Second year in a row...

Center for Performing Arts reports surplus

Press Release

The Center for the Performing Arts released its 2014-15 Annual Report which highlights a successful year of growth and support, while posting a surplus for the second year in a row.

“It was a year of growth and vibrancy across the organization,” said President/CEO Tania Castroverde Moskalenko. “With continued support, we are poised to accomplish great things by providing more world-class entertainment, interactive learning, and creative community engagement for the region.”

The Center posted a balanced budget with a surplus for the second year in a row; with income totaling $8,707,684 and expenses totaling $8,447,239. Revenue drivers include ticket sales, facility rentals, and contributed income. Positive results from a three percent increase in individual contributions, a seven percent increase in the number of donors, two percent increase in ticket sales, a 48 percent increase in rental and concession, along with prudent fiscal management contributed to the Center’s surplus.

The positive financial results of the 2014-15 report adds to the celebration of the Center’s Fifth Anniversary Season, presented by Allied Solutions. The celebratory season continues to operate with a business approach that emphasizes, as always, the Center’s mission to welcome, engage, inspire and transform through compelling performing arts experiences in a world class environment.

Last year the Center completed the second year of a three-year strategic plan and also took part in the Greater Indianapolis Performing Arts Market Survey, which reported that in just four years, the Center is now ranked fourth in performing arts attendance in the region behind the Indianapolis Symphony Orchestra, the Indianapolis Repertory Theatre, and Clowes Hall.

The Center’s Campus serves as the community’s gathering place for more than 65 Center Presents performances each year and is home to six resident companies who cumulatively produce an additional 167 performances annually on the campus.

Since its opening in 2011, education and outreach have been a critical component of the Center’s mission. The 2014-15 Season saw the continuation of the Center’s successful education and outreach programs such as Firestone FrontRow, Peanut Butter and Jam and the Palladium Bookies, as well as the addition of new opportunities for engagement such as World Voice Day sponsored by the Voice Clinic of Indiana and interactive dance classes. An Educator Advisory Panel was also formed, which is made up of educators and curriculum directors throughout Hamilton County and Central Indiana that allows the Center to get valuable feedback on new programs and initiatives.

“As a non-profit organization, the Center can only present the many varied artists and programs thanks to the tremendous support from our individual partners, corporate partners, foundations, state, and local government,” said President/CEO Tania Castroverde Moskalenko. “Because of you, we are able to ‘Bring the World’ to Central Indiana.”

At 106th St. bridge... Semi-tractor/ trailer crash closes Keystone

Keystone Parkway in southern Carmel was closed for a few hours Wednesday after a semi-tractor/trailer collided with the 106th Street overpass Wednesday morning.

Carmel Police responded to the crash at approximately 11:38 a.m. Officers arrived and found three vehicles involved in the crash. Based on preliminary information, it appears that a 2002 Kenworth (T-2000) semi-tractor pulling a flatbed trailer (operated by Austin D. Wills, 46, from Mounds, Okla.) was traveling northbound on Keystone Parkway at 106th Street. The trailer was loaded with two large steel pipes weighing approximately 16,000 pound. The steel pipes collided with the cement structure of the 106th Street overpass. The collision caused significant damage to the overpass.

Debris from the collision fell onto Keystone Parkway. Two passing motorist collided with the falling debris causing damage to their vehicles. The second vehicle, a 2014 Ford Fusion, was traveling northbound Keystone Parkway when the vehicle sustained damage to the driver’s side front tire. The driver of the Ford Fusion was Laura Sieb, 24, from Evansville.

The third vehicle, a 2016 Peterbilt Semi-Tractor, was traveling northbound Keystone Parkway when falling debris collided with the wind guard section of the vehicle. The Peterbilt semi-tractor was operated by Randy Alcorn, 50, from Logansport.

Keystone Parkway was temporarily closed between 96th Street and 106th Street for approximately two and a half hours.

There were no reported injuries from the crash.

Holly Ramon, the Human Resources Director for the City of Noblesville, was awarded the annual “Stake in the Ground” Award for 2015 by the Noblesville Common Council. Ramon is shown here being presented the award from Common Council president Rick Taylor.

Holly Ramon wins ‘Stake in the Ground’ award

On her 16-year anniversary with the City of Noblesville, Human Resources Director was awarded the annual “Stake in the Ground” Award by the Noblesville Common Council for 2015.

“I feel very honored to receive the award,” Ramon said.

Ramon was hired in as the human resources director because the city didn’t have an official HR department before she started.

“With insurance steadily going up Holly has done an excellent job of keeping cost down for the city,” said 2015 Common Council President Rick Taylor, who presented the award on behalf of the council. “She implemented the Quad Med center years ago which has helped defer costs and keep increases to a minimum. She is constantly in negotiations with providers to minimize expenses. Noblesville has yet to field major complaints about employment due majorly by Holly’s excellent work.”

The “Stake in the Ground” Award is designed to recognize city employees – at the director level – who go way above and beyond their jobs. Each councilor makes a nomination and then all members vote on the award.

Interactive map lets Hoosiers track road and bridge projects

The Indiana Department of Transportation announced today that the agency launched an online, interactive tool that allows Hoosier taxpayers to find quickly what road and bridge projects are planned where they live and all across Indiana with just a couple clicks of a mouse.

INDOT’s interactive investment map provides a summary of the State’s investment in road, bridge, and trail projects, including projects on interstates and other INDOT-maintained roadways as well as City, Town and County projects funded by INDOT at www.in.gov/indot/div/investment.

“This online, interactive investment map gives Hoosiers an opportunity to follow INDOT’s continuous work on roads and bridges throughout Indiana,” said Governor Mike Pence. “Over the next 5 years, my administration proposes to invest an estimated $4.6 billion on projects aimed at modernizing our transportation network for the future, and I am thrilled that Hoosiers can follow along as we move forward. I encourage all Hoosiers to follow INDOT’s progress through the investment map as we preserve and enhance Indiana’s reputation as the Crossroads of America.”

By clicking on one of Indiana’s 92 counties, taxpayers can see a summary of county-specific investment and a project list for the county. Information on each project is integrated into the online tool, including the route affected, anticipated date contractor bids will be opened, cost, and the type of work being completed. Links to Google Maps will allow drivers to pinpoint the area where construction is expected to occur on a given roadways.

The financial summaries and project information on the INDOT investment map provide a rolling 18-month outlook. The data is updated on a monthly basis by INDOT staff and the financial data, anticipated projects and estimated bid dates are subject to change.

Letters to the Editor

Indiana House Bill 1001 should be dead on arrival

It looks like the purpose of Indiana House bill 1001 is to spend money and raise taxes. House bill 1001 “the House Republican road plan” raises taxes on gasoline, cigarettes, wheels, and vehicles. They are also trying to make it easier for local governments to raise taxes. Right now for a wheel tax to be enacted in Hamilton County it would have to be approved by the County Council and the County Council alone. To make it easier to enact this tax they appear to be letting the tax get enacted by a COIT council or municipal governments. With these types of resolutions the language says that it is up to the “fiscal body” of the county to decide on these taxes. Most legal professionals have defined the county fiscal body as the County Council. Politicians who want these taxes are pushing to have the fiscal body defined to include the COIT council. In the House bill, they are also giving the option to add a local option income tax. This is a tax that is supposed to be used exclusively to fund public safety. For those of you that wanted to be frugal and a good steward of the environment by driving an electric car there is something in here for you as well. "Requires a person who registers an electric vehicle to pay a supplemental registration fee of $100.”

The COIT or county option income tax council is something that gives each fiscal body in a county a percentage of the overall vote. For example; if Carmel approved the tax that would be 23.2% of the overall vote, Fishers 14.4%, County 28.1%, etc. The numbers are based off of their distribution share of COIT. After each fiscal body votes if they have 50.1% the tax would be enacted county wide. To some this gives every fiscal body a chance to have a say but to the voters this is convoluted and makes it hard to hold elected officials accountable. The elected officials in Hamilton County who want more taxes are in favor of the COIT councils since it gives them more direct control and it circumvents the true fiscal body for the county, the County Council. This is the same methodology that is being used by those who want to pass a county wide income tax for mass transit.

When you consider every tax and fee being considered it seems that no tax is off the table. Governor Mitch Daniels enacted a 1% property tax cap on residential property to protect taxpayers and to restrain spendthrift politicians going into the future. Now that he is gone these same spendthrift politicians are trying to come up with every tax and fee that they can to get around these caps. Does this sound like an agenda in the best interest of taxpayers?

In the interest of fiscal responsibility and transparency the wheel tax should stay under the control of the County Council. It should also be defined once and for all that the “fiscal body” of the county is the County Council. This is what voters believe is the case when the go and vote for “county” representatives. Given the fact that Indiana has a large surplus Republicans in the statehouse should consider ways to fund roads without raising taxes. This is what Governor Pence is proposing and we should give it a chance.

Kroger announces results of Share Your Feast food drive

The Kroger Co.’s Central Division announced the results of its largest annual food drive, “Share Your Feast,” in support of regional food banks and local food pantries across the operating division.

The food drive ran from Nov. 2 through Dec. 24. Each of Kroger Central Division’s 136 Kroger, Pay Less and Owen’s stores was matched with a regional food bank or local food pantry of their choosing.

Kroger customers purchased pre-bag food in $3, $5 and $10 bags, totaling $166,436, up 4.8 percent over 2014. In addition, Kroger customers donated cash in increments of $1, $3 and $5 totaling $114,263, up 27 percent over 2014. Total proceeds for 2015 are $280,699 up 12.8 percent. This equates to hundreds of thousands of meals for hungry families in the local communities Kroger serves.

Three Hamilton County locations were recognized for their generosity. The store at 172 W. Logan St. in Noblesville was fifth in pre-bag sales with $3,185. Kroger’s Fishers store at 11700 Olio Road was fourth in cash donations with $2,357, with the Carmel store at 1217 S. Rangeline Road fifth with $2,275.

Kroger Central Division President Jeff Burt said, “There is no cause more important than feeding our hungry neighbors, especially now as so many families are struggling. Even as we see signs of an improving economy, there are many local families who are hungry. This food drive benefits nine regional food banks and 69 local food pantries. Through hard work, our hunger relief efforts are setting one record after another in helping feed hungry families amidst a need that has increased as much as 40 percent in some local communities. With the significant increase in food donations through Kroger’s Perishable Donation Partnership, Central Division’s total food and financial donations to hunger relief organizations in local communities in 2015 is on track to exceed the $11 million in support we shared in 2014 with regional food banks and local food pantries. It is truly heart-warming to see the generosity of our associates and our customers as they meet the need in our local communities.”

The top fund-raising store for pre-bag sales for a stunning 9th year in a row was the store team at 1032 Sagamore Parkway West in West Lafayette, with $6,745 in pre-bag sales. Stores also included in the top five for sales in this category are: 2718 Guilford Street in Huntington, Indiana with $5,738 in pre-bag sales, 9219 N. Lindbergh Drive in Peoria, Illinois with $4,872 in pre-bag sales, 20 Cherry Tree Shopping Center in Washington, Illinois with $4,309 in pre-bag sales

The top fund-raising store for cash donations for the first year was the store team located at the South Emerson Avenue Kroger Marketplace, with $4,030 in cash donations. Stores also included in the top five for cash donation collection are: 601 E. Dupont Road in Fort Wayne, Indiana collecting $2,870 in cash donations, and 1175 College Mall in Bloomington, Indiana collecting $2,765 in cash donations

Indiana Dune State Park and SB188

This is plea to all Hoosiers who value the environment and our fine State Park system to contact their State Senator and demand they oppose SB188 which forces the IACT to grant liquor permit to state parks without local ABC oversight. This law is in direct response to the overwhelming opposition to the granting a liquor license to Pavilion Partners, a politically connected group which through secret negotiations signed a contract with the Indiana DNR to build a for-profit banquet center on the beach at the Indiana Dune State Park. In several public meetings, hundreds of Hoosiers expressed opposition to the project, which was signed without public input. Since 1990, alcohol has been prohibited at the Indiana Dunes State Park because of the negative impact it was making on the family-friend park environment. The Indiana Dune State Park as other of our fine public State Parks are for the outdoor enjoyment of its citizens, not profit centers for politically connected private investors.

Millers face huge loop test

By DON JELLISON
Reporter Editor

Nearly each time Noblesville's Millers have taken the court so far this season, and the same question has been asked? Can the Millers compete against this opponent? Must be sounding like a broken record to head coach Brian McCauley.

Each time?

Noblesville's first loss was a four-pointer at Fishers; then a four-pointer at Carmel. In the Noblesville Tourney, the Millers lost by three in overtime to Fort Wayne South and by nine in double overtime to Columbus East.

The only time in 11 games and a 6-5 record that Noblesville was beaten in double digits was a 13-pointer to Columbus East in one of those "you know" tourney consolation games.

The question was asked again last Saturday before the Millers stunned Muncie Central 60-57.

Now, the question will be asked still-again this Friday when Noblesville travels to Zionsville for a Hoosier Crossroads Conference game.

The Eagles are tough. Super tough. Maybe even better than Muncie Central was. Maybe even better than the two teams which went overtime to knock off Noblesville in the tourney. Who knows, maybe even better than those back-to-back Hamilton County foes, Fishers and Carmel, which edged Coach Brian McCauley's kids early in the season.

Zionsville, which rolling to an 8-2 start, saw its coach, Shaun Busick, win his 300th game.

A Zionsville team which through those 10 games has been led by a freshman, Isaiah Thompson with a 20.5 scoring average.

So, can this Noblesville team, led by a super star of its own, handle the Eagles? Leader of the pack for the Millers is a senior, John Kiser with a 22.8 scoring mark and an 8.1 defensive average.

Zionsville's only loss came in its first game of the season, 57-53 to Carmel. The Eagles' last loss came in their last game, 85-68 to Valparaiso.

After the Hoosier Conference game with Zionsville on the road Friday the Millers will return to The Mill for a Saturday tip-off with Columbus North.

"This will be another challenging weekend for us," said McCauley. "It will be a great opportunity to play two really good teams on back to back days. Double weekends are great preparation for the sectional tournament.

"Zionsville plays outstanding defense and has excellent offensive balance," said McCauley. "We'll need to be at our very best Friday night at Zionsville."

Noblesville's McGwire Plumer and the Millers will play at Zionsville Friday in a Hoosier Crossroads Conference game, then host Columbus North on Saturday.

Zionsville has played just one game in the HCC, a 50-38 victory over Westfield. Noblesville is 1-1 in the conference with a 58-54 loss to Fishers and a 48-37 win over Westfield.

Noblesville's Saturday night foe, at The Mill, is Columbus North.

The Bulldogs are just 3-7, but two of those wins have come in their last two games, beating Terre Haute North and Jennings County. Columbus North will host Mooresville on Friday.

"Columbus North is another team that has great tradition and is playing their best basketball of the season right now," said McCauley. "It will be important for us to be very focused and disciplined."

Noblesville is coming off the huge road victory at Muncie Central.

Kiser has been on fire. Max Flinchum is averaging 10.5 points a game, and sometimes hotter than that.

"Our team showed a lot of energy, toughness and solid play versus Muncie Central," added McCauley. "Everyone played their role really well. We will need to continue to improve and build on the first part of the season."

Huskies will face the Howells...

Without Hunter Crist

By DON JELLISON
Reporter Editor

Here's one for the books. Even in this crazy world of high school basketball.

Williams

On Friday, Hamilton Heights will host powerhouse Lapel and legendary coach Jimmie Howell. On Saturday, the Huskies will hit the road and play at Western Boone, where J.R. Howell, Jimmie's son, is in his first year of varsity coaching.

Of course, big difference between the records of father and son. Jimmie has won 550 games. J.R. currently is 6-5.

Lapel is still another challenge for Coach Chad Ballenger and his Huskies. Lapel is ranked No. 1 in Class 2A. Already this season the Huskies have faced Class 4A, No. 1 North Central and Class 1A, No. 2 Seton Catholic.

"We have provided challenges in our schedule to prepare us and we still have Lawrence North, Tipton, New Castle and Westfield to name a few," Ballenger said. "They all will have us ready when March rolls around."

Lapel is having a tremendous season. The Bulldogs have won 9 straight since closing to Pendleton Heights, 33-31. They recently won the Madison County Tourney, which included a 73-57 victory over Anderson. They'll bring an 11-1 to Hamilton Heights.

"It will be our Homecoming," Ballenger talked about Lapel's visit to the Husky Dome. "It will be a packed house. A great opportunity to get better for March. Lapel is a throwback team. They play great defense and they do not care who scores for them. They are a solid unit. We will have to be patient against them on offense and transition them when we can.

"Western Boone is playing well," Ballenger continued. "They just won the Sugar Creek Classic.

"We we get the Father/Son combo with Jimmie and JR Howell for the weekend.

"Western Boone is doing a great job of spready the floor and playing back door basketba1l. We must be disciplined and control the paint."

Western Boone is 6-5 and the Stars have lost only to Harrison in their last 6 games. Victories over North Montgomery 64-55 and Southmont 57-50 in their last two games gave the Stars the trophy at the Sugar Creek Tourney.

WB will play at Frankfort on Friday before hosting Hamilton Heights on Saturday.

Hamilton Heights is 9-5 and had won three straight before falling to a strong Twin Lakes team 69-61 last time out.

That's not all Heights lost in that game. Leading scorer Hunter Crist suffered a broken wrist in that game.

"I thought we responded really well against an outstanding Twin Lakes team," Ballenger said. "We had them on the ropes, but never got over the hump. Austin Sauerteig stepped up with 5 field goals from 3-point range. Sterling Weatherford took over and ended up with 21 points. Max Wahl played well at point guard and controlled tempo and found the open man. He scored 9 points and had 8 assists. Caymn Lutz and Dustin Williams played solid minutes and good defense.

"I told our guys we were dealt with losing Hunter for awhile. We need guys to step up and we need guys and we'll still be a good basketball team."

Weatherford is scoring at a 14.4 clip. Lutz is averaging 9.6 points a game .

Guerin plays only Ripple

By DON JELLISON

Godfrey

If Pete Smith believes in Santa Claus, then the Guerin Catholic basketball coach surely believes that Christmas came late this season.

This weekend, Friday to be exact, the Guerin Golden Eagles will play just one weekend game.

The Eagles will fly south just a little when they travel to meet Broad Ripple.

Guerin Catholic is 5-9. Not even counting the weekend spent in Vincennes at a holiday tourney, the Eagles have played back-to-back four straight weekends.

Guerin has lost four of its last five games, including a double overtime battle. They are coming off a 65-59 loss to Fort Wayne Luers, following a 70-43 blasting of rival Chatard.

Just because of a lighter schedule, the competition still will be plenty tough.

"They've won six in a row, starting that streak with a nice win over Howe," Smith talked about Ripple.

"They have good length and this is the best sized team Coach Hicks has had since he took over at Ripple. Their quickness will be a challenge for us, as we've really struggled blocking out quick leapers."

In the string of six, Broad Ripple has defeated Howe, Northwest, Greenfield Central, Northpoint Christian, Heron and Heritage Christian.

Smith believes his team is making progress. "We made some improvement last week," Smith said. "We had real good ball movement against Chatard. And one bad quarter, the third at Marion and the second at Luers, kept us from the chance of beating them.

"We have to stop giving real athletic teams second and third shots," Smith continued. "Rhett Helt has given us solid play off the bench since the Vincennes Tourney."

Guerin Catholic has three Eagles averaging in double figures, led by Christian Munson at 21.4. Matthew Godfrey is scoring at a 13.5 clip and Jack Hansen at 11.1. Hansen, the sophomore center, is the leading rebounder at 6.4.

Miller freshmen boys beat HSE

The Noblesville freshman boys basketball team picked up a hard fought win over Hamilton Southeastern 30-27 on Wednesday.

It was a defensive struggle all night. Noblesville made a late run to take the lead in the last two minutes of the game. The Millers were led by Luke Shannon with 11 points and Eagan Keever-Hill with nine.

Noblesville is now 7-4 on the season.

What a battle...

Carmel falls in 4 overtimes

By DON JELLISON
Reporter Editor

Andy Fagan won his 99th game coaching Cathedral Irish with a 62-60 victory over Carmel last evening. Maybe Fagan should have been credited with win No. 100 because it took the Irish four overtime quarters to get the job done. In regulation and in three of the four overtimes Cathedral held the basketball for one shot. It finally worked in the fourth extra period when Tra Landers hit a 12-footer to finally end the battle. And that is what it was from start to finish, a battle. The game was tied at 11-11 after one period. Carmel had a 21-20 advantage at halftime. Cathedral took a 34-32 lead into the final period. The fireworks were just beginning. Down 10 points, Carmel stormed back in the fourth frame on a 3-pointer by Sterling Brown and a two free throws by PJ Barron to send the two teams deadlocked at 44-44 entering the first overtime. Again Carmel fought from behind, once trailing 50-46. Another 3-pointer by Brown and a field goal by Preston Flamion tied the game at 51-51. In the second overtime, Cathedral took a 53-51 lead before Flamion tied the game. Cathedral took three minutes for a last second shot, and missed. In the third overtime, Carmel fought through on two free throws by Brown, a field goal by Cole Jenkins (his only points in the game), and a field goal by Trent Richardson. Again Cathedral held the ball, this time for 1:30. With the score tied at 59-59, Landers hit a free throw to give Cathedral the lead. With no time remaining, Richardson went to the line for Carmel. He canned the first free throw but missed the second and the two rivals went to the fourth extra period at 60-60. Cathedral got the tip and didn't shoot until Landers hit the game winning shot at the gun. Flamion led the scoring for Coach Scott Heady's Greyhounds with 19 points. Brown notched 12 and Richardson added 11 points.

With the loss Carmel went to 6-5, while Cathedral moved to 8-3. Carmel will host Avon on Friday.

Sophomore Ana Collar finished with 14 points and nine steals, while sophomore Lexi Branham added seven points and nine assists. Sophomore Kayla Kirtley added 13 points with a game high two 3-pointers. Juniors AireAnna Stretch and Audrie Catron added seven points each, and freshman Sydney Griffey added eight points and six rebounds. Freshman Abby Christiansen had a career-high four points while senior Amy Griffey added two. The Lady Huskies improved to 7-9 on the season and also improved to 2-1 in the conference. Heights hosts Tipton Saturday in a big rivalry game.

Northside Lions win in Hoosiers Gym

The weather was cold and snowy outside but the fans warmed up once they were inside the cozy confines of the historic Hoosiers Gym in Knightstown, IN Monday night. The Northside HomeSchool Lions, taking on the roll of the home team Hickory Huskers, pulled away from the Southeast Panthers from Lawrenceburg, IN. in the 2nd half to take a well earned 76-45 win. The Lions, with three of their varsity regulars home with injuries or illnesses, jumped out to a 20-12 lead at the end of the first quarter. The Northsiders put another 15 points on the board in the 2nd quarter to take a 35-27 halftime lead. The Lions started pulling away for good in the 3rd quarter as they stretched their lead to 50-35 going into the final stanza. In the 4th quarter the Lions wore the Panthers out blitzing them for 26 points to take the well deserved win 76-45. Even though the Lions put 76 points on the board, the Northsiders were as cold from the field as the weather outside as they only shot 36% from the field. However, the Lions' fast pace game allowed them to put up 87 shots. The Lions swarming defense in the second half was the determining factor as they shut down the Panthers' offense, only allowing the Southeast boys 18 points in the second half. Three junior varsity players were brought up for the game to take the place of the three varsity members out of action. One of those players, Elijah Smith came off the bench and made his presence known immediate for the Lions. Smith ended the game with a double-double in his first varsity action. Smith lead the Lions in scoring with 16 points and had 10 rebounds. Daniel Abbott and Aaron Tharp both had 15 point each to round out the double digit scoring for the Lions. Other Lions to hit the scoring column were Riley Vitales and Graham Stieglitz both with 9, Ian Smith 7 and Caleb Jones 5. Graham Stieglitz was one point shy of having a double-double for the game as well. The 16-6 Lions (6-4 in MCHA Conference play) are off now until Friday, January 22nd, when they will take on their cross-town and MCHC Conference rival, Eastside Golden Eagles, in their only regular season scheduled game of the year. The Lions, however, hold a 1-0 edge in head to head matchups this season. The Lions defeated the Golden Eagles in an overtime game in the Crossroads Clash Tournament in early December.

Hendricks teams will be tough at HCC meet

By RICHIE HALL
Reporter Sports Editor
Hamilton County will have some good wrestlers competing in the Hoosier Crossroads Conference meet, which takes place Saturday at Avon.
But it looks as if a big challenge will come from the two Hendricks County schools at the meet. Brownsburg is ranked No. 2 in the latest Indiana Mat power poll, with meet host Orioles rated No. 17.

Hamilton Southeastern's list of contenders includes two senior state qualifiers. Senior Austin Holmes, twice a fourth-place finisher at 113 pounds, heads up the 126 pound division this year, while Spencer Irick is ranked 16th in the My House individual rankings at 182 pounds. Kolby Ferris will be one to watch at 195 pounds.
The Shamrocks have a highly-ranked wrestler in senior Evan Eldred at 138 pounds, who finished sixth at state in the 132-pound division last year. Eldred is unbeaten and ranked third this year. Another unbeaten wrestler, No. 1 Brayton Lee of Brownsburg, is on the opposite half of the 138 draw. Zachary Steele, a semi-state qualifier last season at 126, is the first seed at 132 pounds this season. Nick Schaeffer is a contender at 195 pounds.

The Millers' have a contender at 145 pounds with David Kitko; he was a semi-state qualifier at 132 last year.
Fishers will be led by 106-pound sophomore Alexander Strueder, who reached the semi-state round in that weight class last year.

Late turnovers send Pacers to defeat at Boston

Wednesday night's game between the Pacers (22-16) and Boston Celtics (19-19), their third meeting of the season, provided Indiana with an opportunity to secure their first win in the second night of back-to-back games this season, having dropped their previous three tries.

In what began as a game of several opposing runs, starting with a lengthy Celtics lead and interrupted by a dominant third quarter from Paul George, culminated with Boston taking advantage of several untimely Pacers' errors leading to a 94-103 loss for the Blue and Gold on the road in Boston.

The game began as a chess duel between coaches Frank Vogel and Brad Stevens.

After an 8-0 start by the Pacers, Stevens called a timeout to halt Indiana's momentum. It was clearly effective, as a subsequent 13-4 run gave the Celtics a one-point lead, 13-12, and forced Vogel to respond in similar fashion. Vogel's stoppage did little to slow the Celtics' torrid scoring pace, however, as they embarked on another run, this time outscoring the Pacers 13-2 and forcing yet another Vogel timeout with 2:23 remaining in the first quarter. The Pacers' second forced-break in the action, down 14-26, proved to be much more effective, as they closed out the first quarter with a 10-2 run of their own to cut the deficit to 24-28.

Boston came out strongly in the second quarter with a 12-4 run, before George Hill's 3-pointer cut the lead to nine, 31-40, and sparked an 11-3 run by the Pacers, thanks to a combined nine points from Glenn Robinson III and Jordan Hill. But Jae Crowder and Isaiah Thomas bolstered Boston's scoring to close out the first half with 19 points and 15 points, respectively, and provided the Celtics with a 57-49 lead at halftime.

Paul George, limited to just 1-of-7 from the field in the first half for four points, exploded in the third quarter, scoring 17 of his team's 27 points on 5-of-7 shooting, including a ridiculously deep 3-pointer as the shot clock expired with 7:53 remaining in the third. As impressive as George's play was, the third quarter was capped off by the efforts of Monta Ellis. After receiving a delay of game warning for his visible displeasure with a traveling call, Ellis properly channeled his emotions into a coast-to-coast layup and a gritty floor-dive in which he tapped the ball to Myles Turner for a layup and a foul. The Pacers closed out the third quarter on a 9-0 run to cut the lead to just two points, 76-78, entering the fourth quarter.

While Ian Mahinmi's production was not limited by his foul trouble, as he finished with 10 points, 10 rebounds, and three steals, his time on the court was, opening a window for Jordan Hill to shine. Hill scored the Pacers' first six points of the fourth quarter on two hook shots and a mid-range jumper, en route to a 10-point, 8-rebound performance.

But late mistakes by the Pacers, in particular four consecutive turnovers in the span of about 95 seconds that all led to Celtics' fast-break layups, ultimately ended the Pacers' chances of capturing their first win in the second night of back-to-back games this season.

"That's unrecoverable," said Vogel, referring to the Pacers' four turnovers down the stretch. "That was the game."

"They played great defense down the stretch," said Ellis.

"You get the crowd involved," said George, "and that gave them so much energy that they were just playing a frantic style of play, and it's hard to win in this building, especially when the crowd was involved like the way it was. It just took us out of what we wanted to do."

Isaiah Thomas and Jae Crowder continued their scoring onslaught in the second half, as they finished with 28 points and 25 points, respectively. Amir Johnson manned the post effectively in all-around productive performance for Boston, finishing with 14 points, 18 rebounds (eight offensive), and six assists. Avery Bradley and Kelly Olynyk each added 11 points for the Celtics.

George led the Pacers in scoring with 23 points, and added eight rebounds and four assists. George Hill finished with 13 points. Monta Ellis added 12 points and four assists.
