Chivalry, respect, taught by example

By JANET HART LEONARD

It was our first date. Chuck followed me to my side of his car. He opened the door.

And from that point on I have come to realize just how much of a gentleman to whom I am married.

We take walks through downtown Noblesville. If you see us, you will notice that Chuck walks closest to the traffic. I questioned him when he first changed sides. He said it was because it's safer for me. That was a new one for me.

I grab my coat and as I start to put it on I feel a gentle tug to my sleeve. It's my husband helping me put on my coat.

As a female enters a room to speak to Chuck, he stands up.

Respect. Chivalry. The right thing to do. Being a gentleman.

I admit it took some getting used to when I started dating Chuck. I had to learn to allow him to pull back my chair and scoot it in whenever I sat down in a

The new facility allows for the Club to increase programming and therefore its impact on its participants. "Being able to offer outdoor play for our members is very exciting to us as we know the many benefits it provides to children. Research clearly indicates physical, cognitive, and social/emotional development comes with outdoor play. It allows children to build autonomy, utilize their creativity, and it gives them an opportunity to practice decision-making and communication skills. And of course, they can unplug, explore nature, and have some fun!" says Becky Terry, Executive Director.

Property tax deadline this Wednesday

By FRED SWIFT

The spring installment of property taxes are due Wednesday, May 10.

About half of county property owners have their taxes paid through their escrow account, but those without escrowed funds need to pay either by mail, in person at the County Treasurer's office or at a bank that accepts tax payments.

Property owners who have not paid or gotten payments postmarked by midnight May 10 will be assessed a five percent penalty for the first six months that taxes are delinquent. The treasurer's Courthouse office is open from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday.

County Parks gala was a hit

By FRED SWIFT

The Hamilton County Parks system began 50 years ago with virtually no land and no money, but today is the envy of the state. The park board and friends celebrated the county parks' history with an impressive party Friday night at the Ritz Charles in Carmel.

About 200 enjoyed the "birthday party" and fundraiser which included a huge birthday cake, live music, an auction, reading from part of the U.S. Congressional Record and a state legislative resolution congratulating the county parks department on its progress over the past half-century.

Parks Director Al Patterson revealed plans for the next major project which involves construction of a conservatory at Coxhall Gardens.

The county park system developed its first project, Potters Bridge Park, in 1969. It was followed by Cool Creek Park.

Fishers I-69 construction goes double diamond

The REPORTER
The Campus Parkway interchange at Interstate 69 Exit 210 will be shifted into a double-crossover diamond traffic pattern on or after Friday, May 12.

In order to implement the double-crossover diamond traffic pattern, Milestone Contractors plans to close Campus Parkway access over I-69 starting at 9 p.m. on Thursday, May 11. Access to and from all interchange ramps will remain open to right turns only during the overnight traffic shift. Electronic message signs and police will direct motorists to the Olio Road overpass to cross over the interstate.

Weather permitting, Campus Parkway is expected to be open to traffic in a double-crossover diamond pattern by 6 a.m. on Friday, May 12.

Interchange construction continues
The Campus Parkway interchange will remain under construction and is expected to be fully open to traffic in its permanent configuration in July. Shifting traffic into the double-crossover diamond pattern now is intended to improve traffic flow during the remainder of construction.

Multiple traffic lane shifts will be required in the upcoming months to complete remaining construction of the new interchange design. Each phase of remaining construction will bring the interchange closer to its final traffic configuration and capacity.

About the double-crossover diamond interchange
Two similar interchanges have been constructed with success in Indiana. The first was at I-69 and Dupont Road in Fort Wayne, and the second was built at I-65 and Worthsville Road in Greenwood.

This interchange design may appear unusual, but by following signs, pavement markings and traffic signal instructions, drivers find these interchanges easy to navigate.

Drivers that currently turn right at the I-69 and Campus Parkway interchange will continue to do so.

Traffic signals, signs and pavement markings will briefly shift traffic to the left side of the road at the bridge across I-69. This allows left-turning traffic to flow more freely as it enters and exits I-69.

Through traffic on Campus Parkway will shift back to the right side of the road at the next traffic signal.

Motorists can learn about highway work zones and other traffic alerts at indot.carsprogram.org, 1-800-261-ROAD (7623) or 511 from a mobile phone.

For more information about the new double-crossover diamond interchange at Campus Parkway, as well as diagrams of the remaining traffic phases, go to <http://www.in.gov/indot/3441.htm>.

A video showing what drivers can expect in the crossover is available on our website, www.ReadTheReporter.com.

My mother's purse

By SHARON McMAHON

"How lucky I am to have something that makes saying goodbye so hard."

- Winnie the Pooh

I hesitated to select this subject as I usually write about fitness and nutrition but I do believe that my topic this week addresses an issue that may be both familiar to many and which can affect our peace of mind. I have always been a "decision maker" but must confess that I have wrestled with this decision for many years. I am also usually not a "keeper of things" so this item noted here is unusual in that respect as well.

As a teenager, I lost both parents in an automobile accident. I won't spend time in this article discussing that in particular as it does not relate to the issue at hand. Those who know me or have read my column understand that this occurred many years ago. However, an item in my possession nearly fifty years is my mother's purse. It is not a designer purse, but is somewhat unique in that it is a hand-tooled leather purse which still holds objects which were there at the time she passed away. Now - I really do not intend to be maudlin about it but I have kept it well protected and have always thought that someday I would like to actually use this purse for myself. Once in while (about every year this time) I take it out of its protective covering and give it a look, then I return it, saying "maybe next year."

Let's review the contents together: blue wallet which still contains photos of my brother and of me, driver's license, insurance card, nail file, Sears credit card, grocery list, etc. My plan, if it ever comes to fruition, is to empty the purse of its contents of course and then have it professionally cleaned and refurbished. It is in good condition and will be attractive when that is done. Although I am not one who believes that objects can attach us to those we have lost, it is a lovely piece that I believe she would want me to use. Carrying her purse would be a tribute to her perhaps and enjoyable for me as well.

My purpose in writing about this is two-fold. First of all while not all of us are mothers, all of us have mothers or mother figures. Many of you, like me, no longer have that person in your life. It is mentally and emotionally healthy to pay tribute to her, to share stories with other family members, and enjoy what you do have in your hearts and your mind to remember her fondly. Secondly, moments can play a part in that as well. Your mental and physical well-being are inextricably linked; so, stay healthy, be well and cherish those who are here and the memories of those who are not.

Will I finally carry my mother's purse? I haven't yet decided! Happy Mother's Day!

Go be great, anything is possible!

By LEA JESSUP
Sheridan Community Schools

This time last year I accomplished an important goal I had set for myself, although it was about 30 years late. When I graduated high school, I headed to Purdue with many of my friends to pursue my bachelor's degree in education. At the end of my first year, my father passed away unexpectedly and due to family circumstances, I wasn't able to go back the following year. Instead I started in the work force with the goal of finishing my degree one day in the future.

I was pretty fortunate with my career path. Technology wasn't as common place as it is today, and if you were willing to learn, job opportunities were readily available. Working for a few big companies, I learned as much as I could, and certainly as much as they would teach me. I found some time to carve out a plan to finish my Associate's Degree at Indiana Wesleyan University in between having a family. My goal of obtaining my Bachelor's was still important and I told myself "I'll get it done before my sons do."

I had no idea how fast that time would go by. For the next few years, life was a blur. I was fortunate to be able to join the Sheridan Community Schools family as Technology Director. Being involved with my kids and their education has been an incredible blessing, but the time to reach my goal was ticking away. It took a backseat to their many activities. Being a football Mom in the stands seemed more important than being a student in the classroom at the time.

When my oldest son was looking for a way to finish his degree while managing a career, I told him about my experience at Indiana Wesleyan's adult program. After looking into it, and knowing about my unreached goal of one day finishing myself, he said "Why not do it with me Mom?" The next thing I knew I found myself sitting beside him in a classroom every Wednesday night for the next 18 months.

While most everyone in our cohort were there for career advancement purposes, my reasons were very different. An important part of my job as Sheridan's Technology Director was helping our students prepare for their own college and career opportunities. My college experience was very different than the ones they would be facing. What better way to understand the needs of our students than to become one? It has absolutely helped me shape our school technology to better prepare our kids. Another bonus was a chance to be an example to our students that you are always learning – no matter what your age, there is always something new to learn.

This week, in honor of Mother's Day, Indiana Wesleyan has been airing several commercials highlighting moms who have persevered and overcome much more difficult obstacles than I did, who have also achieved their dream of obtaining a college degree. I am proud to be in that commercial. I'm proud that my son not only encouraged me to do it, but worked along beside me to get his. I am honored to be one of the latest Black-hawks to obtain a college degree.

On April 30, 2016, my name was called five seconds before my son's to accept my degree. My youngest son still has another year to go before he finishes his technology program at Ball State. Getting my degree before my sons – check! As it says in the commercial, "Go be great. Anything is possible!"

The Indiana House of Representatives issued a resolution honoring the Hamilton County Parks for 50 years of service. Indiana State Representative Kathy Richardson presented the resolution at Friday evening's Oh, What A Night! celebration.

Strawtown-Koteewi, the largest park of some 750 acres, followed in 2004. There are now a dozen parks covering a total of about 1,700 acres.

Within the parks are a vast number of cultural and recreational opportunities, including formal gardens, a natural history center, campgrounds, horseback riding trails and a swimming beach among others.

Entertainment and educational programs are also offered for the public at many of the parks including outdoor concerts, nature walks, tours of the Cox-hall mansion, even something called Pajama-Rama.

County parks are located throughout the county and officials continue their efforts to preserve green space in the face of rapidly expanding residential and business development. The department under Patterson's leadership has 15 fulltime employees, numerous seasonal workers and dozens of volunteers.

Admission to all parks is free to county residents. Funds are raised by county property taxes, rental of certain facilities, fundraising functions and contributions from business and individuals.

Kroger north side job fair May 10, 11

The REPORTER

The Kroger Co.'s Central Division will host an extensive job fair next week. More than 300 positions will be available at multiple locations. Kroger invites applications from experienced individuals looking for new career opportunities as well as those interested in part-time employment. In addition to the Job Fair on May 10 and 11, Kroger is hiring at all Central Indiana stores. For additional information on employment opportunities in your area, please visit jobs.kroger.com then enter the zip code for your community to apply for open positions at all of our area locations.

Job Fair details

Date: Wednesday, May 10 and Thursday, May 11
Time: 10 a.m. - 7 p.m.
Location: Drury Plaza Hotel
 Indianapolis Carmel

 Indianapolis, IN 46290

CHIVALRY

restaurant. I now wait in the car whenever it is raining until he comes around to my side with an umbrella.

I have never had anyone treat me the way Chuck treats me. Perhaps it was one of the many reasons that I fell in love with him so quickly. And you know what? He still treats me like a queen.

Chuck was a teacher of math and history, yet I think along the way he also taught chivalry to a few guys.

They say whenever you date someone to watch how they treat servers in a restaurant. Listen to how they talk to people. Do they talk down to them? Do they show appreciation? Do they use the words, please and thank you?

By the time we leave a restaurant we know a lot about the person who is serving us. Chuck asks them how long they have worked there, where they grew up and about the school they attended. If they are in college, he asks them what they are majoring in. It's simple, polite conversation.

I will tell you that our servers become even more attentive to us.

Isn't that what respect is all about? Simply caring for people the way that you want to be cared for? It gets lost in a lot of relationships.

Sadly, chivalry and respect for women has somehow lost its way through generations. Maybe when women starting getting more rights we didn't allow men to treat us with old fashioned chivalry. We lost out.

Whenever a man opens a door for me I don't just say "thank you" but I acknowledge them for being a gentleman. I often tell that their mama would be proud of them.

I know its old school but I still think it needs to be taught.

The Fishers boys lacrosse team held off Heritage Christian 9-5 in a physical game Friday at Reynolds Tiger Stadium.

The No. 8 Tigers took an lead early as senior midfielder Max Shores (three goals, two assists) scored a fast dodging goal. The No. 10 Eagles answered by scoring a goal with their extra man unit knotting the game up at 1. Sophomore attackman Matthew Shores (two goals) scored a goal off of a beautiful feed from senior attackman Joe O'Connell (one goal, one assist). The Tigers would score again in transition when junior midfielder Andrew Borkowski (one assist) found Matthew Shores. Then the Tigers would receive their second penalty of the evening and the Eagles' extra man unit would capitalize with a goal closing the gap 3-2 Tigers at the end of the first quarter.

Max Shores would add another goal at the 4:18 mark and the Tiger defense would keep the Eagles scoreless in the second quarter. The defense was lead by junior goalie Isaiah Dunnuck (eight saves) who made several great saves to preserve the Tigers lead and senior defenseman Zach Celentano (six ground balls, three caused turnovers) led the team with ground balls.

The Eagles increased their intensity in the second half and scored the first goal of the third quarter. At the 3:25 mark Max Shores would find O'Connell with his hands free for a goal increasing the Tiger lead to 6-3. The Eagles would receive an unsportsmanlike penalty towards the end of the quarter and the Tigers would head into the fourth quarter with a man advantage however there would be no face off as the Eagles managed to get possession of the ball as the quarter expired.

The Eagles would score a short-handed goal after the Tiger defense attempted to double the ball. Max Shores and Gieselman would each score an unassisted goal to increase the Tigers lead. The Eagles would score at the 5:55 mark of the quarter. Max Shores would find Gieselman with 1:30 remaining in the game to finish the scoring and giving the Tigers the lead and the win.

Hare Chevrolet Field community service project takes place this summer

The Noblesville community is asked to help spruce up Hare Chevrolet Field this summer during a community service project.

Volunteers can help by cleaning, painting, planting flowers, and more. Hare Field is a multi-purpose facility that many sports and clubs use throughout the year, so many volunteers and donations are needed to make this happen. This includes all business owners, student-athletes, band members, parents, grandparents NHS alumni, clubs and individuals needing community service hours.

The project is scheduled for three dates: 5 p.m. Tuesday, June 13; and 9 a.m. on both Saturday, July 15 and Sunday, July 30.

If you are interested in helping, please attend one or more of the dates listed above. Please call Annie Davis at 317-518-6416 if you have questions or if you are a business owner and would like to donate a product and/or service.

K-Town Elite Track and Field Club is accepting new members

Central Indiana's only USA Track-and-Field Club, K-Town Elite Track is accepting new members throughout Indiana for the Summer Track-and-Field season beginning with the Chick-fil-A Youth Track-and-Field Meet, Saturday May 27 at Guerin Catholic High School and ending with the USA Track-and-Field National Junior Olympics to be held at the University of Kansas, July 24-30.

Club members will compete in four Indian Youth Track Association meets (held at Hamilton County athletic facilities) leading to JO competition June 24-25 at Ball State University.

Determined by year of birth, there are six USATF age groups for boys and girls: 8 & under; 9-10; 11-12; 13-14; 15-16; and 17-18.

Since its conception three years ago, K-Town had many athletes compete in the Junior Olympics and Tionna Brown has won three national titles.

"Tionna is still training with us, but she won't do the JO circuit this season as we are training her for larger nationals and international competitions," said Club Coach K.O. Jackson. "She is still the Club's leader, but we are turning a lot of responsibility over to our sixth-grader Chase Hayes. She's been with us four years and she's ready to lead the Club."

The Club's focus is on the jumps, hurdles, relays and sprints - up to 800 meters. The events are coached by K.O. Jackson, a USATF Level II coach in the sprints, jumps and hurdles and a USATF Level I instructor. He is currently completing work to become a USATF Level III coach and IAAF Level 4 coach: the highest certifications for both organizations. In Indiana, Kentucky and Ohio, Jackson has coached numerous state-meet participants; three state champions; a three-time JO national champion and 58 athletes who have competed for him have received NCAA Division I/NAIA scholarships.

There will be an information meeting at 7 p.m. Thursday, May 25 at Kokomo's Jackson Morrow Park (at the volleyball pit) for new members to address the registration process, code of conduct, parent/guardian information forms, travel-release forms, and a copy of the athlete's birth certificate. If weather is inclement, the meeting will be held at Club 24 Fitness. New high-school members can begin after their high-school season concludes.

Practice sessions' cost vary from $5-$10 each and the club practices three to five times a week.

For additional information, call 765-865-5412, email ktownelite@gmx.com, or like K-Town on Facebook at K-Town Elite Track Club.
