Carmel plays host to intercity roundtable

On Monday, an area municipal finance managers' roundtable was held in the City of Carmel with Christine Pauley as host. Westfield, Fishers, Zionsville, Noblesville and Carmel worked together as they discussed concerns affecting municipalities of similar size. Pauley told The Reporter the group discussed state legislature issues affecting individual cities and Hamilton County, internal controls, federal grant audits and public records transparency. # Three candidates attend Lincoln Day Dinner together

The Hamilton County Republican Committee achieved what few others have done when all three candidates for the GOP nomination for U.S. Senate were assembled at a Lincoln Day Dinner forum this week. The annual dinner honoring the first Republican president was held Thursday night at the 502 East Event Center in Carmel.

an "outsider" notified to the establishment.

The Indiana Debate Commission has tried to get the three senatorial candidates to appear together, but were unable to do so when Rep. Todd Rokita refused to join with the other candidates, Rep. Luke Messer and Mike Braun.

The hopefuls all pointed out how another Republican senator could potentially make the difference on legislation favored by the Trump administration. The Senate is currently controlled by a thin 51-49 GOP majority.

The forum was not billed as a debate although the format resembled one. The senatorial race for the nomination will be decided in the May 8 primary election.

About 400 Republican faithful attended the dinner party. Capturing as much attention as the forum was the one-on-one campaigning by local candidates seeking support in the all-important GOP primary.

Candidates made opening statements and then answered questions centered on who would be best to successfully challenge incumbent Democrat Sen. Joe Donnelly. Braun, not considered a leader in the race at present, tried to contrast himself from the others by saying he was Candidates for county sheriff, Superior Court judge, county council and various other offices roamed the banquet hall seeking to meet, greet and win over party workers and leaders.

Lincoln Day is something of a kick-off of the local campaign in election years. The party's hardcore supporters and donors attended often wanting to see the candidates in person. All current officeholders and candidates who attended were introduced to the crowd. The dinner party is sponsored by the GOP Central Committee chaired by Laura Campbell.

Finding faith on the side of the road

Faith in humanity. We hope for it in a world that broadcasts anything but that, on a daily basis.

This week as I read a post on Facebook, written by my friend Tamara Bentler, I found what seems so rare these days.

A good Samaritan.

Tamara was traveling from Stuart, Florida, to Charleston, South Carolina, when she felt her car starting to bump along. Ugh, flat tire. She pulled onto the side of the road on an exit ramp near Jacksonville. Her car was packed to the max as she is moving to Texas after visiting her son, who is in the Navy. She unloaded her trunk.

She tried for an hour to reach AAA and then was told it would be another three hours for them to rescue (?) her. By then, it would be dark. Here she was all by herself, except for her dog. She bowed her head and prayed.

She looked up and while wiping a few tears, she saw in the distance, a crotch rocket coming her way. The man, who was riding it, looked to be in his late twenties. As he approached my friend, he said, "Well I never take this exit but something told me to do so." Hmmm.

He began to change her tire. During their conversation he shared with her that he was in the Navy. He told her that this must be a God thing, him taking the exit and finding her stranded. He told her that he was raised in a Christian home but had drifted away from his faith. Tamara told him that we all drift away at times during our journey. God doesn't.

He shared with her that God must have been watching over her as she could have easily wrecked her car, going at the speed she was going on the highway. She could have been stranded alone for all those hours and who knows what else might have happened.

As he changed her tire a bolt snapped. He was concerned as to what to do so he called his dad. Tamara had a chance to thank his dad for raising such a kind son. The dad told her that his son makes him proud every day.

Her good Samaritan helped her pack up her trunk and then followed her to a hotel just off the exit ramp. He noticed that her spare was then flat but the rim didn't even have a scratch.

As Tamara gathered her luggage and let her dog out, the young man handed her a key. He had paid for her room.

He carried her luggage into the room and when she turned around to thank him, he was gone. She glanced over at a few green bills laying on the table by the door. She chased him to the elevator to return the money. He smiled and said, "I only hope someone would help my mom if she were ever stranded. If I had more cash, I would have left it." And with that said, the elevator doors closed.

Perhaps humanity has more faith than we realize. Perhaps it is when we drift that we truly find God. Perhaps angels arrive on crotch rockets. Perhaps that young man found his faith on the side of the road that day. Perhaps we all need reminded that God never drifts away ... we do.

Perhaps ... it wasn't just a tire that was changed that day.

Huston's workforce development legislation now law

The REPORTER

Improvements to Indiana's workforce development system will soon be initiated after two new policies supported by State Rep. Todd Huston (R-Fishers) were signed into law today by Gov. Eric Holcomb.

House Enrolled Act 1002, which Huston authored, expands access to Workforce Ready Grants so more Hoosiers can take advantage of the program. These grants can be used to pay tuition costs for Hoosiers to earn a high-value certificate through programs at Ivy Tech Community College or Vincennes University.

The law also establishes a pathway for individuals enrolled as part-time, post-secondary students to participate in the Employment Aid Readiness Network Indiana Program, or EARN. This is a need-based program that provides access to internships and offers funds to employers hiring EARN students.

"Indiana's strategy for meeting workforce needs calls for expanding efforts to ensure more working-age Hoosiers can participate in programs to grow their skills," Huston said. "By supporting an employer-led system we are working directly with job creators to develop the talent needed to be competitive and successful."

According to Huston, the state invests $1 billion annually in 30 different workforce development programs across nine separate agencies. To determine if funding is being directed into effective programs, the state will review all of Indiana's workforce-related programs using return-on-investment metrics enacted in 2017.

Senate Enrolled Act 50, sponsored by Huston, establishes the Governor's Workforce Cabinet to replace the Workforce Innovation Council. This 21-member board will be comprised of representatives of state workforce agencies as well as business and community leaders from across Indiana. This cabinet will be tasked with creating a statewide Career Navigation and Coaching Program to help connect students with education and career options available to them.

Doug Eckerty (R-Yorktown) for the signing of House Enrolled Act 1002 and Senate Enrolled Act 50 into law on Wednesday, March 21 at the Cummins Global Distribution Headquarters in Indianapolis. Both laws work to realign the state's workforce development system with the needs of employers.

"With these new laws, the groundwork has been established and we will continue to invest in workforce and move Indiana's economy forward,"

Huston said.

Unemployment rate drops to 3.2 percent . . .

Indiana employment report, February 2018

The REPORTER

Indiana's unemployment rate stands at 3.2 percent for February and remains lower than the national rate of 4.1 percent. With the exception of one month when it was equal (October 2014), Indiana's unemployment rate now has been below the U.S. rate for more than four years. The monthly unemployment rate is a U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics (BLS) indicator that reflects the number of unemployed people seeking employment within the prior four weeks as a percentage of the labor force.

Indiana's labor force had a net increase of 2,495 over the previous month. This was a result of 2,243 unemployed residents no longer seeking employment within the past four weeks, and a 4,738 increase in residents employed. Indiana's total labor force, which includes both Hoosiers employed and those seeking employment, stands at 3.31 million, and the state's 63.7 percent labor force participation rate remains above the national rate of 63.0 percent.

In addition, Indiana's initial unemployment insurance claims continue to be at historical lows.

Learn more about how unemployment rates are calculated at hoosierdata.in.gov/infographics/employment-status.asp.

Employment by sector

Private sector employment has grown by more than 28,200 over the year, and has increased by 5,200 over the previous month, primarily due to gains in the Construction (2,800) and the Trade, Transportation and Utilities (1,900) sectors. Gains were partially offset by losses in the Leisure and Hospitality (-1,500) and the Private Educational and Health Services (-900) sectors. Total private employment stands at 2,698,700 and is 9,800 above the December 2017 peak.

Editor's Notes

Data are sourced from February Current Employment Statistics, Local Area Unemployment Statistics - U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics.

February employment data for Indiana counties, cities and MSAs will be available at noon on Monday, March 26 pending U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics validation.

Kidde issues recall for smoke detectors

WISH-TV
wistv.com

Nearly 500,000 smoke detectors that might not be able to detect smoke are being recalled by a company based in North Carolina.

The News & Observer reports the company Kidde has issued a recall for models PI2010 and PI9010 due to a manufacturer defect. These models were sold nationwide and online from September 2016 through this January for $20 to $40. Model numbers can be found on the back of the units.

"This poses an immediate and dangerous risk ... as properly functioning smoke alarms are a life-saving tool from the dangers of fire-related incidents and smoke inhalation. In 2016, more than 14,000 accidental structure fires were reported to the Florida Fire Incident Reporting System which resulted in 201 civilian fatalities. I advise all fire prevention advocates across our state to immediately spread awareness of this recall," Florida State Fire Marshal Jimmy Patronis said.

Kidde also recalled 38 million fire extinguishers last year. They had a design flaw that could have prevented them from working and parts of the extinguisher could detach with enough force to pose an impact hazard.

'Trash Bash!' only weeks away

The REPORTER

The Indiana Department of Transportation this week announced that the agency's annual Trash Bash! will take place Friday, April 13 through Sunday, April 15. Trash Bash! brings INDOT crews together with volunteers to beautify the state's roadside areas by cleaning trash and debris. On average, INDOT invests about $4.3 million and more than 60,000 labor hours to pick up litter on state highways each year.

On Friday, April 13, INDOT maintenance staff across the state will direct their focus toward litter collection on roads with high-traffic volume, such as interstates and divided highways.

INDOT urges individuals, organizations, businesses and active Adopt-a-Highway groups to join maintenance staff on two-lane roads with lower traffic volume anytime between Friday, April 13, and Sunday, April 15, in our monumental effort to beautify our roadside areas.

To be part of Trash Bash!, contact INDOT customer service at 1-855-463-6848 or by email at indot@indot.in.gov

- An assigned cleanup location;
- A briefing on roadside safety;
- Safety vests to be worn at all times;

All trash bagged by volunteers will be collected and disposed of by INDOT crews.

"Whether volunteers are interested in helping with one mile or 10 miles, INDOT welcomes the help of Hoosiers in making our roads look their best," INDOT Commissioner Joe McGuinness said. "Please consider partnering with INDOT to make this a record-breaking statewide beautification effort."

While Trash Bash! is an annual, three-day event, INDOT offers opportunities for Hoosiers to help keep roadside areas clean year-round. The Adopt-a-Highway and Spon-

Reader questions Sloderbeck on her critical reasoning skills

Dear Editor:

Full disclaimer: I am not a resident of Hamilton County. The purpose of this letter is not to express favor for any candidate. It is a response to Gina Sloderbeck's letter to the editor in the Thursday, March 22 edition of The Reporter.

The use of data is a good thing. Facts are invaluable because they leave little room for emotion. Good citizens should use data and facts to make decisions, especially during elections. Of course, facts alone cannot determine decisions; there often is not a direct link. It's important to analyze facts for their relevance before jumping to a conclusion. In other words, critical thinking is key.

When reading Ms. Sloderbeck's letter, I was struck by the legion of logical fallacies and the thinly-veiled bias peeking from behind a tattered curtain of "research" that led to her self-described educated decision. I'll do my best to address some of the illogic.

Primarily, I find it odd that Ms. Sloderbeck chose to use Mr. Quakenbush's list of accomplishments as the only metrics by which the other candidates are measured. Of course, election tactics aren't fair and candidates are almost always measured by their opponents' achievements, but shouldn't a citizen purporting to make objective, data-driven decisions strive to do better? Or, at minimum, shouldn't such a person explain why she chose one candidate's virtual resume over any other candidate's - and why such choice was the best way to measure? If you are going to use a resume as a metric, wouldn't a more effective measure be the resume of a sheriff who has already served and excelled in this position?

On a related note, why is there no extrapolation on the specifics of college degrees? The obvious question is, why does it matter when no statute exists legally requiring a Hamilton County Sheriff to hold any post-secondary degree? If, however, a degree is a necessary requirement, what degrees satisfy Ms. Sloderbeck? Though most can agree a college degree is a useful accomplishment, what makes a sheriff candidate who has a college degree inherently better-suited for the job than one who does not have a college degree? Ms. Sloderbeck would have done better in her analysis if she explained why other voters should think this is important.

Why was "15+ years of law enforcement service" chosen as a metric? What is the statistical significance of 15 or more years? Why not 25 years? Why not 10 years? Why not six months? If the "most experience" is a valid metric, then clearly the candidate with the most experience should hold the office. Either I'm missing something, or this is an arbitrary metric.

I could be wrong.

I could be deeply, deeply wrong.

It may be the case that anyone who looks at Ms. Sloderbeck's spreadsheet of criteria but disagrees with her conclusion is uneducated. After all, that is what Ms. Sloderbeck implied, albeit indirectly, when she stated her manner of analyzing facts, figures and data is what leads her to an educated decision. Are there other ways to make educated decisions, or must Hamilton County voters rely on Ms. Sloderbeck's spreadsheets? What if another voter devises a spreadsheet of criteria that directly conflicts Ms. Sloderbeck's and claims it led that voter to an educated decision? Once again, in creeps the ironically arbitrary nature of Ms. Sloderbeck's arguments.

I am not questioning Ms. Sloderbeck's convictions. I am not claiming she is uneducated. I am not suggesting she is dishonest. I do not condone anyone who might make attacks on Ms. Sloderbeck's character, since character attacks are so frequently the tool of political ridicule. Clearly, she cares about Hamilton County and its future. I applaud her courage and sense of civic duty in writing a letter to the editor, and I encourage others to do so.

I do wish, however, that Ms. Sloderbeck would exercise a more critical analysis of the facts she chooses.

Flu cases declining but still as dangerous, doctors say

The flu season is not over yet but health leaders say it has gotten better and that flu-related illnesses are on the decline.

Earlier this week hospitals began releasing flu restrictions. The restrictions had been in place since early in January because there were so many flu cases.

This flu season there have been 278 flu deaths statewide, about 20 of those from downtown hospitals. New numbers will be released Friday.

"Flu is still very much around. It is still just as dangerous, there's just less of it," said Cole Beeler an Indiana University Health Doctor of Infectious Diseases.

Even though it has been said this flu season is the worst in recent years, Beeler expected it to be even worse.

"The rule with the flu is that it is unpredictable and every few years you're going to see a very severe season," Beeler added. "This season was quite severe but we were anticipating it being a lot worse. Now it was probably the worse in the decade since there was a lot of flu around but the vaccine in the Southern Hemisphere did not work as well as it is probably going to work here."

Health experts are able to somewhat predict how severe the flu will be in the U.S. based on what the flu was like in the Southern Hemisphere.

"The flu trend, even though it's coming down, it's just that, it's a trend that's coming down. What we're really liking to see is zero flu cases but we are still seeing flu cases that are admitted to the hospital," Beeler says. "We're still seeing transmissions so it's important to just know that it's still out there."

The vaccine worked

better than what was also expected.

"I would say it did actually work better than we thought it was going to work so in the southern hemisphere we expected probably a 10 percent efficacy for H3N2 but maybe a 30 percent efficacy overall, but actually about 40-60 percent depending on what age group you fall in so this was pretty encouraging to me," he said.

The typical flu season is from October to around April, or even longer.

"We're going downhill, which is good. Now, that said, I expect the full will linger on probably into April maybe toward the beginning of May just based on what the trend looks like," Beeler added.

Since the flu is still around, people are encouraged to still get a flu shot, wash their hands, and avoid contact with sick people.

TODAY'S BIBLE READING

But be not ye called Rabbi: for one is your Master, even Christ; and all ye are brethren. And call no man your father upon the earth: for one is your Father, which is in heaven. Neither be ye called masters: for one is your Master, even Christ. But he that is greatest among you shall be your servant. And whosoever shall exalt himself shall be abased; and he that shall humble himself shall be exalted.

Boys basketball state finals

The Carmel boys basketball team fell in the Class 4A state championship game to Warren Central 54-48 Saturday night at Bankers Life Fieldhouse.

Warren comes back to beat Carmel

By RICHIE HALL

Every so often, and more often than not, there will be a basketball game where a team's victory is called an improbable victory.

It's just too bad when you're on the other team.

Carmel had to play the role of "the other team" Saturday night at Bankers Life Fieldhouse. The Greyhounds held a huge early lead before Warren Central started chipping away at it in the third quarter. The No. 1-ranked Warriors then blasted through the fourth to claim the Class 4A boys basketball state championship, beating the No. 10 Greyhounds 54-48.

The fact that Warren Central won the game was not improbable. The Warriors finished the season a perfect 32-0, the first unbeaten team since the 2008-09 season saw two unbeaten teams (Bloomington South in 4A and Princeton in 3A). Warren also became the first team to sweep state in both girls and boys basketball since Oregon-Davis did so in 2007.

No, what was improbable was that the Warriors came back from so far down. The 'Hounds led 20-7 in the second quarter. That was part of a chaotic first half that saw big runs from both teams.

Warren leaped out to a 7-0 lead, with Antwaan Cushingberry's 3-pointer finishing off that run with 4:52 remaining in the first. The Warriors would not score again until the 1:26 mark of the second quarter - almost

Baseball teams to start play this week

High school baseball teams are allowed to begin their regular season on Monday, and several teams in Hamilton County will be getting on to the field right away.

Carmel hosts Brebeuf Jesuit at 5:30 p.m. Monday at Hartman Field (on Main Street just east of Gray Road), while Fishers is taking a road trip to Fort Wayne to play Homestead in a 6:30 p.m. first pitch.

Westfield starts its season Tuesday by hosting Carmel at 5:30 p.m. All of these games are weather permitting, of course.

For the Greyhounds, there will be several new names on the roster after they graduated a large senior class last year. They will have one familiar name: Senior Jack Van Remotel, an All-State third baseman in 2017. The Michigan commit brings back a .404 batting average, with 36 hits, 35 RBIs, 30 runs scored, 10 doubles and three

HSE girls win Hoosier State Relays Large School meet

The Hamilton Southeastern girls track and field team is ranked No. 1 in the state, and on Saturday, the Royals lived up to that ranking.

Southeastern won the Large School division of the Hoosier State Relays, which took place at Indiana University. The Royals ran away with the meet by scoring 72 points, well ahead of runner-up Warren Central's 44 points.

Southeastern won two events. Camille Christopher zoomed to a new school record of 7.56 seconds while winning the 60 dash. Christopher later joined Tierra Sydnor, Mia Mackenzie and Olivia Burgess to place first in the 4x200 relay, in a time of 1:43.29.

The Royals picked up 14 points in the pole vault, with Kennedy Drish and Jessica Bray taking second and third respectively. Burgess and Sydnor also ran on HSE's third-place 4x400 relay, joining Madisyn Etherage and Mya Hammons.

Carmel took third as a team with 43 points. Kara Deady soared to a win in the pole vault, with a leap of 12 feet, 6 inches. The Greyhounds also got a second-place finish out of their distance medley team of Maddie Dalton, Sydney Haines, Izza Khurram and Phoebe Bates, while Dalton, Haines and Bates joined Anna Morozov to take third in the 4x800.

Noblesville placed ninth with 28 points. The Millers' relay team of Aubrie Deal, Abi Little, Maria Anderson and Bella Sharples-Gordon took second in the 4x800, then later finished third in the distance medley.

Westfield scored eight points to tie for 18th place as a team. Gabby Dilick placed third in the 3200 run.

In the large school boys meet, Westfield finished second as a team. The Shamrocks scored 49 points, behind only Avon's 66 points.

The 'Rocks were led by Peyton Haack, who won two events. Haack took the 60 dash in a time of 8.00 seconds, which ties a meet record. He then joined Dainon Wray, Alex Kukura and Charlie Miller to win the 4x200 relay in 1:30.01. Haack placed second in the pole vault as well.

Carmel won two events on its way to a third-place finish of 47 points. The Greyhounds team of Jimmy Snyder, Spencer Gudgel, Trey Harris and Eli Konow won the 4x800 relay in 7:56.45. Gudgel, Harris and Konow then joined Alex Brown-Baez to take the 4x400 relay, clocking in at 3:23.37.

Hamilton Southeastern tied for 10th place with 20 points. The Royals had two runner-up finishes: Madison Norris was second in the 60 hurdles and Chase Maxey took the silver in the long jump.

Noblesville scored 8.5 points to finish in 21st place. The Millers' distance medley team of Zach Freeman, Bryce Gatewood, Andrew Anderson and Blake Hipkiss placed sixth in that event, while Andrew Herman tied for sixth in the long jump.

Hamilton Heights and Guerin Catholic participated in the Small School meet. The Huskies' best finish was in the girls 4x800 relay, with the team of Maria Mitchell, Abigail Roth, Morgan Guthrie and Abby Christiansen placing fourth. Quinn Gallagher took fourth in the boys 3200 run for the Golden Eagles' best finish.

"We will be new and inexperienced at most positions," said Carmel coach Matthew Buczkowski. "Juniors Jared Greene and Jackson Adams have committed to play at Butler University but have no varsity experience. We like our youth. We think they can play, but just have not seen them yet at the varsity level."

Fishers also graduated some talented seniors from last year, but the Tigers have a talented group of seniors this year. Seven of them are committed to play in college, including move-in Grant Richardson, an All-State outfielder who is signed to Indiana, and will also pitch for Fishers.

Also back are Naval Academy signee Matthew Wolff (pitcher/utility), Houston commit Craig Yoho (shortstop), and Kent State signee Luke Albright (pitcher). Alex Jamieson (Huntington commit) will flip between catcher and first base, while Ben Burton is headed to Franklin and will play infield. Yoho hit .340 last season with 22 RBIs and a team-leading five home runs.

Two juniors already committed are catcher Kiel Brenzewski, a .330 hitter who is also headed to the Naval Academy, while outfielder JJ Woolwine will play at Miami (Ohio). All of these players will factor into the Tigers' defense of Hoosier Crossroads Conference and sectional titles.

"Coming off the school's first HCC and sectional championships, the Tigers are expecting to repeat those accomplishments again this spring and erase the disappointment from a regional final loss to conference foe Zionsville," said Fishers coach Matthew Cherry. "The Tigers once again possess a very talented pitching staff led by three-year starter Luke Albright."

As for Westfield, three seniors are among the key returners. Matthew Meyer hit at a .333 clip and batted in 17 runs last season. Logan McClurg batted .329 and scored 17 runs, while Sam Eaton hit .315 with nine RBIs. Meyer and McClurg will return as pitchers as well.

"I've been encouraged this off-season," said Shamrocks coach Ryan Bunnell. "The culture in our program has been closer to where it should be than it has been the last few years and I think the kids are excited and want to have success. I am looking forward to seeing what their work this off-season will produce for them."

CARMEL

a period and a half.

During that time, Carmel did everything right. Junior Andrew Owens got the 'Hounds on the board with a putback, then junior John Michael Mulloy and senior Cole Jenkins sank layins to get Carmel within 7-6 at the end of the first.

Mulloy converted a three-point play to put his team ahead 10-7. Carmel then dominated from the free throw line for most of the second quarter, going 8-of-10 from the line. Mulloy also made another layin midway through the period; he had 10 points by the 2:26 mark of the second.

"I think in the first few minutes, you're in a tough environment, you're in a new place, and our guys just had to settle in," said Carmel coach Ryan Osborn. "And once they settled in and they felt comfortable with what we were doing, that's when they got really good defensively."

The Warriors got back within single digits with a quick 7-0 run. David Tate's two layins bookended a 3-pointer by Joe Rush. But Jenkins got the last basket of the half, and the Greyhounds were up comfortably, 22-14, at the break.

Carmel led 28-17 with 4:26 to go in the third period, with Owens and Mulloy making layins and senior Eddie Gill draining a couple free throws. But the Warriors made an 11-2 run to get within 30-28 before another Jenkins jumper kept the 'Hounds ahead 32-28 at the end of three.

"The seniors have been great," said Osborn. "We go from the beginning of the year, the pre-season stuff and just bringing them along as this transition was going on. They were bought in from the beginning and it was a learning process, it was a coming-together process. They never wavered, through good times, through hard times, through some losses, I thought they bonded together as a group. And that's why I'm so proud of them."

Rush's layin got Warren Central ahead 33-32 early in the fourth, the Warriors' first lead in a while. Gill threw in a '3' to put Carmel ahead. Warren took the lead back with free throws, and Mulloy answered that with two foul shots of his own. Carmel led 37-36 with 5:17 left.

But the Warriors had claimed the momentum, and rolled through the fourth by scoring 26 points. Dean Tate hit a 3-pointer to put Warren ahead 39-38 and the Warriors would not trail again. Carmel kept making big baskets to stay close, but Warren started running the clock down in the last three minutes and Carmel was forced to foul.

The Warriors made 12 of 14 free throws in the final two minutes of the game. A 3-pointer from senior Jalen Whack made the score 50-48 with less than 20 seconds to go, but Tate finished the game by making his last four free throws. Tate set a new 4A record for highest free throw percentage: Tate converted 13 of 14 attempts, 92.9 percent.

Mulloy scored 21 points for the Greyhounds and also pulled eight rebounds. Jenkins and Gill both scored eight points, with Gill and Owens each grabbing six rebounds. Tate led all scorers with 22 points, while Cushingberry added 10 points.

"I thought our guys battled," said Osborn. "I thought they competed. I'm proud of them. I couldn't be more proud of them to be in this situation and give themselves a chance. Warren made the plays. They're a good team. They're undefeated for a reason and they played a tough schedule. You got to give a lot credit to them."

"Obviously we wanted to win this last one, but I couldn't be happier for these guys and myself," said Whack. "We went through so much this year. We started off with a lot of injuries. We lost a couple close games."

But Whack said the team decided to stick together - just "do what we do," he said. If the Greyhounds made a team effort, they thought they could go far.

"I think we did that," said Whack.

Whack won the Arthur L. Trester Mental Attitude Award at the conclusion of the game. Whack holds a 3.61 grade-point average and is a Carmel Scholar Athlete and received Academic All-State Honorable Mention from the Indiana Basketball Coaches Association. He is the son of Sheila Stewart and Franklin Whack.

"It means a lot," said Whack. "I give a lot of credit to my parents for raising me and teaching me self-discipline, just go hard in everything I do. I'm a student-athlete and student comes before athlete."

Carmel finished the season 21-8 and was making its seventh appearance at the state finals.
