Riverview Health to open four new combined ER, Urgent Care facilities

The REPORTER

Riverview Health has announced plans to build four new freestanding emergency departments with urgent care services all under one roof – the first of their kind in the Indianapolis area.

The new centers will be located in north Carmel, west Carmel, Fishers and the Nora area of Indianapolis. Construction will begin this spring with plans for opening all four locations in 2019.

“As the area continues to grow, the demand for urgent and emergency services has too,” said Seth Warren, Riverview Health president and CEO. “Often when unplanned medical needs arise, there’s the question of whether or not to go to the emergency room. With the emergency and urgent care combination, patients will have a single convenient access point close to home and be treated accordingly with the same high-quality healthcare of our full-service hospital in Noblesville.”

The retail model will focus on customer service

Early February is a good time to visit Florida weather-wise, but the Fishers High School Cheerleaders were there for more than the warm temperatures. They were seeking a national title – and they won. This is the school’s first Universal Association National High School Cheerleading championship. They finished in seventh place last year. The competition was held at Walt Disney World in Orlando. The Fishers cheerleaders won their title in in Large Varsity, Division I.

Summer of fun awaits at Noblesville Parks’ Noble Kids Camp

The REPORTER

The Noblesville Parks and Recreation staff is looking to build on the success of the inaugural Noble Kids Camp and will continue to offer all-day summer camps. The traditional half-day camp option is still available, but with extended full-day, week-long camps the parks offers an alternative for Noblesville parents and children.

“The new summer camp format was a success last year and provided Noblesville families with options that work with their daily schedules,” said Noblesville Recreation Assistant Director Lorna Steele. “We have another great summer of fun planned that will create wonderful memories for children with the activities, games and interactions they entail. We believe every child will have a great time at camp.”

The day-long camps are an exciting mix of camper- and counselor-led activities centered on a wide variety of weekly themes. Campers who will be entering kindergarten through sixth grade for the 2018-2019 school year as well as preschoolers ages 2 to 5 are encouraged to sign up for their favorite weekly themes or attend camp for the entire summer.

The 23rd Annual Noblesville Mayor’s Breakfast for Scouting was held Tuesday at the Hamilton County 4-H Fairgrounds. This year, a record $58,000 was raised in pledges to support Scouting. In Noblesville, there were 563 Cub Scouts, 283 Boy Scouts, 15 Ventures and 67 Explorers in 2017. The rank of Eagle Scout was earned by 19 Boy Scouts, and 2,272 hours of community service were completed. (Left) Mayor Ditslear does a Q&A session with a Cub Scout. No more signs in right-of-ways

The Hamilton County Commissioners voted Monday to approve an ordinance that prohibits the placement of signs in Hamilton County right-of-ways and on thoroughfares maintained by the county.

Commissioners say placing signs in public right-of-ways makes it difficult for motorists to recognize regulatory signs which are necessary for safe travel and can often block the vision of motorists at intersections. “Public safety is our number one priority,” said Commissioner Mark Heirbrandt.

Monday’s meeting drew a crowd of opponents, many of which felt the ordinance was specifically put in place to hinder campaign efforts of current political candidates; however, according to the Hamilton County Attorney Mike Howard, the ordinance prohibits all signs, not just candidate signs.

Hamilton County Council member Rick McKinney addressed commissioners Altman and Heirbrandt. “The little guy, the candidate that does not have unlimited campaign resources

Heinzmann running for Superior Court 1

The REPORTER

Jeff Heinzmann, Fishers, has announced his candidacy for Hamilton County Judge, Superior Court No. 1. Mr. Heinzmann is running in the Republican primary to fill the seat that will be vacated by Judge Steven R. Nation's retirement at the end of 2018 after four terms.

Mr. Heinzmann graduated from Indiana University Law School in 1993 and began working at the firm now known as Cohen Garelick & Glazier, where he practiced in civil litigation, representing small businesses in central Indiana courts. In 1997, he continued his practice as a litigator at Landman & Beatty. Four years later he left private practice and from 2001 through 2011 served the State, first as counsel and deputy state auditor, then in the Daniels administration directing the state wide small business development program at the Indiana Economic Development Corporation. After three years as in-house counsel for an IT staffing and consulting firm, he opened Heinzmann Law Office LLC in 2015, operating out of Launch Fishers. His practice is a general civil practice, including business law, civil litigation, family law, wills and personal injury. Mr. Heinzmann was a 2015 Best of Indy honoree for Best Local Attorney and has been recognized in the Forty Under 40 and Indy's Best and Brightest.

Throughout Mr. Heinzmann's career, he has been active in the community. He served eight years on the Fishers Board of Zoning Appeals, one year on the Hamilton East Public Library Board, and he recently chaired the Hamilton County Election Board. He was an Administrative Law Judge for the City of Indianapolis from 2015 to 2016. Mr. Heinzmann also participates in the Hamilton County GAL/CASA program as a guardian ad litem, advocating for the best interests of children in difficult domestic litigation.

Mr. Heinzmann's campaign chairman is Nathan J. Feltman, former Secretary of Commerce to Governor Mitch Daniels and a Carmel resident. Portland Schnitzius, Fishers, of Schnitzius Family Law, LLC, serves as Treasurer. He lives in Fishers with his wife, Suzanne, and their two daughters. They are active parishioners at Holy Spirit at Geist.

"Judge Nation leaves big shoes to fill. With my diverse background in the law, government, business and the community, I have broad experience that will translate well to the bench," said Mr. Heinzmann. "As judge, I will impartially evaluate the facts and apply the law in all cases with integrity, diligence and respect to all who come before the court, be they parties, attorneys, jurors, or witnesses."

Sheriff Mark Bowen announces endorsement for Dennis Quakenbush

The REPORTER

Hamilton County Sheriff candidate Captain Dennis Quakenbush has received the endorsement of current Hamilton County Sheriff Mark Bowen.

"When crime and violence are allowed to threaten our community, our families are left powerless. Like you, I understand the safety and security of our families and the community is essential to our peace of mind," said Sheriff Mark Bowen. "Captain Dennis Quakenbush is aware of the issues that are affecting not only the agency but the community as a whole, and he stands committed to providing effective, efficient and professional leadership to both. He genuinely cares about people and keeping them safe, and it shows. He has my full support."

Sheriff Bowen joined the Hamilton County Sheriff's Department as a Deputy in 1991. He has spent 27 years with the Department, including time as Chief Deputy under Sheriff Doug Carter, before being elected Sheriff in 2011 and reelected in 2015.

"Through a lifetime of public safety leadership, Mark Bowen helped build the type of professional law enforcement organization for which everyone in Hamilton County can be proud and I am deeply honored to receive his support," said Quakenbush. "Our next sheriff needs to have the experience and knowledge to protect our community. They also need to be fiscally responsible and be willing to work with local leaders and experts to tackle the issues we are facing. This is the type of diverse experience I have and will bring to the community as Sheriff."

"Having served alongside him for the last 16 years, Captain Quakenbush is the clear choice to lead and expand the protection and safety we cherish in Hamilton County," concluded Bowen.

More information about Dennis and his campaign can be found on his website, QuakenbushForSheriff.com.

Edenshall Lane, and Forest Park, 701 Cicero Road – will offer the same themes and similar programming making it more convenient for parents and transportation. Dillon Park will offer one additional camp the week of July 30.

Only Forest Park campers will have the option to swim at the Forest Park Aquatic Center once a week. Campers will have to take a swim test to be permitted to be in the lap pool. Campers will have lifeguards and will swim with a few counselors. All other campers will remain at the splash pad.

All-day camps run 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. Half-day camps are available from 8 to 11:30 a.m. and 12:30 to 4 p.m. Pricing is the same as last year as one week of summer camp costs Noblesville residents $125 for all-day ($155 for nonresidents), $60 for half-day ($75 for nonresidents). Another option for parents is before and/or after care available starting at 7 a.m. and running until 6 p.m. Before care is $10 and after care is $15 for the week.

“The themes and options of Noble Kids Camp provide an abundant mixture of enjoyment, physical activity, education and social interaction in the safe environments of our parks and under the watchful eye of our highly trained counselors,” Noblesville Parks Director Brandon Bennett said.

Fun details of Noble Kids Camp include:

- Summer Spectacular, June 4 to 8 – It’s an exciting time to kick off the summer. Come play outside, learn new games and make new friends. Campers are going to have a spectacular summer kick off week.

- Out of this World, June 11 to 15 – Space is a pretty cool place and campers will learn all about it as they explore all that is ‘out of this world’ this week. Astronauts, aliens, planets and stars; who knows, we might even find life on Mars.

- Noble Kids CSI, June 18 to 22 – Some things have gone missing at Noblesville parks and your camper will help solve the mystery. Find clues, interview suspects and solve this summer camp sleuth.

- Ultimate Champs, June 25 to 29 – Campers will be playing sports of all sorts this week – from soccer to ultimate Frisbee and everything in between. Your energetic child will love this fast-paced week.

- Chaotic Critters, July 9 to 13 – Your child will love this messy mania of a week. Campers will be playing with shaving cream, slime and dish soap, just to name a few.

- When I Grow Up, July 16 to 20 – What does your child want to be when they grow up? Campers will learn about various jobs and have surprise visits from people like the police officers and firefighters to share more about their jobs.

- It’s a Zoo, July 23 to 27 – Learn about all the animals that live at the zoo.

Where do they come from and what kinds of animals have we never seen in a zoo? Campers will be an animal expert after this week at camp.

- Opposite Week, July 30 to Aug. 3 (Dillon Park only) – This week will be turned upside down as campers explore the opposite ... of everything. Campers will be challenged to think about the ins and outs of a world full of opposites.

In addition to the Noble Kids Camp, Noblesville Parks and Recreation is offering preschool camps for ages 2 to 5. Camps will be located within the Recreation Annex building from 9 a.m. to noon as well as 1 to 4 p.m. and include different themes each week. Campers must be potty trained to attend. Preschool camp costs Noblesville residents $63 for the week ($75 for non-residents).

Preschool Camp themes include:

- June 4 to 8: The Great Outdoors
- June 11 to 15: Down on the Farm
- June 18 to 22: Superheroes in Training
- June 25 to 29: Outer Space
- July 9 to 13: Under the Sea
- July 16 to 20: Community Heroes
- July 23 to 27: Camp Olympics and treating patients quickly. That means no complicated or lengthy paperwork, no glass partitions and a treatment process that keeps patients moving. The ER services will be available 24/7, while the Urgent Care hours will be 7 a.m. to 10 p.m. every day. An ER physician, regardless of the level of service needed, will see all patients. However, they will only be billed for the level of care that was provided.

“Many visits to the emergency department could be treated in an urgent care setting at a lower cost,” Warren said. “This model eliminates that discrepancy by billing only for the level of care needed, which has the potential to save money for patients, employers and communities.”

These retail-centric facilities will each be approximately 10,000 square feet and will be developed under the guidance of commercial real estate firm Equity and local construction firm Meyer Najem.

Riverview Health continues to expand its footprint. With its main campus in Noblesville and a new hospital in Westfield set to open this spring, Riverview Health also has 25 physician practices located throughout Hamilton County.

“Continuing to meet the growing healthcare needs of this community is a top priority,” Warren said. “We’re expanding to meet the need in Westfield and now in these other locations. Our practices have also continued to grow, and we’re expanding our team of doctors to meet this need in several of our medical offices in 2018 and beyond.”

This project is in conjunction with Intuitive Health, an organization located in North Texas that has worked with established health systems throughout the nation to build and manage retail health facilities that specialize in full-service emergency and urgent care services in a licensed hospital outpatient department.

About Riverview Health

Riverview Health is comprised of a full-service, 156-bed hospital and 25 primary, immediate and specialty care facilities located throughout Hamilton County. Together, they provide comprehensive healthcare services in 35 medical specialties and have frequently been recognized for our clinical and service excellence. Meyer-Najem approved as contract manager . . .

Construction is well underway on Nickel Plate Amphitheater

By LARRY LANNAN
LarryInFishers.com

Meyer-Najem is the construction manager for the Nickel Plate Amphitheater project already underway at the Fishers municipal complex. The Board of Works approved the pact, which will pay the firm $565,621. Meyer Construction was awarded the bid for the $6 million project on Jan. 21. The goal is to have the upgrades complete by the time concert season rolls around this summer.

In other items approved by the board during the Monday meeting:

- The city has entered into an agreement with Community Health to provide discounts for city employee medical claims.

- Non-profit organizations receiving financial support from the city are required to sign contribution agreements. You can access the agreements at this link.

- A bid was accepted from 3D Company to clear trees along Allisonville

Road in preparation for the road resurfacing and intersection improvement project on Allisonville between 126th and 131st streets. The tree-clearing operation will cost the city $210,984.

Case for moving Indiana to Central Time

Dear Editor:

Indiana was shifted from its correct Central Time Zone to Eastern in the mid-1960s, however, we didn't experience a sunlight schedule change until 2006 when Eastern Daylight Saving Time was adopted. Two resolutions in the General Assembly (HCR 2 and SCR 11) call for an examination of the effect of Eastern's sunlight schedule on the well-being of Hoosiers. Why is this important?

While observing Daylight Saving Time has proven beneficial to Indiana's economy by keeping our clocks in sync with other states, being in the same time zone as New York is no longer valid. In the meantime, statistics show that our current sunlight schedule is adversely affecting Hoosier's wellbeing. Hoosiers are the eighth-most tired in the US. Indiana's teens have the second-highest suicide attempt rate. We are the eighth-most obese and seventh-least physically fit. Some 55,000 students are chronic absentees each year, most due to truancy, and 630,000 adult Hoosiers don't have high school or GRE diplomas.

28,000 Hoosiers and 51 public school boards have signed petitions to restore Indiana to its correct Central Time Zone, which simply means that the sun would rise and set one hour earlier. Indiana's counties would be reunited in the same time zone again. Broadcast of prime time programs and national events (NFL, NCAA, Olympics, etc.) would occur one hour earlier in the evening. July 4 fireworks could return to 9 p.m. and children could grow up seeing the stars and catching lightning bugs again. Students would travel to school in the safety of sunlight and schools for teens could meet the recommended 8:30 a.m. start time.

Central Time is Indiana's correct time. It's a no-brainer.

SIGNS

from vendors and contractors doing business with the county, such as the two of you, should be allowed to place their signs in the right-of-way for the short time a campaign entails. Such a move, as the one you are proposing, smacks heavy handedness and absolute control one would expect a dictator to impose."

Howard responded by stating the ordinance actually levels the playing field for political candidates. "It prevents the big budget candidate from purchasing a large number of signs and placing them in the right-of-ways."

In a statement issued to the Reporter, McKinney said, "Attempting to couch proposed changes as being in the interest of public safety or saving tax payer dollars is both shallow and hollow at best. Will the commissioners go as far as prohibiting signs of all nature, including realtor signs, which are far more intrusive and trashy, but present year-round?"

Christine Pauley, clerk treasurer for the City of Carmel and candidate for Hamilton County Council District 4, agreed that she does not like the litter of the signs in the right of ways; however, Pauley felt there needs to be an effort to educate the community before enforcement of the ordinance.

Commissioner Steve Dillinger, who was not in attendance at Monday's meeting, told the Reporter in a telephone interview that he agreed with Pauley. "I think Christine makes a valid point, we do need to educate the public."

Dillinger is suggesting the county work in cooperation with the cities to create an educational meeting to explain the ordinance.

"In the past I felt people placing signs in right-of-ways was an affordable opportunity for exposure; however, right of ways are being abused more and more," said Dillinger.

Dillinger believes there needs to be consistency throughout the county. "We asked all of the mayors for their cooperation in implementing ordinances that would be consistent throughout the county," stated Dillinger.

Commissioner Altman said, "I've been against using right-of-ways for advertising. If you are running for office you should have the support of your friends and neighbors, your signs should be on their property."

The ordinance defines a Hamilton County right-of-way as the land contiguous to a Hamilton County street, including sidewalks, multi-use paths, land conspicuously used for the placement of public utilities or directional signs. Violation of the ordinance is a Class C Infraction and subject to a fine up to $500 per sign.

Richardson joins effort to help foster families

The REPORTER

State Rep. Kathy Kreag Richardson (R-Noblesville) recently helped fellow House lawmakers with donating diaper bags filled with baby supplies for foster families across Indiana.

The Indiana House of Representatives partnered with the Indiana Association of Resources and Child Advocacy (IARCA) and its Institute for Excellence, a nonprofit organization serving more than 4,600 Hoosier children every day, to host the “Bags of Hope” event.

House lawmakers and staff held a donation drive at the Statehouse and collected over 3,800 items for foster families caring for newborns and infants, including diapers, diaper bags, wet wipes, blankets, clothes and toys. Together with IARCA, more than 100 diaper bags were filled to be distributed to local foster families.

“Many people are opening their hearts and homes to children in need,” Richardson said. “Although not everyone is in a position to become foster parents, there are

other ways to get involved by volunteering with local foster care agencies or becoming a mentor. A lot of people in our community have the potential to change a child’s life.”

Richardson said there are twice as many Hoosier children in the foster care system as there are available foster homes. According to the Department of Child Services, the number of children in out-of-home care jumped from 13,811 in September 2015, to 17,214 just two years later. Richardson said much of this increase is due to the escalating opioid epidemic.

Foster parents in Indiana need to be over the age of 21 and pass a criminal background check, as well as meet certain standards outlined by DCS. Foster parents do not have to be married or own a home. There are also children in foster care waiting to be adopted, and their stories can be found at in.gov/dcs.

IARCA serves children in foster homes, group homes and treatment facilities while working closely with DCS to improve the lives of children. Locally, Children’s Bureau, Inc. is a member agency of IARCA that offers training, counseling and adoption and child care services.

How average citizens can help bring about friendlier politics

StatePoint

At a divisive moment in our nation's history, you may be wondering how average citizens can help bring about friendlier politics.

Experts suggest that it starts with finding common ground among those whose opinions differ from you. Ira Shapiro, a former ambassador who has held senior positions in the U.S. Senate, recently authored "Broken: Can the Senate Save Itself and the Country?" in order to explore the state of U.S. politics and its future.

Of the U.S. Senate, his area of expertise, he says, "America is deeply divided. But the men and women of the Senate should not mirror — or worse, inflame — the nation's divisions. Their job is to overcome them, finding common ground to take collective action in the national interest."

Citizens can apply this principle in a number of ways:

- Get involved. Attend city council meetings and town hall meetings. Join the PTA. But don't just show up — make your voice heard. Make friends on all sides of the issue. Be a coalition builder. Discover where your beliefs overlap with others before debating about the issues on which you disagree.

- Get in touch. From petitions to postcards to calls and texts, there are numerous ways to get in touch with your elected officials at every level of government. Encourage your representatives to work constructively with their colleagues in an effort to de-polarize politics and ultimately be more effective at their jobs.

- Speak out. Organize or attend a rally. Raise money for a political cause that matters to you. Write a letter to the editor of your local paper. Take advantage of the channels available to you.

"The best remedy of all, on both the national and local levels, is to support candidates who are problem solvers and consensus builders, not partisan warriors. Look for the candidates who put the country, or the community, first — above party allegiance or personal aggrandizement," stresses Shapiro, who also serves as a trade law and global policy consultant. More thoughts from Shapiro are available on his consultancy's website at shapiroglobal.com.

Shapiro believes that the Senate is in trouble, but it can be saved. Likewise, everyone, including average citizens, can be a champion for a climate of healthier politics, whether it's around the dinner table, on a social media thread or at a city council meeting.

Third-quarter run sends Bears past Millers

By RICHIE HALL
Reporter Sports Editor
A tough third quarter from Lawrence Central sent Noblesville to a Tuesday night loss at The Mill.

The Millers fell to the Bears 70-42. Noblesville kept pace with LC in the first half, but the Bears turned up the heat to open the second half, outscoring the Millers 23-7 in the third quarter.

"It was the start of the third that really put us behind the eight ball," said Noblesville coach Brian McCauley.

The Millers got off to a nice start, with Eagan Keever-Hill hitting a 3-pointer for the game's first basket. Noblesville led for most of the first quarter, with Ryan Barnes making a couple baskets and Jaron Youree's '3' putting the Millers ahead 10-6.

Lawrence Central led a couple times in the first, but Keever-Hill ended the quarter as it began, nailing a 3-pointer. That put Noblesville up 15-14.

The Millers still led 21-19 midway through the second period, helped out by a '3' from Xavier Hines. The Bears took the lead after that, but Noblesville was still within 26-23 at halftime.

But Lawrence Central controlled the third quarter right from the start. Nijel Pack hit a 3-pointer and D'Andre Davis made a layin, and the Bears' lead quickly became 31-23.

"It went from three to eight in two possessions, and that was the backbreaker," said McCauley.

Jordan Schmidt's 3-pointer got the Millers back within five, but LC scored the next seven points to go up 38-26. The Bears' lead steadily increased for the remainder of the game.

Ryan Barnes led Noblesville with 12 points.

"He was solid," said McCauley. "He did a nice job of posting strong and finishing around the basket well."

Schmidt finished the game with 10 points; he joined Keever-Hill in making two 3-pointers. Hines had five rebounds.

The Millers are now 9-11 for the season. Noblesville will host Avon on Friday in a Hoosier Crossroads Conference game that will also serve as the Millers' Senior Night.

In a schedule change, Noblesville's game at Zionsville will now be played at 7 p.m. next Tuesday, Feb. 20, in a varsity-only contest. The game was to be played on Saturday, but was moved because the Eagles' girls basketball team will compete in the semi-state that afternoon.

Rockets red glare in second overtime dooms Golden Eagles

Despite 30 points and 12 rebounds from Jack Hansen, Guerin Catholic's boys basketball team lost in double overtime in Indianapolis to Broad Ripple 63-59 Tuesday evening.

Broad Ripple (13-8) benefited from 16 Golden Eagle turnovers and 3-of-18 shooting from behind the 3-point arc in the contest. They led 25-20 at halftime, and with 4:18 in the third quarter the Rockets looked like they were going to blast away from Guerin Catholic, leading 33-22.

However Guerin Catholic (13-8) fought back and capitalized on a 12-2 run in the fourth quarter to tie the contest 44-all. Hansen scored what would have given his team a two-point lead on a baseline move with 1:03 left, but was called for an offensive foul. Ripple held the ball for the final shot and was stopped by the Golden Eagles, sending the teams into overtime.

GC's Zach Munson, who scored 10 points on the night, was called for a charge to open the first overtime stanza, and after another GC turnover Broad Ripple took a 48-44 lead. The Golden Eagles later found themselves behind 52-45 before a Munson basket, a 3-point play by Hansen, and Hansen pass to a cutting Munson for a lay-up tied the game at 52-all with 41 seconds left. Munson at the defensive end then took drew a charge with 6.8 seconds left from BR's Xavier White, who led his team with 22 points. The Golden Eagles got one final look at the basket at the buzzer on a full court play, but the shot fell short, forcing a second overtime.

GC won the tip and Hansen scored on a nice post feed from Drew Thieme for their team's only lead in the second overtime, 54-52. However a turnover, three missed 3-point shots, a traveling violation, two missed free throws, and a missed 10-footer on Guerin Catholic's next seven possessions doomed any chances of victory in the second extra period.

For the game Guerin Catholic made three more field goals than the Rockets, but were a disappointing 6-12 at the free throw stripe, while the host's cashed in on 14-of-20 attempts. They played their fourth game without starter Luke Godfrey, who's recovering from an ankle injury. "They (Broad Ripple) played well defensively and we settled for more 3-point shots than we should have," said Coach Pete Smith. "The guys fought hard and gave themselves chances to win in regulation and overtime, and the things we could control, we didn't do a very good job of. They are quick and talented, and we caught them on a night they were clicking on all cylinders for most of the evening."

The Golden Eagles are back on the road Friday night for the second year in a row at Pendleton Heights.

Heritage Christian ends University's win streak

A pair of defensive minded teams met Tuesday night at The U Center and Heritage Christian ended University's seven game winning streak with a 51-46 win over the Trailblazers.

The defending Class 2A regional champion Eagles held University scoreless for a seven minute stretch spanning the second and third quarters to wrestle control of the game, then converted on free throws down the stretch to hold off the top ranked Class 1A Trailblazers.

University never trailed in the first half and led by six in both the first and second quarter. Baskets by Ethan Sickels and Sam Mervis gave University a 19-13 lead early in the second quarter. A Zack Hodgkin basket and a David Howard free throw gave the Blazers a 22-18 lead with 5:07 remaining. University did not score again in the half, but still held a 22-21 lead at the break as the Eagles managed only a free throw until scoring with two seconds remaining in the half.

Heritage Christian took their first lead of the game at 23-22 on a pair of foul shots just 21 in to the second half and the Eagles led the rest of the way. Heritage Christian led 34-27 after three quarters and stretched their lead to 41-31 with 3:18 remaining before University mounted a comeback. Five quick points from David Howard cut the lead to 41-36 with 2:27 remaining, but the Blazers could not get the game to a one possession contest until 14 seconds remained at 47-44. The Eagles made four straight foul shots to close out the game.

Howard led University with 15 points, while Hodgkin had 13. Howard had a team high five rebounds and the Eagles outrebounded the Trailblazers 16-12. The Eagles won the game at the foul stripe, converting 15 of 17 free throws while University was just three for six.

"Heritage is a well coached team," said University Coach Brandon Lafferman. "They came in with a good game plan and executed it very well."

University, who earlier in the day was announced as the top 1A team in the Associated Press for the third consecutive week, falls to 17-2 and will look to rebound Friday night at Lebanon against the Class 3A Tigers. Heritage Christian improves to 12-8 and will host Brebeuf Jesuit on Friday.
