There is no real competition. My husband has his Doctorate in Education. I am Master Certified in car sales. Yes, opposites really do attract.

My husband works the Indy Star Crossword Puzzle every day. And you know the really difficult one that comes on Sundays? Yes, he finishes them, religiously, every Sunday. As I have said before, he has taught me a lot of new "crossword puzzle" words since we found each other in the waiting room of Don Hinds Ford, a little over three years ago.

So this past week we were talking and he mentioned that we had a tacit agreement in addition to our wedding vows. I smiled and said, "I don't know what that is so I know I did not agree to it." He said, "Honey, it's an implied or inferred understanding."

I gave him "the look" and said, "Honey, if I don't understand it, then you can't imply or infer it without my agreeing to it." I agreed to love and cherish you. I never agreed to any tacit.

We both burst out laughing.

I didn't know about a tacit agreement and neither did most of my friends. It became a topic of discussion at work with my co workers, at breakfast with my high school girlfriends, and with my daughter. We all expressed, explicitly, that we're not familiar with a tacit agreement.

I may not have been aware of what it was but I do know that if Chuck loads the dishwasher, I will unload it. If I work ten or twelve hour days, Chuck will make dinner or take me out to eat. If we are going somewhere, Chuck opens the car door for me. If M&M's are on sale I buy him a bag.

Sometimes actions speak a lot louder than any tacit agreement ever could. That is, if it could be expressed but apparently that is not possible.

I'll just continue to love Chuck and honor and cherish him with all of his tacit agreements.

CLUB

Center. New amenities will include outdoor green space, a dedicated cafeteria/auditorium, music room, tutoring room, and strength training room. The unified facility will allow youth the exposure to experience more diverse programming and provide a more effective use of financial resources donated to BGCN.

Beth Meister, Build & Grow Campaign Co-Chairperson said, "Once again, this community has demonstrated their support and giving to make this new facility a reality. Clearly, the donors big and small see how the Boys & Girls Club of Noblesville plays a vital role to the families of Noblesville. This new facility will continue to provide a larger, more efficient environment for all the amazing after-school programming we offer each and every day. We thank all of the individuals, corporations, and organizations who have generously contributed to make GREAT FUTURES happen right here in Hamilton County."

The Club is working with Hagerman Construction Group and Axis Architects on the project. Ground breaking is slated to begin at the end of February, 2017 with construction anticipated to be completed in December of 2017.

The current facility, located at 1448 Conner St., will be listed for sale by Jon Hirschfeld with F.C. Tucker as the Club seeks to find a new owner for the property. "Our current facility, the Howard M. Whitcomb Building, has provided a lifetime of memories for so many children who have passed through its doors, both as a school and then as the Boys & Girls Club. We are excited to see what next great purpose the building will serve within our community.", says Becky Terry, Executive Director.

While this is a tremendous accomplishment, the Campaign Cabinet will continue to seek funding for the project in hopes of covering the costs associated with furniture, equipment, and an outdoor playground that would have been a future addition to the site. Donors can purchase a custom, commemorative brick on the "Pathway to GREAT FUTURES" for $500 or make a donation of any size at www.bgcni.org.

COUNTY LINE

million dollar cost will be covered by hospital revenue.

Next is a long-awaited bypass of downtown Noblesville which will require cooperation between the county and the city. Here the plan is for the county to build a new White River bridge at Pleasant Street while the city will improve and widen Pleasant across town to the bridge site. Funds in the county's Major Bridge Cumulative Fund will pay for the bridge and likely connect it to River Road. Eventually plans call for a new section of road to connect with State Road 32 west of the city.

The intention is to allow motorists to avoid and relieve the increasingly congested downtown area as they travel east and west through the area. City officials who have been cautious about the project in the past, are reportedly now ready to proceed.

Then comes the most controversial local project: the construction of a county-wide public safety training center. County commissioners have proposed the $3 million facility designed to provide a training site for fire, police and emergency medical personnel. The county council early this year turned down the request to fund construction. Members proposed a compromise partial funding which was rejected.

Land owned by the City of Westfield is available and an office and classroom structure is located there. But, the full training center would include a fire training tower, a test driving course, probably a shooting range and other facilities. Commissioners and various city officials who want the training center decided to wait and see if this year's elections brought a council membership more willing to vote for the project. But, the election brought little change in the council line-up.

Nevertheless, there will apparently be another attempt to "sell" the idea.

All these six projects have been revealed in the Reporter during the year, but many details have not been released including anticipated start dates and more exact costs. One thing is certain, they are all in our near future.

Besides county residents looking forward to some of these improvements, you can bet the construction and engineering industry is eagerly watching progress. Plans involved will provide a lot of work for the companies that live for this type of activity. And, for the taxpayers, the news is good in that it nearly all should be achievable without increasing taxes. But, don't hold me to that, this is just the best information and estimate I can get.

Safety tips for when your vehicle becomes disabled

Every motorist has the responsibility to be safe. Safe driving includes behaviors while operating a vehicle as well as properly maintaining a safe vehicle and knowing what to do in an emergency.

Because highways can be dangerous for pedestrians, motorists involved in crashes and breakdowns need to be knowledgeable about how to safely respond. Most drivers are likely to experience this kind of situation at some point, and it is impossible to establish recommendations for all conditions. However, it is important that all motorists make good choices to prevent tragedy.

What to do if your vehicle is disabled

If removing a vehicle from traffic is not safe or possible, or if people are injured, immediately call 9-1-1.

The safest place is off the roadway - especially on busy interstates. If possible, safely attempt to reach an exit ramp or shoulder and get as far away from moving traffic as is safely possible.

- Stay in the vehicle,
- Remain buckled up,
- Turn on flashing lights, and
- Call for help.

If anyone decides to exit the vehicle,

- Stay as far away from traffic as possible,
- Put your parked car between you and moving traffic,
- Do not turn your back to oncoming vehicles, and
- Always be aware of your surroundings.

If you and your passengers decide to leave the vehicle, leave a note on the dashboard explaining what happened and include contact information.

Fender Benders

Fender bender? Move vehicles to the shoulder

INDOT and the Indiana State Police want motorists to be safe and keep traffic moving smoothly on busy highways. When crashes block traffic, it increases the risk of secondary crashes. If possible, move minor collisions off the roadway or to the shoulder.

Indiana law states that drivers involved in crashes that do not result in injury or death shall not obstruct traffic more than necessary. Off the roadway or on a shoulder is a much safer place to exchange information or wait for help. Don't worry - your insurance coverage will not be compromised if you move your vehicle to the shoulder.

Move over for emergency vehicles

To protect lives, Indiana's Move Over Law requires motorists to approach cautiously when an emergency vehicle is stopped with emergency lights flashing. Change lanes away from the emergency vehicle if you can do so safely. If not, reduce your speed 10 mph under the posted speed limit and proceed with caution. Emergency vehicles include:

- Hoosier Helpers
- Police vehicles
- Ambulances
- Fire trucks and rescue equipment
- Highway incident-response vehicles
- Highway maintenance vehicles
- Utility service vehicles
- Vehicle recovery equipment (tow trucks)

Violating the law can result in a fine and your license will be suspended up to 2 years if you cause damage to emergency equipment, injury or death to an emergency worker.

Even though Indiana's Move Over Laws state that motorists must move over and yield for only emergency vehicles, drivers should always be courteous to those who are broken down on the shoulder. Give them room so that they can safely repair their vehicles. Be an attentive and courteous driver and help prevent tragedies.

Crashes are no accident!

Each year, more than 800 people lose their lives in crashes on Indiana roadways. Most of those crashes were caused by impaired driving, speeding, and aggressive or distracted driving. The following safety tips can help prevent the most common fatal errors drivers make and help drivers reach their destinations safely.

Buckle Up! Make sure you and your passengers are properly restrained.

Never drive impaired. Avoid alcohol and drugs. Use a designated driver.

Avoid distractions: Smartphones, audio devices and radio, and food and beverages.

Drive defensively. Aggressive drivers take unnecessary risks and often cause crashes.

Share the road. Look out for pedestrians, bicycles, motorcycles, and commercial trucks.

Sheridan Rotary packs food boxes

Members, family and friends of the Sheridan Rotary Club gathered this past Tuesday to pack food boxes for the upcoming holiday season. Every year the Rotarians purchase enough supplies to fill 24 boxes which are then donated to MAMA's Cupboard for distribution to community members.

Sheridan Rotarians are always doing worthy projects and giving of their time and money. For the Sheridan Club this translate into a variety of local projects and events such as landscaping at community parks, working at community food pantries, providing free meals to hundreds of community members and just recently helping to put a new roof on the MAMA's Cupboard building. We are proud of our community and enjoy doing projects to help make Sheridan a great community in which to live and work.

Sheridan Rotary has formal meetings with a special program and guest speaker the first and third Tuesdays of each month. If you are interested in attending a meeting or a program, please contact any Sheridan Rotary member or contact club president Steve Martin at the Sheridan Public Library. Meetings are held in the Community Room of the library at 103 West First Street in beautiful uptown Sheridan, just on the country side of Hamilton County, Indiana.

Huskies steal home opener over GC

By RICHIE HALL
Reporter Sports Editor

It's safe to say that Hamilton Heights stole the show during its home opener Saturday.

The Huskies totaled nine steals, and made several other big defensive plays, to pick up a victory over Guerin Catholic 57-46 at the Husky Dome. The victory evens Heights' record at 2-2 for the season, while the Golden Eagles are 1-2.

The first quarter was a tight one until the end, when Sterling Weatherford's 3-pointer gave the Huskies a 14-9 lead. Weatherford had already begun the quarter with a pair of layins, and another basket by Tyler Wiltermood put Heights up 6-4. Guerin answered with a 3-pointers by Zach Munson to put his team ahead 7-6.

Austin Sauerteig then made his own '3,' and that gave the Huskies the lead for good at 9-7. The Huskies got the ball back on a steal, with Max Wahl finishing the play off with a basket.

Weatherford "We played great defense, and I'm real proud of our guys," said Heights coach Chad Ballenger. "Really, the last two nights, we've done a great job defensively. It's a great comeback win, coming off of last night, because we played really well last night until the fourth quarter, and about the last four minutes, the bottom dropped out. So it was really good for our guys to come back and play like we did."

Hansen Weatherford began the second period with a three-point play, and the Huskies would carry the momentum to a 23-13 late in the quarter. The Golden Eagles ended the half with a 7-0 run, with Matthew Godfrey's 3-pointer cutting the Heights lead to five, then another Godfrey basket made the halftime score 23-20.

But the Huskies began the second half with a quick 8-0 run, and were able to hang on to that advantage for the second half. Anytime GC got the lead below 10, Heights would make a big basket to get its lead back into double-digits. Max Wahl's 3-pointer got the Huskies ahead 37-27, and Caymn Lutz scored four consecutive points late in the quarter.

Heights had one last run in the fourth period, with six unanswered points to open up a 57-42 lead. Sauerteig made another 3-pointer, and Lutz drained three free throws.

‘Blazers finish weekend with victory

The University Trailblazers completed a weekend sweep with a 53-38 win over Speedway Saturday night at The U Center.

Coming off a 62-48 win at Central Christian Friday night, University was led in scoring by Emerson Halbleib (17 points) and David Howard (14 points).

Trailblazer coach Brandon Lafferman was happy with his team's performance. "We had a four win weekend and played great tonight." (University's junior varsity picked up a pair of wins as well this weekend.)

University took a 14-9 lead in the first quarter as a result of some crisp passing. The Blazers assisted on all six of their first quarter field goals and the ball movement continued throughout the game as they racked up 18 assists on 19 field goals. Junior point guard Zack Hodgins had six helpers, with classmate Ethan Sickels adding five assists.

The Trailblazers raced to a 21-9 lead early in the second quarter, but scored only two points in the last five minutes of the half and led just 23-17 at halftime.

The third quarter followed a similar script as University jumped out to a 33-21 lead before the Sparkplugs scored seven straight. A pair of free throws by Josh

Howard

Tigers drop first game

Fishers dropped its first game of the season Saturday, falling to Beloit Memorial 68-61 at the BSN Shootout in Brownsburg. The Tigers fell behind 14-12 after the first quarter and 35-30 at halftime. Fishers cut Beloit's lead to 48-47 after three quarters, but Beloit scored 20 points in the fourth period to seal the game. Willie Jackson scored 21 points, including an incredible 13-of-14 effort from the free throw line. Joe Counts added 12 points; both he and Jeremy Szilagyi made two 3-pointers. Fishers is now 2-1, and hosts Carmel next Saturday.

‘BLAZERS

Alford and a Halbleib basket, two of his nine third quarter points, pushed to the lead to 37-28 at the end of the third. Speedway scored just six points in the first six and a half minutes of the fourth period as University built a comfortable double digit lead. "We had great second half defense that led to good offense," remarked Lafferman. Howard led University with nine rebounds while Josh Watson grabbed six caroms. University is now 3-1 and will prepare for a pair of home games next week at The U Center. The Trailblazers will welcome

HUSKIES

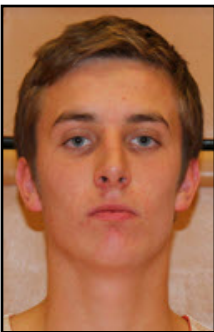

Lutz and Wiltermood were the leading scorers for the Huskies, with 13 points each. Weatherford added 12 points and Sauerteig scored 10. Weatherford pulled seven rebounds and Sauerteig had six, with Wiltermood and Drayden Thomas each getting five boards. Wahl handed out six assists. Jack Hansen and Kian Sills each scored 11 for Guerin Catholic, with Godfrey adding 10. Hansen earned a double-double with 14 rebounds, with Cameron Dixon getting five. Hansen had three blocked shots, and Sills made two blocks.

"I'm disappointed with the way we're playing this early in the season," said Golden Eagles coach Pete Smith. "Heights played like men, and we played like boys. For three games and the Cathedral scrimmage now, we have not played strong physically enough. Heights did a nice job of exploiting us defensively. Meanwhile we committed too many unforced and careless turnovers. Sterling has become a real nice leader for his team, and they all fed off of it tonight."

The Huskies host Lewis Cass on Friday to open Hoosier Conference play. Guerin Catholic travels to Brebeuf Jesuit on Friday for a Circle City Conference game.
