Check treats before eating...

Metal found inside Halloween candy in southern Hamilton County

The Hamilton County Sheriff's Office received information that a 13 year old female discovered a piece of metal inside a 3 Musketeers "mini" candy bar she received while trick-or-treating Halloween night. The metal was found when the girl bit into the candy bar. She was seen by medical personnel and is being treated for any possible injuries she might have sustained as a result of the metal inside the candy.

The girl's parents contacted the Sheriff's Office and turned over the metal piece for detectives to investigate the incident. Upon further inspection, the piece of metal was determined to be part a small type of blade.

The victim trick-or-treated in the Orchard Park neighborhood in the area of 106th Street and Westfield Boulevard near Home Place in southern Hamilton County. While this appears to be an isolated incident and no other similar reports have been made, Sheriff Bowen encourages parents in all areas to make sure to examine all treats before allowing children to eat them. Checking Halloween candy before eating is always encouraged.

Anyone having information or finding any suspicious looking candy is asked to contact the Hamilton County Sheriff's Office at 317-773-1282.

Noblesville opens southern section of Riverwalk Trail Extension

Noblesville residents now have access to a picturesque view of the White River along the newly opened Riverwalk trail extension located behind Riverside Cemetery. City leaders officially opened the southern section of the trail off Maple Avenue on Nov. 1.

"Our residents place a high value on trails both for connectivity and for the enjoyment of nature, and this section of the Riverwalk provides both," said Noblesville Mayor John Ditslear. "What people may not realize is how this project also improves our capability to prevent or eliminate sewer overflow – an absolute necessity for our growing city."

Beneath the trail pavement, 1,100 feet of 60-inch conveyance sewer pipe was buried as part of Noblesville Utilities' Long Term Control Plan Phase III, Division III that began in 2014. This allowed the city to reduce or eliminate any combined sewer overflow by creating the new route from Maple Avenue to the Noblesville Utilities Treatment Plant. To create the pipeline and trail from the vacant weeds and brush riverbank, crews installed a new permanent retaining wall, which is stabilized with 3-inch threaded rods connected to 20-foot deep I-beams.

"It was a time-consuming project. Our construction crew could only go 60 feet at a time because they had to tie into the retaining wall," said Noblesville Utilities Director Ray Thompson. "But, our employees enjoyed working on the Riverwalk – we get to see firsthand the community come out and appreciate its beauty."

The city's long term control plan Phase IV will begin next year. It and Phase V involve the separation of storm and sanitary sewers on the north and south sides of Old Town. Thompson said future plans call for the trail to extend south from Division Street to the potential Pleasant Street extension.

The trail includes street lights and three benches for patrons to sit back and view nature and wildlife. It will connect with the existing Riverwalk along the downtown

As a CLEAN Community, Cicero worked to develop a quality of life plan to minimize the potential environmental impacts from city operations and community-wide activities. Cicero officials selected five environmental improvement initiatives including purchasing more efficient systems for municipally-owned facilities, recycling fluorescent bulbs and rechargeable batteries generated by municipal operations, planting 25 trees annually, increasing unwanted medicine collections and decreasing water runoff, while raising water conservation awareness.

For CLEAN Community participants, making small changes brings valuable rewards including decreased costs, increased efficiencies, statewide recognition, improved relationships with regulators and incentives from IDEM and state agency partners. Red Bull coming to Hamilton County

It's an energy drink that was once known for "giving you wings." The slogan is no longer used, but Red Bull will be flying to Hamilton County.

Red Bull Distribution Company will be leasing facilities in Marion and Hamilton counties. According to a report on the Inside Indiana Business website, Red Bull will start hiring this fall, and is looking to have 40 people on the job by the end of next year.

Inside Indiana Business said that due to the company's planned hiring, the Indiana Economic Development Corporation is offering Red Bull as much as $275,000 in conditional tax credits.

Red Bull's history dates back to 1982, when Austrian businessman Dietrich Mateschitz traveled to Thailand and discovered an energy drink called Krating Daeng. Mateschitz and the drink's creator founded Red Bull GmbH in 1984, and began selling the product in Austria three years later. It was introduced to the United States in 1997.

Virtual Bolt for the Heart 5K

5K Run/Walk to raise money to equip ISP patrol cars with lifesaving AED's. The event, held in Carmel Indiana, raised enough money to purchase 55 AED's which were placed in ISP cars that patrol Indiana's more rural counties. Since that time, BFTH has worked with another contributing partner, IU Health, who donated funding to purchase an additional 15 AED's.

New for this year, BFTH is offering everyone to participate in a virtual race that can be completed anywhere and on your time schedule. Visit the website here: <http://boltfortheheart.com/events/virtual-race-5k/>. Like the event held in Carmel on Thanksgiving Day, all proceeds go to purchasing AED's.

Racing begins Nov. 1 and runs through the end of December. Entries are $20 and include a 2016 Custom Finisher Medal and Commemorative Race Bib.

When you finish, send BFTH a photo or two with your finish time and use the hashtag #LetsBolt on your social media posts.

"We, as a department, have been blessed by the caring generosity of the Bolt for the Heart organization and their stated goal of ensuring each and every state police road patrol commission is equipped with an AED," stated Indiana State Police Superintendent Doug Carter. "Now, with the Virtual Run, we have the opportunity to show our gratitude by encouraging friends, family, co-workers and other Public Safety professionals in our communities to commit to participating in the 2016 BFTH 5K walk/run anytime during the month of November and December."

AEDs are predominately used on patients who suffer sudden cardiac arrest. Among the successes of AED use in the state of Indiana is Danny Rhoad, a 13-year-old Westfield boy whose life was saved by an AED that was stationed at Grand Park in May. He was playing baseball when a ball struck him in the chest. Coaches ran to a concession stand, which had an AED, and used the defibrillator to restore Rhoad's heartbeat.

"Three other instances in which an AED was applied were administered by an Indiana state police officer, and two of the patients were successfully resuscitated," said Pierre Twer, president of Bolt for the Heart. "In these three examples, the heart was stopped. In two of these examples, these people have gone on to live meaningful lives. And that's because of AED's being available to troopers. That's why this is so valuable and important to us."

Girls basketball season begins...

Huskies drop opener to Brownsburg

By RICHIE HALL
Reporter Sports Editor

The Hamilton Heights girls basketball team had a tough season-opening game Wednesday, falling to Brownsburg 36-20 at the Husky Dome.

Heights trailed 4-2 at the end of the first quarter, and 13-10 at halftime. The Bulldogs were hampered by foul trouble in that half, but were able to keep the Huskies from getting any good looks at the basket.

"They're really physical," said Heights coach Keegan Cherry. "We had them in foul trouble early. Couldn't take advantage of that at times, and then when we did get to the line, we were 47 percent from the foul line for the game.

"When you get a team that's that big and that physical, and they're getting into you, you got to be able to drive the basket, get fouled and then go make your free throws, make them pay. We just couldn't capitalize on that."

A bright spot for Heights was the play of Bayleigh Runner. Starting the game as a freshman, Runner scored five points in the first half. She would wind up the Huskies' leading scorer with seven points overall.

"They got into us, and I thought Bayleigh probably played as well as anybody considering all things," said Cherry.

Brownsburg jumped ahead 23-14 by the end of the third quarter, and only allowed the Huskies six points in the fourth period. Lauryn Wiley added five points for Heights.

The Huskies are back at home Saturday, playing Danville.

Jon BROWN

for Judge

Paid for by the committee to elect Jon Brown.

"People rarely step foot in a courtroom, but when they do, they want to know the person sitting as judge will listen to what they have to say, treat them with respect, and make decisions that are fair and in compliance with Indiana law."
Jon Brown

When asked why he was running for judge, Jon had this to say:

"I have spent my legal career helping real Hoosiers with real problems. I have a strong work ethic and appreciate the difficulties and problems people face on a day-to-day basis. I have been blessed to practice law in courtrooms across the state for nearly twenty years and I look forward to putting my experience to use serving the taxpayers of Hamilton County"

Jon's Pledge

I can promise to the taxpayers of Hamilton County I will listen to what people have to say, treat all litigants with respect, and make decisions that are fair to the parties and adhere to Indiana law to the best of my ability.

My Story

A graduate of Indiana University, Jon moved to Noblesville in January 1997, and has been practicing law in Indiana since being admitted to the bar in 1998. Jon is experienced in the areas of civil litigation, bankruptcy, foreclosure defense, criminal law, and family law. Jon's career in public service got its start while serving as a public defender in Hancock County from 1999 to 2006.

After last year's tough season...

Tigers ready to bounce back

By RICHIE HALL
Reporter Sports Editor
After a tough season where the Fishers girls basketball team had to deal with injuries, the Tigers are ready to bounce back in 2016-17.

Due to last year's injuries, a few players had to step into expanded roles within the Fishers team. This gave them some extra experience that the Tigers are hoping will pay off this season.

"We are coming back from a tough season in our 15-16 campaign in which we consistently encountered injuries with key players," said Fishers coach Michael Gaines, who will start his ninth season as coach tonight when the Tigers travel to Center Grove. "This season will be a test of our resolute determination and team grit to grow from last year's experiences towards more successful outcomes this season."

The good news for Fishers is that it returns last year's top three leading scorers. Junior Ali Gerka averaged 9.7 points per game, while senior Audrey Turner contributed 8.5 points per game. Turner was the Tigers' leading rebounder last year as well, with 6.2 boards per contest. Junior Toni Grace added 6.3 points, and also led Fishers in steals with 1.8 per game.

The Tigers have two other seniors on the roster, Alexandra Bankovich and Amanda Surber, both of whom had solid minutes last year. Casey Walker and Kenedi London are two juniors that saw plenty of varsity play last season.

After its opener at Center Grove tonight, Fishers will play at Anderson on Wednesday. The Tigers play their first home game of the season on Nov. 18, hosting Westfield.

'Blazers already ahead of schedule

By RICHIE HALL
Reporter Sports Editor

Last year was a season of renaissance for the University girls basketball team.

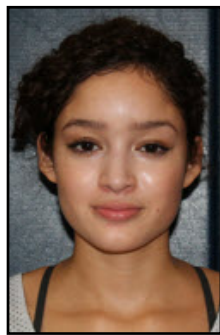

Caress

The Trailblazers went 15-9 under first-year coach Justin Blanding. This year's team has many of those players back, and is looking to build on that success.

"Everything's going smooth," said Blanding. "They kind of know the system already, so things are a lot easier. They know what the standards are, expectations. We're actually way ahead of schedule from where I thought we would be."

Cosby

There are eight players on the UHS varsity team. Three of them are seniors: Emma Caress, who was the Trailblazers' leading scorer before an injury sidelined her in the second half of the season.

The two other seniors back are Honor Cosby and Maggie Klemsz, both of whom have been long-time varsity players.

‘BLAZERS

"They bring a lot of experience," said Blanding. "Before I took over, they were in that group. Last year was a learning experience for them too. They've been doing a good job getting the freshmen going, and kind of just knowing what the expectations are."

Juniors on the team are Alexa Nealy, who played varsity last season, and Natalie Nickless, a transfer from Carmel. Also returning are sophomore twins Lily Snyder and Lucy Snyder, both of whom had good soccer seasons. Blanding said that soccer experience allows them to "fly around the court a little bit."

"Lily's got more of the scoring mentality and Lucy more of the defensive side, but Lucy's doing a good job shooting the ball and getting offensive rebounds and putbacks," said Blanding. "We're going to rely on them quite a bit."

A key newcomer to University is freshman Lindsey Syrek. Blanding said she will add not only size, but also versatility to the team.

"Expectations are pretty high from what other people are saying, but she's been doing a good job doing what our expectations are and what we need her to do," said Blanding. "That's going to be the main thing with her is just letting her be who she is and letting her play within herself instead of letting some outside things get to her."

University opens its season tonight by hosting Eminence. The Trailblazers then play their first road game on Tuesday with a trip to Park Tudor.
