Twenty-five candidates on the ballot...

School board elections are set

By FRED SWIFT

School board elections are now set for the November 8 election. Twenty-five candidates qualified for the ballot before yesterday's noon filing deadline. A total of 14 seats are at stake in the six county school districts.

There will be no contest for Noblesville School Board. Three at-large seats are up for election this year. Two incumbents, Gary Duvall and Donna Clark will begin new four-year terms in January. They will be joined by newcomer Carl Johnson. Jane Barr, current member of the board, is not running for re-election.

In the Hamilton Heights district where there are two seats at stake, there will be a contest for the Jackson Township seat on the five-member board. Chris Walton and Kevin Cavanaugh are running while in the White River Township district Lisa Reuter is unopposed.

In Carmel Clay, the two at-large seats are up this year. Five candidates, including incumbent Kathy Freed, are seeking election. Running for the first time are Katie Browning, Cherish Davis, Timothy Smith and Lin Zheng.

In Hamilton Southeastern there is major competition with nine candidates seeking three seats. In the Wayne Township district, Sylvia Shepler and Charron Wright have filed. In the Delaware Township district Adam Harness, Bradley Jones, Amanda Shera and Franklin Whelan are running, and in Fall Creek Township, Mike Bottorff, Howard Stevenson and J. Kent Everett are seeking election.

Westfield Washington will elect two board members. Amy Pictor is unopposed in District 1 while there will be a contest in District 2 between Alan Ford and Duane Lutz.

Voters in Marion Township of Boone County will elect two board members to the Sheridan board. Jim Hopkins and Alan Lyon are unopposed and certain of election. Two positions from Adams Township and one at-large seat are not up for election this year.

All local school boards are composed of five members except Hamilton Southeastern which has a seven-member board. The school elections are non-partisan.

Legacy Fund, YAP to conduct...

Inaugural stakeholder meeting

Legacy Fund of Hamilton County, an affiliate of Central Indiana Community Foundation (CICF) and Hamilton County Youth Assistance Program will conduct an inaugural stakeholder meeting the morning of Tuesday, Aug. 30 at the IMMI Corporate Campus, 18881 IMMI Way, Westfield.

The meeting is scheduled for 7:30 to 8:45 a.m. Opening remarks and a video presentation will take place at 8 a.m., followed by remarks by Westfield Mayor Andy Cook and Hamilton County Superior Court 1 Judge Steve Nation at 8:15 a.m. a board panel discussion about why and how the program works begins at 8:25 a.m.

Over 150 people, including all Hamilton County mayors and district school superintendents, county sheriff and prosecuting attorney, judges and other city and county officials, will attend the inaugural board and stakeholder training for Hamilton County's Youth Assistance Program.

The early-intervention program was created to help at-risk youth avoid making mistakes that lead to long-term involvement in the county's legal system. Legacy Fund, government officials, schools and community members provided the seed money for Youth Assistance Programs in all six Hamilton County school districts, but now the program is strongly support by the broader community.

Other speakers include Terry Anker, president, Legacy Fund and Hamilton County Youth Assistance Program board leaders.

The Hamilton County Juvenile Services Center in Noblesville is at just 14 percent capacity, on average, and youth being detained is half of what it was at its height in 2009 when the first Youth Assistance Pilot Program launched.

Noblesville High School assistant principals Kevin Stuckwisch, Melinda Miller and daughter Mallory (above) check their weather apps during a storm that delayed and eventually postponed Friday night's Millers-Carmel football game to 7 p.m. tonight. While very little rain fell, the clouds remained ominous (below) and enough lightning was nearby to force the game to be pushed back a day.

Can no longer admit new students that receive federal money...

ITT Tech facing uncertain future

ITT Technical Institute could soon be out of business. The federal government is no longer allowing the Carmel-based educational services company to accept “new students that receive federal loans and grants” in order to pay tuition, according to a report in the Wall Street Journal. The article said that the Department of Education has “lost faith” that ITT will get past the myriad of investigations that it is under, including from its accreditor.

Ted Mitchell, the U.S. Under Secretary of The U.S. Department of Education, posted the following on the department’s official blog, “Homeroom,” Thursday:

“In recent years, ITT Educational Services, Inc. (ITT) has increasingly been the subject of state and federal investigations and this year it has twice been found out of compliance with its accreditor’s standards. Over time, ITT’s decisions have put its students and millions of dollars in taxpayer funded federal student aid at risk. In response, over the last couple of years, we at the Department of Education have increased our financial oversight over ITT and required the school to boost its cash reserves to cover potential damages to taxpayers and students.

“These investigations are still ongoing and last week ITT still failed to address its accreditor’s concerns. In response, today we’re announcing further federal action: To protect prospective students and taxpayers, we’re no longer allowing ITT to enroll new students with federal aid. In addition, in case the school’s actions cause it to close, we’re increasing the amount of cash reserves it must send us and we’re ending its installment payment plan for the amount previously required. Finally, we’re slowing down when ITT receives student aid from the government to ensure that ITT is handling its finances properly.”

ITT Tech has 130 campuses serving over 40,000 students in 38 states. The company granted over $260 million in scholarships in 2014, according to its website.

Carmel roundabout named 'International Roundabout of the Year'

One of Carmel's picturesque roundabouts has been honored as the world's most beautiful, earning the title "International Roundabout of the Year" by the UK Roundabout Appreciation Society. The announcement was made today in London.

The roundabout is located on Horseferry Road, just south of Main Street, within the Village of West Clay and features a beautifully landscaped roundabout with a fountain in the center and manicured hedges amid a sea of green. It sits in the middle of Jackson Circle, one of the many visual amenities in the Village, which was designed and built by Brenwick Development. "The roundabout in Carmel is beautiful and unlike most cities in the U.S., Carmel truly embraces its roundabouts," said Kevin Beresford, president of the UK Roundabout Appreciation Society. The British newspaper The Telegraph called the roundabout "a rather splendid gyratory."

The roundabout will be prominently featured on the cover of a calendar produced annually by the Society, featuring 11 other roundabouts that were also nominated for the honor of most beautiful. This is the second consecutive year a Carmel roundabout has been featured. Last year, the roundabout at 4th and Main Street was among the 12 featured in the calendar.

"We are very pleased to be honored by the UK Roundabout Appreciation Society as having the world's most beautiful roundabout this year. We work hard in Carmel and take great pride in creating beautiful landscapes throughout our city; from our domed, European style Palladium concert hall in City Center to the architectural styles and charming amenities of our Arts & Design District - and of course, our 97 roundabouts, each one adorned with a variety of unique landscaping elements," said Carmel Mayor Jim Brainard. "Roundabouts are not only functional for moving traffic and keeping motorists safe, they are also opportunities to enhance the beauty of our daily drives, lift the spirits of our residents and hopefully inspire all of us to pay attention to elements of design and architecture no matter what we create."

Carmel is home to more roundabouts than any city in the United States, currently with 97 and more under construction this year. The city anticipates celebrating the completion of its 100th roundabout later this year.

'Rocks thunder past Southport

Westfield coach Jake Gilbert congratulates Koby Hauser (22) during the Shamrocks' football game with Southport Friday night. Westfield won 27-0. Also pictured are Lucas Schultz (17), Dorian Henson (28) and Jonathan Swidan (36).

It took a while for the Westfield football team to get started on Friday, because the lightning wouldn't stop.

Eventually, the storms went away, after which the Shamrocks provided the thunder to their patient fans at The Rock. Westfield, ranked No. 5 in the Class 5A coaches poll, cruised past Southport 27-0 to improve its record to 2-0 for the season.

"It's way harder to be 2-0 than what anybody realizes," said 'Rocks coach Jake Gilbert. "You really look at how few teams can get to 2-0, it's hard. Very proud of these guys."

Westfield achieved a couple items of note with this victory. First, it came over a Class 6A team - the second year in a row that the Shamrocks have defeated the 6A Cardinals. Also, it was Westfield's first shutout victory since Oct. 17, 2014, when it beat Indianapolis Washington 42-0.

"It's darn near impossible to get a shut-out, let alone against a good team like Southport," said Gilbert.

The game finally began around 9 p.m., and was slow going at first. After a scoreless first quarter, the 'Rocks got on the board thanks to their defense: Matt Robinson recovered a fumble in the end zone. Will Harrison added the extra point kick, and that 7-0 lead would stand at halftime.

Westfield upped the momentum in the second half, scoring 10 points each in the third and fourth quarters. Harrison did his part, kicking a decent-sized field goal in both periods - 41 yards in the third, 31 yards in the fourth - and following up a Shamrock touchdown in each quarter with a successful extra point attempt.

Andrew Sweet threw a 53-yard blast to Evan Manley early in the third quarter to get Westfield's first touchdown of the half and second of the game. Late in the fourth quarter, Jonathan Swidan punctuated a resolute Shamrock drive by bulldozing in from the 1-yard line.

Nate Froelich led the Westfield rushing brigade, compiling 118 yards in 17 carries. Sweet completed 5 of 14 passes for 132 yards, including the touchdown to Manley, who caught three passes for a total of 83 yards.

"I thought Froelich gave us a spark, and we got some good runs out of Andy Sweet," said Gilbert.

Next up for the Shamrocks is another homestand, this one against 5A No. 6 Zionsville to open Hoosier Crossroads Conference play. The Eagles won an incredible 55-54 game over Boone County rival Lebanon on Friday, scoring in the final minute.

Four county games postponed

Persistent thunderstorms forced the postponements of four Hamilton County football games Friday night.

All four games will be made up today, at various times. They are:

North Central at Hamilton Southeastern - 10 a.m.

Pike at Fishers - 1 p.m.

Clinton Central at Sheridan - 6 p.m.

Carmel at Noblesville - 7 p.m.

Be sure to catch results from all four games in your Sunday edition of the Hamilton County Reporter.

No. 1 Knights run away from Golden Eagles

Guerin Catholic got off to a great start at Lafayette Central Catholic on Friday, but the Class 1A No. 1 Knights rattled off 34 straight points to beat the Golden Eagles 34-13, handing GC its first loss of the year.

Guerin, ranked No. 5 in the Class 3A coaches poll, scored the game's first two touchdowns, both on the legs of Carter McGinnis. The senior ran in from 10 yards just over a minute into the game, then hurried into the end zone from six yards only a minute and a half later, with Caleb Quick's extra point kick putting the Golden Eagles ahead 13-0.

Central Catholic scored a first-quarter touchdown to cut Guerin's lead to 13-6 by the end of the period, tied the game by halftime at 13-all, then took the lead for good in the third quarter.

McGinnis rushed 21 times for 107 yards. The Knights' defense limited GC quarterback Luke Keller to just four pass attempts for the game. Keller completed two, for 52 yards.

Guerin Catholic returns to the Eagles Nest next week to host 2A No. 10 Heritage Christian.
