The annual New Earth Festival began Saturday in Atlanta. The annual event features over 600 vendors, music, food, crafts and much more. The festival continues today until 4 p.m. Atlanta is located in the far northern part of Hamilton County; just take State Road 19 north from Noblesville.

A taste of fall

By JANET HART LEONARD
For everything there is a season...my favorite is Fall.

The brisk temperatures, the turning of the leaves, the festivals, football and the food.

There is something about putting a meal into a slow cooker and then coming home to the aroma of supper.

I love to cook and I love to entertain. I have realized that my house does not have to be in perfect order to invite friends over for an impromptu meal.

I have shared this recipe before but I am always asked to share it again.

Taco Stew

Brown 2 lbs. ground beef or turkey, drain the grease and place in a slow cooker.

ADD

- 1 1/2 cans of Tomato Juice
- 2 packages of Taco Seasoning (mild or hot or mix both)
- 1 can of Rotel diced tomatoes with chiles
- 1 can regular diced tomatoes
- 1 can of Red Beans or Chili Beans (drained)
- 1 can of Black Beans (drained)
- 1 can of whole kernel corn (drained)

Fishers on a roll

This group of friends got together in Ritchey Woods Nature Preserve in Fishers Thursday to celebrate the fall equinox. Ritchey Woods was mentioned in a recent Money Magazine article about Fishers being one of the "Best Places to Live."

People in Fishers may say "Tell us something we don't know," but Money Magazine has placed Fishers on its annual "Best Places to Live 2016" list.

Fishers is ranked 30th on the list (the full list can be found here), and is the only city that represents Indiana. Money Magazine touts Fishers' low unemployment rate (3.4 percent) and its affordable nature, with a median home price of $220,577 and property taxes of around $2,614.

"The city is home to major employers like student loan provider Navient and security company ADT, and job growth is expected to skyrocket by 15.5% in the next five years," said the article.

Money Magazine also noted the "slew of cultural and recreational activities" available in Fishers, such as "the Conner Prairie Interactive History Park, the Ritchey Woods Nature Preserve, and the Nickel Pate District Amphitheater," which of course are only a few of the offerings available in Fishers.

Noblesville Elementary Football history...

Values learned by Grinders last a lifetime

By STEVE DILLINGER

Note: This is the beginning of a series of articles, celebrating the 50th anniversary of the Noblesville Elementary Football League and the Noblesville Grinders. Steve Dillinger is a Hamilton County Commissioner.

Some 50 years ago the youth in Noblesville, who wanted to play football, had no choice but to play in the school sponsored flag football program. It was ran by a very dedicated teacher who I believe was Mr. Forkner if I'm not mistaken.

There was a group of us old Noblesville football people, who believed we needed something better for our young athletes. Joe Sparlin, Garrick Mallery, Jim Bright, Skip Schafer, Don Jellison, Dale Snelling and myself, decided to do something about it. There may have been one or two others that I cannot think of right now.

Snelling had just retired from being the head line Coach for Noblesville High School with Head Coach Bill Nevitt. I had played for him and I had the upmost respect and admiration for him.

We discovered an organization called the Indiana Elementary Football Association. It was a very well respected Youth Football organization that had teams from Carmel, Lawrence Central, Warren Central, Arlington, Fortville, Christian Park, Green Castle, Tabernacle and the Deaf School. We were invited to join their Association.

We quickly put together our traveling team and named them the Noblesville Grinders, since Noblesville use to be a grain milling and grinding town, years back. That's how our varsity teams became the Millers. I recall it was Don Jellison, then the Sports Editor for the Noblesville Daily Ledger, that suggested the name.

That was the beginning of what has turned out to be one of the most magical and outstanding youth sports teams in the history of the State. It united families and thought young men how to be, not only football players, but how to become men. Love, commitment, determination, teamwork and always, always giving 100% effort of yourself. We maintained, by living and playing by these principles, they would always be winners, no matter the score on the scoreboard.

Dale Snelling was the first head coach. I was his head assistant along with Skip Schafer. Rex Dillinger (my brother), Steve Coverdale and Bill Evans were a few of our first team. These boys are now 61 years old.

We quickly realized that we would have many more boys who wanted to play than we could keep on the Grinders 33 roster. We took care of that problem by forming our (in house league) for the boys who tried out for the Grinders, but didn't make it. I think we had 5 teams in house that very first year.

It was not all a bed of roses that first few years. We had our critics. Some folks felt like these 11 and 12 year olds were not physically or mentally mature enough for such a violent sport.

After the first few years, when the critics discovered the magic we were creating in their young men and their families, pretty much everybody jumped on board and they become Noblesville's young dream team.

We required very strong mental and physical discipline in order to be able to compete against the much larger schools. The boys were only allowed to answer either "Yes Sir or No Sir". We came on the field a certain way, we lined up a certain way and we broke the huddle a certain way. Many of these idea's came from our then knew High School Football Coach Jim Belden.

It produced winners, both on and off the field.

Much of the respect and discipline stuck. Today 40, 50. 60 years later, many of these ex-Grinders still address me with a "Yes Sir or No Sir". Always makes me feel so proud to have helped carve these young lives and hopefully have made a positive difference.

More later.....

Slow cook for 3-4 hours, even longer is ok.

Serve with sour cream, Mexican shredded cheese and Fritos

Hot Sauce or hot chile peppers are optional

Don't make a fuss with cleaning and fancy table decorating. Paper plates and bowls are fine.

People just want to feel welcome in your home. Light a few candles. Say Grace and enjoy the blessing of friendship.

Maybe, before supper, go for a Sunday afternoon drive. You might check out the sights of Hamilton County. It seems the traffic flocks to Brown County but we have so much to offer here. Just check out the Hamilton County Tourism on Facebook or their website.

Enjoy the season...you know what's coming.

History of Hamilton County ...

Interurbans big part of history

Editor's Note: In keeping with the Bicentennial spirit which is flooding the state, the Hamilton County Reporter today publishes a story on the interurbans and their role in Hamilton County transportation. The article appeared in the 1988 100th anniversary edition of the Noblesville Daily Ledger.

The word "interurban" was coined in 1893 by Anderson lawyer Charles L. Henry to describe a system of electric railways unique to Indiana.

Although this system was the shortest-lived in history, spanning a period of only 48 years, it provided fast and safe rides for Indiana commuters.

The Indiana Union Traction Railroad spearheaded the installation of an interurban system of electric trains in the latter part of the 19th century. The first section of the interurban track, an 11-mile line between Anderson and Alexandria, was completed in 1898, and the remainder of the interurban tracks was laid by 1903.

The interurban in its peak years had 2,300 miles of track and 200 affiliated companies and it extended into 67 of 92 Indiana counties. Its terminal constructed in Indianapolis in 1904 and now a part of the Indiana Transportation Museum in Forest Park, saw nearly seven million passengers in 1914 at the peak of its popularity.

Hamilton County was crossed by a part of the Indiana-Elkhart line which ran from 96th and College to Home Place, northeast to Carmel and then northeast to Noblesville. The Hoosier Flyer and Dixie Flyer were the major north-south interurbans on this 117-mile track.

Interurbans provided a fast mode of transportation each hour daily from 5:30 a.m. to 12:30 a.m. and had Hamilton County stops in Carmel, Noblesville, Cicero, Arcadia and Atlanta. Overnight sleepers were available and dining cars provided filet mignon for only $1.25. The interurban also offered freight hauling and livestock pick up.

In 1941, after eight years of nominal financial gains, the interurban was forced to close. The automobile, well-paved roads and the Great Depression worked to bring its demise – the end to a brief but interesting period in the history of Hoosier and Hamilton County transportation.

Staying healthy for baby boomers: It's all in your mind

By SHARON MCMAHON

"The Good Lord gave you a body that can stand most anything. It's your mind you have to convince." Vincent Lombardi

A profound statement by Vince Lombardi, an example of talent and integrity whom many coaches today could emulate...but that is an article for someone else to write! My topic today is the importance of the mind-body connection as it relates to physical fitness and I will address not just the importance of a fitness program as we age, but the mindfulness of staying fit. In working with clients on their nutrition and fitness goals, I have found that too often we "baby boomers" just want to give up once we approach the mid-fifties/sixties age. The worst offenders are those that, surprisingly, were at or near their ideal weight in their younger adult life. They believe that they can practice the same eating habits and often the sedentary habits of prior years. Nothing could be further from the truth! I also frequently talk with people who were athletes in their younger years and have completely removed themselves from the commitment and energy that once propelled them to their optimum physical state.

I would venture to say that there may be those phenomenon of nature who can stay fit and healthy without making changes as they age, but those people are few and far between, trust me. While our parents and grandparents often became debilitated as they approached their mature years, it does not need to happen! What can you do about that? Quite a lot, actually. Let's review some of the choices:

Healthy eating – this means no (or rarely) indulging in the drive-thru option. Society has become so accustomed to mindless eating whenever we get the urge that we have become the most obese country on the planet, no bragging rights there! When we eat less and make nutritional choices, we will lose weight and feel better.

Flexibility – ask anyone over the age of 50 if they are as flexible and balanced these days as they were in their earlier years... Do you have a family member who has fallen and ended up losing much of their mobility due to that fall? We all dread the thought of losing mobility, which equals losing independence. Routine stretching and flexibility are critical to staying fit and independent.

Strength training – if you are over 50 can you honestly say that you are as strong as you were when you were younger; is it more difficult to pick up a bag of groceries (paper, not plastic!) or a bag of potting soil, etc.? As most of us know, muscles will atrophy from non-use. Routine strength training will help you to keep your muscle mass and bone strength. Although our spines naturally compress throughout the years and most of us will lose some of our height, it is critical that we keep our bone structure as strong as possible, and this is true particularly for women.

Cardio – do you consistently breathe deeply and regularly, slowly inhaling oxygen and expelling the carbon dioxide? Most of us practice shallow breathing on a regular basis. A good cardio workout, whether that is running, walking, dancing, or playing ball, will force you to breathe deeply and strongly. Your heart and lungs with thank you, along with your muscle tone and balance!

As Coach Lombardi indicated, it is our minds that we must convince – there is only one option to growing older, and although with faith we can look forward to that option, let's make the best choices while we are here – are you in?

News: New Noblesville North Elementary School was host Wednesday at its first large convocation of the Noblesville Teachers Forum. Virtually 100 percent of the 153 members in the professional association attended the first meeting this year in the new school. The teachers praised the functional design and modern concept of the building.

Sports: Junior Jack Butler remained undefeated but Noblesville High School's cross country crew bit the dust for the first time this season when Coach Glen Harper's Millers were nipped by one point, 27-to-28, in a two-school meet at Tipton Thursday afternoon.

‘Rocks win regional, four teams head to state

By RICHIE HALL
Reporter Sports Editor
Four Hamilton County girls golf team, and one individual are going to state next week after their performances at Saturday's regional round.

There is a different storyline attached to each team. Two are continuing new traditions, two were looking for redemption after missing state last year. And the one individual? She achieved a long-sought goal - or, let's her say it in her own words.

"It feels like a weight has been lifted off my shoulders," said Caitie Gehlhausen, Hamilton Heights senior and state qualifier. "I was almost there all the other years, and so this year's my year. I'm excited."

Gehlhausen wasn't about to let this year be another "almost." She fired a 74 at the Lapel regional, which took place at Edgewood Golf Course. Gehlhausen's score not only made her the top advancing individual, but the overall runner-up. Gehlhausen finished behind only Holly Anderson of Columbus North, who carded a 73.

"I think I played really well," said Gehlhausen. "The course played a lot harder than it did last year, and I scored a lot better than I did last year."

The state meet, a two-day and 36-hole event, will take place this coming Friday and Saturday at Prairie View Golf Club in Carmel. Gehlhausen will be joined by the teams from Hamilton Southeastern and Fishers, which placed second and third respectively at Edgewood. The top three teams advance from regional to state.

LUCKY 13

The Royals carded a 322, behind only Columbus North's 311. Southeastern missed out on state last year, ending a streak of 10 consecutive years of making it to the big tournament. This year, HSE made it back, and will mark its 13th appearance at state.

"These girls have worked really hard, and they're excited about it, for sure," said Royals coach Steve Guenin.

Chelsea Morrow led HSE with a 77. Julia Eaton carded an 80.

The Westfield girls golf team won the Roncalli regional at Smock Saturday, with a team score of 297. Cailyn Henderson (center) was the individual medalist with an eight-under par 64.

"We started out a little rough, but they really picked it up and did a nice job on the back nine," said Guenin. "We kind of had a little bit of a sense of urgency, I think, and they came out and just really finished strong."

CONFIDENT TIGERS

Fishers will mark its second straight year at state, grabbing the final qualifying spot with a 326. Kennedy Brooker had a great day for the Tigers, finishing in a tie for third place by shooting a 75.

"Kennedy played a really good round," said Fishers coach Danny Smith. "She shot a 75, four-over par. Most everybody else struggled a bit. The conditions were a little tougher than when we came out for our practice round. We didn't play our best, but we survived and advanced."

Smith attributed his team's added confidence with helping them to make it through the day.

"They've got a lot more confidence this year," said Smith.

Noblesville placed seventh at the regional, shooting a team score of 370. Sarah Hayes led the Millers with a 90.

ANOTHER 64

Down at the Roncalli regional, which again took place at Smock Golf Course in Indianapolis, Westfield breezed to another championship. The No. 1-ranked Shamrocks scored a 297, well ahead of runner-up Carmel's 315. Zionsville earned the third state qualifying spot, shooting a 326.

The day belonged to Westfield's Cailyn Henderson, who rocked Smock for a 64 - eight under par - which easily earned her medalist honors. This is the second time this season that Henderson shot a 64 during the first week of Westfield's 2016 campaign.

"I actually thought I did pretty well," said Henderson. "The thing that helped was my short game. Driver was good. Honestly, everything was pretty good today, so I felt good."

"I think that Cailyn played tremendous, obviously, with an eight-under par," said Shamrocks coach Trevor Neu. "It's miraculous and fun to watch when she gets going like that."

Westfield had the top two individuals at Smock. Margaret Wentz was the runner-up, shooting a 73. Jocelyn Bruch, a freshman playing in her first regional, carded a 78.

"Margaret Wentz had an extremely great round as well, finishing with one-over," said Neu. "She's been playing some really steady, consistent golf and some of the best golf that she's played in three years here.

"Everybody else, I think they battled really well today. I think that they maybe left some shots out there, but I think that sometimes you have to deal with what you have out there on the course, and they battled to shoot the scores that they shot."

KAVANAUGH PLACES THIRD

Carmel also just missed state last season, so the Greyhounds are happy to be going back to their home course to play in the big tournament. This will be the 25th time that Carmel competes at state; that ties them with Noblesville and Martinsville for the second-most appearances at state. Lafayette Jeff is the leader with 29 appearances.

"I think the girls played really well," said Carmel coach Kelly Kluesner. "We were led by Angie Kavanaugh, who's a senior. She's had a great start to the state tournament."

Kavanaugh placed third overall with a 76. She was a freshman who played on Carmel's state championship team in 2013.

"She's definitely talked to them about it," said Kluesner. "We've really tried to just instill in the girls to stay relaxed, play their game, don't worry about the competition, and just go for the best score on that day."

Guerin Catholic's Angelica Pfefferkorn played as an individual, shooting an 84.

"Today was our best performance of the season," said Carmel coach Shane Schmidt. "Our team shape defensively, ball movement, and possession on the attack was fantastic. I am extremely proud of the entire team's effort."

The Guerin Catholic boys team picked up two wins at the Zionsville Classic on Saturday.

The Golden Eagles beat 2A No. 15 Munster 3-0 in their first game. Andrew Garvey scored the first goal, taking a pass from PJ Grocki and hitting a one-touch shot into the net.

Garvey scored Guerin's second goal on a penalty kick, then assisted the third goal, passing to Conner Murray, who finished the score.

In their second game, the Golden Eagles defeated Bishop Dwenger 3-1. Murray scored 10 minutes into the game, but Dwenger scored to tie things up at halftime. Guerin added two more goals in the second half, with Shane Johnson scoring off an assist by Murray, and Garvey hitting another penalty kick.

The Hamilton Southeastern girls soccer team beat Lawrence North 3-0 on Saturday.

Kara Sanders scored for the 2A No. 5 Royals two minutes into the game, off an assist by Abbie Wood. Kaitlyn Weldy got the second goal, with Ava Keaffaber assisting. Keaffaber scored the third goal, assisted by Taylor Pozzebon.

"Natalie Wilkinson with player of the game as the one shot on goal we gave up she made the big save to keep the shutout," said HSE coach Greg Davidson.

Carmel's girls, ranked No. 2 in 2A, beat 2A No. 6 Zionsville 1-0 on Saturday.

The Greyhounds scored in the game's ninth minute, when Katie Soderstrom got the goal off a pass from Ali James.
