Westfield-based developer approved for Grand Millennium Project

EdgeRock Development LLC will begin work on the sweeping Grand Millennium Project in the coming weeks, following unanimous approval by the Westfield City Council Monday night.

The multi-use, $200 million development is expected to bring more than 1,000 new jobs to downtown Westfield and is slated to include a 150,000 square foot convention center, hundreds of new hotel rooms, a YMCA, office space, and high-quality housing.

"The Grand Millennium is an exciting project for Westfield that will benefit all members of our community," explains Mayor Andy Cook. "Our economic development strategy has always been focused on growing our commercial businesses in order to diversify our tax base while continuing our family friendly environment. The Grand Millennium will be the perfect blend of private businesses and community activities."

The sprawling project will be located on 64 acres near the intersection of US 31 and State Road 32 interchange.

"The project has close proximity to US 31, Westfield's downtown, and the revitalization project, the Grand Junction Plaza, which will be the perfect location for residents and visitors to take part in the many amenities the Grand Millennium will offer," says Westfield City Council President Jim Ake.

A formal groundbreaking is planned for later this spring.

Another call to action

By MARY SUE ROWLAND

What do we know? Not much after the joint announcements by Noblesville and Fishers Mayor's to convert the Nickel Plate rail line into trails between the two cities. The announcement was made without any public discussion about two weeks ago at the press conference in Fishers.

It is time to hear from the communities. A public meeting is scheduled for March 21, Fishers City Hall at 1 Municipal Drive, Fishers.

Sobriety checkpoint takes place this weekend in Hamilton County

A sobriety checkpoint will be conducted by the Hamilton County Traffic Safety Partnership on the night of Friday, March 17, 2017 and the early hours of Saturday, March 18, 2017.

At a sobriety checkpoint, law enforcement officers evaluate drivers for signs of alcohol or drug impairment at a specified point along the roadway, often depending upon the support of local property owners for the use of appropriate land. Checkpoint sites are selected based upon analysis of available crash and impaired driving arrest data and a consideration of officer safety.

Vehicles are stopped in a specific sequence, such as every other vehicle, every third vehicle, every fourth vehicle or by stopping three, four, or five cars in succession and allowing other traffic to proceed

ROWLAND

City Hall at 16 S. 10th St. in the 2nd floor conference room.

➤ Both Fishers and Noblesville meetings start at 6 p.m. to 8 p.m.

Option one: Do not renew the contract as operator of the historic rail line held by Indiana Transportation Museum and look for another company to provide service. The problem is $5 million in track repairs has not been completed and inspections say the rail is not safe.

Option two: Pull the rails between Fishers and Noblesville for a trail. This is approximately 9 miles at a million dollar per mile.

Option three: Leave the rails, find an operator or the Fishers and Noblesville communities help with the cost of rail repairs and continue with the Indiana Transportation Museum who has served the communities for decades and built the trail next to the track.

➤ THE BEST OF ALL WORLDS – Rail WITH Trails

Rail WITH Trails combines both giving way to trails and the economic opportunities, recreation and keeping up with the Monon in Carmel. The rails remain in place including train, tourism opportunity and keeping the corridor in place. It is possible to co-exist and there are many profession design companies who specialize in such approaches. One company called ALTAplanning.com wrote the book on "Rails WITH Trails Lessons Learned" and have created such corridors in hundreds of cities. They also "Look beyond the Curbs" construction and design streets that work for everyone. That is a great concept. It is time for everyone to win. Community planning and design does not have to be giving something up to get something.

Come to the meeting of your choice and let the elected officials know that you want the "best practices" THAT shows creativity and SAVES the rail and builds a trail. It is a good place to start and since the idea of a win-win has not been considered, this project could be a win-win for both towns and the citizens.

If you are unable to attend the meeting, send comments to NPT@noblesville.in.us

SOBRIETY

while checking the stopped vehicles. The planned sequence in which vehicles are stopped depends on the number of officers available to staff the checkpoint, traffic congestion, and other safety concerns.

Upon making contact with the driver, the officer advises them that they've been stopped at an HCTSP sobriety checkpoint and asks for the driver's license and the vehicle's registration. If, in the course of the contact, the officer detects that alcohol may be involved and that the driver may be impaired or if some other issue arises, then the vehicle is directed into a pull-off area for further investigation. Further investigation may involve the Standardized Field Sobriety Tests (SFSTs). On the other hand, if all looks right during the initial contact, the driver is often on his or her way in less than two minutes.

In order to raise awareness of the prevalence of impaired driving in our community and the efforts of the Partnership to combat the crime, the Partnership maintains a webpage at the following address: <http://www.hamiltoncounty.in.gov/503>.

The Hamilton County Traffic Safety Partnership (HCTSP) is a consortium of law enforcement agencies in Hamilton County working to increase the usage of seatbelts, to combat aggressive driving, and to decrease impaired driving with the overall goal of creating a safer Hamilton County. The HCTSP is comprised of the Hamilton County Sheriff's Department, Fishers Police Department, Carmel Police Department, Noblesville Police Department, Westfield Police Department, and Cicero Police Department, with the assistance of the Indiana State Police.

Impaired driving is one of our nation's most frequently committed violent crimes. Just in Indiana in 2014, alcohol-related traffic crashes killed 101 people, accounting for approximately thirteen percent of all fatal crashes, and injured another 1,880 people.

About 750 people are convicted of an impaired driving offense annually in Hamilton County alone, and nearly 100 of those are repeat offenders. In 2015 in Hamilton County, for example, the State filed 732 cases of operating while intoxicated. Of these, 106 drivers had prior convictions for operating while intoxicated within the last five years.

To combat this crime, the Hamilton County Traffic Safety Partnership will be setting up sobriety checkpoints around Hamilton County to aggressively deter, detect, and arrest those drivers who make the decision to drive impaired. Sobriety checkpoints have proven successful in both raising awareness of impaired driving and reducing the likelihood of a person driving after they have been drinking.

Officers staffing the sobriety checkpoints work on an overtime basis paid by grant funds from the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration through the Indiana Governor's Council on Impaired and Dangerous Driving.

Sobriety checkpoints are legal in 39 states, including Indiana, and the District of Columbia. In 1990, the U.S. Supreme Court ruled that, if conducted properly, sobriety checkpoints do not constitute an illegal search and seizure. In the 2002 case of State v. Gerschoffer, the Indiana Supreme Court found that sobriety checkpoints are constitutional when conducted properly. Members of the Hamilton County Prosecuting Attorney's Office work with the Partnership to ensure that each checkpoint meets constitutional requirements.

Should you have any questions regarding these sobriety checkpoints, please contact Chief Deputy Prosecuting Attorney Andre Miksha at 317-776-8595.

Natural tips to beat seasonal respiratory health challenges

(StatePoint) Spring and summer can be particularly difficult times of year for those with respiratory health challenges, when simple activities like gardening, walking the dog and reading a book on the patio can cause itching, wheezing, sneezing and trouble breathing.

"It is all about improving one's immune function in response to environmental factors, which can mean the difference between perpetual discomfort and a happy, vital spring and summer," says Kelly Heim, PhD, senior director of Scientific Affairs at Pure Encapsulations, a leading manufacturer of dietary supplements.

Whether you are looking to make your garden the envy of the neighborhood, or you simply want to stay active and comfortable while enjoying the outdoors, consider the following treatments and tips.

Something Sweet

Honey isn't just delicious; it can be therapeutic, potentially helping you to alleviate seasonal symptoms. However, it is important you select honey produced in your local area for this strategy to work. You should also know that this immunotherapeutic approach won't protect against all the causes of respiratory health challenges.

Dietary Supplements

Your nutritional intake can have a large impact on the way you feel in spring. Consider a dietary supplement designed to support both innate and adaptive immune response. For example, Pure Encapsulations Aller-Essentials with EpiCor contains a blend of nutrients and herbal extracts designed to promote healthy immune function in response to environmental factors.

Research suggests that it enhances natural killer cell activation, B cell and T cell function, and salivary IgA levels; and that the quercetin, hesperidin and vitamin C in the supplement provide additional support for stabilizing mast cells which can release histamines and exacerbate respiratory issues. More information can be found at PureEncapsulations.com/alleressentials.

Practical Considerations

While building up your immune response is crucial in the battle against respiratory problems, you can make your home a healthy oasis from with a few practical considerations. Create a makeshift mudroom or landing zone in your foyer. Remove shoes and outer layers when you get home, and ask your guests to do the same upon arrival.

Keep your bedroom particularly protected from the outdoors, for example, don't toss the same jeans and clothing that have been on a picnic blanket on your bedspread. Wash your hair in the evening before going to sleep, particularly after a day in the garden, and remember to change and launder your pillows and linens regularly.

Ask a Doctor

When it comes to health, there is no one-size-fits all solution. Talk with your health care provider, who can help you pinpoint the exact source of your suffering, in order to determine the best treatment options for you.

With a few lifestyle changes, you can look forward to a season of breathing easy.

A copy of the Resolution, including the designation of the area affected, is available for inspection at the office of the Noblesville Clerk at 16 South 10th Street, Suite 270, Noblesville, IN 46060. ## Seven county football players named North-South All-Stars

Seven Hamilton County football players, and one manager, have been named as Indiana North-South All-Stars by the Indiana Football Coaches Association.

All but one of the players will compete for the South team at this summer's North-South All-Star football game. That includes two from Westfield - Inside linebacker Jackson Garrett and free safety Justin Frey - and two from Hamilton Southeastern, defensive end Logan Holland and cornerback Trey Poore.

Also on the South team will be two offensive linemen, Fishers' Charlie Bernhardt and Noblesville's Drew Hartmann. Westfield's Grace Beam will be one of the managers.

Meanwhile, Hamilton Heights wide receiver Jesse Brown will compete on the North team.

Pacers falter in second half, fall to Knicks

The Indiana Pacers were in control for much of Tuesday night's contest against the New York Knicks but couldn't hold on and were defeated 87-81 in Madison Square Garden.

Indiana dominated the majority of the first half and took a 10-point lead into the locker room. But the offense struggled the rest of the way, as the Pacers scored just 29 points and made 22 percent of its shots in the second half.

"There is no excuse for that execution or lack of execution in our second half, and (we did) not play the game the right way," Pacers head coach Nate McMillan said.

Indiana had a 13-point lead with nine minutes left in the third quarter, but after that the wheels fell off. The Knicks answered with six straight to get within seven with 6:25 to go in the third, and over the rest of the quarter, Indiana would score just five points, opening the door for the home team.

A Carmelo Anthony triple at the 0:52 mark cut the Pacers' lead to two, 64-62, and that would be the score heading into the final period.

The Knicks got off to a fast start in the fourth. After Rodney Stuckey made one of two at the free-throw line, New York drained back-to-back 3-pointers to retake the lead, 68-65, with 9:38 to play.

Later in the quarter, the Knicks began to pull away. Up 74-70 with a little more than four minutes left, Anthony buried a 3-pointer to put New York up seven.

The deficit was just five with 2:45 to play, but five straight points from the Knicks made the score 84-74 with just 1:45 remaining. The Pacers scored five straight to get within five with a minute left, but it was too little, too late.

The 81 points scored were a season-low for Indiana.

"We got out of our comfort (zone)," Pacers forward Paul George added. "We have to play a lot more consistently."

The Pacers looked fine in the early going, and behind 11 combined early first quarter points from Myles Turner and Jeff Teague, Indiana jumped out to a 15-10 lead with 3:23 left to play in the period.

Indiana led by as many as seven in the first and took a six-point advantage, 24-18, into the second quarter.

The second unit grew Indiana's lead to nine, 35-26, with 8:23 left in the half. With 5:47 to go, the Pacers still held a nine-point advantage, 44-35, after a Turner slam.

The Pacers capped off a solid half with a C.J. Miles 3-pointer that put Indiana up 52-40 with under a minute to play. The Knicks answered with a score of their own to trail by 10 going into the locker room.

But the 29 points the rest of the way weren't enough to leave the Big Apple with a victory.

"When you don't play the right way, you look like that," McMillan said.

Paul George (22 points, 10 rebounds) and Turner (17 points, 12 rebounds) both finished with double-doubles for Indiana.

Jessica Miller joins Indiana Fever coaching staff

The Indiana Fever have announced the addition of Jessica Miller as an assistant coach for the 2017 season. It is Miller's first WNBA coaching position, after serving the past ten seasons in an operations and video capacity with the Chicago Sky.

First-year Fever coach Pokey Chatman brings Miller from her staff in Chicago where she spent the past two years as the club's video coordinator and aided in player development. Currently coaching with DJK Brose Bamberg in Bamberg, Germany, Miller managed opponent scouting operations and video coaching with the Sky, participating in daily practices at home, and on the road.

A captain and four-year starter at Illinois-Chicago, Miller helped the Flames to the WNIT before playing overseas with DJK Brose Bamberg, from 2010-15. After five years playing with the team, she is finishing her first season as an assistant coach.

"I'm excited about adding Jessie to our coaching staff," said Chatman who spent the past six seasons leading the Sky. "Having watched her grow over the past six years, I am confident she will impact our opponent scouting/preparation, player development, and in-game strategy. She understands the league and will be key as we continue to build on the success of our franchise."

Miller received a B.S. in kinesiology from UIC in 2010. She has continued post-graduate coursework in Bamberg.
