Sheridan Historical dinner set

The REPORTER

The annual dinner meeting of the Sheridan Historical Society is scheduled for 6 p.m. on Thursday, April 19 in the Community Room of the Sheridan Public Library. This event always features an interesting program or guest speaker and also serves to showcase the highlights of the Society's activities over the past year.

This year's guest speaker will be Dr. Bret Marsh, the Indiana State Veterinarian who grew up in Marion Township and graduated from Sheridan High School. Dr. Marsh has served as the State Veterinarian since January 1994. Marsh has spent his entire career with the Indiana Board of Animal Health, holding positions such as Director of Swine Health Programs and as a supervisor and training officer in the meat and poultry inspection area.

Marsh is on a special detail for the USDA Secretary's Homeland Security Staff, has been President of the Indiana Veterinary Medical Association, and served as the First Vice President of the U.S. Animal Health Association. He has served in the AVMA House of Delegates for nearly a decade. Marsh was given the Sagamore of the Wabash in 1997 by Governor Evan Bayh and is a graduate and Distinguished Alumnus of both Purdue's School of Veterinary Medicine and the College of Agriculture.

Sheridan Historical Society Vice President Steve Martin said, "Dr. Marsh gave a presentation to the Sheridan Rotary Club last summer and he absolutely hit it out of the park with his factual tales of what his responsibilities are as the State Veterinarian, the challenges he faces every day and the unsung heroes who make up the members of his organization. Whether you are familiar with Dr. Marsh and his family or not, this is an opportunity to get to know one of Sheridan's finest graduates. I guarantee you will not be disappointed with his talk."

Tickets to this dinner meeting are available for $20 per person. They may be purchased by calling Ginny Tackitt at 317-696-5087 or Vicki Remsen at 317-758-5198, but the reservation deadline is Monday, April 16.

Noblestories postponed until October

The REPORTER

The Noblestories program on Bob Arbuckle, owner of Arbuckle's Railroad Place in Noblesville, is being postponed until October. Originally scheduled for March 18, and rescheduled for April 15, the program will now happen on Oct. 14. Arbuckle underwent pacemaker surgery last month, and though he is recovering, he is concerned that he might not be back to 100 percent by mid-April.

"Delaying until October will ensure I am completely recovered," Arbuckle says, "and it will coincide with my 96th birthday."

"We are happy to comply with Mr. Arbuckle's request," says organizer Mike Corbett. "He's got a great story to tell and we want him feeling healthy and hearty as he tells it."

The Noblestories committee is working on a series of storytelling programs, and may be ready with another prior to the Arbuckle program in October. The goal is to present about four programs each year. Noblestories is sponsored by the Noblesville Preservation Alliance and Hamilton County Television.

Riverview Health Auxiliary pledges $50,000 to improve clinical care

The REPORTER

Riverview Health Auxiliary has pledged to raise and donate $50,000 to the new Infusion Center project at Riverview Health.

Riverview Health Auxiliary is a group of volunteers that leads the charge on various fundraisers held throughout the year and raises money to support patients of Riverview Health and their families. In addition, profits from the Riverview Health Gift Shop, which is operated by volunteers, also go toward the fundraising efforts of the Auxiliary.

"Not many people think to visit the hospital to go shopping, but high-fashion clothing and accessories can be found at the Gift Shop, which has helped our sales to increase significantly over the past year," said Jessica Deering, volunteer and event manager at Riverview Health Foundation. "Shoppers can buy trendy items while improving patient care through Riverview Health Auxiliary, which is a real win-win."

Riverview Health Gift Shop will be offering a 20 percent discount on one clothing item during the entire month of April. The Gift Shop is open from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Monday through Friday. Guest can enter through Entrance 1.

Neither snow nor wind nor sleet ...

The north wind doth blow and we shall have snow. And Chuck Leonard is headed to the golf course.

So it was Wednesday afternoon when my husband stopped by the dealership on his way to his happy place. If you remember the weather that day was cold and blustery.

I knew that the Stony Creek Masters Par 3 Golf Tournament was scheduled for that day. Surely it would be canceled.

Boy was I wrong. Chuck had a big grin as he told me he was headed out to play golf. Seriously.

My husband is the most passionate golfer I have ever known. 36 degrees with a gusty wind, making it shiver weather. Add the snow flurries at tee off and there might have been a little frost on the golf balls.

I kid you not as I looked at him when he left my office, he was like a kid heading out to play in the snow. I had one happy,

Noblesville's Farmers Bank to hold Community Shred Day

The REPORTER

Celebrate Earth Day by shredding and recycling confidential documents at the annual free Community Shred Day in Noblesville. The Farmers Bank regularly organizes these events for their hometown communities to raise awareness to the ongoing issues of identity theft protection and recycling. Earth Day is the perfect time to hold a shred event because each ton of paper recycled saves 26 trees and is used for future paper products. In past events, several tons of paper have been recycled.

Community Shred Day will take place from 9 a.m. to noon on Saturday, April 21 at The Farmers Bank in Noblesville, 16940 Clover Road.

Consumers and small business owners can securely destroy sensitive paper documents quickly, efficiently and free of charge. All documents will be shredded on-site. You don't need to remove papers from file folders, take out staples or remove paperclips as they can run through the shredder. Participants will be able to watch their documents be destroyed and leave with peace of mind, knowing their personal information will not get into the wrong hands. Once the documents are shredded, they are then recycled.

Any documents or media that display account numbers or social security numbers could lead to identity theft and should be properly shredded. The following are recommended items to shred: Financial statements, credit applications, insurance records, physician statements, checks, employment applications and credit card receipts and solicitations.

The Farmers Bank's Annual Free Community Shred Days provide a great opportunity for everyone to do three great things at once. You can protect the environment, protect your privacy and add room to your home by getting rid of all those documents.

"At The Farmers Bank we are dedicated to safeguarding your personal information to protect you from identity theft and scams," said Karen F. Gregerson, President/CEO. "We are pleased to offer these annual events as a tool for both our customers and the community to be proactive in keeping their personal information secure."

There isn't a limit to the amount of documents participants are able to shred. However, if an individual or small business has an extremely large amount, please call the bank before the event in case other arrangements will need to be made. For further information about the Free Community Shred Day Event contact The Farmers Bank at 317-773-3100.

Chuck called later after he had played nine holes. He hit two pars and seven bogeys for a 34. OK in July, but better in the brutal snowy days of April.

Forty-some, die-hard senior men, faced the frozen tundra to celebrate the opening of golf season. Neither snow nor sleet nor the winds of what seems like the 74th day of January would deter them. Several of them were captured in a video teeing off. It was a bit comical. You could barely hear the commentary for the wind blowing.

Those senior men were bundled up like an older version of the Bob Gregory little weather kid in the commercial, way back in the 80s. I would say that all those layers and the wind chill factor challenged their handicap that day.

When I got home that evening Chuck gave me both a golf report and a weather report from his day at the golf course. He smiled as he told me about his day. He said everyone who finished received a cup of hot chocolate. What? No medals for bravery?

Ninety minutes out in the wind, just above freezing temps. Snow blowing in his face and my husband could not have been happier. A day with a wind chill factor of below freezing may also go down in his record book as well as his score.

Bless his heart and all his frozen parts. Now we will spend the week-end watching the Masters Tournament being played in sunny warm Georgia. Those guys may be pros at the Masters at Augusta but the real golfers were at Stony Creek on Wednesday.

Two happy Sheridan Rotarians honored

The REPORTER

Many years ago – no one is really sure when it all began – the Sheridan Rotary Club started a program called “Happy Buck.” The purpose was to collect money at each meeting from members who were happy about something in their life since the last meeting. The thought was that a dollar would be just about the right amount and it was decided the money would be used to provide a monthly stipend to the club’s sponsored foreign exchange student. This was a fine idea and has since become an ingrained tradition.

Every year the club celebrates Happy Buck by awarding a plaque to the member who gave the most “happy” money for the preceding year. And over the years the idea of a single dollar has given away to several dollars that a member may give for several good things in their life since the previous meeting. Typically, members list birthdays, anniversaries, sports events, good weather, births, special honors and awards and just about anything else they can think of for being happy. Sometimes members donate a few bucks for no other reason than they are just happy.

For many years the Club’s Happy Buck coordinator was Roy Overdorf, but Roy passed away last year. His job has been taken over by his good friend and fellow Rotarian Steve Martin. The role of the coordinator, as defined by Martin, is to wheedle, cajole, coax, sweet-talk, entice and/or persuade club members in a humorous way to give a little bit more than originally intended. Sometimes it works, sometimes it doesn’t but it is always a fun activity at each of the meetings, and once a month the proceeds make Rotary’s foreign exchange student pretty happy, too.

The Sheridan Rotary Club honoree for the 2017 Happy Buck Award actually fell to two individuals: Steve Armfield and Fred Sturdevant. They tied in the amount they gave over the past year and are well-deserving of winning the award. Congratulations to both of them.

The Sheridan Rotary Club has formal meetings the first and third Tuesday evenings of each month at 6:15 p.m. at the Sheridan Public Library. The remaining Tuesday evenings are dedicated to various community work projects or club business meetings. If you would be interested in becoming more involved in the Sheridan community you ought to consider becoming a Sheridan Rotarian. They are very friendly people, they do good things for the community and they have a lot of fun along the way.

Governor proclaims Public Telecommunications Week

The REPORTER

Public Safety Telecommunications Week originated in California in 1981 and was nationally recognized by an act of the United States Congress in 1991. In Indiana, Public Safety Telecommunications Week has been recognized state wide since 1999, most commonly by a proclamation from Indiana’s Governor.

Public Safety Telecommunications Week reminds all Hoosiers that the first step in receiving help is the initial call to 911 and hearing the voice of a local city, county, or state public safety dispatcher. These are the men and women that collect the initial information to pass along to law enforcement officers in the field. Often times they are able to give immediate lifesaving directions to the caller during medical emergencies or can be the calming voice to reassure the victim of a violent crime that help is on the way. And the service of a telecommunications operator extends well beyond taking calls from citizens as they are the lifeline to the police officer, deputy sheriff or state trooper out on patrol.

In short, the telecommunications operator is the two-way lifeline link taking calls for service. Whether the call comes by phone from the public, or over a radio from a law enforcement professional, telecommunication operators are one of the most important and under-recognized components of public safety.

Business owner supports Chris Miller

Dear Editor:
When people ask me why I am voting for Chris Miller, I tell them to ask the most important people, ask the men and women who work for our township and are serving our community. Who do they want to work for and why? The answer to this is hands down Chris Miller. What she has done with Jackson Township Fire Department in her past two terms has been extremely impactful.

Her strong character and leadership ability has triumphed over the local drama that has held back our community for years.

Beaver: "True representative of District 29"

To the voters in Hamilton County:

My name is Brad Beaver and I am running for State Representative District 29 and I am seeking your support.

I was born and raised in Noblesville, graduated from Noblesville High School and after attending Ivy Tech I started my own heating and air conditioning business. I am a fourth-generation business owner in Hamilton County. For the past 22 years I have also served you on the Hamilton County Council. I am a TRUE representative of Noblesville and District 29!

The other candidates can give vague promises to be conservative, however, I have a long record of serving on the financial body of Hamilton County government that speaks for itself. I ask voters to consider my record of public service when choosing their next State Representative.

- I have not spent taxpayer's dollars foolishly.
- I have not raised property taxes.
- I have a long record of being a fiscal conservative.

Hamilton County is a wonderful place to live and raise a family. We have great schools, low crime, good roads and bridges, and top-notch park systems. I feel I have contributed to making Hamilton County great during my last 20 years of service.

Born and raised here, I graduated from Noblesville High School and I have served you locally, just as my predecessor. I have learned firsthand and dealt with the laws that have been passed down to us from the state level. I know how they impact our community and I am prepared to represent Noblesville on day one.

I am a true representative of Noblesville and with my experience in local government I believe I am the only candidate to serve you as State Representative District 29. I respectfully ask for your vote on May 8.

U.S. Surgeon General urges carrying Narcan

Drug overdose deaths are on the rise in this country. The death rate rose to nearly 20 percent, according to the U.S. Centers for Disease Control and Prevention. Indiana ranks 16th for overdose deaths.

On Thursday, the U.S. surgeon general, former Indiana health commissioner Dr. Jerome Adams, urged those at risk and their loved ones to keep an opioid overdose antidote on hand. Narcan is the brand name for a device that delivers the antidote called naloxone.

There are two main Narcan products on the market, according to Overdose Lifeline, a nonprofit organization geared to assist families, individuals and communities dealing with addiction. Both products are easy to use and both have saved lives.

Some people don't leave the house without their purse. Then there is Kourtney Sturgeon. She does not leave without Narcan.

"One gentleman said, 'Nope, they're dead. Heroin overdose,' I said, 'No. I have Narcan,'" she said.

Sturgeon happened to be driving by when she witnessed the driver crash his car after overdosing. She was on the scene even before emergency responders.

"The one I saw was gurgling a little bit, had some fluid coming out of his mouth. So, I figured that might be the best of the two that had a chance," Sturgeon said.

She administered her only dose that she had on her. Sturgeon revived one, and medics revived the other.

"This was my first time I've ever seen an overdose. First time I didn't know how I would respond to it," she said. First time, yet she pulled it off. As director of education for Overdose Lifeline, Sturgeon wants to make sure that people not only have Narcan, but also know how to administer it.

One common Narcan comes in three pieces. It's simple to assemble. Another type comes ready to administer. Both types work like nostril spray.

Narcan can be purchased at a pharmacy without a prescription. According to Sturgeon, Narcan with a single dose usually cost less than $75. Most insurance plans will cover some of the cost.

"If there is medicine that is a readily inexpensive medicine to save their life, to give them an opportunity for treatment and recovery, then we should do so," Sturgeon said.

Some organizations give out kits for free. Click here for more information.

Explore environment with 'Next Indiana Campfires'

The REPORTER

Indiana Humanities has announced the lineup for this year's award-winning "Next Indiana Campfires" series. The treks, which pair literature with nature to help Hoosiers explore Indiana's natural environment and spark conversations about conservation and stewardship, are funded in part by a $40,000 grant from the Nina Mason Pulliam Charitable Trust. Last year, Indiana Humanities was awarded the Schwartz Prize for best humanities program in the country for Next Indiana Campfires.

This year, Next Indiana Campfires will take Hoosiers to various spots – private and public – within the White River watershed to explore the waterway as it meanders among Indiana's urban, suburban and rural landscapes. A humanities scholar will serve as facilitator and lead attendees on a walk, pausing periodically to read aloud words from Hoosier, Midwest and Pulitzer Prize-winning authors. Participants will then gather for food and drink around a campfire to discuss connections between nature, literature and place.

A $32,000 grant from the Andrew W. Mellon Foundation, in partnership with Pulitzer Prizes, will support the publication of an anthology of texts read during the treks. The anthology will be published in fall 2018 by Wolfen Press. Funds from Nina Mason Pulliam Charitable Trust will also go toward producing up to three short films about the White River, which will be distributed in late 2018 and include stipends for communities to host screenings and discussions.

"Next Indiana Campfires – which began during Indiana's bicentennial – is an incredibly popular and impactful series of events," said Keira Amstutz, president and CEO of Indiana Humanities. "What makes it so unique is that we're often taking participants somewhere they have never been before, they're reading works from new authors, and they're engaging in thoughtful conversation with friends and strangers. People frequently attend more than one because each and every event is different – from the makeup of the attendees, to the locations, readings and discussion points."

The series locations and dates include:

- Saturday, May 19: Sherwood Forest (Tipton County): Participants will take a wildflower-filled walk through this wooded private nature preserve along Cicero Creek in Tipton County where they'll consider how farms and forests impact life in the White River watershed.

- Thursday, June 7: Nonie Werbe Kraus Nature Preserve (Fishers): In the midst of one of the nation's fastest growing suburban areas, there's a precious remnant of prairie tucked along the White River, reminding participants of the ways water and land shape local communities. Participants will take an evening walk, then gather around a campfire to eat, talk and watch the fireflies come out.

- Sunday, July 15: White River near Mounds State Park (Delaware and Madison counties): There's a 2,500 acre stretch of uninterrupted woodland lining the White River as it flows through Delaware and Madison counties. During this four-hour paddling trek, participants will cover eight miles, experiencing the beauty and tranquility of the water while learning about efforts to conserve this vital stretch of the river via the Mounds Greenway.

- Sunday, Aug. 12: Conner Prairie – Kids and Adults (Fishers): This special trek designed for kids and families will explore how Hoosiers past and present used this important waterway and how homes, farms and towns affect the river today. Participants should prepare to get muddy – they'll wade into the White River to get down and dirty as we test the water and learn about plant and animal life in the watershed.

- Sunday, Aug. 12: Conner Prairie – Adults (Fishers): On this adults-only trek, participants will head out over the restored prairies that first drew Native Americans and white settlers to this bend along the White River. They'll consider how this important water way connects them to the past and with other communities in the watershed today.

- Friday, Oct. 24: Urban Wilderness Trail (Indianapolis): Like the White River itself, the Urban Wilderness Trail runs through the heart of Indianapolis, providing vital places for animals and plants to thrive and people to escape the city. Participants will take a sunset hike, following the trail along the White River as they learn about hidden pockets of wildlife and how they are shaped by urban industries and populations.

Each event costs $15-20 and includes food and an Upland Brewing beer (available to those 21 and over). A limited number of need-based waivers are available.

During the first year of Next Indiana Campfires, held during Indi-

Millers off to an 8-4 start...

Seniors stepping up for Noblesville boys volleyball

By RICHIE HALL

Reporter Sports Editor

After a successful season last year, the Noblesville boys volleyball team is trying to find the chemistry to make this year just as good.

The Millers returned to action Saturday by hosting their own Miller Classic tournament. Noblesville finished second in the event and currently holds an 8-4 record for the season.

The Millers sped through their pool without the loss of a set, beating Lafayette Jefferson 25-23, 25-13, Lawrence North 25-10, 25-8 and Avon 25-10, 25-14. In the championship match, Noblesville lost to Brownsburg 25-15, 25-17; the Bulldogs avenged a loss to the Millers at the start of the season.

"We're doing decent," said Noblesville coach Ryan Pence after the Lawrence North match. "I think we're playing in spurts and we just haven't found out our chemistry yet."

Pence called his team "a work in progress," since it graduated five seniors last year. He did note that his team is picking up steam as the season goes on.

"It's hard to find your identity when you lose key players like you did last year and having somebody step in those roles," said Pence. "But I think the boys are handling it pretty well, so hopefully by mid-season we'll make a nice run. I don't want them to peak too early, so that way they're peaking right around state."

This year's senior class is stepping up as well. Andrew Libby and Aaron Brewer both have emerged as solid hitters for the Millers, with Libby a leading blocker as well. Brady Nicholson and Cameron Schlegel are among the top defensive players, with Schlegel the assist man for Noblesville.

Pence said his team's camaraderie is one of its strengths.

"They're all friends in school and they hang out a lot, and they're doing a lot of team bonding when we don't have practice," said Pence. "So I think that's a strength that we have. And a lot of them are returning from last year and some of them play in the off-season. But like I said, right now it's just kind of hit and miss for us. We're just trying to build and find our own identity from the team last year."

Noblesville's next match is Tuesday at Carmel. That will be a re-match of last year's state championship match, which the Greyhounds won. The Millers will then host Brownsburg on Thursday, marking the third time they will play the Bulldogs this season.

After the regular season finishes, teams will play in the Indiana Boys Volleyball Coaches Association tournament. The tournament begins with the regional on May 12, followed by the state meet, which takes place May 18 and 19 at Southport.

Sheridan Horseshoe League will open season soon

It won't be long before you'll be able to hear the clanging of horseshoes in Biddle's Memorial Park in Sheridan.

The Sheridan League will be celebrating another year of one of the world's oldest sports. It was a way of passing the time with discarded horseshoes. Today pitchers use forged shoes of different styles but of established measurements. Since its glory days the sport has decreased in time. Some people say that the sport is dead.

The league uses a handicap system developed by Arlo Harris of Speedway, Indiana in 1949. The system helps level the playing field for men and women of all abilities. The league has people that had never thrown a horseshoe before who come to find the sport is a great amount of fun.

This year the league will hold three open tournaments for people of all pitching abilities. O'Reilly Auto Parts will sponsor its second annual tournament in July.

The league will have its organizational meeting at 6:30 p.m. on Tuesday, May 1. Rain or shine, you can find information, as some of the members will be at the courts between 9 and 11 a.m. Saturday, April 21, where those who are interested can come out and get acquainted.

Carmel baseball picks up first win

The Carmel baseball team picked up its first win of the season on Saturday, beating Class 4A No. 8 Penn 6-5 at Hartman Field.

The Greyhounds got the game's first run in the bottom of the second inning. Alex Brooks hit a right field single to score Drew Kelly, who had led off the inning with a double.

The Kingsmen scored twice in the top of the third to take the lead, but Carmel got it right back in the bottom of the inning on back-to-back doubles. Kelly was first, sending an 0-1 pitch into left field to get Will Richter home. Kelly quickly scored, as Evan Petruzzi smacked another 0-1 pitch into center field.

The 'Hounds added two more runs in the fourth to lead 5-2. Brooks got home on a fielder's choice from Richter, then Jared Greene stole home plate.

Penn got two runs in the fifth inning, but would get no closer. Carmel added a run in the sixth inning when Drew Olssen scored on an error.

Kelly and Jack Van Remortel both finished the game 2-for-3. Zach Vogt pitched five innings for the win.

The Greyhounds are 1-2 and will host 4A No. 6 Hamilton Southeastern at 5:30 p.m. on Monday.

HSE softball drops two at Terre Haute

The Hamilton Southeastern softball team dropped two games in Terre Haute on Saturday, falling to Mooresville 5-3 in its first game and 11-8 to Northview in its second game.

The Class 4A No. 5 Royals scored the first run of the first game, with Nicole Lang hitting a center field single to score Abby Taylor in the top of the first inning. The Pioneers answered with a two-run home run in the bottom of the first.

Southeastern had to wait until the fourth inning, but it finally answered when Kaelin Wincek led off with a solo homer to center field. Taylor would give HSE the lead with a left field single to send Kennedy Morgan home. The Royals held the lead until Mooresville scored three runs in the bottom of the sixth.

In the second game, Northview blitzed Southeastern for five runs in the bottom of the first inning. The Royals got on the board in the third when Nicole Dillow scored on an error. Still, HSE trailed 9-1 after three innings.

The Royals got going in the fifth inning, scoring five runs. Libby Ratliff singled home Taylor, then Lillian Leiner scored on a fielder's choice from Lang. Wincek then sent a double into left field to score Morgan and Ratliff; Wincek later got home on a single by Courtney Kocal.

Just like that, HSE trimmed Northview's lead to 9-6. But Northview added runs in the fifth and sixth innings to make the score 11-6. The Royals did get two more runs in the seventh inning: Kocal singled home Lang, then Wincek scored on a Taylor single.

Taylor finished the game 3-for-5, while Wincek, Kocal and Dillow all hit 2-for-4. Wincek and Kocal both drove in two runs.

The Royals are 2-2 and will play at Mount Vernon on Monday.

Fishers javelin throwers begin quest for national titles

Two Fishers teenagers that are two of the country's top youth javelin throwers begin a new track and field season next week and embark on their quest for national titles.

Last summer, Olivia Norris won the national championship and was named All-American at the 2017 Amateur Athletic Union National Junior Track and Field Championships in Detroit. Norris, an honor-roll, eighth-grade student at Riverside Intermediate-Junior High School in Fishers, threw 87'10" to claim the AAU gold medal. Her personal record is 92'5" with the 600g javelin. Norris was the national runner-up girls javelin thrower at the 2015 USATF National Junior Track and Field Championships.

Sam Brodt, a freshman at Hamilton Southeastern High School in Fishers, finished third in the country in capturing the bronze medal and was named All-American at the 2017 Amateur Athletic Union National Junior Track and Field Championships in Detroit with a throw of 139'2". Brodt also competed nationally on the USATF circuit, winning both the USATF state and regional titles before finishing 13th at the national meet in Lawrence, Kan., with a throw of 139'3". His personal record is 143'9" with the 600g javelin.

Both are members of the Fishers Fire track and field club, part of the Hamilton Southeastern S.P.O.R.T.S. organization. Norris and Brodt are coached by Paul Bishop: 317-332-8714.

The javelin event is not sanctioned as an outdoor track and field event through the Indiana High School Athletic Association. Norris and Brodt choose to specialize in this event; seek coaching and training throughout the state and nation; and compete at the national level through the United States Track and Field Association and the Amateur Athletic Union.
