Officers arrived to find Sarah Swift, age 33, and Caleb Broad, age 34, in the grass outside the home, each with multiple gunshot wounds. Swift was taken by medical helicopter and Broad was taken by ambulance from the scene. Both were taken to hospitals in Indianapolis with multiple gunshot wounds and life-threatening injuries.

The preliminary investigation revealed that the shooter, James Brandon Swift, age 40, went to Kennard and shot his estranged wife and her neighbor as they sat on the front porch of the residence.

Noblesville's July 4 offers something for everyone

The REPORTER

The Noblesville Fourth of July Planning Committee has been working hard for several months to coordinate another fun and patriotic July 4 parade and fireworks festival. This year's celebration will take place on Tuesday, July 4 and includes a mix of traditional activities with new experiences.

The parade sponsored by Logan Street Signs and Banners will begin at 4:30 p.m. at the corner of 16th Street and Harrison Street. This year's theme is "Dreams Come True Under the Red, White and Blue" and Grand Marshal State Representative Kathy Kreag Richardson will lead the parade. The route will be 16th Street to Logan Street; Logan to Ninth Street; Ninth to Monument Street; and Monument to 16th Street.

Immediately after the parade, the free Fireworks Festival, presented by IDI Composites, Inc., will take place on the grounds of Noblesville High School, 18111 Cumberland Road, from 6 to 10 p.m. There will be several activities for people of all ages.

The Kids Zone will feature balloon artists, face painters, carnival games and six inflatables – three for younger children and another trio for older children. Festival goers of all ages will enjoy music from DJ Jason Fritz, an instant photo booth and being artistic with Caravan Classes. The K9 Crew is returning with their skilled dogs and will perform at 6:30 and 7:30 p.m. near the softball diamonds. At 7:05 p.m., The Belfry Theatre's Apprentice Players will perform songs from their upcoming production of "Disney's The Little Mermaid" on the stage.

The Noblesville U.S. Army Recruiting Center has partnered with the city to provide a military presence at the festival. The Army will have soldiers, sports inflatables, a rock climbing wall (ages 16 and older), an asset trailer, military Humvee and other fun activities. At 9 p.m., the Army will take over the main stage to host its Oath of Enlistment Ceremony.

"The committee could not think of a more fitting scenario than watching a group of individuals take the oath to serve

Next year's local election already getting interesting

Even though many folks say they are sick of politics, the fact is there is already early activity in the local political world gearing up for next year's primary election, now ten months away. And, whether everyone likes it or not, political choices are important to the future of Hamilton County.

Here are a few things to watch. Changes are likely in the local judiciary. Superior Court 5 Judge Wayne Sturtevant has announced his retirement effective in November of this year. Superior 1 Judge Steve Nation is seriously considering retirement next year. Circuit Judge Paul Felix is being considered for a federal court bench. And Superior 6 Judge Gail Bardach is up for election next spring. She is likely to run for re-election.

A vacancy created by Sturtevant's retirement comes first and will be filled by a governor's appointment. At least two names have been mentioned as possible candidates: Court Magistrate David Najjar and Carmel City Judge Brian Poindexter, but neither has confirmed their interest.

Looking at the important, but often overlooked County Council, a move to change the factional lineup on the county fiscal body is said to be in the works. Currently, very conservative members hold a

Westfield's Yellow Tie raises $43K for youth

The REPORTER

In its tenth year, the Westfield Yellow Tie Ball raised $43,500 for Westfield's Youth Assistance Program.

"This year's Mayor's Yellow Tie Ball had a special meaning as it marked the tenth year," explains Mayor Andy Cook. "It is, without question, the most important project that this city is doing because it deals with our most important asset: our youth."

The annual event raised $20,000 in pledges from those in attendance. Guests also participated in a raffle for a diamond bracelet donated by Moyer Fine Jewelers. The remaining funds were raised from the event's many sponsors, which included Citizens Energy Group, Regions Insurance, Kreig DeVault, Riverview Hospital, United Consulting and many more.

"We are extremely grateful to receive such a large donation to The Westfield Youth Assistance Program," says Tricia Akers, Executive Director of Youth Assistance Program. "We are particularly grateful to Mayor Cook and The City of Westfield for their unprecedented support. The generosity of our sponsors and community members will enable us to help so many more children and families in need.

Developed as a pilot program in Westfield, Youth Assistance has grown to include every school system in Hamilton County, as well as Zionsville schools in neighboring Boone County. The program provides mentoring, camp and recreation opportunities, tutoring assistance and other services designed to assist the healthy development of Hamilton County youth.

4-3 edge. Fred Glynn, one of the four and president of the council, is up for election in the 2018 Republican primary. Reliable insiders say a prominent Carmel woman will soon announce her candidacy against Glynn.

Two candidates for sheriff came out very early in what is expected to be a crowded field. Deputies Bill Clifford and Jason Sloderbeck have already said they want to succeed retiring Sheriff Mark Bowen. Two, three or more others are expected to enter the GOP primary race.

In a surprise announcement this week, Corrie Meyer, Carmel, said she will run against conservative incumbent State Sen. Mike Delph who represents the Carmel area in the General Assembly. Meyer heads the Carmel Redevelopment Commission.

And, potentially effecting next spring's elections was this week's announcement that a new political action committee (PAC) has been organized at Fishers. Called Fiscal Conservatives of Hamilton County, the group has as one of its principal members Bill Smythe who jumped into Republican politics in 2016, running unsuccessfully for county commissioner. He has said he wants to remain active in local politics.

Letter to the Editor

Reader calls for more smoke-free venues

Dear Editor,
 July 1 marks the five-year anniversary of Indiana's state smoke-free air law. This law was a milestone for the state of Indiana in protecting thousands of Hoosiers from the harmful effects of secondhand smoke. Unfortunately, it also left many workers unprotected. The progressive cities of Hamilton County have the opportunity to make up for what the state smoke-free air law is lacking, to cover all public venues including bars and membership clubs.
 Two cities, Carmel and Westfield, passed what's now the state law a few years prior to 2012. All Hamilton County cities are leaders that promote commerce, cultivate thriving communities and foster health, making them the envy of other counties and cities throughout the state and the nation.

They embrace healthy living by building complete streets that invite walkability, address the stigma of mental health, invite youth athletics and design world-class, often smoke-free, parks. Why can't one or all of these cities, or the county as a whole, take the next step in health by adopting smoke-free air policies that protect employees no matter where they work?
 I could bring up how smoke-free air laws positively affect health and protect our economy, but in Hamilton County it's about leadership. Our cities have a healthy competitiveness that keeps them on the cutting edge. The question, or perhaps challenge, becomes which of these cities will add smoke-free air to its list of firsts.

Native vocational scholarships available

The REPORTER
 Are you interested in learning a new skill but don't necessarily want to go to college? If so, attending a vocational school may be the solution for you! The Indiana Native American Indian Affairs Commission recently created Vocational Scholarships, which are supported by the sale of the Native American license plate fund.
 Many vocational programs take less time than earning a college degree and make it easier for you to continue working, learn a new trade skill and get into your new profession sooner. Below are some examples of training you can receive, but this list is not all-inclusive:

 • Airplane Mechanic
 • Home Health Care
 • Truck Driving School
 • Chef's Academy
 • Construction
 • Veterinary Assistant
 • Computer Technology
 If you would like an application or more information, contact Mark Bush at the American Indian Center at mbush@AmericanIndianCenter.org. The deadline is July 15, 2017. Scholarship amounts range from $1,000 to $2,500 per student.

asking for a $1 donation per icon. Once completed, the banner will be presented to the Army and shipped to a base in Indiana or overseas to display to active duty soldiers. All donations collected will be given to the Noblesville Army Recruiting Center to host an event for local soldiers and their families.

"We know how patriotic Noblesville is and we think this will be a great example to show our pride and respect. From writing messages in the stars to coloring Uncle Sam or a tank, there are icons to engage the whole family," co-chairman Mike Hoffmeister said.

The grand finale of the day will be the fireworks display presented by Terry Lee Hyundai. The fireworks will begin at approximately 10 p.m. and will be the exciting end to a fun celebration.

Guests are encouraged to share their memories of the parade, festival and fireworks on social media using #Noblesville4th. Also, a special Snapchat geofilter has been created for the Fireworks Festival on the school grounds.

Volunteers are still needed to ensure that no kidszone activities will have to be shut down early. Residents are asked to please consider donating a couple of hours of their time to help make this event a success — and receive a free meal voucher and VIP parking. Volunteer shifts are 5:30 to 8 p.m. and 7:30 to 10 p.m. and volunteers still have plenty of time to enjoy the festival and fireworks with their family and friends before or after their shift. Each shift needs 12-24 volunteers. The jobs mainly involve interacting with the community by running the kid's carnival games and monitoring the inflatables. Those interested in volunteering may email nhaberlin@noblesville.in.us or visit www.volgistics.com/ex/portal.dll?AP=2046161974.

Please note that all activities and entertainment are free to attendees, thanks to the generous support of the event's sponsors. More than a dozen food vendors will be at the festival or people may bring picnic dinners. Sparklers, fireworks, alcohol and smoking are not allowed on school grounds.

If weather should cause any changes to the plans, updates will be provided on social media, the city website and to news outlets. For questions or additional details, please visit www.NoblesvilleFireworksFestival.com.

Boys State Junior Championship

Merchant makes it to semi-finals

Clay Merchant will try to give Noblesville its second Boys State Junior Championship win in two years this morning.

Merchant made it to the semi-finals of the annual event, which is taking place this week at Purgatory Golf Club in Noblesville, by winning two matches on Friday. First, the Noblesville junior-to-be defeated Evansville's Eric Brinker 5 & 4 in his Round of 16 match. After that, Merchant came from behind to win his quarter-final over Fort Wayne's Logan Ryan 1 Up.

Merchant, the third seed, will take on the second seed, Greenwood's Ethan Shepherd in his semi-final match. Tee time is 8:08 a.m., right after the other two semi-finalists tee off. Valparaiso's Mitchell Davis and Williamsport's Peyton Snoeberger will play the other semi-final, starting at 8 a.m.

Davis upset the top seed, Carmel's Jeff Doty, in the quarter-finals 3 & 2. Doty had earlier won his Round of 16 match by beating Fort Wayne's Ashby Drummond 6 & 5.

Meanwhile, Noblesville's Jacob Deakyne also competed in the Round of 16 Friday, falling to Fort Wayne's Cameron Cook 3 & 2. Cook then fell to Shepherd in the quarter-finals 2 & 1 to set up the semi-final with Merchant.

The last Noblesville golfer to win Boys State Juniors Championship is Josh Keating, who was victorious in the 2015 edition of the event. The Juniors started in 1924 and has taken place every year since, except for two (1931 and 1943).

Four county baseball players selected to North/South All-Star roster

Four Hamilton County baseball players will play in the Indiana High School Baseball Association's North/South All-Star Series this month.

Sectional champion Fishers had two players selected to the South team. Luke Duermit, the Reporter's Baseball Player of the Year, will be one of the pitchers, while Caleb Brenczewski is one of two third basemen on the list. Duermit has committed to Ohio State University, while Brenczewski is heading to Lipscomb University in Nashville, Tenn.

Carmel will also be represented on the South team, as Rhett Wintner, last year's Player of the Year, is one of the Flex players on the list. Wintner will be playing baseball at Ball State next fall.

Meanwhile, Noblesville's Bryce Masterson is one of two first basemen playing on the North team. Masterson is heading to the University of Dayton.

Ball State will be the host of the North/South All-Star Series, which takes place July 14-16.

WNBA All-Star voting continues through July 6

WNBA MVPs Maya Moore of the Minnesota Lynx and Elena Delle Donne of the Washington Mystics are the top vote-getters overall and lead their respective conferences after early fan returns of WNBA All-Star Voting 2017 presented by Verizon.

The first 15 days of fan voting generated more than double the amount of votes cast (376,820) compared to the same period, in 2015 (180,762). No All-Star Game was held in 2016 due to the Summer Olympics.

The league's 14th All-Star Game will take place on Saturday, July 22 at KeyArena in Seattle (3:30 p.m. on ABC).

Moore, the 2014 WNBA MVP and a Western Conference starter in each of her four All-Star appearances, leads all players with 19,949 votes. Delle Donne, the league's 2015 MVP and a three-time All-Star selection, is second overall with an Eastern Conference-high 19,280 votes. Moore was the top overall vote-getter for the 2014 All-Star Game. Delle Donne paced all players in the balloting in 2015 and as a first-year player in 2013, when she became the first rookie in WNBA history to earn the most votes.

Indiana Fever guard Tiffany Mitchell is the second-leading vote getter among Eastern Conference guards. Mitchell, the WNBA's second-leading free throw shooter, seeks her first All-Star appearance. She has scored in double figures in 10 of 14 games, and recently set a franchise record with a streak of 43 consecutive made free throws.

Fever forward Candice Dupree, already a five-time All-Star, is the fourth-leading vote getter among East frontcourt players. Dupree leads the Fever with 14.9 points and 5.6 rebounds per game.

Voting concludes at 9 p.m. July 6.

For the first time, WNBA players and basketball media will join fans in selecting the starters for the Verizon WNBA All-Star Game. Fans will account for 50 percent of the vote, while current players and a media panel will account for 25 percent each. The players and media members will be able to complete one full ballot each, featuring two guards and three frontcourt players from both conferences.

WNBA fans may submit one full ballot each day through WNBA.com (desktop or mobile) or the WNBA App (available on Android and iOS). Fans may also vote for up to 10 players per day on Twitter and Facebook. All current WNBA players on team rosters are eligible to receive votes.
