Legacy Fund celebrates 25 years of philanthropy

Since its inception in 1991, Legacy Fund, an affiliate of Central Indiana Community Foundation (CICF), has awarded more than $54.6 million in grants to improve quality of life across Hamilton County, and has awarded $4.7 million in scholarships to area students. Friends, community leaders and elected officials celebrated their collective impact tonight at the eighth annual Celebration of Philanthropy—an event produced by Legacy Fund that honors and inspires philanthropy, and showcases not-for-profits serving Hamilton County.

During the event, Terry Anker, president of Legacy Fund since 2011, announced he will leave his position in March 2017. Anker has had an impressive five-year tenure with Legacy Fund.

Like other community foundations, Legacy Fund has three priorities: consult with donors, family foundations and professional advisors on charitable giving; award grants; and provide leadership to address community needs. Anker's presence at Legacy Fund has contributed to meaningful change in Hamilton County.

Earlier in 2016, Anker led Legacy Fund and its board in successfully completing Lilly Endowment's sixth phase of Giving Indiana Funds for Tomorrow (GIFT), which increased The Endowment For Hamilton County by $1.69 million. In total, under Anker's 5-year leadership, Legacy Fund has raised $28,012,041, awarded 2,714 grants and increased its total assets by $15 million.

Anker also played an essential role in convening community donors and civic leaders to build the Youth Assistance Program in all Hamilton County school corporations. The early-intervention program was created to help at-risk youth avoid making mistakes that lead to long-term involvement in the county's legal system. Legacy Fund provided the original seed money to help launch Youth Assistance

Carmel Police Department earns 20 year CALEA re-accreditation

On Saturday, Nov. 5, Chief Tim Green and members of the Carmel Police Department attended an awards banquet in North Charleston, South Carolina to receive their re-accreditation award from the Commission of Accreditation for Law Enforcement Agencies, Inc. (CALEA). CALEA is an international organization that recognizes outstanding achievement in law enforcement agencies. CALEA is comprised of representatives from the International Association of Chiefs of Police, The National Organization of Black Law Enforcement Executives, and the Police Executive Research Forum.

To earn accreditation, Carmel Police Department employees had to comply with 188 standards. A team of assessors from CALEA visited the Carmel Police Department in June of 2016 to examine policies, procedures, management, operations and support services.

CALEA published the original accreditation standards in 1983. Accreditation requires law enforcement agencies to establish procedures and operational practices based on nationally accepted standards. Once established, these policies and procedures are made available to assist all members of the agency in providing a uniform, consistent and professional law enforcement response to the needs of the community. In 1996, Carmel Police Department was the sixth agency in Indiana to achieve accredited status. Today, there are more than 1000 accredited police agencies nationwide and this number continues to grow each year. This is the seventh accreditation award for the Carmel Police

Sheridan Rotary workers get busy

Sheridan Rotarians are a busy bunch. The local Rotary Club tries to get involved in a variety of projects that are beneficial to the local community and its citizens. One recent project was the installation of map rails on the walls of the Community Room at the Sheridan Public Library.

According to Sheridan Rotary president and library director Steve Martin, map rails are common items in meeting rooms and allow users to hang decorations and other objects on the walls without damaging the walls with nail or thumbtack holes. Martin says, "We had several of these rails already in place but needed more. We had some extras in storage and it seemed like a good Rotary project for club members and it certainly was beneficial to the library."

Sheridan Rotary is looking for more work, too. If there are individuals or groups in the Sheridan community with small jobs that need doing, please contact Martin at the library to talk about maybe having some Rotarians involved.

Sheridan Rotary meets the first and third Tuesday evenings at 6:15 pm in the Community Room of the Sheridan Public Library. We always have a guest speaker or interesting program to present to members and the general public if they care to attend. If you would like to attend a Sheridan Rotary meeting, please contact any local member or club president Steve Martin at the library (758-5201). The Sheridan Public Library is located at 103 West First Street in beautiful uptown Sheridan, just on the country side of Hamilton County, Indiana. Won't you join us?

Westfield Parks hosting a...

Public design forum for Quaker Park next week

The Westfield Parks Department is hosting a public presentation next week of potential designs for new playground equipment at Quaker Park.

“It is time to replace the aging play equipment at Quaker Park and we very much want the community’s input on selecting what should go there,” Parks Director Melody Jones said.

Companies presenting their designs are Recreation InSites, Miracle Midwest and Sinclair Recreation. Each company will present two designs. Following the presentations, those in attendance will have the opportunity to look at the plans up close and talk to designers.

Comments will be collected at the event and taken into consideration by the selection committee following the forum to help guide the final design. Installation is estimated to be done Spring 2017.

“Quaker Park is one of our most popular destinations and we hope residents can help us make the park better and more inclusive for age groups 2-12,” Jones said.

The design presentation forum will be held at Westfield City Hall (130 Penn Street) on November 17 at 7 p.m.

LEGACY

Program in each community, but now, all chapters are self-sustaining and contributing to the significant reduction in the number of youth interactions with the criminal justice system.

“Terry has made a significant impact on our community while serving as president of the Legacy Fund,” said Mike Daugherty, Legacy Fund board chair. “He is dedicated to the success of Hamilton County, and we look forward to continuing to work with him in pursuit of this goal. Terry has graciously agreed to stay on through March in order to provide our board of directors sufficient time to thoughtfully select Legacy Fund’s next president. We will miss Terry along with his energy, enthusiasm and innovative leadership.”

During Celebration of Philanthropy, Anker touted what Legacy Fund has accomplished over the past five—and 25—years, and he reminded attendees that Legacy Fund’s ability to thrive and effect change is reliant not on one individual, but the community as a whole.

“It has been my immense pleasure to serve, as many have done, the good people of our community,” said Anker. “Now is the time for another leader to enjoy the opportunity.”

CARMEL

Department. Every three years agencies are required to be re-assessed to qualify for this prestigious award.

“I am pleased that our Police Department has once again qualified for re-accreditation from CALEA. As one of the first agencies in Indiana to be accredited, the Carmel Police Department has continued to challenge themselves to maintain the high standards required for re-accreditation. Our community benefits from this high level of service, which helps us attract businesses and residents who want a safe place to live, work and raise their families,” said Mayor Jim Brainard.

Carmel starts Holiday Light Recycling Drive Nov. 23

Carmel Clay Schools Green Teams, City of Carmel Utilities, Tech Recyclers and White's Ace Hardware are working together to offer a Holiday Light Recycling Drive.

Starting Nov. 23 and running through Jan. 9, the ability to recycle used Holiday lights will be offered at White's Ace Hardware at 731 South Range Line Road. The Carmel Clay Schools Green Teams will be offering recycling at the individual schools from Nov. 28 through Jan. 5. This is the fifth year of the program, which has generated more than two tons of holiday lights for recycling.

Recycling inoperable or inefficient holiday lights keeps those items out of landfills which reduces the long term carbon impact on our environment. Additionally, EnergyStar rated LED lights uses 75 percent less energy compared to conventional lights. They also have the following advantages:

* Safer: LEDs are much cooler than incandescent lights, reducing the risk of combustion or burnt fingers.

* Sturdier: LEDs are made with epoxy lenses, not glass and are much more resistant to breakage.

* Longer Lasting: The LED lights lasts 25 times longer than conventional holiday lights.

* Easier to install: Up to 25 strings of LEDs can be connected end-to-end without overloading a wall socket.

(Source: www.energy.gov)

Consider upgrading to LED lights this holiday season. You will be helping the environment and saving in energy costs. Don't forget to recycle your old strings of lights.

For more information about the Holiday light recycling program please call 317-571-2673.

After hard-fought election...

Republicans won, but the work has just begun

By GAREN BRAGG

Even if you didn't like the outcome, I think that almost everyone is happy the election is over – especially those of us who have been fighting in the trenches knocking on doors, making phone calls and convincing others to vote for our candidates. Republicans won every single statewide race – including Jennifer McCormick upsetting the Democratic incumbent state superintendent Glenda Ritz. Curtis Hill, the candidate for Attorney General and rising star within the GOP gathered the most votes of any candidate on the ballot. Eric Holcomb, thrust into the spotlight by fate at the last minute easily won over former House Speaker John Gregg. Donald Trump won the state by a margin that surprised even optimistic Republican operatives. And of course the biggest news of Hoosier politics from last week was that Evan Bayh was defeated. Todd Young's campaign, the RNC and Americans for Prosperity all should be credited for slaying a giant of politics, and frankly, an important figure in our history. But amid all of the celebrations, getting back to real life, writing articles again, we have to remember that as the President-Elect has said, our work has only just begun.

A lot of ink has been spilled in the last week over what the new Republican president and Congress will mean for the country, and the monumental tasks ahead of them: Obamacare, foreign policy, and of course building the wall. Less attention has been paid to the looming issues hanging over Indianapolis and the state house. Eric Holcomb will be inheriting power from two of the most important figures in 21st century politics, Mitch Daniels and Mike Pence. The General Assembly will maintain Republican super-majorities in both chambers. The Democrats did flip one House seat, but even competitive races like Sally Siegrist's in House District 26 went Red as she outperformed every Republican in her district (including Trump). There are few reasons why conservative legislation cannot be passed and the Hoosier success story continued into a new chapter of history.

A lot has been said about the need to continue rebuilding our infrastructure, and while it is critical that we do this, it is also important that we do so in a way that does not compromise our fiscal discipline. Government, like the citizens it governs must live within its means. Affordable utilities is another issue that State Government needs to take a look at – especially in communities like Sheridan where the issue is front and center. Our leaders must ensure that our religious freedoms continue to be protected, even as some in the party waver from the backlash caused by the political missteps of the now infamous RFRA. Sunset legislation – where a given legislation expires after a set amount of time should be used whenever a new tax is authorized or new regulatory burden introduced. This ensures that laws and taxes invented today do not become immortal, but are revisited from time to time to see if they still make sense in the future.

It is the irony of a bipartisan government that whenever one party becomes dominant, like the Republicans are now, they become at risk of losing touch with their core principles. Just because Republicans are in charge does not mean that citizens can sit back and assume that conservative Hoosier values will be upheld. There is no malicious plot or secretive ill will from our leaders and so we as citizens should always keep an open mind and meet disagreement with civility and graciousness. Yet at the same time we need to continue to pay attention to the activities of our elected leaders and hold them accountable. As a government of, by, and for the people, we the people must keep a watchful eye over our liberties that we have entrusted our elected officials to safeguard.

So while folks from my side of the aisle may take a month or two to rest on their laurels and be satisfied with election results, the game is not over until our liberties are permanently and irreversibly secured – which of course will never happen until Jesus returns. Until that day, conservatives should enjoy the success of the election, but never mistake success at the ballot box for success in policy making, which after all is the entire point.

Sheridan finally takes to the court...

‘Hawks hold off Eastern, 68-58

By RICHIE HALL
Reporter Sports Editors

While most of Indiana's high school girls basketball teams had been playing over the past couple of weeks, Sheridan had been waiting.

The Blackhawks' opener with Kokomo last week was postponed, so they had to wait until Saturday to take to the court, which Sheridan finally did against Eastern at Larry Hobbs Hall. The 'Hawks dominated the first half, then held off a third-quarter run by the Comets to win 68-58.

"It was really good to get this one over with," said Sheridan coach Jeff Guenther.

The Blackhawks started their first game shooting hot, with four of their first five baskets being 3-pointers. Jillian O'Flaherty drained two long-range shots, with Audrey Reed and Brittany Welch both making one. Welch also hit a layin. All that offense had Sheridan up 14-4 midway through the period, and that lead stretched to 23-11 at the end of the first quarter.

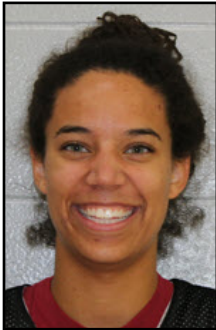

The 'Hawks started the second period with a 7-0 run, jumping ahead 30-11. Reed hit another 3 to cap the run. Sheridan held on to that lead for the quarter, and went into halftime with a 38-23 advantage.

"I thought we did a real good job offensively of opening the floor, breaking them down, shooting layups and free throws, which is what we want to do," said Guenther.

"As a team we did awesome," said Welch.

The Blackhawks led 43-27 with 4:35 left in the third period, this after Brittany Welch hit two free throws. At that point, Eastern made an 11-1 run to cut Sheridan's advantage to 44-38, and cut the lead further, to 47-42 after three quarters.

The Blackhawks came out firing at the beginning of the fourth period, with Welch and Hannah Barker both making layins. That gave Sheridan some momentum. Eventually, the 'Hawks pushed their lead back to 56-46, and held off another final run by the Comets when Reed and Barker each scored from steals. Sheridan clinched the game from the foul line, going 6-of-8 in the final 40 seconds.

"It was a good character builder for us," said Guenther.

Four Sheridan players reached double figures. Reed scored 22 points, with Welch adding 17. O'Flaherty wound up with 13 points, and Barker scored 11. Nixon Williams and Reed both pulled eight rebounds; Williams had a great defensive game with five steals.

The Blackhawks travel to Tri-West on Tuesday for a 7:30 p.m. game.

Welch commits to IUPUI

Brittany Welch made news for the Blackhawks earlier this week when she committed to continue her basketball career at IUPUI.

Welch has been a varsity player for the 'Hawks ever since her freshman year, and was an integral part of the team winning its first-ever sectional title in 2015, her sophomore year.

"I think it's the culmination of a lot of hard work on her part," said Guenther. "She's spent the last three years really working to become a Division I athlete, so it's well-deserved."

Welch liked IUPUI right away.

"I loved their coaches," said Welch. "Their coaching staff is awesome. As soon as I went there, I connected with them."

Welch also liked the players on the Jaguars team as well.

‘HAWKS

"They were just incredible, and they knew what they were doing, and you just kind of merged with them no matter if you played with them forever or not," said Welch. "That was the really key point.

"And then the school, obviously, you get a Big Ten degree either way you go. It's exciting. I'm ready for it."

Welch said that she plans to major in psychology at IUPUI. She enjoys the fact that it's not too far away, so her mom can come watch her play. "She loves it," said Welch of her mom.

"It's a mid-major D-I school, so that's awesome," said Welch. "That's kind of exactly where I needed to be. I know that they'll help build me as a player and everything.

"And then I'm also in the city, so I get to do everything that you would at any other school."
