Senator eyes Ivy Tech

By DON JELLISON
Reporter Editor

Ivy Tech Community College, which has a campus in Noblesville, has been turned down on a request for building funds.

Ivy Tech, in July, was the only Indiana public college that didn't receive money for any major building projects in the state's two year budget.

State officials are reviewing Ivy Tech because of low graduation rates.

"One of the best ways to get the attention of colleges is to turn down building requests," State Senator Luke Kenley told the Hamilton County Reporter in a Saturday telephone interview from his Noblesville home.

Kenley is the chairman of the Senate Appropriations Committee and the leading state budget writer.

What Kenley and other state officials are concerned with is the drop in enrollment and the low graduation rate

Kenley

Kenley's thoughts on 37

Senator Luke Kenley, in an interview with the Hamilton County Reporter, said, "There is no such thing as 'phase II' in the $100 million the state has given to the proposed Indiana 37 Corridor.

"There is no guarantee that the money will be available for Noblesville at a later date," Kenley said.

Read more about Kenley's take on the funds and on other tax dollars which could be headed Noblesville's way when the next edition of The Reporter is published on Wednesday.

for Ivy Tech. Enrollment has dropped 25 percent while graduation rates within the two years has fallen to about 5 percent. About 26 percent have graduated within the six-year program.

"There originally was a big push for the middle type students wanting to learn a skill or even get a degree," Kenley said. "Ivy Tech was there for those needs."

Kenley said the state is stepping back and asking that a study be done.

"Their growth has been so rapid that they haven't been able to all focus in the right direction," Kenley added.

Kenley was the key person for Noblesville's getting an Ivy Tech campus, housed now in the old Noblesville High School Building on the east side of the city.

"What I told them was Hamilton County was twice as large as the next largest county with an Ivy Tech campus," Kenley said. "I couldn't tell them where the exact location should be, but it should be in Hamilton County."

Kenley said he believes the Noblesville campus is doing well.

"They have a great guy in Dan Clark running the Noblesville campus," Kenley said. "It may be going a little slow, but there is lots of space to fill in that old high school building. Like all Ivy Tech campuses, Noblesville Ivy Tech is working with the community to fill that space.

"There is lot of room to grow at Noblesville," the Senator added.

The review of Ivy Tech is coming just as the school makes a big move. Thomas Snyder has retired as president. Lt. Governor Sue Ellspermann has expressed an interest in the position.

Simply... Grace

By JANET HART LEONARD

Grace isn't just a small prayer you say before each meal. It's a way of life.

I'm sitting in the Tampa airport on Christmas Day. I'm headed home to be with my sweet Mama. And I'm pondering.

The words about Grace are written on a sign that I hangs on display in our kitchen. It got me thinking.

Where does Grace begin?

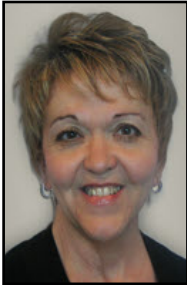

At the end of a long line under a sign that says "returns"? What if the person in front of me does not have the receipt. And I wait. And I wait some more. And then the line next to me starts moving faster. Yep picked the wrong line...again. I whisper, "Grace" under my breath.

When someone says something that hits me the wrong way, do I cringe, grit my teeth and smile? For the most part, I do. I do because I have learned not to allow them to spoil the sweetness of my day. Oh I have my "come apart" moments where I vent and huff and puff BUT I don't allow a grudge to set in. The Grace I bestow unto others isn't so much about them...but me.

Grace wraps the harsh words into a blanket of Grrrrrace. After much thought and prayer, it leads to a much easier way of life. I don't waste time trying to figure out why someone said what they did. I don't hold onto the burden of coping with their anger and sadness. In the famous words of the "heard it too much" song...I LET IT GO.

You see everyone has a story. I don't know what has been written in their story. Perhaps I am just the easy target. Perhaps I am a reminder of their pain. Perhaps their niceness was destroyed a long time ago. Sadly, wounded people wound others.

Grace is giving soft words when you have been thrown up on with venomous words that can never be forgotten. It's what you do with those words that determine your Grace factor.

White River will rise quickly today...

Be aware of flash flooding

By RICHIE HALL

While it was too warm for a White Christmas in Central Indiana this year, it's proving to be a wet ending to the year 2015.

Central Indiana, including Hamilton County, is under a flash flood watch from now until 7 p.m. Monday. This after steady rain began Saturday afternoon and continued into the evening. More rain is expected today, with as much of three-quarters of an inch possible. The rain chances drop from 90 to 60 percent tonight, but that still means rain is likely, with another quarter-inch possible.

Rain is forecast to continue on Monday, with the potential for another inch to fall when all is said and done. This will leave the ground saturated and increase the risk of flash flooding.

As of 9:10 p.m. Saturday night, 1.02 inches of rain had fallen at the Weatherbug site at Noblesville High School. Other county schools had seen significant rainfall at their Weatherbug stations, with 0.65 inches falling at Maple Glen Elementary in Westfield, and 0.61 inches at Hoosier Road Elementary in Fishers.

The White River over SR 32/38 in Noblesville looked calm on Saturday afternoon, but it is expected to quickly rise to close to flood stage today due to the heavy rains over the weekend.

The main thing to remember when it comes to driving during a flash flood warning is: "Turn around, don't drown." Never drive on a flooded roadway, or through flowing water. It only takes six inches of flowing water for a driver to lose control of a car, and vehicles can begin floating in water that's two feet deep.

Viktrup is Reporter's Football Player of the Year

The long line of great Carmel quarterbacks continued in 2015, with Michael Viktrup. The senior led the Greyhounds to another successful season, with a season record of 10-3 and a third consecutive regional championship. Viktrup is this year's Hamilton County Reporter Football Player of the Year.

Viktrup was solid under center, completing 129 of 206 passes (62.6 percent) for 1958 yards and 22 touchdowns. He could also run the ball well, with 722 yards in 101 carries and 10 touchdowns. He has committed to Air Force.

Visionworks Doctors of Optometry expanded their business in the Indianapolis area with a grand opening of Visionworks Noblesville on Dec. 11. The new store is located at 14139 Towne Center Blvd. and can be reached at (317) 770-1018 to schedule an appointment.

Dr. Mark Lynn, owner of more than 70 Visionworks locations in the region, is looking forward to the continued growth of his practice. Current Visionworks locations include Avon, Centre East Shoppes, Castleton Mall, West Carmel and Hamilton.

FLOODING

Also, never try to walk, swim or play in flood waters. If water is flowing quickly, again, it can only take six inches to knock a person down. There are other dangers around flood waters as well, such as being exposed to hazardous materials, or coming into contact with downed power lines.

The prospect of steady rain also leads to the possibility of flooding along the White River. While having an inch of rain in Noblesville increases the flood chances, heavy rains in Anderson and Muncie can also exacerbate flooding in Hamilton County. The Weatherbug station at Delaware County Johnson Field in Muncie had reported 0.63 inches of rain Saturday night, and any rain that falls into the river in Muncie will flow south into Noblesville.

The National Weather Service's gage at the White River on Logan Street in Noblesville measured 5.35 feet at 8:45 p.m. Saturday night - well below the action stage of 11 feet. However, the river is forecast to rise rapidly throughout Sunday to a crest of 13.9 feet early Monday morning, just below the flood stage of 14 feet. Any additional rain could change that forecast. You can access information about the river level in Noblesville at the following Web site: <http://water.weather.gov/ahps2/hydrograph.php?wfo=ind&gage=nbli3>

While the river will rise quickly, the forecast is for it to recede slowly. The White River is scheduled to drop below the 11 foot action state on Wednesday.

JANET

Honestly, Grace is also a gift you give yourself. You've made the same mistake for the fifth time. Another lesson learned. You spoke too quickly, hurting someone's feelings. Simply apologize, admit to your fault. It's their decision to forgive. Apologizing over and over will not get them to forgive you more.

An attitude of Grace changes your outlook on people and life in general.

Is Grace easy? Is Grace a cure all for all the difficult people in your life? Is Grace attainable without needing it yourself? I think not.

Perhaps we need to look at every person with a little Grace, especially the one looking back at you in the mirror.

Wrestlers will have busy New Year's week

By RICHIE HALL
Reporter Sports Editor
After a quiet Christmas week, Hamilton County's wrestling teams return to action this week by taking part in the numerous holiday tournaments that are scattered across the state.

One of the bigger events is the Mooresville Holiday Classic, a two-day event that spans Tuesday and Wednesday. Guerín Catholic, Hamilton Heights and Westfield are among the 23 teams that will participate. Other teams scheduled to compete include No. 9-ranked Yorktown, No. 15 Jennings County.

Carmel, which is now ranked eighth in the state, and Fishers will compete in the Connersville Invitational, another two-day event that is scheduled for Tuesday and Wednesday.

Sheridan will compete in the Eastern Invitational, also taking place Tuesday and Wednesday.

Meanwhile, the two remaining county schools will compete in Saturday tournaments. Hamilton Southeastern will travel to the Fort Wayne Coliseum for the Indiana High School Wrestling Coaches Association Team Duals. The tournament features 12 teams in three classes; participation is determined by a number of factors that mostly center around how well a team did in the post-season.

Noblesville is also in action Saturday, competing at the Weston Close Classic at Huntington North.

STATE RANKINGS
Hamilton County has emerged as a powerhouse in the 195-pound weight class, with three local wrestlers ranked in the top 16 in the MyHouse state rankings.

Carmel's Nick Fox, the county champion at 195, is rated 7th in that division, with Westfield's Nick Schaeffer ranked eighth. Southeastern's Kolby Ferris is ranked 14th.

Here's a list of other state-ranked wrestlers: Fishers' Alexander Strueder, 7th at 106; HSE's Austin Holmes, 4th at 126; Westfield's Evan Eldred, 2nd at 138; Heights' Trezdon O'Neal, 16th at 152; HSE's Spencer Irick, 12th at 182; Carmel's Sam Hipple, 6th at 220.

All of the above wrestlers are ranked in the New Castle semi-state as well, along with eight other athletes. Here they are as follows:

Streuder, 4th at 106; Westfield's Reid Hutson, 6th at 113; Carmel's Adam Jerde, 4th at 120; Holmes, 4th at 126; Carmel's Eric Hiestand, 6th at 126; Eldred, 2nd at 138; Noblesville's David Kitko, 7th at 138; Carmel's Jack Eiteljorge, 5th at 145; Heights' Clayton Cowan, 6th at 145; O'Neal, 5th at 152; Noblesville's Josh Marlow, 6th at 160; Fox, 2nd at 195; Schaeffer, 5th at 195; Ferris, 6th at 195; Hipple, 6th at 220.

Pacers end losing streak, beat Timberwolves

By JEFF TZUCKER
Courtesy nba.com/pacers

It took until the first minutes of the fourth quarter for the Pacers (17-12) to shake loose, but once they did, they never looked back. The win snapped the Pacers' three-game losing streak and dropped the T-Wolves to 11-19 on the season.

The game was a tight back-and-forth affair for the first three quarters. Neither team could get a decisive advantage on the other, with six lead changes in the first half alone. Late in the third quarter, the T-Wolves got out to their biggest lead of the game at 68-62 before Monta Ellis brought the Pacers back with five straight points all on free throws. Heading in to the fourth quarter, the Pacers were back to within two, 70-68.

Early in the fourth quarter, the Pacers used a series of fast breaks and outlet passes to grab the lead that would ultimately propel them to the road victory.

During the run, Stuckey got things going with a steal and he took it all the way for a tough layup. Next, a couple conventional half-court sets led to a jumper by Jordan Hill and a 3-pointer by George Hill. Then, it was G. Hill scoring again, getting behind the defense and Stuckey found him with a long outlet pass that Hill finished with a reverse lay-up. Next, it was Budinger's turn with a fast break dunk off a deep pass from G. Hill.
