calorie intake is another issue; alcohol is not calorie free!

Finally, your body is left hungry. “When consumed excessively, alcohol can have detrimental effects on how your body uses, stores and excretes nutrients,” according to Sara Haas, R.D.N. L.D.N. a registered dietician and spokesperson for the Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics. Additionally, it can interfere with the absorption of nutrients, including vitamins B, A, and C which are all critical for metabolism, antioxidant use, bone growth, and vision.

Moderation is the key in your holiday consumption of both food and beverage. Make sure that you are consuming nutritional and filling items when you are enjoying your wine, beer, or eggnog. Hydrate your body with water along with your “adult beverages” and make sure that you are socializing responsibly with these items. You will feel better, look better, and be better if you practice moderation.

Regarding the quote at the beginning of this article, water really is your best choice for a “go to” drink at any time of year! However, I plan to enjoy a glass of wine here and there during the holiday season, along with dinner or hors d’oeuvres, of course. And refreshing eggnog will be a delicious addition to my palate along with some special Christmas cookies.

So – enjoy, my friends. If you plan to indulge in any alcoholic beverages, please plan ahead and be safe, be happy, and be well!

Our problem with driving

By SHERIDAN HIGH SCHOOL STUDENT AUSTEN EHRE

Did you know that nearly 1.3 million people die in road crashes each year, and on average, there are 3,287 deaths per day? An additional 20 to 50 million people are injured or disabled each year as well, according to Association for Safe International Road Travel (ASIRT). Death by car accident is such an avoidable way to die. There is no reason that anybody should ever die because he or she was hit by another car. I have personally never had to deal with any of my family dying from a car accident, but I am positive that some of you have.

An accident is an unexpected and undesirable event, a mishap unforeseen and without apparent cause. So in all reality most of the casualties aren’t accidents at all because more than likely there is an option to avoid these collisions. Whether it's putting on a seatbelt or not speeding, there is a way to avoid an accident. The three major types of driving activities that result in wrecks are: texting while driving, drunk driving, and the sheer fact of not paying attention whatsoever. Although there are specifics like not having a seatbelt on, this is just one specific factor. In the year 2011, 23% of car crashes happened because of texting and driving, which amounts to 1.3 million wrecks. Texting makes car crashes 23 more times likely than regular driving. I personally would rather not have that multiplier added to me.

It surprised me when I learned that someone is injured every two minutes in a drunk driving accident. Another fact is that an average drunk driver drinks and drives around 80 times before his or her first arrest. I don’t know about you, but I don’t want to be driving with any drunk drivers for my own safety. In my opinion drunk driving is worse than texting and driving because it’s not like you can stop being drunk like you can put down the cell phone. Last but not least are the wrecks that happen when people are not paying attention. There are so many things that cause people not to pay attention, such as children in the car or eating while driving. This could lead to people not seeing a sign that could indicate the need to slow down, which can cause a collision. Yes, driving is fun, but you need to be attentive and cautious at all times.

I am 15 and have just gotten my permit a couple months ago, so that is why this is all on my mind. I am going to agree that driving is really awesome, but it is also stressful a lot of the time. I know for a fact that I will need plenty more practice in order to be safe. Of course I will make mistakes, but I will be able to learn from these things. I will try to keep the people around me safe and I hope that you will do the same. This also the start of winter where roads are starting to become slick. This puts even more pressure on the ones in the driver seat. The bottom line is that if you pay attention and act smart, it will increase everybody’s odds of making it to their destination safely. If you would to see any more statistics or ways to stay safe, look at some of the following sites:

Kiser has 31-point night...

Millers roll to 71-49 win

By DON JELLISON
Reporter Editor

Miller Nation, 2015-16 style, showed up for Noblesville’s season opener Wednesday evening with a couple of questions on their minds.

How good is this young Miller team, the second team for Coach Brian McCauley?

How good is this senior kid John Kiser?

Most Miller fans came away from The Mill feeling good about both questions. Really feeling good about the 6-5 Kiser.

Noblesville had far too much for visiting Northwest to handle. Nine different Millers scored as Noblesville powered its way to a 71-49 victory.

Kiser? Not a bad opening night as he poured in 31 points and added nine rebounds.

All of which got everyone talking about Kiser. McCauley talked in terms of Kiser being an Indiana All-Star. Other talk centered around Kiser, arguably, being the best Miller basketball player since a guy by the name of Tom Coverdale.

Of course, all questions came on a night a not-too-hot Northwest team was in the building. The Millers, and Kiser, will be more tested next Friday and Saturday when the Millers hit the road to play Fishers and then Carmel.

The Howe game scheduled at NHS on this Saturday has been postponed until a later date.

“I liked the effort tonight,” McCauley said following the game. “We were not as sharp as I had hoped for. We fouled too much; we made defensive mistakes and we committed some careless turnovers.

“But, the chemistry of this team is good. I like this team,” McCauley added.

McCauley had good comments for the play of Corby Mertens. He also scored in double figures, drilling 13 points. Max Flinchum just missed double digits, scoring 8.

It was a game in which it appeared Kiser could score whenever he wanted and from most anywhere on the court.

“John played so consistently,” said McCauley.

So did the Millers, except for a bump in the road in the third quarter. Noblesville led 22-9 after one quarter and 37-25 at halftime. In the third quarter, Northwest once closed the margin to 39-33. Ryan Ogden and Kiser pumped in 3-pointers and the Millers were off and rolling again.

“I liked the way we fought out of that period of the game,” said McCauley.

The Millers hit 24-of-40 shots and stuck in 16-of-17 free throws. Noblesville was 7-of-14 from 3-point range.

Huskies win thrilling opener, fall to Marauders in Coliseum

The first week of the Hamilton Heights boys basketball season was an eventful one.

The Huskies started play for the 2015-16 campaign with a tense 59-58 win over Lebanon Wednesday at the Husky Dome. On Saturday, Heights played at the Indiana Farmers Coliseum, losing to Mount Vernon 69-54.

As far as season-opening games go, the clash between the Huskies and the Tigers was exciting, nail-biting and the Huskies won.

It was also definitely played like a first game of the season, especially in the first quarter. After a shaky start, both teams settled down to produce a thrilling finish that included EIGHT lead changes in the final two minutes and 29 seconds. Heights had the lead at the buzzer, as a Sterling Weatherford layin with less than 15 seconds to go gave the Huskies a win.

"It's great," said Hunter Crist, who incidentally scored 31 points in Heights' win. "I said, I was going to be so upset if we lost tonight. I would've been going straight to my room."

Crist did everything he could to keep himself from a self-imposed grounding. So did everyone else on the team. Eight different Huskies scored, and they all scored at least two points, which means that every basket did indeed count.

"We're going to grind it out," said HH coach Chad Ballenger. "We've got other kids that can hit shots too, and I thought Hunter did a good job."

Heights led 51-43 late in the game, but a fired-up Lebanon squad erased that with a 9-0 run. A steal by sophomore Alex Siegfried moved Lebanon ahead 52-51.

After that, both teams kept matching each other basket-for-basket. Crist hit a pair of free throws, Tigers junior Trevor Lakes answered with a jump shot. Weatherford made a layin, Siegfried hit two foul shots. Crist scored on a putback, Lebanon junior Will Byrd scored to get the Tigers up 58-57.

Heights called a timeout at that point. The final basket would go to Weatherford, who was having a frustrating game: He got in foul trouble early and found himself sitting for much of the action.

But Weatherford held his nerve playing with four fouls in the fourth quarter, and hit the game-winner as the clock reached single digits. Lebanon got one more try, but a shot at the buzzer missed.

The thrilling finish contrasted with the start, which was all jitters. The Tigers led 7-6 in a quarter that featured 11 combined turnovers. Crist was held to two points - a pair of free throws, with Weatherford and TJ Freeland also making baskets.

The Huskies got going in the second quarter, blasting off to a 26-15 lead. Dustin Williams scored his five points in the period, and Crist poured in the last six of the run, including a 4-from-4 mark at the free throw line. Crist wound up making 15 of 17 foul shots on the night.

"We're going to run through him," said Ballenger. "I didn't think he shot the ball well at times, but we're going to do a lot through him. Very pleased, he handles the ball, he does a lot."

Lebanon trimmed the Huskies’ lead slightly before the break, as Heights took a 28-23 lead into halftime. The teams played evenly through the third quarter (where Crist scored 13 points) and that set the stage for the tense fourth quarter.

Crist scored the majority of Heights' points, so no other Husky scored more than six. But those contributions were still huge. Freeland proved himself worthy of starting with six points, and he led the Huskies' rebounding with four. Williams' second-quarter points were big, as were Tyler Wiltermood's two big baskets in the period, giving him four points.

"I couldn't be more pleased," said Ballenger. "Makes the turkey taste a little better tomorrow."

Against the Marauders on Saturday, Heights got behind early and never caught up. Mt. Vernon led 18-10 after one quarter and 30-23 at halftime.

Coach Ballenger’s crew couldn’t find its shooter’s touch. The Huskies were just 14-of-44 overall and Heights hit just 3-of-17 shots from 3-point range.

The Huskies stayed in the game by drilling 23-of-26 charity chances.

Caymn Lutz canned 7-of-11 shots and scored 21 points to lead Hamilton Heights in scoring. Hunter Crist also scored in double figures, adding 14 points. Alex Trachtman added nine points.

Crist had a good night on the boards with seven rebounds and he also led the Huskies with three assists.

Hamilton Heights now will face a very tough back-to-back weekend, traveling to Guerin Catholic on Friday and traveling to North Central on Saturday.

After loss to Carmel

Millers keep rolling in HCC

The coach of the Noblesville girls basketball team has a new name this season. Donna Keck now is Donna Buckley, following a summer marriage.

Saturday, Coach Buckley picked up her 100th victory coaching the Lady Millers with a 66-43 victory at Avon. Buckley’s record at NHS now is 100-61 in this her 8th season.

There is more. In this her 16th season overall, Buckley has 196 career victories. She’s closing in on 200 wins.

Meanwhile, Buckley’s Lady Millers are rolling along in the Hoosier Crossroads. Noblesville now is 2-0 with an 83-67 victory over Brownsburg and then the Saturday win over Avon.

Overall, Noblesville is 7-2 with next up being Hamilton Southeastern in a Dec. 2 HCC battle.

The Saturday game at Avon was no battle. Noblesville led 22-6 after one quarter.

Buckley had four Millers in double figures. Alexis Shannon and Emily Kiser led the way with 15 points each. Rachel Shipman and Brooke Herron each popped 14 points.

Kiser, the sophomore, posted a double, double, pulling 10 rebounds. Shannon grabbed seven boards.

In the assist column, Shannon led with four and Herron and Kiser each dished out three. Noblesville as a team had 16 assists

The Millers hit 25-of-58 shots, including going 7-of-15 from 3-point range. Shipman was 4-of-8 and Herron 3-of-4.

Noblesville’s win over Avon was a nice way to rebound after the Millers dropped a 56-48 game to Carmel Tuesday at The Mill.

After dropping both of its games to Noblesville last season, the Carmel girls basketball team wanted to make a statement.

The first quarter ended with Noblesville ahead 13-11, but there was a harbinger of things to come in the final couple minutes. The Millers were in front 13-7, but the Greyhounds cut that lead with a nifty flip shot by Emily Kmec, then Blake Smith rolled the ball in.

After a little bit of back-and-forth to begin the second period, Carmel took the lead for good when Carrie Larson drained a 3-pointer to make the score 18-17. Leading 22-20 with 1:47 left, the 'Hounds then finished the first half on a 7-0 run, with baskets by Mackenzie Wood and Amy Dilk, then a 3-pointer at the halftime buzzer by Kmec.

Carmel then took control in the second half, pushing its lead into double digits early when Olivia Christy hit a 3-pointer early in the third to make the score 32-21. The 'Hounds led by as much as 46-28 early in the fourth period before the Millers started making a comeback.

Brooke Herron scored six points in the middle of the fourth for Noblesville, with her layin cutting Carmel's lead to 50-42. A 3-pointer by Rachel Shipman with 28.5 seconds left got the Millers to within 55-48, but that was as close as they would get. Smith's foul shot with 25.3 seconds left got the score to the final margin.

Smith led the scoring with 17 points, while Kmec added 15. Christy and Kmec both handed out four assists. Kmec and Smith also grabbed seven rebounds each, with Celene Funke getting five boards.

Katelyn O'Reilly and Emily Kiser both scored 12 points for Noblesville, with O'Reilly making it a double-double by pulling 16 rebounds. Brooke Herron added 11. Kiser had six rebounds and also blocked three shots.

"We missed some shots," said NHS coach Donna Buckley. "We missed easy shots. Literally uncontested, and we got tight. And then I thought we just tried to force some things that, with their length, wasn't there."

Westfield now 9-0 ...

Shamrocks win tourney

Westfield moved its season-opening undefeated string to nine and at the same time picked up some hardware when on Saturday Coach Ginny Smith's Lady Shamrocks captured the Tippecanoe Valley Tourney.

The Shamrocks defeated Fort Wayne South 60-47 in the morning round game and then in the championship game won a 50-44 thriller from Tippecanoe Valley.

In the championship game, Westfield led 29-23 at halftime but then scored only two points in the third quarter. The Shamrocks came from behind by outscoring Valley 19-11 in the fourth frame.

Foland

Reeder

Allison VanDyke led Westfield in scoring with 15 points. Jalyn Foland was next in line with 9 points.

Maddy Grennes had a big game on the boards with eight rebounds. Reeder dished out seven assists.

In the opener, Westfield jumped out to a 29-22 lead on Fort Wayne South.

Three Lady Shamrocks scored in double figures. Grennes drilled 17, Foland 13 and Haleigh Reinoehl added 12 points. Reinoehl collected a double, double, finishing with 11 rebounds.

Abby Reeder had seven assists and six rebounds.

Westfield will host Rushville on Dec. 5 and then play at Carmel on Dec. 8.

Golden Eagles finish third at Robinson

Guerin Catholic made history at the Robinson (Ill.) Tournament this weekend.

For the first time ever, the Golden Eagles finished 3-1 at the event, good for third place. Guerin clinched that record with two close victories on Saturday over Illinois teams, first defeating Fairfield 48-42 and then beating Chicago Mt. Carmel 46-42.

The Golden Eagles trailed Fairfield 35-30 after three quarters, but outscored their opponent 18-7 in the final period for the victory. Timely steals from Abbigail Wampler and Grace Demas helped Guerin Catholic grab the lead in the fourth quarter, then GC made free throws to seal the victory.

Sarah Yount scored 15 points to lead the Golden Eagles, with Wampler adding 12. Annamarie Augustinovicz led the boards with five rebounds and also handed out five assists. Kate Anderson made two blocks.

Guerin Catholic had to come from behind again to defeat Mount Carmel. The Golden Eagles trailed 13-5 after one quarter and 27-20 at halftime, but held MC to four points in the third period, and ran away with the fourth by an 19-11 margin.

Sullivan scored 19 points, including a tremendous 11-of-12 effort from the free throw line. As a team, GC made 22 of 25 foul shots. Wampler added 11 points and Augustinovicz scored 10. Anderson grabbed six rebounds.

Guerin Catholic is now 5-2 for the season, and hosts Indianapolis Herron on Tuesday.

In the first of their two Friday games, the Golden Eagles lost to Marshall (Ill). 59-55. One quarter made the difference between a win and a loss, as GC and Marshall were very evenly matched going into the second quarter with Marshall ahead 19-17. Guerin Catholic got some solid minutes in the first quarter from Annemarie Augustinovicz and Abbigail Wampler, who had five points and six points respectively.

However, in the second quarter it was all Marshall. Guerin Catholic got very cold and did not make a single basket. It was a 14-0 run by Marshall that put the Golden Eagles behind 33-17.

Coming out of the locker room Guerin Catholic turned up the heat both offensively and defensively pressuring, Marshall, driving the lane getting foul calls and hitting their shots. The Golden Eagles shot 81 percent from the line with Sarah Yount (7-of-7) and Grace Demas (4-of-4) shooting a perfect 100 percent.

With less than a minute to go, GC got to within six at the minute mark. Yount hit a 3-pointer to get Guerin within 3. Marshall went to the line many times and did not connect, but Guerin Catholic could not get the much needed game winning bucket and lost 55-59.

Yount finished with 18 points and dished out five assists. Augustinovicz scored 11. Kate Anderson grabbed nine rebounds, with Yount getting seven boards and Tori Sullivan six.

The Golden Eagles beat Casey-Westfield (Ill.) 46-37 in their second game, which was a foul plagued and low scoring contest. Guerin Catholic was ahead 10-7 after the first quarter, and the second quarter did not go any better with GC going into the locker room down 15-14.

In the second half, the Golden Eagles did not give up and turned up the pressure, got to the foul line and took home the win. Wampler scored 12 points, with Yount adding 11. Augustinovicz led the rebounding with six.

Despite great free throw

Huskies fall to No. 14 Mount Vernon

Hamilton Heights took on Mount Vernon, Class 4A's No. 14-ranked team Saturday at the Indiana Farmers Coliseum, and lost 68-48.

The Huskies trailed 33-18 at half-time, and the Marauders put the game out of reach by outscoring Heights 22-5 in the third period. There were still some bright spots for Coach Omega Tandy's team, as the Huskies shot 19 of 25 from the free throw line.

Sophomore Kayla Kirtley led Heights with 22 points, including 12-of-14 foul shots. Ana Collar and Sydney Griffey both got six rebounds. Sydney Shelton led Mount Vernon with 34 points.

The Huskies' junior varsity fell 48-25, with Taylor Catron, Abby Christensen and Brooke Pennington all scoring seven points.

Heights travels to Lebanon for a big game with the Class 3A No. 8 Tigers.

Miller wrestling takes third at Triton Central

The Noblesville wrestling team finished third at the Triton Central Invitational on Saturday.

Noblesville beat Shelbyville 59-20, Triton Central 45-33 and Lapel 41-30, while falling to Delta 51-21 and Warren Central's junior varsity 49-19. The Millers had two individual champions on the day: Nick Brady at 113 pounds and Ryan Leslie at 195 pounds. Both finished the event 5-0.

"The Millers continue to work hard, the youth and inexperience showed today," said Noblesville coach Tom Knotts. "The effort is good, but our techniques and mat savvy must improve to compete at a higher level."

Noblesville baseball hosting December camps

The Noblesville High School baseball program is hosting a pair of baseball camps in late December.

First up is the 2015 Miller Winter Baseball K-6 Camp, which takes place from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday, Dec. 21 at Noblesville High School.

For Grades K-2, this camp will concentrate on the fundamental building blocks of a baseball player. For Grades 3-6, each camper will be taught the "Miller Way" pertaining to the mechanics of the swing, approach at the plate, proper mechanics for a pitcher, and how to become the best defender possible.

The cost is $75, which includes a camp shirt and lunch. In order to get t-shirt in preferred size, please register by Dec. 10. Walk-ups are welcome. Campers should

Miller swimming swept by Royals

The first all-Hamilton County swim meet of the season saw a win for Hamilton Southeastern as the Royals welcomed Noblesville to their brand-new natatorium.

The HSE girls team was a 148-38 winner in what was the Royals' opener. Both boys teams were also competing in their first meet, with Southeastern beating the Millers 101-75.

Megan Hays got Noblesville's lone girls victory, in diving.

In the boys meet, Justin Ogle also picked up a double win, triumphing for the Millers in the IM and breaststroke. Isaac Johnston won the 50 free, Jake Seyfried took the backstroke, and Noblesville began the meet with a victory in the medley relay,
