Summer tradition back on track...

FairTrain will likely be running next month

By FRED SWIFT

The pieces are gradually falling into place that will allow FairTrain to make its annual run next month. After a spring and summer of uncertainty the Indiana Transportation Museum appears to be meeting requirements to get back on track in time for the State Fair which starts August 5.

Museum President Jeff Kehler said this week that his non-profit organization "is gearing up" to run the popular FairTrain which has made daily runs to the fair for nearly 40 years. This year the train will be set to run August 5 to August 21. That's assuming final inspections prescribed by the Hoosier Heritage Port Authority are met which Kehler said he feels confident can be accomplished. The port authority owns the rail line.

The museum is the line's only customer on the former Nickel Plate Railroad which extends 37 miles from Indianapolis to Tipton and runs just east of the state fairgrounds. Besides the FairTrain, the Transportation Museum operates other excursion trains during the year including a "train to dinner" and Polar Bear Express during the Christmas season.

Problems started in March when the port authority suspended permission to use the rails after getting complaints from seven former museum volunteers who questioned the safety of the museum's operation. The Federal Railroad Administration (FRA) also got involved and sent inspectors to look into the situation, but were apparently satisfied. The port authority then adopted a new policy of use which outlined safety requirements which Kehler said are being met.

The FairTrain will likely be up and running next month, just in time for the Indiana State Fair. The Indiana Transportation Museum is gearing up to get the FairTrain ready for its daily excursions to the fair, a tradition that dates back nearly 40 years.

For city's trails...

Westfield Parks completes Google Trekker

Westfield's parks department has completed imaging of the city's extensive trails system using technology from Google.

Two employees from the department spent three days walking through Westfield's parks and along the trails with the Google Trekker – a 50-pound backpack equipped with multiple 3-D cameras.

"The Trekker allows us to capture 3-D images of our trails system so that people can get a realistic idea of what the trails look like from an online vantage point," parks employee Emily Clark said.

Clark, along with her coworker Britany Goger, clocked an impressive 20 miles over the three-day period in 90 degree heat.

The images will be compiled by Google and loaded online, viewable in a fashion similar to Google's street view tool.

You can follow the device as it travels through the state by using #indianagoogletrekker, on Twitter.

"Meating" The Need

Hamilton County Harvest Food Bank (HCH) is excited to introduce a new pilot program with the Hamilton County 4-H Beef and Dairy projects, "Meating" The Need. HCH is a non-profit organization that supports local food pantries year round, all here in Hamilton County, and this year HCH purchased beef at the Hamilton County 4-H Livestock Auction on July 26 and will use it to supply twenty Hamilton County food pantries with farm fresh beef raised by 4-H members. The six 4-H members who have designated their steers for sale to the Food Bank will be helping to feed those families and children in our own community with good, healthy protein.

Protein is an item that is often missing from our clients' meals and hard to provide consistently by the pantries because of cost. When beef is available, the families are so appreciative! Donations to this program will go towards the appraised market purchase price of the 4-H animals and to the Six Hamilton County 4-H Beef and Dairy Showmen offered their steers to be sold with the intend of their meat to be donated to local food pantries as part of the Hamilton County Harvest Food Bank's "Meating" The Need program. An estimated 3400 pounds of farm fresh beef will go to the HCH Food Bank

Allied Solutions breaks ground on new Carmel headquarters today

Allied Solutions is set to break ground this morning at its new headquarters in Carmel's Midtown. The groundbreaking will take place at 10 a.m. at the corner of 1st Avenue SW and 3rd Street SW. City of Carmel officials will join Allied Solutions, Old Town Development, Ambrose Property Group, F.C. Tucker and other businesses to break ground. In January of 2016, Allied Solutions, a Carmel-based provider and distributor of insurance, lending, and marketing products to financial institutions across the country, announced a major expansion and relocation of its corporate headquarters - a $32.9 million project that will include the construction of a new five-story building in the rapidly developing Midtown area and a plan to more than double its size in Carmel, adding more than 600 jobs by 2025. In April of 2016, real estate firm F.C. Tucker Company announced it will relocate its Carmel headquarters to this building, signing a lease agreement with Old Town Development to occupy 15,000 square feet of the ground level of the new headquarters. The new office space will house all of the Carmel office's operations as well as a new mortgage center. Currently, 150 real estate associates work at the Carmel office, and the move to Midtown will allow F.C. Tucker to accommodate approximately 30 percent more associates than its current location.

Prairie will be the first band to take the state in the second group, with the host Marching Millers performing at 9 p.m. sharp. The final band (Decatur Central) performs at 10:04 p.m., with the awards to be announced at 10:20 p.m. Noblesville Schools Superintendent Dr. Beth Niedermeyer will present the trophy. Concessions will be available for those who attend. The Black and Gold Invitational starts an exciting week for the Marching Millers, as they will also be preparing for the Indiana State Fair band competition. On Thursday, Aug. 4, there will be a Community Dinner Celebration sponsored by Nova 29. A band showcase takes place at 5 p.m., with a dinner in the Noblesville High School cafeteria at 5:30 p.m. This year's Indiana State Fair band competition is scheduled for Saturday, Aug. 6.

4-H members as they pursue their 4-H, education, and life goals. In the 4-Hers own words, "It is special for me to have my steer go back to the community because I know that my hard work is paying off and it's going to something better." 4-H members participating this year are Karly Dean, Chloe Henderson, Chaney Smith, Mackenzie Smith, Madeline Teal, and Hayley Williams. HCH wishes to thank all of the generous donors from across the county that have contributed to fully fund this year's project. Signature donors include: St. Christopher's Episcopal Church, The Pantries with HCH Food Bank, Charles Schwab, Biddle Memorial Foundation, Pilgrim Lutheran Church, Green Valley Church of Christ, Hamilton County Farm Bureau, Beck's Hybrids, Noblesville Township Trustee, Chad and Angie Wolfe, and Hamilton County Beef Cattlemen's Association. Hoosiers Feeding the Hungry is donating all of the processing fees for the animals. HCH welcomes donations to support this initiative for next year when we will be expanding the program to expand to other 4-H livestock. Please send to HCH Food Bank, PO Box 881, Noblesville, IN 46061 or visit our website at HCHFoodBank.org and designate "Meating The Need".

The transportation museum organization under its agreement with the port authority must see that the rail bed its maintained for safety. In Hamilton County the Nickel Plate runs through Fishers, Noblesville, Cicero, Arcadia and Atlanta. The excursion trains are considered one of many major tourist attractions in the county. Kehler said the train buffs group also got longer term good news when the FRA decided not to re-classify the train from its current tourist class to a "short haul passenger service". Such a change would have involved more requirements and personnel. The museum and its trains are operated by volunteer members who have an interest in historic rail transportation. Information on the FairTrain schedule and other details for this year's plans will be released shortly.

News: Over 100 persons turned out last night on the regular meeting of the Noblesville Plan Commission to voice opinions on a sewage disposal plant proposed for construction in Delaware Township. Sheridan Rotary completes Community Park project

Sheridan Rotarians spent a productive evening this past Tuesday working hard to complete their project at the Community Park. The park’s Shelter House is partially surrounded by juniper bushes which have overgrown their beds and covered over the walkways. The Rotarians are working to remove the junipers so the sidewalks can be become functional again. The project will also allow for easier cleaning and repair of the building exterior foundation.

According to club president Steve Martin, “Tuesday was a warm and relatively humid evening to be working outside but this part of the project was completed in about an hour so it was not too bad on us. We have more work to do to finish the project but that will have to wait for another evening. The town provides their dump truck for us to load the removed junipers on to, and an hour’s worth of work just about fills the truck to overflowing. Our goal is to remove all these overgrown junipers from all around the building.”

Martin would also like to announce an important public meeting sponsored by Sheridan Rotary. On Tuesday evening, August 16th, the club will be hosting Todd Burtron for a presentation about the recent waste water treatment plant study done for the Town of Sheridan. There are a lot of rumors going around and Sheridan residents are concerned that their monthly water bills are going to significantly increase. Burtron will explain what the study has uncovered about Sheridan’s waste water utility and what may, or may not, happen as a result of those findings.

The August 16th meeting will be held in the Community Room of the Sheridan Public Library and will start at 7 pm. Community members are encouraged to attend so they may get the latest information and voice their concerns. Sheridan Rotary meets on Tuesday’s in the Community Room of the Sheridan Public Library at 6:15 pm. Formal meetings with a meal and guest speaker are held on the 1st and 3rd Tuesdays of each month. Other Tuesday meetings are dedicated to community service projects or club business meetings. If you have a project you think Rotary could help with, please contact club president Steve Martin at the Sheridan Public Library.

Girls golf previews...

Huskies ready for exciting season

By RICHIE HALL
Reporter Sports Editor

A great number of freshman players will be taking to the greens this year for their debut on the Hamilton Heights girls golf team.

Combine that with a number of experienced returning players - including All-State honoree Caitie Gehlhausen - and this could be a good season for the Huskies. Second-year Heights coach Kim Drake, for one, said that he is "excited" about the upcoming season.

Gehlhausen is now a senior; she's been a star for Heights ever since she was a freshman herself. Gehlhausen has twice qualified for regionals, and it's a safe bet that her sights are focused on making it to the state meet this season.

"Caitie will lead the way for us as an individual, but I hope that she will be able to lead a team effort that is going to be much improved so that we can challenge in (Hoosier) Conference and Sectional," said Drake.

The Huskies do have the experience and talent to compete at both of those events. Along with Gehlhausen, four other golfers are back for Heights, and Drake said all of them "played in a number of varsity matches last year." That includes junior Syd Lucas and sophomore Lexi Tucker.

"Syd and Kate have been taking lessons pretty much since the end of last season with a very fine teacher and I expect big improvements from both of them this season," said Drake.

Meanwhile, five freshmen will join the team when the season gets rolling next week. That list of ninth-graders includes Alyx Harley, who played for the Heights Junior High team. Drake said he expects Harley to "come in and make an immediate impact for us."

The Huskies will be busy during the first week, playing in three tournaments. That includes a Monday opener at the Plainfield Invitational, and a Tuesday stop at the Hamilton Southeastern Invitational.

Three sectional players return...

Golden Eagles have largest team ever

By RICHIE HALL
Reporter Sports Editor

The Guerin Catholic girls golf team will be seeing double this year. Double the players, that is.

Golden Eagles coach Mark Mathews counted 16 players on his team, which he said is "almost double the players that we have in a typical season roster lineup." It's easily the largest team Mathews has had in his seven years as the coach of the Guerin girls program.

The roster for this year's GC team includes three players who played at sectional last season. The Golden Eagles finished tied for third with sectional host Ben Davis, but just missed advancing to the regional, as the Giants got Guerin Catholic on the fifth-woman score.

That trio of returning players are seniors Meghan Ahlgrim and Kylie McMullen, and sophomore McKayla Tallman. In addition, several other players with meet experience are back, including senior Grace Bianchi and junior Carly Hammons.

Six freshmen will be part of the team this year. That includes Angelica Pfefferkorn and Gabriella Gilrowski, both of whom have played on the Indiana Golf Foundation Junior Tour.

The Golden Eagles will play three tournaments during the first three days of the season, opening on Monday at the Lawrence Central Invitational. New to the schedule this season is the inaugural Circle City Conference tournament on Aug. 27. Guerin Catholic will be one of five schools in this new conference, along with Bishop Chatard, Brebeuf Jesuit, Roncalli and Heritage Christian, which announced that it would join the conference in January. The other four schools were part of the formation of the conference last August.

"We are excited about our new home course location at Pebble Brook Golf Club, and the team is looking forward to a strong season and we have focused our team goal squarely at making it to the State Championship as a team this year," said Mathews.

Juniors: Rachel Fredricks, Carly Hammons, Krissy Lawrence.
