Chairmanship vote causing headaches for county GOP

By FRED SWIFT

Republican State Committee is probably thinking today. Last week as Hamilton County GOP committeemen were preparing the select a new Pete Emigh, about 70 of the committeemen were disqualified by acting chairwoman Laura Campbell.

She was locked in a contest for the chairmanship with Emigh's choice Pete Peterson. Campbell said she disqualified the 70 newly appointed individuals because Emigh did not follow party rules for appointment and essentially packed the committee organization to assist Peterson.

Sometimes it's better to stay out of a fight as the Indiana Campbell's action be overruled. The state GOP jumped in election. and ruled the newly appointed folks could vote, but if Campbell was not satisfied with the outcome she could appeal and defend her case for their dismissal.

How should you respond to market "correction"?

By COREY SYLVESTER

As an investor, you may be gaining familiarity with the "market correction." But what does it mean? And, importantly, what does it mean to vou? correction occurs when a key

index, such as the S&P

500, declines at least 10% from its previous high. A correction, by definition, is shortterm in nature and has historically happened fairly regularly - about once a year. However, over the past several years, we've experienced fewer corrections, so when we have one now, it seems particularly jarring

How should you respond to a market correction? The answer may depend, to some extent, on your stage of life.

• If you're still working ... If you are in the early or middle parts of your working life, you might not have to concern yourself much about a market correction because you have decades to overcome a short-term downturn. Instead of selling stocks, and stock-based investments, to supposedly "cut your losses," you may find that now is a good time to buy more shares of quality companies, when their price is down.

Also, you may want to use the opportunity of a correction to become aware of the need to periodically review and rebalance your portfolio. Stocks, and investments containing stocks, often perform well before a correction. If their price has risen greatly, they may account for a greater percentage of the total value of your portfolio - so much so, in fact, that you might become "overweighted" in stocks, relative to your goals, risk tolerance and time horizon. That's why it's important for you to proactively rebalance your portfolio

- or, during a correction, the market may do it for you. To cite one aspect of rebalancing, if your portfolio ever does become too "stock-heavy," you may need to add some bonds or other fixed-rate vehicles. Not only can these investments help keep your portfolio in balance, but they also may hold up better during a

• If you're retired ... After you retire, you may need to take money from your investment accounts - that is, sell some investments – to help pay for your cost of living. Ideally, however, you don't want to sell stocks, or stock-based vehicles, during a correction - because when you do, you may be "selling low." (Remember the most common rule of investing: Buy low and sell high. It's not always easy to follow, but it's still pretty good advice.) So, to avoid being forced into selling, you need to be prepared. During your retirement years, try to keep at least a year's worth of cash instruments on hand as well as short-term fixed income investments. By having this money to draw on, you may be able to leave your stocks alone and give them a chance to recover, post-correction. And it's important to maintain a reasonable percentage of stocks, and stock-based vehicles, in your portfolio, even during retirement – because these investments may provide the growth necessary to help keep you ahead of inflation. Consequently, as a retiree, you should have a balance of stocks and stock-based vehicles, along with fixed-income vehicles, such as bonds, certificates of deposit, government securities and so on.

Being prepared can help you get through a correction – no matter where you are on life's journey.

Rusty Miller, also one of Cicero's new Council members, believes that Cicero has some advantages that many other like sized communities do not. "We are fortunate to have a lake, the train brings people to our community in the summer, we have a great park with Red Bridge, we have some of the best restaurants and businesses around, and we have so many passionate people in our community who are willing to step up and lend a helping hand to make this a great community," explained Miller. "We know that we have these great destinations, so now our goal is to collaborate with others in our community and region to develop opportunities for Cicero to become a destination for businesses, residents, and visitors. I love Cicero and I am honored to have this opportunity to serve the community and help develop plans for the future."

In his first year on the Council, Craig Penwell appreciates having an opportunity to bring about some of the changes that will make Cicero an even better community and destination. "As a Cicero resident and local business owner, our town's future is very important to me and my family. The next several years will play a big part in shaping that future," stated Penwell. "Our parks, the reservoir, and our growing perception as a culinary destination give Cicero much to offer. Our community is unique with what assets we have available and as we plan for our future, we want to maintain the small town charm Cicero offers and focus on projects that will continue to enhance those assets. We want to encourage residents, business owners, and others to join us at our meetings to help shape the vision of our great community."

The public is welcome to attend Town Council meetings, which meet at 7:00pm the 1st and 3rd Tuesday of every month at Town Hall. There is so much to look for-ways we can help those projects move ward to in the next four years and having

Westfield edges Fishers

By RICHIE HALL Reporter Sports Editor

Even after the final buzzer went off at the Tigers Den Thursday between the Westfield and Fishers boys basketball teams, the winner was not yet decided.

That's because the Shamrocks got free throws after the clock struck zero. With his team trailing 58-57, Westfield's Josh Van Dyke threw the ball up from just behind the mid-court line, a desperation 3-pointer. The ball missed, the buzzer went off.

But a foul was called, and that gave Van Dyke three free throw attempts. All he needed to do was make two, and he did, giving the 'Rocks a 59-58 Hoosier Crossroads Conference victory.

"He's done it all year long," said Westfield coach Shane Sumpter. "If I had to pick one kid on our basketball team to go make two free throws, it would be Josh Van Dyke. He's hit them in crunch time the entire year. I felt pretty good knowing that we got three shots and we got to make two out of three."

Van Dyke's free throws were the denouement to a fourth quarter where neither team led by more than three points. Fishers led 40-38 after three periods.

For a while, it was the "Charlie and Cam Show." Westfield's Charlie Warner scored the first 10 points of the quarter for his team, while Fishers' Cameron Wolter poured in eight of the Tigers' first nine points of the period.

But there were other heroes. Reid Stephens made good use of a Fishers steal to make a basket and get his team up 51-50. Ian Kristensen responded with a nice-looking floater to push Westfield back ahead 52-51.

Wolter then drained a 3-pointer, and his additional free throw made the score 55-52. With 27.4 seconds left, it looked like Fishers was on its way. But Jonah Welch knocked in two foul shots, and then Kristensen threw in a 3 to put the 'Rocks up 57-56.

The game still wasn't over. Lance Dollison was fouled with 1.7 seconds left, and his free throws moved the Tigers ahead 58-57. Then came Van Dyke's heave, the foul, and the foul shots that gave the Shamrocks the win.

Three Westfield players wound up in double figures: Warner scored 19 points (and also led the rebounds with five), Kristensen had 14 and Welch added 10. Van Dyke's only two points of the night were the free throws. Kyle Nicole handed out four assists Wolter led the Tigers with 26 points and five rebounds, while Stephens added in 12. Zach Eaton had four assists.

While Fishers coach Joe Leonard was understandably unhappy about the outcome, he said those final free throws didn't cost his Tigers the game. He gave credit to Westfield, saying the Shamrocks "played better than us."

"Now we put ourselves in a position (to win)," said Leonard. "But we missed some free throws, we let them do what they wanted to do "

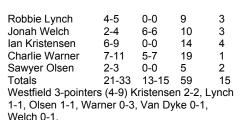

The game was a close one throughout. The Tigers led 11-10 after the first quarter and 27-24 at halftime.

Both teams now hold an 8-9 overall record. In conference play, Westfield finished 3-3, and can do no worse than fifth in the HCC standings. Fishers, meanwhile, is now tied with Noblesville for third place with a 3-2 record. The Tigers have one more HCC game to go, at Zionsville on Feb. 19.

Both teams are back in action Tuesday, at their respective gyms: The Shamrocks host Harrison, while Fishers welcomes Anderson.

Two of those free throws, by John Kiser, iced the victory.

It was a strange night for the Noblesville scoring leader.

Kiser had 16 points, all in the second

"I thought Brownsburg did a good job on him in the first half," said McCauley. "John did a good job not forcing things."

What Brownsburg's attention on Kiser did was open up things for Nolan Ginther, who got seven points in the first half and 10 in the game. Plus, Corby Mertens hit a couple of 3-pointers.

"Brownsburg is a good team; we knew we would have trouble with them," said McCauley "They shot the ball well."

The Bulldogs hit seven 3-pointers.

Noblesville did a good job of shooting, "We turned the ball over three times and too. The Millers were 17-of-36 overall; 15-of-20 from the charity line, and 3-of-6 shooting 3-pointers.

> The win pushed Noblesville to 3-2 in the conference and gives the Millers a long shot bid of tying for the championship.

> "Southeastern and Zionsville each have only one loss," McCauley talked about the conference chase. You know, we're six points away from being undefeated in the conference (losing by four to Fishers and by two to Zionsville in double overtime). But, we can't dwell on things like that. All we can do is take care of our own business."

> Noblesville's final conference game is Feb. 19 at home against Avon.

> The Millers now are 10-6 and have won four straight games. They will be back in action Saturday on the road against a tough Mt. Vernon team in Fortville.

Godfrey scored eight points in the first ing comeback by Coach Jimmie Howell's squad.

> Twice the Bulldogs had three point leads late in the final period, but Godfrey's two free throws with one second left forced the game into overtime. That's when Hansen's offensive heroics earned his school their second-ever win over a No. 1-rated team in the school's short ten year history of playing varsity basketball.

> Hanson had his fourth double-double of the season, finishing with 15 points and 14 rebounds and earning his coach's praise. "Jack played with toughness and purpose down the stretch," said Smith. "Great to see him improving in that area."

County teams have strong "first quarter"

By RICHIE HALL

Reporter Sports Editor

Thursday was the first step towards history for Carmel, as the girls swimming sectional preliminaries took place.

At Noblesville, the Greyhounds completed the "first quarter," as coach Chris Plumb calls it, of their drive to a recordsetting 30th consecutive state championship. Carmel got all 27 of its swims into the championship, or "A" final, of Saturday's sectional finals.

"Every time you come to this first quarter, as we call it, the sectional prelim, you just want to make sure you're getting to Saturday, you're taking care of business, and getting used to the turns and starts," said Plumb. "I think mission was accomplished tonight. The girls are in a good place."

The sectional host Millers are looking good as well. Noblesville qualified all 27 of its swims to Saturday, 24 of them heading into the "A" final. The other three will swim in the consolation, or "B" final.

Noblesville coach Rich Wolfred said he thought his team swam "very well. A little surprises on a few swims, but overall, one of the best prelims we've had for a while."

Westfield, swimming with a rather young team, got 25 swims qualified for the finals. Sixteen of the Shamrocks' swims are in the "A" final, with the other nine in the "B" final.

"I thought we knocked it out of the park tonight," said Westfield coach Kyle Messmore. "I think everybody dropped a huge amount of time. I don't think we missed on a single swim tonight."

Hamilton Heights, which also has some talented young swimmers, got 15 swims on to Saturday. All three of the Huskies relays made it into the "A" final, plus a couple individual swims will be in the championship heat as well: Freshman Rachel Sanqunetti swam both of them, and she will be in the "A" final of the 500 freestyle and the backstroke. Heights' other 10 swims will be in the "B" heat.

Guerin Catholic also had 15 swims qualify for the finals. All three of the Golden Eagles' relays will be in the "A" heat, with the 12 individual swims all making it to their respective "B" heats.

Saturday's sectional finals begin with the diving prelims at 9 a.m., then finals in both swimming and diving start at 1 p.m.

University competed in sectionals for the first time, over at the Zionsville sectional. Anna Catherine Yerian finished 19th in the backstroke.

Lions win on free throw with no time left when you take your first lead in a game. The Northside Lions proved that on Thursday night when they took their first lead against Bluffton's WACHE Warriors with 1:23 left in the 4th quarter 39-37 and held on for the wild win.

The Lions and Warriors hooked up on Thursday night for one of the tightest defensive games of the Lion's season. The Northsiders had trouble adjusting to WACHE's defense the entire first half. The Lions could only manage 4 points in the first quarter to trail 14-4 and only scored 8 more the court and Stieglitz was fouled on the in the first half, the Northsiders only alin the second quarter to fall further behind at halftime 24-12.

Northside adjusted their offense coming out of halftime and cut the Warriors' lead to 32-23 by the end of the 3rd quarter. The more times to get the Northsiders to the foul Lions finally found the basket in the 4th quarter putting up 17 points while only allowing 7 Warrior points. With 1:53 left in with :19 seconds left but came up short on the game the Lions tied the score for the

On the next Warrior possession Aaron Tharp tapped the ball away from a Warrior at the free throw line right into Stieglitz's hands. The Lions worked the ball into Stephen Schwartz down low on the post with their next possession and Schwartz hit an open Daniel Abbott driving down the lane for an easy basket that gave Northside their first lead of the night at 39-37 with 1:23 left.

WACHE misfired their next time down rebound to give the Lions the ball out of bounds with the lead and only :33 seconds left in the game. The Warriors had fouls to give and had to foul the Lions three line once they took possession of the ball.

The Lions finally went to the foul line the first shot of the one-and-one to leave the Lions leading 39-37. WACHE grabbed
