Cook supporting education from pre-K on

The REPORTER

Pre-K pilot program expands

Delaware, Grant, Howard and Madison counties are now eligible to participate in On My Way Pre-K, an early education pilot program established in 2014, according to State Rep. Tony Cook (R-Cicero).

Cook supported a bill during the 2017 legislative session expanding Indiana's pre-K pilot program from five counties to 20. This new law will provide high-quality early education to more low-income four-year-olds. Local providers can begin enrolling children in the On My Way Pre-K program for the 2018-2019 school year.

"As a former educator, I have seen the benefits of high-quality early childhood education, and I support this responsible expansion of the pilot program," Cook said. "By opening the program up to these counties, some at-risk children will have the opportunity to attend a high-quality preschool, have higher wage-earning potential and will be more likely to graduate from high school."

According to Cook, the program currently serves nearly 2,300 students in five counties. Under this measure, 15 additional, primarily rural counties were added. The 2017 Early Learning Advisory Council annual report estimates about 6,700 four-year-olds could be served in these new counties.

The other counties added to the On My Way Pre-K program are Bartholomew, DeKalb, Elkhart, Floyd, Harrison, Kosciusko, Marshall, Monroe, St. Joseph, Tippecanoe and Vigo.

Increasing student course options

Gov. Eric Holcomb recently ceremonially signed a law authored by State Rep. Tony Cook (R-Cicero) providing students with increased access to specialty classes and business or trade certification programs.

Cook said this new law will help balance the educational playing field for students by allowing them to take courses at a different school or through an online program not offered, while remaining enrolled in their current school.

"This new policy will help all students across Indiana, regardless of where they are enrolled," Cook said. "Some schools may lack the necessary resources to provide specialty classes or certification trade programs in high-demand areas. Students and their families will now have the option to customize their education courses that will lead them on the path to their career."

According to Cook, the Indiana Department of Education can establish the Course Access Program while overseeing courses and course providers. Students will be able to enroll in an approved class with certain vetting from their school corporation.

This law goes into effect July 1. To learn more, visit iga.in.gov.

State Rep. Tony Cook (R-Cicero) represents House District 32, which includes all of Tipton County and portions of Hamilton, Madison, Delaware, Howard and Grant counties.

The City of Fishers is still in talks with the owners of 70 acres of land on Geist Lake to purchase the property and establish a city park, the first public space on Geist Lake. The Fishers Redevelopment Commission approved an amendment to the economic development plan of that area and okayed a bond issue as steps toward acquiring the land and establishing the park.

City Controller Oscar Gutierrez told the commission the city is asking for $12 million of authority for property tax backed bonds. The controller also said he does not expect to actually utilize the entire bond authority, saying the actual purchase price is more likely to end up at between $9 million and $9.5 million.

The city has made a clear declaration that if an agreement to purchase the property from the current owners is unsuccessful, the mayor is prepared to condemn the property and acquire it under the laws of eminent domain. State law provides a specific procedure to determine the fair market value

Noblesville parking results coming soon

The REPORTER

The content of Noblesville's most recent and long-awaited downtown parking study will be public soon.

The Parking Task Force will soon put its stamp of approval on a report which was prepared by professional consultants hired by the city last year.

The study, the fourth or fifth in the past dozen years, is expected to make short term and long-term suggestions for more parking including a municipal parking garage which would likely require city and county joint cooperation.

Carmel High School to get new principal

The REPORTER

A new principal for Carmel High School will be announced at the June 12 meeting of the Carmel Clay School Board, according to the school administration office. John Williams retired earlier this month after serving 14 years as principal during which time CHS became the state's largest high school and achieved numerous awards for its successful academic and athletic programs.

Never too old to live the dream at Prairie Lakes

Photos provided

Prairie Lakes Health Campus, 9730 Prairie Lakes Blvd. East, Noblesville, has a program they call "Live the Dream." Residents get the opportunity to try something they have always wanted and recently two people chose to go rock climbing. (TOP LEFT) Robert Ireland, 83, always wanted to try rock climbing. With everything going on in my life the opportunity never came up. Ireland was like a spider on the wall, going from one rock to the next. After his climb, Ireland said, "I had the best time ever and will not forget this moment ever. My son will not even believe what I just did!" (TOP RIGHT) Marguerite Schnautz, 100, had never gone rock climbing. Schnautz likes to try different things while she still can. She said, "This was amazing. At my age, I never thought I could attempt to try." Thanks to Climb Time of Indy, Ocean (ABOVE) for helping to make these dreams come true!

Conner Prairie Curiosity Fair begins today

The REPORTER

Thousands of guests are expected at the fifth annual Curiosity Fair at Conner Prairie this weekend. The event, sponsored by Kroger and Dow AgroSciences, is focused on science, technology, engineering and math exploration through interactive activities, presentations and hands-on demonstrations.

The weekend fair is free for museum members and with paid admission to the museum. Admission is $17 for adults, $16 for seniors ages 65 and older and $12 for youth ages 2 to 12.

Free shows throughout the day:

- Tony Hoard, a semi-finalist on the popular "America's Got Talent" TV show, and his high-flying, acrobatic canines will perform multiple shows both days.

- Scientists with Eli Lilly will perform colorful chemical demonstrations and explosive experiments during their "Chemistry is a Blast" shows.

- Professor Steve's "Science Big Top" demonstrates forces of nature.

Inside the SportsZone: Guests can interact with the Indianapolis Colts, Indiana Pacers, Indianapolis Indians, Indiana Fuel and Indy Eleven professional sports teams and experience the beauty and grace of rhythmic gymnastics.

For a complete lineup of activities throughout the weekend, visit <http://bit.ly/2qWzM6r>.

Spanning nearly 1,000 wooded acres in central Indiana, Conner Prairie welcomes nearly 400,000 visitors of all ages annually. As Indiana's first Smithsonian Institute affiliate, Conner Prairie offers various outdoor, historically themed destinations and indoor experiential learning spaces that combine history and art with science, technology, engineering and math to offer an authentic look into history that shapes society today.

Top tips for allergy management

StatePoint

Allergy symptoms can lead to a major disruption in quality of life. And unfortunately, they affect a lot of people. Nearly 60 million Americans suffer from allergic rhinitis (also commonly known as hay fever), according to the American College of Allergy Asthma and Immunology.

Luckily, many allergy sufferers are interested in learning more about what causes their allergies and how they can manage them. In fact, 70 percent of allergy sufferers say they wish they had a better understanding of the science behind their allergies, according to a recent survey of over 1,000 allergy sufferers in the US, which was sponsored by Sanofi Consumer Healthcare and conducted online using Toluna's QuickSurveys methodology.

With that in mind, Sanofi is sharing some helpful information and tips for allergy sufferers to keep in mind this season.

• Know Your Triggers: Determine what allergens or "triggers" cause your symptoms, whether it's pollen, pet dander, etc. While you may already have some idea of what triggers your symptoms, an allergist can give you a comprehensive check-up for a proper diagnosis.

• Avoid Exposure: If pollen is one of your triggers, check the pollen count before planning that picnic. If it's your furry friend giving you grief, spend some time vacuuming your rugs and furniture. Once you know your triggers, take steps to avoid or minimize them whenever possible.

• Learn the Science behind Your Symptoms: When an allergy sufferer comes into contact with certain allergens, their body produces a variety of chemical responses that cause those symptoms that can make them feel miserable. According to the recent survey of allergy sufferers, more than half of them said histamine is the only chemical response to allergens that they are familiar with, but there are actually several — including leukotrienes, cytokines, prostaglandins and eosinophils. To relieve allergy symptoms, it's important to stop these chemical reactions from taking place.

• Visit the Allergy Aisle: Several prescription strength treatment options are available over-the-counter for the relief of allergy symptoms. For example, Nasacort is a scent- and alcohol-free nasal spray that provides 24-hour relief of nasal allergy symptoms like sneezing, itchy runny nose and congestion for adults and children two years of age and older. It does this by stopping the body's chemical responses to allergens and reducing inflammation in the nasal passages. To learn more and download a coupon, visit Nasacort.com.

This season, be proactive about your allergies. Educate yourself about your triggers and make sure you have an effective treatment on hand to provide symptom relief.

Ronald "Ron" Lewis Scott
June 7, 2017

Ronald "Ron" Lewis Scott was born the middle of three boys to Harriett Bray Scott and Troy Wallace Scott in Indianapolis. In childhood, he enjoyed scaring his mom with snakes found in their back yard on Crittenden Avenue. Snakes later gave way to birds, as he became an expert caretaker of the thousands of birds who visited his backyard. Ron was a wrestler at Broad Ripple High, and attended Ball State before graduating from IUPUI. He met the love of his life, Marsha, on a blind date. They were soon married and established roots in Carmel. Ron was employed with Ameritech for more than 20 years where he excelled in advertising sales. Ron was a hard-working, caring man who was a gifted handyman. He was a thoughtful, patient and loving man who brought joy and laughter to his treasured family.

Ron left this earth on June 7 at the age of 73 after unexpected complications from lung surgery. Remaining to keep his memory alive are wife, Marsha (nee Coapstick); children, Nicole Hebert (John), Holly Blessing (Brian) and Ryan Scott (Amanda Distler); grandchildren, Ella, Josie and Jack Hebert, and Hayden and Eli Scott; father, Wally; brothers Troy (Susie) and David (Jody); as well as many other dear family members and close friends. He was preceded in death by his mother Harriett.

Greyhounds singles, doubles advance in individual tourney

By RICHIE HALL
Reporter Sports Editor

Carmel continued its quest for the girls tennis Triple Crown on Friday, easily winning both singles and doubles matches at the quarter-final round of the IHSAA individual tournament at Park Tudor.

In singles play, the Greyhounds' Lauren Lemonds beat Mooresville's Morgan Fitzpatrick 6-2, 6-0 in a battle of undefeated juniors. Lemonds is now 31-0 for the year and will play Fort Wayne Canterbury sophomore Kyra Foster in this morning's semi-finals.

Meanwhile, Carmel's junior doubles team of Julia Miller and Grace Marchese defeated Christian Academy of Indiana seniors, the undefeated team of Danielle Summitt and Lauren Winchell, 6-0, 6-3 in their quarter-final match. Next up for the Greyhound team is another all-junior squad from Center Grove: Isabella Schoolcraft and Center Grove, who are unbeaten at 21-0. Miller and Marchese are 9-0.

"Overall, I think our girls played really well for their first match at Park Tudor, because it's a little different to play here," said Carmel coach Spencer Keaton Minick and Natalie Watson are the winners of the annual Steven Sizemore Mental Attitude Award, which was presented by the Noblesville United Soccer Club. Pictured: Matt and Lynn Minick (parents of Keaton), Keaton Minick, Natalie Watson, Ken and Kim Watson (parents of Natalie).

The Noblesville United Soccer Club announced Keaton Minick and Natalie Watson as the winners of the annual Steven Sizemore Mental Attitude Award earlier this month.

Steven Sizemore was a longtime participant at NUSC. He played with NUSC from U5 up through Travel, Into high school at NHS and beyond. He was popular for always having a great attitude and consistent hard work and dedication. Those who played beside him were better for it because he would encourage good sportsmanship as well as a drive to improve. He had a true passion for the game.

Steven left this world too soon at the age of 20. In his honor, with the help of his family, we created this award to be given each spring season to one male and one female player in U15+ who display the same qualities that Steven possessed. The award will help the Sizemore family keep his memory alive.

Keaton Minick was nominated for his willingness not only to play any position in any game, but also for stepping in to help coach his younger sister's teams for several seasons.

He displays a phenomenal attitude and a great passion for the game. This was noted not only by his coaches and fellow teammates but also by those not part of NUSC who had the pleasure of watching him play. Minick is graduating from Noblesville High School and will be attending Indiana State University in the Fall to study Education. It is his ultimate goal to work with children with special needs.

Natalie Watson was nominated for her passion and dedication to the game of soccer. She has played at NUSC since first or second grade. She chose as well to give back to the club by helping to coach younger age groups for several seasons. She has always been an aggressive competitor, but maintained a smile and positive attitude towards her teammates as well as her opponents. She became a referee and has been giving back to NUSC in that manner as well. Watson is graduating from Noblesville High School. She will be attending Anderson University in the fall to double major in Psychology and Youth Leadership Development and minor in Social Work. Watson loves volunteering and working with children.

Both Minick and Watson have created and fostered friendships on our pitch that will last a lifetime because of the passion and attitude they possess. They both are honored to received this award and want to thank all those who helped them along the way.

Also nominated were: Tyler McLaughlin for his dedication and stellar attitude.

Will Bennett for his encouraging words and sense of humor to help pull the team together.

Cheyenne Chase for her passion for the game, fair play and inspiration to other players because of her attitude.

Devin Kaslenschmidt for his integrity and sportsmanship as well as his dedication to NUSC.

Fields. "We haven't played on these courts this season. They executed well, serves were good, returns were great, excited for tomorrow."

The semi-finals begin at Park Tudor at 10 a.m. In the other matches, Castle junior Madison Devillez plays Evansville Memorial senior Makenzie Myers in singles, while Fort Wayne Carroll sophomores Mia Toscos and Lauren VanWyngarden take on the South Bend St. Joseph team of senior Talle Corrigan and freshman Kayla Graham in the doubles.

The championship matches are set for 2 p.m.
