Noblesville Rebel Run raises funds

Noblesville Masonic Lodge 57 held their eighth annual Lucky Teter Rebel Run car and vintage bike show at Forest Park, State Road 19, Noblesville. Over 160 cars and bikes were on display to help raise money for the Noblesville Masonic Angel Fund, which assists Noblesville children in kindergarten through sixth grade whose families may need financial assistance with glasses, dental work, and other items. What if?

And for a few moments the world was looking up at one of God's amazing creations...the eclipse.

No one was creating havoc. No one was entertaining fake news. No one was tearing down or raising a ruckus. No one was being mean.

From the Heart

JANET HART LEONARD

They were all looking up. They had a new focus, a new perspective. And the world was smiling. If only for a few moments...it felt good, really good.

Eclipse glasses were shared by those who had them, even with strangers. Everyone wanted to see the light in the darkness.

Social media was filled with pictures of people smiling and laughing. It didn't matter that so many of the pictures looked the same. Everyone wanted to share their experiences with the world. And the world smiled.

I wish we had more moments like those that were shared on Monday.

What if...

The world would look up with a new perspective.

The world did not look out through dark and distorted glasses.

The world didn't look for something to complain about, disagree with or be just plain mean.

The words of the world were not seasoned with sarcasm and bitterness.

I see the world judging others not as they would want to be judged but as if the world is judge, jury and executioner if you dare to disagree with them.

I don't understand it. I never will. Whenever absurdity meets stupidity...no one wins.

When a newscaster can't broadcast a game because his name is offensive I just shake my head.

Hate cannot be physically torn down nor can the ugliness of history be erased. Nothing can change a heart that does not want to change. And it's sad...very sad.

I was raised to treat EVERYONE the same way, just as I wanted to be treated, with respect and kindness. It's not rocket science.

Now we are bombarded daily with angry grievances. We see people protesting who just seem to be crossways with anything they don't agree with. And they cannot be reasoned with in any way, shape or form.

Everyone is so loud with their thoughts. No one is listening. It does not matter what is said, someone will disagree with it. They will put their spin on it. They will wrap in negativity and put a bow on it." There you go," they say, "Deal with it".

I hurt for my grandchildren. How can we stop all the negativity? How can voices be softened? Opinions are no longer shared but thrown as weapons of destruction. They tear down relationships. They destroy all manner of civility and peace. And the sad part? We all lose in the end.

Well I will get off my soapbox

4 of 10 best places to live in Indiana are in Hamilton County

The Reporter

Four Hamilton County cities have been named 2017's best cities to raise a family in Indiana by finance outlet WalletHub.com.

Carmel top the list, followed closely by Fishers and Westfield. Noblesville is also in the top 10, ranked at No. 7.

Indiana currently boasts the 16th biggest state economy by GDP. That's about the size of Norway's, according to the American Enterprise Institute. Combined with the sixth lowest unemployment rate, our state offers one of the stronger markets in the nation for job seekers.

Additionally, earnings go a long way here, where cost of living is lower than in 41 other states.

But that's not all that working families in Indiana have to cheer about. In a WalletHub analysis, Indiana outranked 33 states in education and child care. And when it comes to health care openness and access, Indiana's is one of the better states for parents and their kids.

"Families continue to come to Westfield not just from other places in Indiana, but from all over the country," Westfield Mayor Andy Cook said. "We are pleased with the recognition and are always looking for ways to make Westfield a great place for parents to raise healthy, happy families."

WalletHub's study compared more than 70 cities across Indiana using 21 indicators of family friendliness, including median family income, school quality and housing affordability.

Indian's top 10 best places to live in for families:

1. Carmel
2. Fishers
3. Westfield
4. Zionsville
5. Avon
6. Jasper
7. Noblesville
8. Brownsburg

Hamilton North Library bonds help repair facilities

By Stu Clampitt

Hamilton County Reporter

Hamilton North Public Library has recently issued bonds to fund repairs and upgrades in the Atlanta and Cicero branches.

"The Atlanta branch building was built in 1916, so its 101 years old and it finally needs a new roof," said Hamilton North Library Board of Trustees President Steve Griffith. "Replacing the tile roof is one of the major cost items there."

The Cicero branch is in need of repair and upgrades to the heating and cooling systems.

"In Cicero the HVAC systems are 20 years old now and they are starting to fail," Griffith told The Reporter. "We were spending money for the maintenance. We are going to upgrade that system. The 20-year old sprinkler system leaks air so that has to be replaced. It's things like that. Most of it is upgrading maintenance and facilities."

These repairs are needed to keep a community service institution in good working order. Both branches will remain open during their individual repairs.

Library Director Ann Hoehn told The Reporter, "I can tell you our plan is to stay open during the whole thing. We've made it clear to the architects and engineers that we want to stay open."

Special programs keep libraries relevant

By Stu Clampitt
Hamilton County Reporter

According to Hamilton North Library Board of Trustees President Steve Griffith the library branches in Atlanta and Cicero are more than just a book lending service. "We serve the communities in a lot of ways," Griffith said.

Like Griffith, Library Director Ann Hoehn also sees these library as a vibrant part of the community.

"There is always a summer reading program," Hoehn said. "This year it was seven and a half weeks long. It's for all age groups. Every year that's a big deal around here at Hamilton North Public Library. We give lots of donated prizes and we really try to make it special."

It should be noted that taxpayer money is not used for any of the special programs. As an example, buying prizes for summer reading is not an appropriate use of public funds.

"A lot of thing we do we cannot use taxpayer dollars for," Hoehn told The Reporter. "If people raise money for us or give it to us we can use that gift money for special things."

Such fundraisers include both the holiday market and the annual book sales.

"The first Saturday in December for the last several years we have had what we call a holiday market place where Cicero Library is filled with people in the library selling things like homemade crafts, Avon, Mary Kay and other things," Hoehn said. "People can actually come in a do their Christmas shopping if they want. We usually have free face painting for the kids. Santa also comes to the holiday marketplace and we have crafts for the little ones as well."

Additionally, during the Earth Festival in Atlanta the Friends of the Library hold their annual book sale in the basement of the Atlanta Library.

"It's these fundraising things like the holiday marketplace and the book sale that make our special programs possible," Hoehn said.

One such program is the upcoming "The art in tartan: beauty in diversity," taking place from 4-6 p.m. Aug. 30 at the Cicero library branch. Since the event is in the evening, pizza will be served.

The recent events in Charlottesville, Virginia inspired this program.

"We wanted to do something special for the teenagers," Hoehn said. "We wanted to have an event were kids could be creative and we could talk about equality in this country. What we came up with is 'The art in tartan: beauty in diversity.' Teenagers, 12-18 can come in and can work with local artist Deanna Leonard from Arcadia Design. Kids will create their own tartan designs."

Tartan is a pattern consisting of crisscrossed horizontal and vertical bands in multiple colors. Tartan originated in woven wool, but now they are made in many other materials, including paint and canvas this week at the Cicero library branch.

"During the program, we will talk about the beauty of diversity and how diversity makes us a better country," Hoehn said. "I want to get the point across to the community and the teenagers that at the library itself we treat everyone equally; we want everyone to use this library. Everyone in our view is equal. If you are rich, poor, young, old, black, white, to us you are all the same. We are all equal."

This program it is free to the public. According to Hoehn, any teenager who wants to do so can leave his or her project behind to be put on display in the library.

before someone tries to tear me down. I fear offending anyone. I fear hurting anyone. I fear criticism. I fear that the comfort and peace of the world that I grew up in is lost and cannot be found.

I just know that I will still treat people with kindness even if they do not return the kindness. I will speak my opinions with a soft voice. I will look at everyone as though they have a sign around their neck that says...please handle me with care, you don't know my story.

So for a few minutes the world dealt with a bit of light in the darkness. And everyone smiled. Why? Because for a few minutes their focus changed. They looked toward the light. And it was good.

I just wish the world would spend more time looking at things with a different perspective. I just know that gratitude, acceptance, kindness and looking at things from the perspective of others goes a long way in dark, sometimes hurtful world.

I'm just asking...what if?

Sheridan Rotarians learn to defend themselves

The Reporter

Sometimes Sheridan Rotarians have unusual meetings and Tuesday, Aug. 1, was no exception to that rule. That was the evening when martial arts Sifu (teacher) Coy Monroe was the club guest speaker and he brought along several of his students to give a demonstration. It was good that the students were there because otherwise the Rotarians might have had to serve as stand-ins for the demo, and we all know that Rotarians do not enjoy being beat up!

Normally Sifu Monroe is Officer Coy Monroe of the Sheridan Police Department but as a sideline business he teaches martial arts classes at his dojo (school) Pai Lum Tao Martial Arts Sheridan, located at 2690 W. 236th St., Sheridan. This is a good family activity if you want to do something with the kids and your spouse, but it is also valuable to individuals wanting to develop some self-defense expertise just in case it is needed someday.

The Rotary program consisted of demonstrating multiple defensive moves that are sometimes necessary to defend one's self.

As noted by Sifu Monroe, however, the best thing you can do when you encounter a threatening situation is to run away. But that is not always possible and in those situations where you cannot get away, sometimes knowing a few defensive moves can make a big difference. Another thing Sifu Monroe's training teaches is self-discipline and good moral character, things that are sometimes missing in today's youth. If you are interested in learning more about Sifu Monroe's dojo, please contact him at 317-435-6860.

The Sheridan Rotary

Club meets the first and third Tuesday evenings of each month at 6:15 p.m. in the Community Room of the Sheridan Public Library, 103 W. First St. in beautiful uptown Sheridan, just on the country side of Hamilton County, Indiana. We also meet on various other days of each month to accomplish community projects. If you would like further information about one of our programs or would like to attend a meeting, please contact any Sheridan Rotary member or contact Steve Martin at the Sheridan Public Library at 317-758-5201.

Where was Charles Coburn's last performance on stage?

The Reporter

1808 - The first corn was ground at Beck's Mill in Washington County, Indiana. Settlers from nearby Pigeon's Roost were among the first to come to the mill. It operated until around 1950, and is now on the National Register of Historic Places.

1906 - The mayor of New Albany, Indiana, was impeached on charges of misconduct in office in connection to funding of the city sewer system. Also ousted were two members of the Board of Public Works.

1917 - Lillian Thomas Fox died in Indianapolis. Hired by the Indianapolis News in 1900, she was the first African-American to write for a white newspaper in Indiana. A leader in the community, she was co-founder of the Indianapolis Women's Improvement Club and a lifelong activist for positive social change.

1932 - Hoosiers around the state enjoyed observing a partial eclipse of the sun. The Kokomo Tribune reported that "the obscuration of Old Sol's face was not sufficient to send the chickens to roost or cause the cows to come home. . . there was, however, a very noticeable diminution of sunlight."

1961 - Veteran actor Charles Coburn set new box office records at Avondale Playhouse in Indianapolis. The play "You Can't Take It With You" entertained large crowds at the theater in the Meadows on East 38th Street. It was to be the last performance for Mr. Coburn, 84, who died five days later in New York City.

1999 - Groundbreaking ceremonies were held for the new Indiana State Museum in White River Park. Governor Frank O'Bannon and First Lady Judy O'Bannon assisted five 4th graders whose shovels turned the first soil for the building, which opened in May of 2002.

Tips to get your family moving and boost fitness

StatePoint

Regular exercise is an important part of helping to keep your family healthy and strong. Indeed, physical activity can help you live longer, improve your mood, reduce your risk for life-threatening diseases and strengthen bones and muscles, according to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention.

September 30 is Family Health and Fitness Day USA, and a good time to think about ways of getting the family to move more together. Today's modern families may find incorporating new technology into their fitness plans will help motivate everybody to participate. Here are a few ideas.

Get on Your Feet

Whether it's a rainy day or you just want to do something super fun right at home, you can make an afternoon of playing a dance video game. Many gaming systems support dance games, and these days there are so many choices featuring various dance styles and genres of music -- from hip hop to pop to Broadway. This is a super fun way to exercise that won't even feel like a workout.

Fitness Wearables

Rugged, water-resistant wearable tech gear can enhance your outdoor fitness experience. For example, the WSD-F20 Pro Trek Smart Outdoor Watch from Casio features GPS plus a full-color map, altimeter and compass, helping hikers, mountain bikers and other outdoor adventurers take expeditions further afield. Low power consumptions GPS and location memory can help your family map your course and stay on track.

Movement Apps

New apps, many with a gaming component, can remind users to get on their feet and move at periodical intervals. Whether you're on a family road trip, or you're vegging out on the couch for a movie marathon day, simple notifications will remind you to pull over the car or pause the movie for a short stretch or walk. Many such apps even guide you through a brief routine targeting the entire body.

This Family Health and Fitness Day USA, find ways you can make exercise fun for the entire family.

Saturday soccer roundup...

Hammack scores two in Sheridan girls victory

The Sheridan girls soccer team traveled to Blackford on Saturday, and came home with a 2-1 victory.

Nick Roberts Sheridan

Sophomore Makenna Hammack scored both goals for the Blackhawks. Her first goal came at the 13 minute mark, then she converted a penalty kick at the 30-minute mark.

A reshuffled Sheridan defense, anchored by Belle Holler and Katherine Parsley, kept the Blackford attack controlled for the majority of the game.

"Sharing Player of the Game honors are a pair of sophomores," said Blackhawks coach Kurtis Olsan. "Katie Cuevas played keeper for the first time this year and did an outstanding job in the net. Jensyn Walker played tirelessly as a left midfielder and headed a shot off of the crossbar and also fired a shot off of the right post."

Hammack was the Player of the Game for Sheridan earlier in the week, when she scored three goals in a 7-0 Sheridan win. Next up for the 'Hawks is a road game Tuesday night at Taylor.

The Sheridan boys team traveled to Blackford on Saturday, and played to a 0-0 tie. Sophomore goalkeeper Nick Roberts made over 20 saves in the game.

In results from last Saturday, the Blackhawks played at the Greenfield-Central Cougar Cup. Sheridan fell to Greenfield-Central 9-0 and to Richmond 12-2, with Kyle Eden and Joey Hopper scoring the goals.

Westfield's boys team remained undefeated in taking down previously undefeated Greenfield-Central at home Saturday by the score of 2-1.

Kyler Tokarz kept his scoring streak alive by scoring in the first half of the match. Tokarz has now scored in every game to start the year. Nick Rodgers provided the scoring in the second half to secure the win.

Westfield's next match is at home Tuesday night against top 5 ranked Zionville.

University's girls beat Pioneer Conference opponent Muncie Burris 6-0 in its first home game of the season on Saturday.

In the first 10 minutes of play, junior Lily Snyder played a through ball to sophomore Tessa Hudson to put the Trailblazers on the scoreboard. The hot streak continued throughout the half and the Trailblazers went up 5-0. In the second half, the Trailblazers kept their shutout and scored one more goal.

"This was a huge team win for the Trailblazers," said UHS coach Maddy MacAllister.

Hudson scored two goals, Snyder scored one goal and had two assists and Halle Von Ah had three goals and two assists. Sophomore Lilly Fair kept the shutout in goal and had seven saves. Juniors Hallie Harrison, Brooke Andrus, and Meredith Malott and senior Shelby Wood played strong out of the back. The Trailblazers play a varsity and JV match at home on Monday against Hamilton Heights.

The Hamilton Heights girls played visiting Yorktown to a 4-4 tie on Saturday.

The game was a seesaw battle that saw Hamilton Heights take an early lead with three goals in the first 20 minutes. "The Huskies strung together some great passes which created multiple opportunities," said Heights coach Travis Kauffman.

Elaina Page scored the Huskies first and third goals - one unassisted and the other off an assist from Emily Stirn. Madi Hasler scored Heights second goal on a 20-yard shot taken after the ball had ricocheted off of a defender. Yorktown closed the first half scoring on a goal from 18 yards out.

The momentum swung in Yorktown's favor immediately in the second half as they rattled off three straight goals in the first 15 minutes of the second half.

After being fouled in the box, Page completed her hat trick by placing the penalty kick in the net. The play the last 15 minutes was furious but neither team could find the net. Tessa Harr had 10 saves in goal for the Huskies.

Carmel's girls team won both games at its own invitational on Saturday.

The Class 3A No. 4 Greyhounds beat 3A No. 11 Fishers 2-0, and then defeated Cathedral 4-0.

Emily Speidel and Katie Soderstrom each scored a goal for Carmel against the Tigers, with Soderstrom also making an assist. Goalkeeper Emily Melchi had three saves. Fishers goalkeeper Dianna Rollag made five saves.

Speidel added two more goals for Carmel against the Irish, with Naomi Mann and Morgan Parker both scoring one. Soderstrom had an assist, as did Kelsie James. Melchi made one save.

"The depth on this year's team was highlighted Saturday as almost the entire roster played significant minutes in the two games played within a 12-hour window," said Greyhounds coach Frank Dixon. "The girls played some of their best defensive soccer of the season holding Cathedral to two shots (one on goal) and Fishers to nine shots (three on goal). While the offense wasn't as efficient as we would like in putting shots on goal, we did create some great chances. We just need to test the opponent's goalkeeper more often."

Noblesville's Jacob Hoffman prepares his backhand as he played a morning singles match at the Noblesville Invitational on Saturday. The Millers hosted New Palestine, Yorktown and Fishers at their invitational. Complete results were not available; Noblesville beat Yorktown but fell to New Pal.

Guerin Catholic sends Central Catholic to 0-2 record

By CRAIG ADKINS

The Guerin Catholic football team exploded for three touchdowns in the fourth quarter to shake off Lafayette Central Catholic 28-14 Friday night at the Eagles Nest. Not only did Guerin win the traveling trophy for which the two schools play every year, but it also improved to 2-0 for the season.

The best thing that Lafayette Central Catholic could probably do was to just completely forget about what happened in their season opener at home last week against neighboring Lafayette Jeff in a 54-0 drubbing at the hands of the visiting Bronchos.

LCC head coach Dan Collier was hoping to avoid the first 0-2 start to a season for LCC since 2004, when they dropped three of four when Ryan Gallogly was coach, something Kevin O'Shea never did in his nine seasons at the helm of the Knights before heading to North Central this season.

The visiting Knights had the first possession of the game, but only managed to punt the ball. It was a prime opportunity for Guerin Catholic, as punt returner Thomas Kaser returned Jack Hudson's punt 46-yards to the Central Catholic eight-yard line, getting the Golden Eagles set up for a quick score.

Three plays later, Kaser would finish off the short, eight-yard drive with a touchdown run from one-yard out to give Guerin Catholic an early 7-0 lead.

Trading a total of four punts, Guerin's Luke Keller throwing an interception and each team turning the ball over on downs once, most of the second quarter looked like a couple of teams that were figuring each other out, but couldn't produce anything out of it.

The host Golden Eagles went into halftime with a slim 7-0 lead, but know they had to get something going again on offense, as they would receive the second half kickoff.

Keller and the Golden Eagles would sputter on their first drive of the third, punting after three plays, but Roc Ricker's punt would bounce all the way down to the Central Catholic four-yard line. That put the Knights in a hole they couldn't dig out of, punting right back.

Guerin managed just nine yards on the ensuing series, turning the ball over on downs at LCC's 22.

Central Catholic was then able to put together a drive that would get them back in the game and instill confidence on both sides of the ball.

The Knights marched 78 yards while eating up almost seven minutes of the third period and topped off the drive with a two-yard Carlos Velasquez touchdown run on a QB keeper to tie the game 7-7.

Being off the field almost half of the 3rd didn't faze the Guerin offense, as they got right back to work, putting together a scoring drive of their own. This time, it was Bernie McGuinness reeling in a 10-yard touchdown pass from Keller to start the fourth quarter with a bang, putting Guerin back in front, 14-7.

Jordan Turpin returned the kickoff 36 yards to the Guerin 43, giving the Knights great field position. Velasquez would go back to their attack. The drive would result in evening up the score once again, as the southpaw signal caller Velasquez found Jack Hudson for a seven-yard TD pass in the back left corner of the end zone for a 14-14 tie.

At this point in the football game, something had to give and tide was about to turn. And luckily, it turned in the host Golden Eagles' favor.

A deflected Kaser field goal attempt and an LCC punt later, Guerin would start to grind out the remainder of the clock.

With the game tied early in the fourth, both teams had finally got something going on both sides of the ball.

"I think we'll look back at some of the first half series and be pretty disappointed in our focus and intensity. I think all our guys were confident that they could do some things, but we weren't doing it. A lot of that credit goes to that team in white. Obviously that's a much storied and very proud traditional program and they're always gonna keep coming after you," Guerin Catholic head coach Tom Dilley on the history of Central Catholic football.

The Golden Eagles would continue their pursuit of victory, putting another score on the board and would take the lead for good on a Dylan Crossen three-yard touchdown run with 4:35 left for a 21-14 score.

Penalties would be costly for the visitors on their next drive, as they would start at their 35, but wind up turning the ball over at the 18.

That made it easy for Guerin Catholic. After Thomas Kaser had worn out the Central Catholic defense all night long and it was time for another teammate to reach paydirt.

Luke Keller did just that from one-yard out with 1:03 on the clock, icing the win 28-14, sending Lafayette Central Catholic to an 0-2 record for the first time in 13 seasons.

"The second half, I think we calmed down at times and got more of a rhythm going; and that may have been even with our play calls," Dilley on how his team came around in the second half.

After turning out a 141-yard performance in a 13-11 Week 1 win at Martinsville, Kaser has turned himself into quite a feature back, doing a lot of his rushing between the tackles.

"For the most part, that's a big part of our identity and he does it with a little different style than we've done it before. He played a really big game and I know that he'd be the first to tell you that gives a lot of credit to his offensive line," Dilley said of Kaser's success and game approach.

Kaser finished the game with 30 carries for 216 yards, while also booting all four extra points. The senior tailback now has 52 carries and 357 yards (6.8 average) after just two games.

Guerin Catholic (2-0) hits the road next week as they take on Heritage Christian (2-0), which blew out Noblesville Home School 63-16. Lafayette Central Catholic (0-2) will also be on the road, facing the Tipton Blue Devils (2-0), who dominated at Elwood 55-6.
