Suspect beats officer with hammer...

Sheridan police may have solved arsons

By JEFF JELLISON

A Sheridan police officer’s violent encounter with a 65 year old man may have solved a three-year arson investigation in the northwestern Hamilton County town.

At 2:19 a.m. on July 5th, Officer Wesley Garst, while patrolling the area of California and 4th Street, noticed a detached garage with the word “Hex” painted on it. “Hex” graffiti had been found at numerous arsons in the town of Sheridan over the past three years.

Garst stated while checking the garage he noticed a male wearing a bandanna over his face standing nearby.

Coy

As Garst approached the man, later identified as 65 year old Jerry L Coy of Sheridan, a foot pursuit began which led to a violent encounter that sent Garst to the hospital.

During the chase Garst was able catch up to Coy, at which time Coy struck the officer in the head with a hammer. Garst stated during the encounter Coy attempted to strike him multiple times.

In charging documents Garst stated, “In response I stepped back pulled out my taser and shot him.” Garst also said after the initial taser cycle Coy again charged him forcing Garst to shoot him a second time with the taser. Coy, still armed with the hammer, charged the officer a third time and a struggle then occurred between Garst and Coy. Garst was finally able to remove the hammer from Coy’s hand and eventually handcuff the suspect.

Garst stated that due to his injuries he felt like he was going to pass out and radioed for assistance. Officers from the Westfield Police Department, Hamilton County Sheriff’s Department, Indiana Conservation officers and additional Sheridan officers responded to Garst call for help. Sheridan firefighters and paramedics were also dispatched to aid Garst.

Police said at the time of the arrest Coy smelled of gasoline and had in his possession matches, a can containing gasoline and spray paint.

Coy was charged with six felonies that include one count of Aggravated Battery (which created a substantial risk of death), two counts of Attempted Aggravated Battery, Attempted Arson, Battery Involving Injury to a Public Safety Officer, and Resisting Law Enforcement. Coy was also charged with misdemeanor Criminal Mischief.

Garst was treated for his injuries and released from the hospital. Coy was booked into the Hamilton County Jail.

Law enforcement officials say the case remains an ongoing investigation related to the several previous arsons in Sheridan.

Fun for all ages...

Noblesville Street Dance is Saturday

One of Noblesville’s favorite summer events will be here soon. Noblesville Main Street will hold the 25th annual Noblesville Street Dance on the historic courthouse square from 4 to 11 p.m. Saturday, July 9. Admission is free and the event is open to the public. Riverview Health and the City of Noblesville will serve as the title sponsors of this year’s event.

At 4 p.m. the dancing begins with house music and then at 5 p.m. Noblesville DJ Gene Ott will start the evening on the main stage to get the crowd moving.

“Main Street is proud to welcome LemonWheel, a previous Street Dance headliner, back to the stage in downtown. They’ll entertain with a great selection of music and have fun interacting with the crowd,” stated Chris Owens, Noblesville Main Street executive director.

In addition to all of the fun activities that attendees have come to expect, many are returning favorites: a marketplace of retail vendors, a beer garden area is planned and Wafford Theater is presenting a FREE showing of the movie Minions at dusk at a location to be announced later. Bring your blankets and chairs and enjoy. The Kids Zone will be open from 4 to 8 p.m. with games, prizes and activities for kids. New this year will be the Pacers Fan Van with interactive displays on display near the Kids Zone and Colts In Motion also will make an appearance to get fans fired up for football season. The Classic Car Show returns to feature vintage autos from around central Indiana. Car

In downtown Westfield...

First phase of Mill Street work underway

Work is underway on the first phase of Mill Street reconstruction in downtown Westfield.

The first phase consists of constructing a three-sided box culvert, as well as extending Mill Street south past Park Street to connect to Union Street. The creation of this culvert will mitigate flooding issues in the downtown.

The second phase will improve the intersection of Mill and Park streets. A 10-day road closure will be required to complete this work, which will likely occur early fall.

The final phase will consist of reconstructing Mill Street. The project is estimated to be completed by the end of 2016.

The Mill Street project is a major step forward in the creation of the Grand Junction Park and Plaza, which will provide a downtown hub for Westfield. To learn more about the Grand Junction project, click here.

Hamilton County Sheriff makes arrest in string of Burglary and Theft cases

Miller

According to detectives, while responding to a burglary in the 19600 block of Grassy

Branch Road on July 5, a wallet containing identification was found on the scene. The burglarized property also had surveillance cameras around the area that assisted deputies with identifying the suspect. Investigators located the suspect, identified as Patrick Joseph Miller, age 29 of Arcadia, in a barn on the property in Arcadia where he was residing. The barn contained numerous items that detectives believe were stolen from locations around Hamilton and Madison Counties in a string of incidents over several months. Recovered property included tools, power tools, coins, an ATV, and other similar articles.

Investigators believe Miller's crime spree may have been motivated by possible drug use. Miller is thought to have committed thefts and burglaries in Westfield, Noblesville, Hamilton County, Anderson, and Madison County as well as possible other locations. Detectives are still actively investigating incidents in which Miller might be involved. Patrick Miller was arrested and is currently incarcerated in the Hamilton County Jail with charges of Burglary, a Level 5 felony, Motor Vehicle Theft, a Level 6 felony, Theft of a Firearm, a Level 6 felony, and Theft, a Class A misdemeanor. Miller's bond was set at $50,000.

A charge is merely an accusation and all suspects are presumed innocent until and unless found guilty in a court of law.

blesville and Sheridan. In a desire to be proactive in assisting the healthy development of Hamilton County youth and their families, the program offers counseling for youth and families, youth anger management classes, parenting classes, food and clothing assistance and more.

"One of the children I work with was able to attend summer camp for the first time through the Youth Assistance Program," said Mary Ann Haymaker, an Early Intervention Advocate in Hamilton County. "I was able to meet with her after camp and she was full of smiles and stories. There is definitely a light in her eyes now that I haven't seen before thanks to YAP."

"Our two grandchildren were in a rough place before YAP," said Donna Bretzman, whose children participate in YAP. "With their help, our grandchildren were able to get involved in karate and summer camps. They've really come out of their shells now. I can't say enough positive things about the program and I'm so thrilled to hear the proceeds from this celebration will be going to such a worthy organization."

Community Church for Brookside Community PLAY Initiative

Northview Church is partnering with Brookside Community Church on an initiative called Brookside Community PLAY. Brookside Community Play aims to help children from Brookside's neighboring schools increase their academic progress and potential through playtime, as well as bring the neighborhood community together.

Neighborhood PLAY events will be hosted from 5-8 p.m. every Tuesday in June and July at Brookside Park on Indianapolis' near eastside. The goal is to give kids and their parents a comfortable and safe community environment to reap the mental and emotional benefits that play can give to children, such as creativity, problem-solving, teamwork and leadership skills. The Brookside Community PLAY program hopes that positive playtime experiences will lead to more positive classroom behavior.

Andrew Neal, Brookside Community PLAY director, speaks about how the Play initiative has a two-fold impact, affecting the community, as well as children's classroom performance: "Each week, we are bringing the neighborhood together to reclaim under-utilized space and to promote healthy community engagement and relationships. We believe that play has the potential to transform a child's life."

2016 Cops Cycling for Survivors Bicycle Ride around Indiana

Monday will mark the start of the 15th annual Cops Cycling for Survivors bicycle ride around Indiana. A departure ceremony will be held at 8:30 a.m. EDT in front of the Indiana State Museum (650 W. Washington St) in downtown Indianapolis. The cyclists will depart shortly after key note comments by survivors Carolyn Dudley and Jennifer Martin-Luskey. 2016's ride celebrates 15 years of Gary Dudley's vision of a ride to support law enforcement survivors and for the first time in 30 years, Indiana lost no officers to line of duty death in 2015. 2016 also honors ten years since Lt. Gary Dudley, Indiana State Police, and Deputy Chief Gary Martin, Lake County Sheriff's Dept., were killed participating in the ride on August 22, 2006. After the 9:00 a.m. departure from the museum, the cyclists will head east to Richmond. For the second year in a row, Governor Mike Pence and First Lady Karen Pence will join the cyclists for the departure ceremony and ride for part of the first day. The cyclists' journey will last 13 days and cover nearly 1,000 miles bicycling the perimeter of Indiana honoring fallen police officers and their families.

Cops Cycling for Survivors Foundation, Inc. annual bike ride consists of active and retired police officers, law enforcement survivors, law enforcement family members and friends of law enforcement riding their bicycles around the perimeter of Indiana to raise funds and awareness of the sacrifices made by Hoosier law enforcement families across Indiana. Funds raised from this event are used to perpetuate the memories of officers killed in the line-of-duty and to aid surviving family members and co-workers of officers killed in the line-of-duty. Previously raised funds have been directly donated to foundations, scholarships and camps that have been started in memory of fallen officers or by Indiana survivors in honor of their fallen heroes. In addition, funding has been donated to National Concerns of Police Survivors, the Indiana Chapter of Concerns of Police Survivors and Project Blue Light at the Indiana Law Enforcement Academy.

The ride is scheduled to conclude the afternoon of Saturday, July 23, 2016, at Crown Hill Cemetery, Heroes of Public Safety Section. The closing ceremony will begin at 2 p.m. EDT. Indianapolis Colts long snapper Matt Overton will provide the closing message. All are welcome to attend.

There will also be a stationary ride fundraising event on Monument Circle in front of Emmis Communication on Friday, July 8, 2016, from 7 a.m. to 3 p.m. Come out and meet some of the cyclists, sign the support truck, buy some Cops Cycling swag, donate, or just hang out.

Adidas Invitational...

Visitors enjoy “top-notch” Boys & Girls Club Community Center

By RICHIE HALL

With the AAU's annual high-profile adidas Invitational basketball tournament in full swing Thursday across the Indianapolis area, the facilities that hosted games were given the chance to show off their skills.

One of the sites being used for games is the Boys & Girls Club of Noblesville's Community Center, which is located at 150 N. 17th St. The center is an expansive one, with four basketball courts, and all of them saw non-stop action from morning through evening: The Community Center hosted 30 games on Thursday; it serves as one of the overflow sites for Fishers' Best Choice Fieldhouse, which also has plenty of games this week.

With all those games came a lot of fans, and they got a chance to see what the center had to offer.

"Most people don't realize that this is here," said Jake McCormick, the Club's building manager. "I've had several people from down south, from Southern Indiana that work at a Boys and Girls Club that really enjoy the way ours looks."

McCormick estimated that "about 25 to 30" parents and relatives are watching on a "per court per game" basis - 15 to 20 at the minimum and 40 to 50 at the maximum, "especially if it's a championship." Of course, that helps bring in extra business at the center's concession stand.

"It does definitely increase revenue for this place," said McCormick. "We're able to do more."

That fits right in with what the tournament wants to do for the people involved. Terry Coleman is the Site Director for Best Choice Fieldhouse, and he said the question asked of visitors to the tournament is "How do you enjoy the experience here?"

"Not only do we represent the City of Noblesville, but we represent the entire state of Indiana," said Coleman. "We want to be the pinnacle of hospitality."

It looks like the tournament is on its way to reaching that goal. Andy Ely of Byron Center, Michigan was at the Community Center watching his son play, and he praised the accommodations - "We're staying at the Courtyard (by Marriott) in Noblesville," he said - and the venue as well.

"This venue's unbelievable," said Ely, calling it clean and spacious. "Just one of the things that we see here is it's like a top-notch facility."

The first games today at the Community Center will start at 10:15 a.m., with the last games beginning at 4:30 p.m.

Louisville Slugger Museum & Factory celebrates 20th anniversary

Twenty years ago, Louisville Slugger Museum & Factory swung open its doors. Back in the day of the Macarena and Mario Kart 64, museum admission was just $4, factory tour guides used bullhorns, and Derek Jeter was named Rookie of the Year. More than four million guests later, LSMF plans to party like it’s 1996 on Sunday, July 17.

Admission to Louisville Slugger Museum & Factory will be the 1996 price of $4, which is a $10 savings on adult tickets. Guests can groove with 1996 music and activities including Macarena dance contests and Mario Kart 64 tournaments on the original Nintendo 64 system. From Seinfeld to Beanie Babies, visitors can test their 1996 knowledge while playing trivia. The Big Bat will tower over inflatable games and a “Dunk the Ump” dunking machine.

A Mayoral Proclamation celebrating the 20th Anniversary will be read at noon.

After a final Macarena dance contest, and with help from their buddies at The Kentucky Science Center, Louisville Slugger Museum & Factory will put a 1996 spin on the infamous Disco Demolition Night staged by the Chicago White Sox. The Macarena will be symbolically destroyed and blown to smithereens in a controlled science experiment led by the Kentucky Science Center at 3:30p.m.

A free showing of the 1996 baseball movie, “Soul of the Game,” is also in the line-up at 6 p.m. in the LSMF theater. This entertaining feature starring Blair Underwood depicts the competition between Satchel Paige, Josh Gibson and Jackie Robinson to be the first African-American to break the color barrier in Major League Baseball.

The $4 admission also includes the sensational temporary exhibition, Ripley’s Believe It or Not! Oddball. Wacky themes explored in the Oddball exhibit include quirky baseball oddities, bizarre ballpark food and team-focused treasures that must be seen to be believed. Admission to the museum also includes interactive exhibits, historic memorabilia and an award-winning factory tour. As an added bonus, all guests receive a free souvenir mini-bat at the end of their factory tour.

Paces acquire Teague, Young and Evans

The Indiana Pacers announced Thursday they have acquired 6-2 guard Jeff Teague and 6-8 forward Thaddeus Young in trades.

Teague, an Indianapolis native, comes to the Pacers from the Atlanta Hawks as part of a three-way trade. The Pacers send guard George Hill to Utah and the Jazz send the 12th overall pick in June's NBA Draft, Baylor's Taurean Prince, to Atlanta. Young was acquired from Brooklyn in exchange for the Pacers' first-round pick (20th overall) in the June draft, Michigan's Caris LeVert.

"We want to thank George for his five seasons with us," said Pacers President of Basketball Operations Larry Bird. "He's a great guy who did a lot for the community. We wish him nothing but the best. With Jeff, we think he brings something we haven't had in a true point guard. We think he fits in with what we're trying to do. He has speed, the ability to create for others and he can score. We look forward to working with him."

"Thaddeus is a long, athletic power forward who can defend multiple positions. He was a 15-point scorer last year and averaged nine rebounds a game. We think he's a good fit between Myles (Turner) and Paul (George)."

Teague, 28, grew up in Indianapolis (Pike High School), played collegiately at Wake Forest and was a first-round pick (19th overall) of the Hawks in 2009. In seven seasons with Atlanta, Teague averaged 12.0 points and 5.0 assists. Last season, he averaged 15.7 points and 5.9 assists per game. In 2015, he was named to the NBA All-Star team.

Young, 28, was a first-round pick (12th overall) of the Philadelphia 76ers in the 2007 NBA Draft after playing one season at Georgia Tech. He played seven seasons with the 76ers, one with Minnesota and two with Brooklyn. He has career averages of 13.8 points and 5.5 rebounds per game.

In his five seasons with the Pacers, Hill played in 319 games with 270 starts. He averaged 12.3 points, 3.9 assists and 3.7 rebounds per game.

Also on Thursday, the Pacers acquired forward Jeremy Evans from the Dallas Mavericks in exchange for the rights to Stanko Barac, who the Pacers received in a trade with Miami in 2007. The Pacers also received cash considerations and the rights to Emir Preldzic, a 6-9 forward who plays professionally in Turkey.

The 28-year-old Evans is a six-year veteran who was with Utah his first five seasons and the Mavericks last season. He has career averages of 3.5 points and 2.6 rebounds and was the 2012 NBA Slam Dunk champion. The 6-9, 200-pound Evans played collegiately at Western Kentucky and was the 55th overall pick (second round) by Utah in the 2007 NBA Draft.

"Jeremy is big and athletic," said Bird. "We're anxious to get him here to put him through our strength and conditioning program. We know he'll be a good fit with the players we have."
