Hamilton County Reporter

Coming this Sunday ....

A bit of County history

By DON JELLISON
Reporter Editor

In keeping with the Bicentennial spirit going on in Hamilton County, the next several Sunday editions of the Hamilton County Reporter will include some lessons in history.

Most will come from the old Noblesville Daily Ledger. The Ledger was great when it came to special editions informing its readers of the history of Hamilton County.

In doing so, I'm sad about a couple of things. Back in those days, many of the stories didn't include bylines. So, I can't give credit where credit is deserved. Also, many, actually most, of the photos used in those stories have long been missing, or damaged, or aged belong reproduction.

I think Sundays will be a good time to run our special series, since The Reporter has made its own history by publishing the only Sunday Hamilton County newspaper.

There are some who still don't consider us a newspaper, no doubt doing so to offset the tremendous impact The Reporter has had on the delivering of news.

I looked up the meaning "newspaper" in my faithful 1989 edition of Webster's Dictionary. Actually, it's a copy which was used by my wife, Mattijane, when she was teaching school in Bloomington. Would you believe, no single definition of newspaper, but instead a lumping of newsboy, news dealer, news man, newspaper and news stand under one.

"Information of public interest," wrote Webster. That's us. Daily.

I think there is only one definition we don't fit. Some people think of a newspaper as something to line the bird cage. That's not us.

So, Sunday it will be.

One of the Ledger's best sources of county history was back in 1988 when the newspaper celebrated its 100th year. Interesting, at that time because The Ledger no longer was owned by the Neal family. It was sold to a publisher, LeRoy Stauffer, out of Pennsylvania.

"LeRoy was promising to "Carrying on the high standards" and he urged Ledger readers "to look toward a second century."

I liked LeRoy, I really did, but all of us working for The Ledger at that time simply laughed as those headlines. We all, along with all of Hamilton County, a few years later cried many tears.

The story I'm going to lead off with this Sunday was published with the Bicentennial special edition but actually was written a dozen years earlier when editor James T. Neal gathered a panel to "predict the future of Hamilton County."

Several prominent Hamilton County men were asked to look into the future.

Get that, men and no women even tough at that time there were woman mayors in both Carmel and Noblesville....both, of course, Republicans.

The panel included Richard Dellinger, local politician and school teacher; Ledger photographer Ray Streib, artist Floyd Hopper, state representative Bud Hillis, long-time Noblesville doctor James Dillon, Methodist Church minister Summer Walters and the boss himself, James T.

Just to give you an idea of what is in store, here is a prediction made by Neal. "The city (Noblesville) will spread out rather than grow up. Housing areas will dot the entire township (Noblesville) with the growth of mini-shopping centers."

Not bad, Jim.

Dellinger predicted, "The taxpayer will demand accountability through performance."

It's a great article, I believe, to lead off our series.

This Sunday. Only in this newspaper.

Endeavor Boutique opens Saturday at The Nash at Carmel City Center

Carmel City Center's new women's clothing boutique, Endeavor, will have their Grand Opening on Saturday, April 23. Everyone is welcome to stop by between 11 a.m. and 7 p.m. to shop the latest trends and must-have styles in women's fashion geared toward college students, busy moms and working women. Visitors can stop by the store and register to win a $25 gift certificate during the Grand Opening on April 23. Endeavor will be open Tuesday and Wednesday 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. and Thursday through Saturday, 11 a.m. to 7 p.m.

"The urban environment at The Nash at Carmel City Center provides the perfect location for Endeavor. With convenient access from Rangeline Road and the Monon Trail, along with all of the community events, I am excited to be among the businesses here," said owner Melissa Butrum.

Endeavor offers affordable clothing including graphic tees, dresses, denim and sweaters as well as footwear, accessories and a curvy section with sizes ranging from XL-3X. Prices range from $20 to $100. "I want to offer women a welcoming, relaxed environment to pop by and shop for fun, every day clothing items and accessories at an affordable price point," said Butrum.

Endeavor Boutique is located in The Nash at 846 Rangeline Road just south of Carmel City Center. Surface parking is available in front of the Nash along Rangeline Road and behind the building to the west. Additional parking, located just north of The Nash (accessible from Rangeline Road), is also available at Carmel City Center.

Wine and Roses at Sagamore...

Fine Art Auction to benefit Noblesville nonprofits

Wine & Roses Fine Art Auction and Wine Tasting event to be held Monday, May 2 from 6:30 – 9:00 pm at Sagamore Golf Club, 10900 Golden Bear Way in Noblesville.

The Noblesville Midday Rotary Club and the Noblesville Cultural Arts Commission are teaming up to present this Derby Themed Event. More than 50 pieces of original art will be available for purchase through live and silent auctions. Of particular interest is an original oil painting by Gabriel Lehman. Lehman, a Noblesville artist, was "discovered" last summer and is now being represented internationally. In addition to the piece by Lehman, paintings in oil, watercolor, and acrylic, also sculpture, pottery and jewelry by regional artists will be featured. Delicious food, wine tasting, music and a Derby Hat Contest will round out this wonderful event.

Proceeds are to benefit the Noblesville Midday Rotary Club's Foreign Language Scholarship Program and the Noblesville Cultural Arts Commission's programs including Shakespeare in the Park and Summer Band Concerts in Seminary Park. NCAC has been providing cultural activities, free of charge, to the residents of Noblesville since 1992.

Ticket prices are $25/individual and $40/couple. Please RSVP by calling 317-797-9598

SCOTT WILLIS FOR STATE SENATE

A New Voice for Hamilton County

‘Ambassador of The Barrington’...

Assisted Living committee member finds joy in enriching others

Marilyn Lightfoot uses storytelling to connect with her fellow residents at The Barrington of Carmel. She spends her days sharing pieces of her life with both new and current residents in hopes of spreading a little joy and learning more about her neighbors. Lightfoot is a member of the Assisted Living Committee—a dedicated group of residents on a mission to welcome and inspire new faces to become involved in community activities. The Barrington, the only Masterpiece Living® community in Indiana, embraces a wellness-minded attitude that encourages learning by focusing on an individual’s key development areas—physical, mental, social and spiritual. Lightfoot’s kind demeanor and sincere positivity is a shining example of the Masterpiece Living® philosophy.

“It makes me feel like I am giving back to our community by being the go-to friendly face when new residents move here,” said Lightfoot. “I worked as a school administrator at an elementary school for nearly 30 years, so it’s in my nature to want new faces to feel connected to our community.”

Lightfoot understands what it’s like to be the “new face” transitioning to a new place. She moved to The Barrington from South Bend a year ago to be closer to her son and his family shortly after her husband passed away. For Lightfoot, sharing her stories and experiences with fellow residents has helped her discover new interests and group activities, but, most importantly, it’s helped her to develop new friendships.

“When I came to The Barrington, I prayed I would embrace my new life every day with a positive, vibrant attitude,” said Lightfoot. “It didn’t take me very long to feel at home. As I befriended more people, I discovered that sharing my story with others gives them the opportunity to open up and share their own experiences with me.”

“I consider her an ambassador of The Barrington,” explained Jeremy Elkins, activities coordinator at The Barrington. “Marilyn goes above and beyond to make people feel welcome the day they arrive. New residents really appreciate the warmth she brings that truly makes The Barrington feel like a small family.”

Lightfoot dedicates a large portion of her day to visiting with residents during and in-between meal times. When she’s not spending time with others, Lightfoot reads about health trends and writes about her experiences in her daily journal. Her favorite activities at The Barrington include playing the piano once a week for fellow residents, exercising in group activity classes, and of course interacting with her friends and neighbors on a daily basis.

“There are no two days alike at The Barrington!” said Lightfoot. “There is always something exciting and different happening. We always have fun and laugh in every situation. You get a stereotype of what you think an older person is going to be like, and then they surprise you! I am constantly surprised here every day—in a good way of course. I encourage others, regardless of age, to reach out to their neighbors, coworkers and even someone they meet at the grocery store to have a meaningful conversation. Showing interest in the lives of others is an enriching experience, and I think we can all learn about ourselves by better understanding the people around us. Plus, you can brighten someone’s day by talking with an individual and really hearing what the person says. I know that my life is better because of the relationships I have formed and the interactions I have each and every day.”

DAILY BIBLE VERSE

Ye have heard that it hath been said, An eye for an eye, and a tooth for a tooth: But I say unto you, That ye resist not evil: but whosoever shall smite thee on thy right cheek, turn to him the other also.

Fishers announces free summer concert line-up

More than 105,000 people enjoyed music at the Nickel Plate District amphitheater in 2015. Just announced today, the 2016 summer concert line-up is poised to crush that record with a diverse mix of offerings for fans of all ages, and...it’s all free.

“We are proud to offer such a high quality, free concert line-up in the heart of downtown Fishers,” said Tony Elliot, Parks & Recreation Department Director. “This has been a tradition in the community for more than 13 years, but 2016 is sure to be the best, most diverse year yet.”

The summer concert series includes the Tuesday Night Concerts presented by IU Health Saxony, the Amp After Dark concerts on Friday nights, and specialty acts on select Saturdays. A few highlights from the line-up include:

- Jamestown Revival – Jun. 4 at 7:30 p.m.
- The Wild Feathers – Jul. 9 at 7:30 p.m.
- Jennie DeVoe – Jul. 15 at 9 p.m.
- Dogs of Society: A tribute to the music of Elton John – Jul. 15 at 9 p.m.
- Carrie Newcomer – Aug. 19 at 9 p.m.

Music fans and visitors to the Nickel Plate District are encouraged to download the Nickel Plate District App for detailed information on start times, musical acts and special promotions from local businesses.

“The Nickel Plate District really comes to life during the summer months, and visitors are in for a real treat this year,” said Mayor Scott Fadness. “Not only are there free music options for people of all walks of life, but the amenities in downtown offer unique places to gather, eat and shop. I encourage visitors to explore the Nickel Plate District by foot or bicycle this summer and enjoy.”

The full concert line-up can be found on the City of Fishers’ website at www.fishers.in.us/2016SummerConcerts or the Nickel Plate District Amphitheater Facebook page. Concert times vary by day of the week. While concert-goers are invited to bring their own food and drink to most shows, on-site food trucks and beer vendors are great options too.

Fishers drops series opener

Ryan Metz hit a single for Fishers in its Thursday baseball game with Brownsburg.

Fishers dropped the opener of a three-game Hoosier Crossroads Conference series to Brownsburg, falling to the Bulldogs 2-0 at Brownsburg.

Sophomore Luke Albright was a tough luck loser on the mound. He threw a complete game and faced only two batters. Unfortunately for Fishers, the Bulldogs connected on two doubles with a runner in scoring position in two separate innings. Albright finished with five strikeouts, while allowing only five hits.

Offensively, the Tigers outhit the Bulldogs 7-5, but could not deliver a big hit, leaving runners in scoring position in the second, third, fourth and sixth innings.

Brendan Toungate led the way with two hits, including a double. Matthew Wolff also added a double. Caleb Brenzewski, Ryan Metz and Craig Yoho all had a single.

Coach Matt Cherry's Tigers look to even the series Friday when they host Brownsburg at 6 p.m. The game is the Tigers' annual Baseball Strikes Out Cancer game.

HSE tennis falls to Brownsburg

The Hamilton Southeastern girls tennis team fell to Brownsburg 3-2 on Thursday.

The Royals got their wins in singles, with No. 1 Ashley Spirrisson and No. 2 Tory Ochs losing just three games between them.

"Ashley and Tory played great tonight," said HSE coach Kirk Webber.

The other matches were also decided in straight sets, although No. 1 doubles Alicia Verde and Remi Musselman pushed their opponents to a second set tiebreak, coming back from being down 0-5.

"I was really proud of the way they kept fighting and made things interesting in the second," said Webber.

No. 3 singles Jeorgia Templin also battled before falling in two close sets.

"This was a great experience for Jeorgia, and even though things didn't go her way tonight, it will make her a better player moving forward," said Webber.

The Royals fall to 1-4 on the season and 1-2 in the Hoosier Crossroads Conference. They will be back in action on Saturday as they host McCutcheon and Harrison for a double-header.

Change at Hamilton Heights...

Keegan Cherry hired as new Huskies girls basketball coach

The Hamilton Heights High School Athletic Department is pleased to announce the hiring of Mr. Keegan Cherry as the new Varsity Girls Basketball Coach. Keegan replaces Omega Tandy who filled in as the Varsity Girls Basketball interim coach for the 2015-16 season.

Cherry Keegan comes to Hamilton Heights with proven leadership skills that have been developed by working with some of the best coaches and mentors in the state of Indiana. As a player at Pendleton Heights High School (1991-95), Keegan played for Rick Baumgartner and Joe Buck, two distinguished coaches in Indiana High School Basketball. After graduating from Pendleton Heights High School, Keegan continued his playing career at Danville Community College (1995-97) before transferring to Purdue University to study Organizational Leadership and Supervision (1997-99). After graduating from Purdue, Keegan embarked on a sales career that he has continued to the present. But, once the opportunity to coach the game of basketball at his alma mater presented itself, Keegan jumped at the opportunity. As an assistant coach at Pendleton High School, Keegan had the privilege of learning the game from one of the best. "Keegan's experience and success as Varsity Assistant Basketball Coach for four years at Pendleton, serving under the outstanding leadership of Brian Hahn, helped place Keegan in a position to see what a highly respected varsity basketball coach does to be successful at building a program in the fall, spring and summer. Besides a very strong knowledge and background teaching the game of basketball, we feel that Keegan is highly qualified to not only win championships, but also shape a K-12 program that produces winners in the classroom, community and life," said Hamilton Heights Athletic Director, Kurt Ogden. Keegan and his wife Andria have two daughters, Hadleigh, 10 and Presley, 6.

Guerin Catholic's Rhett Helt commits to Wabash College

Guerin Catholic senior Rhett Helt announced this week that he will attend Wabash College to study business and continue his basketball career as member of the Little Giants squad. The 6'2" forward averaged 6.5 points per game for Coach Pete Smith's Golden Eagles. He shot 50.5 percent from the field and 71.7 percent from the free throw line, and was selected for the team's Most Improved Player Award at the conclusion of the season. Wabash finished their season with a loss in the North Coast Athletic Conference Tournament to Ohio Wesleyan University to finish their season 13-13 under Coach Kyle Brummett.

Indiana Fever open training camp Sunday

The Indiana Fever have finalized a pre-season roster for 2016 training camp that begins this weekend under the direction of second-year head coach Stephanie White. White, the only first-year coach in WNBA history to guide a team to the WNBA Finals, welcomes ten returning players from a 2015 squad that reached the playoffs in a record 11th straight season, and the Eastern Conference Finals for the eighth time in those 11 years. White directs her team through its opening practice on Sunday, April 24, at Bankers Life Fieldhouse (3:00 p.m.). Offseason player movement included the re-signing of four-year veterans Shenise Johnson and Lynetta Kizer, who each played significant roles in helping Indiana to the 2015 Finals. An offseason trade with Minnesota brought 6-2 forward Devereaux Peters to the Fever where she is reunited with former Notre Dame teammate Natalie Achonwa. The WNBA Draft, just last week, yielded a pair of top college guards – Tiffany Mitchell (selected 9th overall) from South Carolina and Brene Moseley (21st overall) from Maryland. The 2016 summer also means the final season for longtime face-of-the-franchise Tamika Catchings. The 6-1 forward and former league MVP joins fellow All-Stars Briann January and Marissa Coleman, and veteran center Erlana Larkins among top returning players. January continues rehabilitation from surgery on her right knee last fall. Coleman, playing overseas in Turkey, will miss most of training camp. During what is her 16th WNBA season, the most of any player in league history with a single franchise, Catchings also hopes to earn a fourth Olympic gold medal with the USA Basketball Women's National Team during the 2016 Olympics in August, in Rio de Janeiro, Brazil. While the WNBA celebrates its 20th season, the Fever embarks on their 17th summer basketball campaign with a schedule that includes a month-long break (July 23-August 25) for the Olympics. Indiana opens its regular season with three straight home games including a May 14 opener against the Dallas Wings (6:00 p.m.). The Wings, relocated from Tulsa, also visit Indianapolis for a preseason game, just one week into training camp on Sunday, May 1. The Fever's current 16-player roster will be trimmed to 12 by May 13, prior to the club's season opener.

Shuttle service offers convenient route to IMS on Race Day

Fans looking for a hassle-free trip to the Indianapolis Motor Speedway on Race Day can take advantage of expanded shuttle service ahead of the 100th Running of the Indy 500 presented by PennGrade Motor Oil. In partnership with IMS, The Free Enterprise System and Star of America will offer streamlined shuttle rides to the track from four locations on May 29.

"This year's Race Day is shaping up to be one of the largest crowds we've experienced in many years and it is going to include lots of fan activities from early in the morning through the post-race victory lap," said Indianapolis Motor Speedway President J. Douglas Boles. "With SportsCenter on site, the energy of just being in the Pagoda Plaza and enjoying the Midway activities and so much more, we're encouraging fans to come earlier than usual to enjoy the whole Race Day experience. The Free Enterprise service is a great way to come focus on just enjoying the event and to ensure your trip to the Speedway sets you up for a full day of fun."

The service will begin at 6 a.m. on Race Day and offer rides to the Speedway until 12:30 p.m. All shuttles will receive bus passes used to offer expedited travel. Return routes will be offered until two hours after the conclusion of the 100th Running.

To use the service, fans simply need to purchase a ticket for a specific location point and arrive within the 8 a.m.-12:30 p.m. travel window. The price is $29 roundtrip per person with pickups offered at the following locations:

- PINK ROUTE: The Free Enterprise System Building, 1220 S. West Street, Indianapolis, IN 46225 (downtown at the corner of West & Morris Streets).
- BLACK ROUTE: IUPUI Downtown Campus - Lot 73 & 92 (downtown at the corner of Michigan and California Streets)

- PURPLE ROUTE: The Hampton Inn Downtown, 105 S. Meridian Street, Indianapolis, IN 46225.
- BLUE ROUTE: Indianapolis International Airport, Ground Transportation Lobby (Zone 1), 7800 Col. H. Weir Cook Memorial Dr, Indianapolis, IN 46241.

A premium service, available for $45, will also allow fans to purchase tickets for a specifically designated time. This upgrade will guarantee a seat with designated premium boarding areas to cut out waiting in line before or after the race.

All shuttles will drop-off at IMS across from the main tunnel entrance in the Main Gate east parking lot at 16th and Polco Streets. Return service will begin from the same location.

Fans seeking to learn more about this opportunity or purchase the service can do so by clicking the following link:

<http://www.indianapolismotorspeedway.com/events/indy500/fan-info/transportation-services>. A limited number of slots are available and the service is expected to sell out, so purchase now.

Raptors take 2-1 series lead...

Toronto overwhelms Pacers in Game 3

By GREG RAPPAPORT
Courtesy nba.com/pacers

The Pacers got their deficit down to just 12 after Myles Turner hit a jumper in the fourth quarter, but Toronto responded in force, sinking 3-pointers on back-to-back possessions to go up by 18, and going on to defeat Indiana 101-85 in Game 3 of the Round 1 matchup to take a 2-1 lead in the series.

After trailing by 23 in the second quarter, a Pacers comeback was a tall order.

Although they made their run in the fourth and outscored the Raptors 23-18 in the third, Toronto's stars, Kyle Lowry and DeMar DeRozan, each found their touch after being kept in check for the first two games of the series.

DeRozan did most of his damage in the first half, scoring 16 of his 21 points in the first 24 minutes. Lowry tacked on 21 points of his own, while passing out a game-high eight dimes.

Paul George, who led the NBA in Playoff scoring with 30.5 per game entering the matchup, never found his touch, hitting on 6-of-19 shots, sinking 12-of-12 from the free throw line, and finishing the night with 25 points.

The Raptors' high intensity defense caused problems for Indiana from the start, holding the Pacers to their season-low points in the first half (36) and forcing 11 turnovers early on.

"Once again, it's a playoff series and we are giving the other team that good start and we are playing uphill," Solomon Hill told a group of reporters after the game. "We're not coming out aggressive. We're not coming out swinging. That's nothing against the starters, but I think we can all do better."

Midway through the opening quarter, the Raptors went on a 9-2, then outscored the Pacers by 10 in the second quarter.

The Pacers tried to gain their footing to mount a run, but the Raptors were relentless, leading by as much as 23 in the second quarter.

But out of the locker room, Pacers head coach Frank Vogel decided to switch things up, inserting Myles Turner alongside Ian Mahinmi. Things started to click for Indiana when Turner was the lone big on the floor and flanked by Solomon Hill at power forward. That unit helped cut down on their deficit, outscoring the Raptors by five in the third quarter, and putting the total at 71-59 entering the final 12 minutes.

"We'll consider everything," Vogel said of Turner. "I don't know what our lineup will look like next game. We'll watch tape and evaluate. I thought he had good energy and good confidence about him. We were down 17 so we were going to try something different."

With every bucket, the Gold Out crowd grew louder, sensing a possible comeback.

But when Lowry and DeMarre Carroll drilled 3-pointers on back-to-back plays, it marked the end of the Pacers' comeback bid, with Indiana trailing by 18 midway through the fourth.

Toronto head coach Dwane Casey elected to use the same starting lineup as Game 2, with DeMarre Carroll starting instead of rookie Norman Powell, and the switch paid dividends. With Carroll checking Paul George, DeRozan was able to find more space on offense and not overly exert himself on defense, opening up the floor for the Raptors' offense.

The loss sets the Pacers back 2-1 in the series, and gives control of homecourt advantage back to the second-seeded Raptors.

"It's very disappointing," said George Hill after the game. "We didn't take care of our responsibilities. We didn't do a good job. We had unforced errors, they forced a couple. We've got to do better. All we can do is watch film tomorrow. It's definitely disappointing. We let our fans down. They did a good job of coming out tonight and supporting us."
