Former Carmel police chief...

Roger Conn volunteering in Nepal

By FRED SWIFT

Roger Conn, former Carmel police chief, will be going to the other side of the world later this month when he joins with New Life International volunteers to install water purifiers in earthquake-stricken Nepal.

Nepal was hit by a devastating quake a year ago which leveled thousands of buildings, heavily damaged infrastructure and endangered water supplies. While the capital city of Kathmandu is recovering well, villages in the rural areas are still suffering the effects of the natural disaster, Conn reports.

It is in these outlying areas that water supplies are many times unsafe. Water purifiers from the U.S. have helped aid in providing drinking water. Conn has been to Nepal before, shortly after the earthquake of March 2015 and in fact experienced a second quake.

The Asian nation in the Himalayan mountains, best known as the location of Mount Everest, is home of 27 million people.

Conn will leave his family in Carmel for several weeks to provide the volunteer assistance. His 15-year old son accompanied him earlier on a similar mission to Haiti, but will not be going to Nepal.

New Life International is a Christian outreach organization dedicated to humanitarian and developmental activities. Missions have been made to 75 different countries since New Life's founding in the 1960s.

The main emphasis has been on providing safe water supplies in developing nations.The organization is headquartered in Underwood, Indiana, near Bloomington.

The Indy 500 turns 100 years

By MARY SUE ROWLAND

Remember when you could fill a cooler with enough food for a week, jump in the car and head for the Indianapolis 500 Mile Race on Memorial Day? The cooler days are over but the race lives on. This year is a special celebration as the event turns 100 years. Not many things last 100 years including most of the fans, so if you have not attended the race in a while this is the year!

The Noblesville Chamber of Commerce recently hosted the well-known historian of the 500 Mile race with a memory of unbelievable proportion, Donald Davidson at their luncheon. Mr. Davidson has seen all of the changes through the years. Arriving from southern England as a young man, he fell in love with racing and especially the Indy 500. The year was 1964. He not only has seen it all, he remembers it all too. "Much progress has been made in the pursuit of glory. If you can dream it, you can make it happen. The greatest spectacle in racing capable of dreaming an epic quest of glory", is the Indy 500 Mile race according to Mr. Davidson.

An interesting story tied Noblesville directly to the early history of the track through Earl M. "Lucky" Teeter. Lucky was a famous stunt driver in the 1930' and early 40's. His "hell" drivers traveled to fairs and functions throughout the country. He once did a show in downtown Noblesville on Conner Street and the court house square showing his famous car stunts. Everyone turned out to see it. In 1936, "Lucky" Teeter placed an entry in the Indy 500, his dream to drive in the race. He was turned down because he had never driven a race car. In 1942, the show came to an end when the car "Lucky" was driving before a packed crowd at the Indiana State Fair failed to make the jump. He died in that crash.

The Speedway was built in the spring of 1909 as a testing facility for the rapidly growing auto industry. With companies like Marmon, Cole, National Marlon, Overland and Duesenberg, American Under-slung and Stutz making Indianapolis and surrounding area the fourth in the country for auto production in 1908. Noblesville had successful makers and dealers of cars for over 100 years. Payton Well's Packard, Preston Tucker and the "Tucker Torpedo" lived in Noblesville. The oldest family owned car dealership in the country is located in Noblesville, started in 1847 and continues today, Hare's Chevrolet started with buggies in the early days. More recently, Bryan Clauson, Noblesville High School grad will drive in the 2016 Indy race. Conor Daily will also drive in the 100th running. Conor grew up in Noblesville under the wing of his father Derek Daly, Formula One driver. Gary Irvin drove in the late 70's at Indy and belongs to Noblesville as well, just to name a few with Indy connections.

The first Indy 500 was on May 30, 1911 to kick off Memorial Day. Carl G. Fisher and three business partners built the track. Fisher went on to develop Miami Beach from a swamp and later built the first drivable highway across the nation. The Hulman family purchased the track in 1945 for $750,000 with twice that in needed repairs. Sunday, May 29th the Hulman-George family again will proudly say..."start your engines" and so it will be again. It truly is

Letter to the Editor...

Thank you Sheridan for being MundyStrong

As Superintendent of Sheridan Community Schools many people have heard me state I have the greatest job in the world. After being diagnosed with squamous cell carcinoma most people also know I was not able to go to this job with the frequency I would have liked over the past 3 ½ months. Much like a student on the first day of school, I was very excited when I was able to return to school two weeks ago.

As I made the drive to school, I found myself so extremely thankful for the numerous people who have helped me get to this point in my life’s recovery. I was told early in my diagnosis that battling cancer is not something one can do alone, that it takes help and encouragement from others. What I found was I not only received support from many individuals beyond friends and family but also from the entire town that I have grown to appreciate so much. Trying to thank so many people is an impossible task, but it is important to me to try. I hope that everyone who gets a chance to read this letter knows how much I appreciate their support. Thank you to the teachers who organized the shirts and immersed me in cards. Thank you to all the students who sent me reading lists and one of the coolest Build-a-Bears ever. I appreciate all that the administration and central office staff have done to assist me in completing necessary duties for the district and allowing me to continue to work and contribute to our schools’ success even through the treatments I had to endure. Thank you to the numerous parents and community members who have emailed, texted, posted signs, and done so much to lift my spirits. Thank you to the entire town of Sheridan; I have been humbled by everything everyone has done. I want to especially thank the Sheridan School Board who has supported me through this entire experience.

I would be remiss if I did not thank all of those in our neighboring schools who have shown their tremendous support. Hamilton Heights sold shirts and joined our boys' basketball team in a fundraiser evening for Relay for Life. Westfield and Noblesville also purchased mundystrong shirts, and I received cards from teachers and students. I got pictures of one friend in WWS who shaved his head in support, and Noblesville had a middle school game where both teams wore mundystrong t-shirts. Again, I thank the numerous people who were involved in organizing these activities as it took people's time and energies; I am immensely grateful.

I am writing this letter to the editor to reach out and thank EVERYONE for their support. I do not want to miss anyone so I felt this was the best way to reach the magnitude of people involved. I have been tremendously humbled by this entire experience more than anyone will know. While I still have a long way to go and my battle against cancer is not complete, I do want to express how much my resolve has grown even greater to do whatever I can to continue to make Sheridan Community Schools one of the best districts in the state. I will support those districts around us as well as I continue to do my part in helping our entire community be successful.

From me and from my family, THANK YOU!

Dave Mundy

Purdue Extension, SWCD present...

Homesteading Workshop April 2

Local Purdue Extension and Soil and Water offices are partnering to offer a full-day homesteading workshop from 9 a.m. – 4 p.m. on Saturday, April 2 at the Hamilton County 4-H Fairgrounds. The registration fee is $15 and will include a box lunch featuring local ingredients. Experts will be offering tips on growing and eating local, building sustainable soils to produce your own vegetables, learning to preserve the surplus, raising poultry for eggs, and beekeeping in your backyard.

Speakers include Kate Franzman of Bee Public; Andrew Brake of Naptown Chickens; Chef Thom England of Ivy Tech and co-founder of Dig IN; Kevin Allison, a local Urban Soil Health Specialist; and Joyce Moore of Urban Path who will provide an intro to food preservation. Additionally, SWCD and Purdue Extension staff will share with attendees the many local resources available to them to start these efforts.

Registration is required by March 23 and can be completed at www.hamiltonswcd.org.

Homesteading is defined as a lifestyle of self-sufficiency which encourages individuals to incorporate more sustainable production practices into everyday life to provide essentials to an individual's family. As community members increase awareness of local food security, both urban and rural landowners are seeking out experts to help them be successful within their communities.

Noblesville paramedic Todd Watson honored for service

Noblesville firefighter and paramedic Todd Watson was recently honored by St. Vincent Health for his job performance with the St. Vincent Angel Medic Award, which is given annually to EMT/Paramedics that represent the best the industry has to offer.

“This has been a passion of mine since I was a little kid. I talked about this since I was real little,” said Watson. “I love the job, love the team aspect behind everything. It takes all of us to make it work, it’s not about one individual.”

Watson has been a member of the Noblesville Fire Department for 16 years.

“While Todd excels at everything he does his passion for the job shines through in his patient care,” said James Macky, NFD division chief of emergency medical services. “Todd is a master clinician and one of the best paramedics in the State of Indiana. He shows compassion to his patients and makes every effort to ensure they receive the highest quality care possible. Todd is the type of leader everyone looks up to and the type of paramedic everyone strives to be.”

During his tenure, Watson has worked tirelessly to improve all aspects of his career. Paramedic, firefighter, lead medic, primary instructor, CPR instructor, fire instructor, TRT member, SWAT medic, dive team medic and critical care paramedic student are just a few of the hats he wears at NFD.

“That’s a lot for one person but for those of us who know Todd, we know he’s a master of it all,” Macky said. “In the role of lead medic, Todd has been instrumental in making our EMS service one of the best. As an EMS educator he provides quality education to our EMT’s and paramedics by ‘keeping the bar high.’”

Watson also has dedicated countless hours and made an impact in our community by providing education to the public through CPR and EMT training.

“I enjoying giving them the knowledge and hopefully I am sparking an interest like I had when I was younger,” he said. “Hopefully they’ll have the same goals and aspirations to grow up and do the same thing. I hope that by teaching I can pass the torch.”

Watson likes the challenge and training of learning new aspects of the job.

“I put a lot of pride into what I do; I want to do a good job,” he said. “I want to make sure I’m involved in all these different things so I can learn more so when that bell rings hopefully I’m the guy you can call on to get the job done. It’s not about accolades but me wanting to learn more.”

Watson said he enjoys the comradery and “the job itself” most about being a fireman and paramedic.

“It’s all about that family, having a job to do and everyone coming together to get it done,” he said.

Recipients of the Angel Award are nominated by their peers. Criteria judged includes volunteerism, community service, core value commitment, leadership, professionalism and appropriate medical care. For more information on the award, visit www.stvincent.org.

Carmel defends sectional championship

The Carmel boys basketball team defended its sectional championship on Saturday, beating Fishers 67-49 to win Sectional 8 at The Mill in Noblesville. The Greyhounds will play McCutcheon in the second semi-final game of the Logansport regional next Saturday.

The second quarter helped the Carmel boys basketball team finish first in the sectional.

The Greyhounds scored 19 unanswered points over Fishers during the first six minutes of the period during Saturday's Class 4A Sectional 8 championship at The Mill in Noblesville. That turned an 11-11 tie into a 30-11 Carmel lead, and the momentum carried through to a 67-49 victory for the 'Hounds over the Tigers.

Carmel thus defended its sectional title from last year, and won the 26th sectional championship in the program's history. The Greyhounds also qualified for the Logansport regional, where they play McCutcheon in next Saturday's second semi-final, at around noon.

"It feels amazing, just being back with the kids I grew up with, playing basketball my whole life," said Carmel senior Garrett Covington. He grew up in Carmel, but moved after his seventh grade year. Covington returned in January, just in time to help the Greyhounds to another championship.

"I'm taking every minute in," said Covington. This was his first Indiana sectional.

"Indiana basketball is like none other," said Covington. "Families come out, everybody's coming out, it's a community. Every team is just very supportive, so it's pretty crazy."

Fishers held an early 9-5 lead, thanks to Cameron Wolter. He scored nine points in the first period, which ended in that 11-11 tie. Preston Flamion and Alex Falender both drained 3-pointers to get ahead 11-9, but the Tigers' Caleb Reitz knotted the game with a layin.

After that, however, the Greyhounds ran off on a 19-0 run. Covington scored 11 of those points, scoring in almost every way possible - three layins, a 3-pointer and a putback. Sterling Brown drained two triples, and Trent Richardson scored off a rebound as well.

Lance Dollison made a free throw with 1:44 left in the period to end the run, and his fadeaway jumper was the last basket of the half, which ended with Carmel up 31-14. Britt Beery's free throw accounted for the Greyhounds' 20th point of the second period.

"I thought the first half, we were great defensively," said Greyhounds coach Scott Heady.

From there, Carmel held a double-digit lead for the entire second half. The Tigers continued to battle throughout the half, but the 'Hounds were always able to answer with a basket or pair of free throws every time Fishers looked like it was starting to gather steam.

Still, the Tigers worked their way back to cut the Carmel lead to 42-30 at the end of the third period. Dollison scored eight points. Brown, meanwhile, hit another 3-pointer, his third of the game.

The 'Hounds pushed the lead back to 49-33 after Flamion made a layin. Fishers made one more run, with Dollison's 3 getting the Tigers to within 55-44. But Carmel closed the game on a 12-5 run, that included a 10-of-12 performance from the free throw line during the last 2:17 of the game.

"Second half, we hit a spurt and got going offensively," said Heady. "Hit our free throws for the most part, down the stretch, and didn't turn the ball over when they picked the pressure up. They're pressing and trapping for a good portion of the second half, and I thought we took care of the ball."

Covington wound up with a double-double of 23 points and 11 rebounds. Brown scored 15 points; he added 6-of-6 free throw shooting to his three 3-pointers. Richardson added 11.

Carmel had to win three tough games to get through the sectional, starting with a Wednesday double overtime victory over Noblesville, then a Friday semi-final win over Hamilton Southeastern.

"When it comes to sectionals, I think experience has a lot to do with it," said Flamion. "I don't know if you get used to it, it's always exciting, but you start to be able to handle it better."

"I think we played great," said Richardson. "We handled the adversity really well."

Fishers, which finished its season 12-13, was led by Wolter's 17 and Dollison's 16. Both seniors led the rebounding as well, with Wolter grabbing seven boards and Dollison getting six.

Noblesville Boys and Girls Club’s...

Basketball Spectacular to take place March 19

The 36th annual Basketball Spectacular, sponsored by the Hamilton County Council on Alcohol and Other Drugs, is taking place on Saturday, March 19 at Noblesville High School. Each year, the Boys & Girls Club of Noblesville hosts this daylong event, which is the culmination of months of preparation and practices by the participants. Over 500 boys & girls participated this year in the basketball program and the Basketball Spectacular is the day for them to display their skills and compete for the title of tournament champs.

“The Spectacular is such a great event for all the kids, parents and coaches involved. It is the conclusion of our season and gives us the chance to make all the kids feel special during both our awards ceremony and championship games. It also gives the kids the opportunity to play on the Noblesville High School floor, which is where a lot of the kids aspire to be playing one day.” says Tony Eslamirad, Sports Director at the Boys & Girls Club.

Throughout the day, teen members of the Boys & Girls Club, who participate in the VOICE program which is a teen –lead advocacy group against all drugs, will provide important information to attendees. Focus this year will be on prescription drugs and heroin use with the theme “Be a Hero”. Attendees will be asked to take a pledge that day to be a hero against drug use.

The community is encouraged to attend this great event and support local youth programs. There are also sponsorship opportunities available for individuals and companies. For more information, please contact Tony Eslamirad at 317.773.4372 or by email at teslamirad@bgcni.org.

By one over Wizards...

Paul George’s 38 points lead Pacers to win

By GREG RAPPAPORT
Courtesy nba.com/pacers

From the start of the game at the Verizon Center in Washington D.C., Paul George had it going on.

16 points in the first quarter, 21 in the first half, and 38 for the entire game, powering the Pacers to a critical 100-99 win over the Wizards. The victory gave Indiana the 2-1 series win over a team that is in striking distance in the Eastern Conference Playoff race, and gave the Pacers an even 2-2 split on their four-game road trip.

George hit the game-winning free throw after being fouled on a drive to the basket with three seconds remaining, propelling Indiana to the win.

"For the last shot, I just told myself to get to the basket," George told Fox Sports Indiana's Jeremiah Johnson after the game.

With 8:20 left in the game, Jordan Hill pushed Indiana into an 86-85 lead with a pair of free throws; the Pacers' first lead since the first quarter of action.

From there, the teams traded the lead until the Pacers went up 90-87 with just over five minutes remaining, thanks to free throws from George.

However, with four minutes left, John Wall was able to drain a jumper and a foul, converting on an and-1 to bring the Wizards within one point of the lead. On the Wizards' following possession, Wall darted down the floor in a blur and drew yet another and-1 opportunity to spring the Wizards back into the lead, 93-91.

After Markieff Morris hit a jumper to conclude Washington's 8-0 run, George hit a 3-pointer to bring the score to 95-94.

Washington, however, was able to extend its lead to 97-94 one a pair of Marcin Gortat free throws following a loose ball foul on Ian Mahinmi.

But George, as he had done all night, kept his offense rolling, hitting a jumper in the low post for his 36th point of the night.

Following a pair of turnovers exchanged by both teams, Jordan Hill snared an airball and flipped it in to once again put the Pacers in the lead, 98-97, with 58 seconds remaining.

But after a timeout, Wall — who finished the night with 25 points and 12 assists — was able to draw a foul, and hit 1-of-2 free throws to tie the contest. The foul was Mahinmi's sixth and final foul, sending him to the bench for the remainder of the game.

With 41.5 on on the clock, Indiana inbounded the ball to Monta Ellis, who then passed off to Paul George. But PG missed his shot, and the Wizards called timeout to draw up a play with 21 seconds on the game clock, and 14 on the shot clock, ensuring that the Pacers would have the final shot of the game.

Washington ended up finding a rolling Nene, who was fouled by Lavoy Allen, putting the Brazilian big man on the line with the game knotted at 98. Nene, who is a 59 percent foul shooter, made 1-of-2, giving the Pacers possession for the final 10 seconds and trailing by one.

The Pacers let Ellis run the play, who found George. George drove the baseline and picked up a critical foul, putting him on the line with a chance to push the Pacers into the lead with 3 seconds left.

He drained both, putting Indiana up 100-99; the game's final score.

The Pacers got outscored in both quarters of the first half, but thanks to 21 points from Paul George, Indiana remained in game; trailing by eight at the half.

Fast-break points were an issue for the Pacers, getting outscored 14-2 in the first half by John Wall and the Wizards.

But in the third quarter, Indiana locked down defensively, holding the Wiz to just 16 points in the period (0 fast-break points), and cutting the deficit to two points entering the final quarter of play at the Verizon Center.

It was defense that keyed the win for Indiana, as the Pacers allowed the Wizards just 35 points in the second half, turning the game in the Pacers' favor.

"We came in at halftime and said whoever wants to start defending is going to win," Vogel said after the game. "It's simple, you know what I mean? We weren't playing with urgency defensively. We were trying hard but we just weren't into our man, we weren't in their face, we weren't getting after it and we picked it up in the second half."
