NHS art students win Indianapolis Museum of Art competition

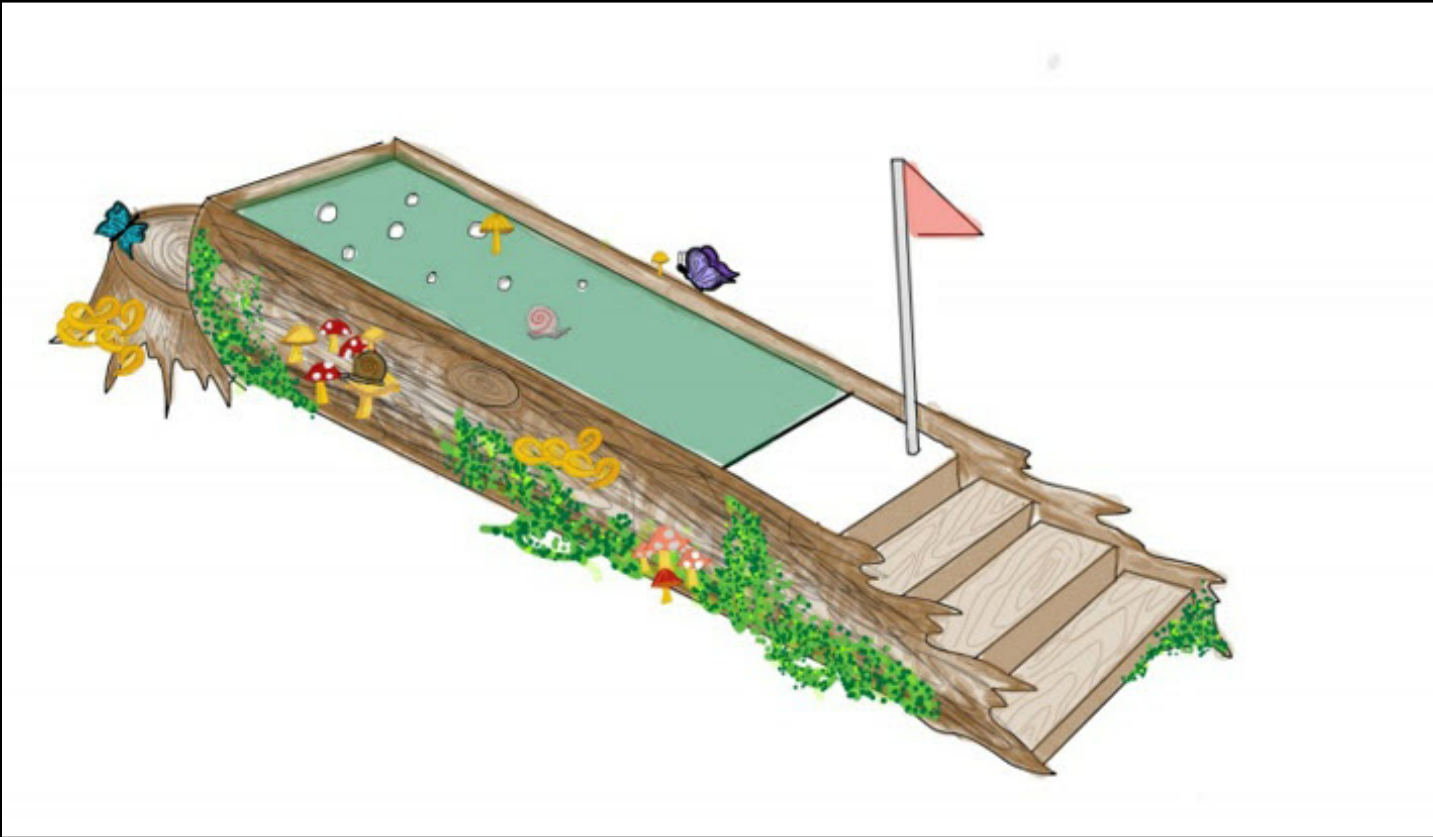

Picture courtesy Noblesville Schools

The work of Noblesville High School (NHS) Sculpture II art students will be on display at the Indianapolis Museum of Art (IMA) after winning a competition to design one of the museum’s 2017 mini golf course holes.

The theme of the course is “Natural World” and applicants were encouraged to emphasize flora, fauna and landscape in their submissions. NHS’s submission, titled “Stumped”, stood out among other local and regional artists, architects and designers to secure one of the 18 hole designs that will be in display throughout 2017.

The Sculpture II class is made of 10 students who all contributed to the winning design. The class is led by NHS art teacher Craig Helming.

Collaboration skills and the connection between school studies and real-world opportunities are key elements of Noblesville Schools’ unique Miller Shift learning culture.

position. The full-time positions include street department (3), parks (2), police (2), information technology (1), planning (1), fire (1) and mayor’s office (1). The part-time position is a deputy clerk.

* City employees will receive a 2 percent raise, the first pay increase in three years. A handful of director and assistant director positions will see a higher increase to stay competitive and comparable to similar jobs in the area.

* Circuit breakers are tax caps (set at 1, 2 and 3 percent) aimed at helping residents by ensuring they do not pay more than a fixed percent of their property’s gross assessed value in property taxes. In 2016, Noblesville was unable to collect $4.1 million of property taxes. Due to the tax rate drop (from 1.61 in 2016 to 1.56 in 2017), the loss for 2017 is projected to be $3.689 million.

* Public safety is the No. 1 priority in our community. In 2017, public safety accounts for 56 percent of the overall operational budget, up from 53 percent in 2016.

* The budget includes $2.35 million for road resurfacing and sidewalk/trail improvements.

Correction

The Hamilton County Reporter incorrectly listed the date for Hamilton County Parks’ dedication of the restoration and re-creation of three historic bridges used to build a bridge to link Koteewi Park with White River Campground.

The correct date for the dedication and festival is November 10th.

Robert H. Cooley

July 25, 1941 - October 22, 2016

Our Good Lord mercifully took Robert H. Cooley home to heaven on Saturday morning, October 22, 2016. His long struggle with cancer ended peacefully at home with his 60 year love, Jeannie, at his bedside.

Mr. Cooley was born July 25, 1941, in Arlington, IN, to parents Lowell and Opal Cooley who preceded him in death. Mr. Cooley graduated from Arlington High School in 1959, having served as Class President, trumpet player and scrappy leader of the Arlington Wildcats basketball and baseball teams.

After attending Butler University, he married the former Regenia Carole Pedigo, November 12, 1960. She was the love of his life, and together they raised three sons who survive: Robert Lowell Cooley and wife Kellie of Newton, NC, Brian Scott Cooley and wife Lesa of Noblesville, IN, and Barry Wade Cooley and wife Pamela of Portland, OR. He was also so proud of his four grandsons, Brian, Matthew, Andrew and Brandon, and one granddaughter, Madison, who survive. Mr. Cooley is also survived by his sister, Betty Carole Fancher and husband Bob, Arlington, IN, and his brother, Garry Evan Cooley and wife Connie of Milroy, IN. He was preceded in death by his uncles, Leon Cooley, Omer Cooley and Pete Bogue.

Detective Sergeant Cooley proudly served 27 years with the Indiana State Police, received many honors and mentored a new generation of Indiana’s finest. During his service, he was the recipient of the State of Indiana’s highest honor, “Sagamore of the Wabash”. After State retirement, he became Manager of Security for American Trans Air Airlines for 10 years. Those years spanned the most challenging years in our country’s aviation history, including 9/11/2001. Security measures he developed during those years are still in place today, working to keep American safe from threats at home and abroad.

When faced with a rare cancer diagnosis and short term fatal prognosis, Mr. Cooley enrolled in a clinical trial with the Oregon Health & Sciences University and the Novartis Drug Co. This move extended Mr. Cooley’s life by over sixteen years and helped create Gleevec, which is now treating G.I.S.T. cancer and leukemia patients worldwide.

Besides a storied career and long fought battle, he enjoyed fishing, golfing, and 10K running. He also enjoyed time with his many friends from the law enforcement fraternity, but most of all, cherished his time with his beloved wife, Jeannie, and wonderful family.

The family will receive visitors on Friday, October 28, from 4:00 to 8:00 pm at Randall & Roberts Funeral Home, 1685 Westfield Road (State Road 32), Noblesville, IN. Formal services will be Saturday, October 29 at 10:30 am, also at the funeral home.

Mr. Cooley will be buried Saturday, October 29, 2:30 pm, with a graveside service at the Cooley Family Plot, Arlington East Hill Cemetery, Arlington, IN.

In lieu of flowers, the family would appreciate contributions to G.I.S.T. Research, Knight Cancer Institute, Oregon Health & Sciences University, Mail Code CH7M, 3303 SW Bond Avenue, Portland, OR 97239; or Rush County Community Foundation, Inc., 117 N Main St, Rushville, IN 46173.

‘Rocks fall to hard-hitting Eagles

By RICHIE HALL
Reporter Sports Editor

The Westfield volleyball team ran into a big-hitting Zionsville squad Tuesday, and fell to the Eagles in the regional championship in a hard-fought four-set match.

The final score of 25-20, 25-21, 21-25, 25-22 shows how close it was. Each set followed a different pattern, and yet had the same theme: Zionsville's big offense caused frustration for the Shamrocks.

"I felt like everything that we put up against them, we could not stop them," said Westfield coach Michelle Mapes Hewitt. At one point, the coach turned to her assistant coach and noted that Zionsville was jumping higher and making more plays.

"They executed well, and I just think this team makes it to state," said Mapes Hewitt.

Westfield put up an incredible fight in front of a packed crowd at The Rock. The first set was tight early, but Zionsville ran off five straight points to lead 14-9.

The Eagles later led 17-11, but the 'Rocks came roaring back, thanks to kills from Natalie Ravenell and Cassidy Ferrer. Zionsville jumped back ahead 22-18, and a kill by Erin Uebele gave the Eagles the set.

The Shamrocks blasted off to a 7-2 lead in the second set, with Ravenell again putting down two more kills. Ravenell and fellow senior Abigail Huser provided Westfield with both the big hits and leadership.

"They played the game that we thought they were going to play," said Mapes Hewitt. "We knew that whenever we got in a tight situation, those were the two players that we wanted to go to. And they did fantastic."

The Eagles then scored 13 of the next 17 points to jump ahead 15-11, and then went up 24-18. Westfield saved three set points, including an ace from Caroline Sinicki, but Zionsville's Katie Isenbarger hit a kill to win the second set.

"That was kind of the frustrating part," said Mapes Hewitt. "I felt like every adjustment that we made defensive-wise in the backcourt, they would go the opposite way. We just couldn't come up with an answer."

The 'Rocks were able to turn the tables at the end of third set, winning the last six points to take the set 25-21. Trailing 21-19, Claire Stitz pounded a kill, then Page Dickinson served an ace. Abigail Huser helped out with a kill, the Shamrocks made a successful block, and then Stitz hit two kills for the set.

Zionsville won six straight points early in the fourth to jump ahead 9-5. That lead became 15-10 before Westfield got three points in a row, including two Huser kills. The Eagles held a slight lead before the Shamrocks tied it up at 21-21.

But Zionsville would take the next three points, giving the Eagles three championship points. Huser saved one with a kill, but Uebele's kill ended the match.

Westfield finished its season 23-13, but not before winning its first sectional championship in five years.

"It was an emotional season," said Mapes Hewitt. "We had our ups and downs. Throughout the season, I didn't think that we found our rhythm until there at the end. But it was the right time to find the rhythm."

"I'm proud of the girls. They played hard."

‘Rocks travel to Lafayette Jeff on Friday

By RICHIE HALL

One high-flying offense will meet another Friday night when the Westfield football team travels to Lafayette Jeff for one of the two semi-final games in Class 5A Sectional 11.

"The week off was nice but we are excited to get going again," said Shamrocks coach Jake Gilbert.

Westfield is averaging 30.9 points per game, just ahead of the Broncos' 29.2. Jeff comes into the sectional with a 6-3 record, and has touched the 50-point mark in a pair of games.

The Broncos started their season with victories over Twin Lakes 33-28 and East Chicago Central 20-18. Lafayette Jeff then began North Central Conference play with three straight losses, to McCutcheon 45-3, Harrison 40-8 and Kokomo 25-19. After that, the Broncos won their next four games, defeating Marion 28-20, Richmond 50-32, Logansport 47-7 and Muncie Central 55-48.

"Lafayette Jeff is well coached and they really know how to score," said Gilbert. "They consistently score close to 50 points per game and have some explosive skill players. Defensively they like to bring pressure and have a variety of blitzes. We will have to be prepared for a lot."

The Broncos' quarterback is junior Mathew Wilkerson, who has completed 123 of 202 passes for 1420 yards and 13 touchdowns. A pair of seniors lead the receiving contingent: Jalen Williams has 35 catches for 522 yards and seven touchdowns, while Justin Walker has 21 catches, gaining 299 yards and scoring five touchdowns.

Latrell Brown is Lafayette Jeff's leading rusher, with 799 yards and 12 touchdowns in 128 carries. A freshman, Marquis Munoz, has scored six TDs in his 84 carries and 571 yards.

Senior Andy Sweet is the Shamrocks' probable quarterback; he has 69 catches in 125 attempts for 1025 yards and nine touchdowns. Evan Manley, also a senior, has 25 of those catches, with 522 yards and eight TDs to his credit. Junior Nate Froelich is Westfield's leading rusher with 860 yards in 144 carries, including 10 touchdowns. Senior Johnny Swidan has gained 540 yards in 116 rushes, scoring nine touchdowns.

Carmel is pre-season No. 1; Fishers ranked fifth

The Indiana High School Swimming Coaches Association released its pre-season poll on Tuesday, and to the surprise of no one, Carmel is ranked on top.

The Greyhounds made history by winning their 30th consecutive state championship last February, and are clearly favored to extend that streak this season. Carmel has 228 points in the coaches poll, which is put together by scoring a mock meet based on best times reported throughout the season. Times from last season are used to compile the pre-season rankings.

Northridge is the pre-season No. 2 with 108 points, followed by Chesteron with 90 and Homestead with 78. Fishers is fifth in the poll with 76 points. Hamilton Southeastern is rated 18th with 29 points, while Westfield is tied for 37th with four points.

Carmel also holds six of the top rankings in the eight individual events. Emma Nordin is first in the 200 and 500 freestyles, Sammie Burchill leads in the individual medley and backstroke, Grace Pangburn is first in the 50 free and Kelly Pash leads the 100 free.

The Tigers' Lauryn Parrish is ranked second in the 100 free and third in the 200 free, while Lauren Edelman is third in the individual medley and fourth in the breaststroke. Southeastern's Hannah Pugh is rated sixth in the butterfly, with Megan Lugar seventh in the backstroke. Westfield's Erin Verbrugge is ranked 13th in the 500 free.

Here is a complete list of ranked Hamilton County swimmers:

200 freestyle: 1. Emma Nordin, Carmel; 2. Kelly Pash, Carmel; 3. Lauryn Parrish, Fishers; 11. Morgan Grout, Carmel.

200 individual medley: 1. Sammie Burchill, Carmel; 3. Lauren Edelman, Fishers; 4. Trude Rothrock, Carmel; 14. Allison Sperring, Fishers.
