Hamilton County looks up

People of all ages were outside to watch the first solar eclipse visible to the continental U.S. since 1918. Although Hamilton County was not in the path of totality, the number of people watching the event was impressive. Beth Meyer at the Fishers Library knew they had something big on their hands when phone calls flooded their phone lines asking about the eclipse event at the downtown Fishers Amphitheater during the morning hours before Monday afternoon's eclipse. While the city and library partnered for a community gathering, the crowd on hand exceeded all expectations. Fishers Parks Department Director Tony Elliott estimated the downtown crowd at 2,500. The library offered the special viewing glasses for $1 each, but ran out around 1 p.m. But people were sharing their glasses all over the municipal complex. (ABOVE) In Noblesville, Ayla Johnson, Ava Brown and Colby France Mahorney were among the Noble Crossing first graders who had the opportunity, along with all students at Noblesville Schools, to experience the eclipse first-hand.

Options Charter Schools adds Noblesville Middle School, expands Distance Education Program

The REPORTER

Options Charter Schools today announced that their Noblesville high school campus will add seventh and eighth grades in the 2017-18 school year to address the growing need for a smaller, more personalized and flexible educational experience for students in the Hamilton County area. Options is a free public charter school with campuses in Carmel and Noblesville that provides a learning environment for students who haven't found success in a traditional large school system.

A partnership between Options and local superintendents determined that there is a growing need for an alternative educational option for middle school students. Options — Noblesville built a pilot program earlier this year in coordination with the partnering school districts, and is expanding into a full program for the 2017-2018 school year with 30 students each in the seventh and eighth grades.

Fishers City Council moves forward with $70M sports complex

By LARRY LANNAN
www.LarryInFishers.com

When you hear the sales pitch from the developers of the proposed Saxony Sports Complex, there are a few messages that come through crystal clear.

First, the bonds to fund the project are going through the Fishers Economic Development Commission and the City Council only to allow part of the bond issue to contain tax exempt bonds, which are easier to market to institutional investors, but the city will not be backing these bonds in any way. The complex will be owned and operated by a nonprofit organization.

Second, there will be no Tax Increment Financing (TIF) for this sports complex. The development will be located in a TIF District. But there is no TIF, only the issuance of Revenue Bonds.

Third, since nonprofit organizations are not required to pay property taxes under state law, the owners of this project have committed to pay Payments In Lieu of Taxes (PILOT), which is a way for nonprofits to pay the equivalent of property taxes.

The complex is expected to cost $70 million to construct, with a ceiling of $75 million that can be borrowed. The nonprofit running the undertaking will use any funds over expenses to support amateur sports.

Those backing the project claim it will become a center for regional, national and even international sporting events.

The City Council passed a resolution moving forward, with Council President David George voting no, saying he is still concerned about the size of initial payments to the developers as the project gets started. But George did vote to suspend the rules and approved the bonds financing the complex. Both measures passed, allowing the plans to move forward.

Developers say the bonds should be sold within 30 to 45 days, with construction starting as early as fall of this year.

Here are some numbers about the complex itself:

- On the first floor:
 - 265,482 square-foot turf field house, which includes six turf fields
 - Separate 17,600 square-foot turf area for baseball training
 - 87,530 square-foot hard surface court fieldhouse which includes 12 hard surface courts that can be used for a variety of court sports

 - 29,225 square-foot center support area
- On the second floor:

 - Family lounge
 - Offices

All eyes were on the sky to witness a once-in-a-lifetime event including those of seniors at The Barrington of Carmel. As the light of day faded briefly from view, the senior living community hosted a "Solar Eclipse Viewing Party" to commemorate the event. Residents and associates gathered in the front of the community to see about 90 percent of the sun blocked out. The senior living community provided solar glasses for each resident who participated. The senior living community embraces a wellness-minded attitude and holds events like the "Solar Eclipse Viewing Party" to encourage learning by focusing on an individual's key development areas – physical, mental, social and spiritual.

The REPORTER

The Hamilton County Sheriff's Office Crash Team is investigating a single vehicle crash that resulted in serious injury on Saturday morning.

are needed for students with behavioral, academic and social struggles that occur before high school. The addition of our middle school stems from this desire to help more students achieve academic success," said Mike Gustin, president and CEO, Options Charter Schools. "We provide a unique and effective learning environment and work with students individually to determine their needs. Options is excited to provide this offering to younger students who are at a critical point in their educational development."

Stephanie M. Fleer-Peter, said that within a few weeks of attending the Middle School pilot program, her daughter's "grades started to jump forward, and she felt as if she was back on top and was learning. She is thriving. If it wasn't for Options opening their pilot Middle School program, she would have continued to fall further behind and not be ready for high school."

Options offers an average 15 students to one teacher learning environment, flexible scheduling options including evening classes and a small campus of less than 200 students per school.

"Noblesville Schools successfully serves the vast majority of students in our community, but occasionally a student struggling behaviorally, academically or socially can benefit from an alternative environment. We have partnered with Options to provide this setting for these students so they can fully achieve their potential," said Dr. Beth Niedermeyer, superintendent, Noblesville Schools.

In addition, the schools have expanded Options Distance Education Program, a free online, accredited, virtual high school that offers a flexible schedule and a variable work load.

"Our team reached out to local virtual schools to learn more about best practices and discovered there were some students struggling to be successful in the traditional virtual schools. This group of students needed more flexibility with their schedule and/or workload. We have expanded our offerings and have built a program designed to serve their needs," said Gustin.

About Options Charter Schools

Options Charter Schools provide small, personalized learning communities for students in Carmel (high school) and Noblesville (grades 7 through 12). Options Charter Schools — Carmel was one of the first charter schools in Indiana (opened in 2002), Options opened its second campus, Options Charter Schools — Noblesville, in 2006. Options Distance Education Program provides an online, computerized learning program for students who need a more flexible high school experience.

As free, public charter middle and high schools, Options Schools are designed to support the academic and social needs of students that haven't found success in the traditional public school environment. At Options, students are encouraged to explore and embrace their individuality in a caring, supportive, and inclusive environment through small class sizes and an individualized academic approach.

Small batch spirits to start flowing in Carmel in 2018 . . .

Sun King Brewery unveils new details on craft distillery, tap room

The REPORTER

Sun King Brewery, one of the leaders of the independent craft beer movement in Indiana, announced new details about its planned distillery at an event Tuesday. The approximately 15,000 square-foot craft distillery and tap room in Carmel is projected to open in spring 2018 and will be capable of producing a maximum of 10,000 proof gallons of spirits.

Sun King's co-founder and head brewer, Dave Colt, who completed his distiller's education working with world-renowned distillers at the Distilled Spirits Epicenter in Kentucky, will oversee a 250-gallon still that will be used to craft high-quality, handcrafted, small batch spirits. Once opened, customers will be able to first taste Sun King's artisan moonshine, gin and rum. Sun King will also produce a small batch whiskey that will be aged in Sun King barrels for several years. The distillery will also produce seasonal spirits that will be available at limited times throughout the year, similar to Sun King's seasonal brews that have gained popularity. Customers will be able to purchase beer, spirits and Sun King's unique mixers at the distillery in order to recreate and enjoy Sun King's unique cocktails at home.

"Drawing from our knowledge and experience in creating award-winning craft beer, we're having fun experimenting with different quality ingredients and investing in state-of-the art technology and equipment to create our unique handcrafted spirits and cocktails," said Colt. "All of our spirits are inspired by artisan Indiana farmers and producers, and we plan to showcase their harvest in our infusions, spirits, and cocktails. We're also exploring a wide variety of local restaurants that will offer delicious menu pairings that will complement our spirits."

Steven Unrue, culinary director at Sun King, and Colt are currently working to develop the distillery's unique, handcrafted cocktail lineup that will be made with fresh, local and regional ingredients whenever possible. Customers will be able to sample cocktails and spirits in the distillery's taproom or on the rooftop patio that will overlook the Monon Trail with windows looking down into the distillery. The distillery will also house four food vendors, each of which will be independently-operated local restaurants and there will be space available for private meetings and events. The vendors are yet to be announced.

"We are excited about the progress Sun King is making on its beautiful new distillery and tap room and for having the confidence to invest in our emerging midtown redevelopment area," said Carmel Mayor Jim Brainard. "We look forward to watching Sun King grow and succeed as we continue to do the same in Midtown, a rapidly growing district that continues to attract high quality businesses and amenities for both residents and visitors."

"We envisioned the future Midtown Plaza, a vibrant city park space along the Monon Trail, being anchored by a one of a kind culinary and cultural attraction," said Justin Moffett, of Carmel's Old Town Development, which is partnering with Sun King to develop the location for the distillery. "Sun King's new distillery project was beyond our wildest expectations. The architecture by Delv Design showcases an industrial warehouse theme for the Midtown neighborhood, which is true to its roots as a railroad stop along the Monon. Construction has commenced and we're on track to open in Spring 2018."

Drawing inspiration from Indiana, Sun King has produced more than 300 different varieties of beer since 2009, dozens of which have been awarded national and international medals.

About Sun King Brewery

Sun King Brewing Company is the brainchild of Dave Colt and Clay Robinson. With the help of family and friends – Omar Robinson, Andy Fagg and Steve Koers – the first keg of Sun King beer rolled out the door for delivery in July 2009. Now available on tap and in cans throughout Indiana, Chicago and Louisville, Ky., Sun King has grown into a leader in the independent craft brewing movement. Sun King's brewers hand craft flagship, seasonal and specialty beers that have been rewarded with multiple medals at the Great American Beer Festival, World Beer Cup, and Indiana Brewers Cup competitions. Sun King also partners with hundreds of community organizations throughout Indiana in order to help them raise awareness and funds for great causes. Visit www.sunkingbrewing.com for more information. Be Well

SHARON McMAHON

“Live long and prosper.” — Mr. Spock
 Although I am not a “Trekkie” as such I do admit to being partial to Spock’s outlook on life which downplayed emotional responses and focused on logic. Sadly, Leonard Nimoy is no longer with us but he will forever be associated with the four simple words noted above. Of course the last word “prosper” can be interpreted differently by those who wish to do so, but “live long” is a term which resonates with most of us.
Longevity – maybe that word strikes a chord with me now that I have officially entered the wonderful world of Medicare, but I do observe that many magazine and internet articles, as well as other media often focus on the subject as well. Caleb Finch, noted gerontologist, notes in the 2012 Proceedings of the National Academy of Sciences, that life expectancy in ancient Greece and Rome averaged 25 to 35 years. In years 1500 – 1800, the average life span was 30 to 40 years, and post-1800 the average lifespan doubled.¹

 Good news on that average life span, right? Not so fast. The rise in life expectancy that we have enjoyed for over 200 years now can halt, or even reverse, in the 21st century due to obesity.² In particular, our country alone has seen a rise in obesity which now claims more than one third (34.9 percent or 78.6 million) of U.S. adults.³

This figure does not even include children, that is an article for another day . . . unfortunately.
 Well . . . sigh, what to do? Tragically many people succumb at early ages due to disease factors over which they have no control, most of us can actively control our longevity – note the word “active” I tossed in there! Our sedentary habits and fast-food and junk-food habits are costing us dearly, which brings me to the last word of Spock’s exhortation – “prosper.” Now that is an interesting word which many can interpret differently! However, for this column I refer to one of the definitions given by Merriam-Webster Online which is “to become very active, healthy, or strong.” (Of course another definition addresses financial prosperity but I will leave that to the experts to advise!) Many of us have watched our family members or friends decline in their advancing years and while certainly some decline is part of the aging process it is not necessary to speed that process along. Obviously it is best to begin pursuing a healthy lifestyle at a young age, but it is never too late – let’s move, fellow Baby Boomers!

We are so blessed in America to have many options for activity and exercise, and for choosing fresh, healthy foods without preservatives, hormones and antibiotics added to our foods. It really is okay to exercise without texting, and to park your car, walk into the grocery and actually select healthy items instead of ordering your food through a speaker while seated in your car – texting of course. (I have nothing against texting; just don’t run into me while you are texting while walking or driving!) I hope all of you do “live long and prosper” – so breathe deeply, take a break from technology, sleep well, stay active, nourish your body – be the best YOU possible!

Royals win hard-fought Dig Pink match

The Hamilton Southeastern volleyball team won its Dig Pink match with Lawrence North on Tuesday, sweeping the Wildcats in three hard-fought sets: 25-21, 25-22, 25-22.

After scrapping out the first set, the Royals got off to a 5-1 lead in the second set. Libero Grace Kane helped out by serving three consecutive aces. Lawrence North came back to lead 13-12, but a kill by Olivia Phillips helped the Royals to regain the lead at 15-14.

A late block by Meredith Phillips and Zada Anderson moved the Royals ahead 21-20, and they were able to close out the set from there.

Lawrence North led 20-18 in the third set, putting Southeastern in danger of losing its first set at home in two years. But the Royals rallied, winning seven of the next nine points. Grace Hunter helped out with a pair of successful net shots, and Bria King put down a kill. Consecutive kills from Lark Jones and Meredith Phillips clinched the match for HSE.

"We've been fairly strong at home the last two years," said Southeastern coach Jason Young. The coach said whenever his team plays at home, "we just sort of lock in at the end and do a nice job of finishing."

Both Phillips sisters had superb games: Freshman Olivia dished out 27 assists and made 2.5 blocks, while senior Meredith hit 10 kills. Kane had 16 digs to go with her three aces. Carly Mills also served three aces.

Both teams wore pink uniforms for the match to show their support in the fight against breast cancer.

Boys soccer

No. 3 Royals net White's 250th win

There were a couple reasons for the Hamilton Southeastern boys soccer team to celebrate its 2-1 win over Brownsburg on Tuesday.

First, it was an opening win for the Class 3A No. 3 Royals in the Hoosier Crossroads Conference. Second, it was coach Chris White's 250th career victory. White is in his 20th season of coaching - five years of Mount Vernon, eight years at Lawrence Central, and now seven years (and counting) at HSE.

"It is a nice accomplishment," said White. "I'm proud of it. Been able to coach a lot of really good teams and really good players. There's the old saying, 'It's about the Jimmys and Joes.' If we don't have good players, we're not winning games."

Southeastern scored both of its goals in the first half, with Darian Ghafarri and Tyler White finding the back of the net. The Bulldogs got one goal back early in the second half, but the Royals were able to hold on for the victory.

HSE plays its next game next Tuesday at Avon.

Noblesville fell to 3A No. 9 Avon 2-1 Tuesday in a Hoosier Crossroads Conference game.

The Millers scored first, with a strike by Alec Vanyo just inside the penalty area on a slick assist from Nicolai Andersen. However, Avon responded with a goal of its own to tie it up going into halftime.

The Orioles scored to take the lead early in the second half. The Millers had a ferocious last 15 minutes of the game, trying to find the equalizer, but couldn't get it to go.

The Millers look to rebound Thursday at Brebeuf Jesuit.

Hamilton Heights dropped a 2-1 game to Lebanon on Tuesday.

The 2A No. 15 Huskies came out and scored their only goal five minutes into the game when Zach Clark pulled the Tigers' defense and goalkeeper to the left side of the field and dished a great ball to Jackson Stuart in the center of the field. Stuart laid it into the back of the empty net.

But after that, Lebanon scored twice in the first half, and that score would hold for the remainder of the game.

"The second half was a great possession game for the Huskies as they moved the ball with great composure but could never find the back of the net," said HHHS coach Derrick Dean. "The Huskies outshot the Tigers 7-3 in the second half and controlled it on the Tigers defensive half the majority of the time."

Donovan Trew was named the Huskies' Player of the Game for "providing great defense" on Lebanon's solid and aggressive striker. Caleb Grabarz recorded five saves.

University ground out a 3-2 win over Bethesda Christian 3-2 on Tuesday.

Michael Bounsall scored the first goal of the game for the 1A No. 7 Trailblazers; it was also his first goal of the season. Coghlin Kumler converted a penalty kick for the second goal, and Ryan Williams got the game winner, off a feed from Sam Gailey.

Carmel, ranked No. 11 in 3A, fell to Ben Davis 1-0 in a Tuesday game.

Heights takes all-county game, 'Rocks, 'Hounds win big

In a Monday all-county game, Hamilton Heights beat Sheridan 2-0.

Amanda Irwin and Madison Bickett scored goals for the Huskies, with Emily Stirn handing out one assist. Irwin also had two saves as goalkeeper.

Blackhawks goalkeeper Nixon Williams made 13 saves and came off her line quickly to act as another sweeper. Makaela Mosolf earned Sheridan player of the game honors with her tireless effort during the entire game, along with several timely defensive plays.

Also on Monday, Westfield took care of Northwestern 8-0.

Ari Telles and Annabelle O'Hair both scored two goals, while Nicole Burkett, Tate Snodgrass and Lydia Hermann each had one goal.

Carmel opened Metropolitan Conference play by beating Ben Davis 8-0.

Aaliyah Thompson had two goals for the Class 3A No. 4 Greyhounds, with Ashley Witucki, Emily Speidel, Kelsie James, Elyse Reed and Katie Soderstrom all scoring one. Speidel, James and Soderstrom all had two assists, with Tess Nihill providing one assist.
