Fishers Fifty Club raises money for local public safety officers

By LARRY LANNAN
LarryInFishers.com

When a Fishers police officer or firefighter is injured while performing her/his duties and must miss work, that city employee is eligible for workers compensation, but that is less than the public safety officer would earn while on duty. A local group is working to fill that gap by raising money to allow these workers to supplement their workers compensation payments with added benefits. That group is called the Fifty Club.

Halls will not be charged

The REPORTER

The Hamilton County Prosecutor's Office has decided not to file any criminal charges regarding last weekend's campaign sign incident.

Neither Hamilton County Council candidate Mark Hall nor his wife, Lisa Hall, who was seen on camera removing campaign signs belonging to Hamilton County Council President Steve Schwartz from the northwest corner of 211th Street and Oak Bay Drive will be prosecuted.

A press release from the sheriff's office read, "Investigators from the Hamilton County Sheriff's Office forwarded their findings in the case of missing campaign signs to the Hamilton County Prosecutor's Office on Wednesday, May 2. After reviewing the findings, no criminal charges are forthcoming in the incident."

Noblesville welcomes race fans with Indy Wings sign at Federal Hill Commons

The REPORTER

As Indiana prepares to host "The Greatest Spectacle in Racing" with the 102nd running of the Indianapolis 500 on May 27, race fans and residents alike can get their motors revved here in Noblesville thanks to the 500 Forward's Indy Wings program.

"We are excited to partner with 500 Forward to celebrate the Indy 500 and what the month of May means here in Noblesville," said Mayor John Ditslear. "The Indianapolis 500 holds a special place in the hearts of all Hoosiers, but it means a little more to the hometowns of drivers. Noblesville has been fortunate to have Conor Daly and Bryan Clauson represent our city and showcase their talents on the national stage since 2012."

A 12-foot by 12-foot sign has been mounted on the wall at Federal Hill Commons in Downtown Noblesville facing Conner Street. The sign states: "This is Noblesville. This is May" and includes areas sized for adults, children and pets with wings – an ode to the iconic Indianapolis Motor Speedway "Wing and Wheel" logo. The sign will remain up throughout May.

"As we prepare to kick off our summer programming Friday, having the Indy Wings sign is another great attraction for park visitors to enjoy at Federal Hill Commons," Noblesville Parks

Fear of litigation shouldn't trump the public's right to know

Why do some public officials try so hard to hide the reasons behind the dismissal of an employee when doing so only fuels the public's demands for answers? This behavior can bring harmful community gossip that sometimes accompanies these actions.

Future educator scholarship awarded to 10 local students

The REPORTER

Hamilton County students planning to pursue a career in education have been selected to receive the Next Generation Hoosier Educators Scholarship, according to State Rep. Donna Schaibley (R-Carmel).

Schaibley, who supported legislation creating this scholarship program, said the scholarship is awarded to top-performing students who commit to teaching in Indiana for five consecutive years. Recipients will receive $7,500 per year for up to four years to obtain a teaching license.

"We have some of the best colleges here in Indiana, and lawmakers want to encourage those who study here to continue to bring their high quality training to our K-12 schools," Schaibley said.

Sheridan to flush fire hydrants next week

The REPORTER

Sheridan Water Works announced biannual fire hydrant flushing will begin on Monday, May 7, and end on Friday, May 11.

Sheridan Water Works asks all residents to be aware of the flushing in their areas of town and that some temporary water discoloration could be a possible result.

Hydrant flushing is required periodically to clean the system and water mains. Sheridan Water Works will be flushing between the hours of 7 a.m. and 4 p.m. during that week.

If customers see a discoloration in their water, they should let their water run at maximum volume for two or three minutes or until the discoloration disappears. Water Superintendent Mark Evoy is asking residents for their patience. It is important that this process be done so our residents can receive the best quality water.

Sheridan Water Works is asking customers to minimize water usage as much as possible during the week of May 7-11.

Fishers Farmers' Market set to start Saturday

By LARRY LANNAN

The month of May is here, which often means it's Indy 500 month in Indiana, but Fishers will be ramping up another year of Farmers' Markets on the first Saturday of the month. However, the location will move slightly, at least for a while. The Farmers' Market has been held next to the Nickel Plate Amphitheater stage for a number of years, but that area is under construction and will be at least a few more weeks. That means the 2018 start of the Farmers' Market will be setup on the south end of

City Hall in the green area near 116th Street. The market begins each Saturday at 8 a.m. and ends at noon. There will be musical acts, but without a stage, city officials are working on having the acts locate on the steps of the Braden Building. There will be no change for the food available, including local produce, baked goods and prepared foods from over 60 full- and part-time vendors. The best places to park for the Farmers' Market will be the garages adjacent to The Switch Building and The Depot. IU Health Saxony will sponsor the weekly events. "The Fishers Farmers' Market represents what it means to be smart, vibrant and entrepreneurial in Fishers," said Mayor Scott Fadness in a city news release. "We're proud to work with Indiana vendors and local entrepreneurs who truly make Saturday mornings in Fishers a vibrant and welcoming experience for residents and visitors." Some special events for future Farmers' Markets include:

- Biz Kidz Day – July 14
- Health & Wellness Expo – Aug. 4
- Fall Harvest Festival – Sept. 29

INDY WINGS

Director Brandon Bennett said. "The sign looks fantastic and we encourage everyone to come check it out, take photos with it and use #IndyWings when you share it on social media." 500 Forward is a collaborative community effort between IMS, partner organizations and individuals to offer programming and events that celebrate the month of May and support a broad array of community initiatives. Now in its second year, the Indy Wings program is a partnership with the Arts Council of Indianapolis and artist Aaron Scamihorn, who created the art piece. Additional signs are up in Westfield, Broad Ripple, Fountain Square, Mass Ave and Main Street in Speedway. "These fantastic wings give everyone in Central Indiana the opportunity to showcase their Indy 500 pride in a fun and creative way. We're so excited Noblesville has partnered with 500 Forward to celebrate the 102nd Running and support our décor program," Hulman Motorsports Senior Vice President of Events Allison Melangton said. Noblesville's Daly will attempt to make the field for his fifth Indy 500 this month. His No. 17 Thom Burns Racing Honda is sponsored by the U.S. Air Force.

FIFTY CLUB

It's patterned after a similar organization that has been helping Noblesville for a number of years. The Fifty Club also provides supplemental benefits to a public safety officer's family when that worker suffers an untimely death. Fortunately, that has never happened in Fishers Police history and there has been one instance of a death with Fishers Fire many years ago. The Fifty Club is raising money to finance insurance policies for these added benefits. As part of the fund raising effort, a special event was held Monday evening at Top Golf. Charter memberships in the Fifty Club of Fishers cost $1,000 initially and $250 per year after that.

Regular memberships are an initial $250 and $250 per year. But the Fifty Club will take any donations from the public to help in their support of local public safety personnel. You can donate online at the group's website, available at this link. Learn more about the Fifty Club by listening to a recent podcast at this link.

COUNTY LINE

it obviously wanted from its school superintendent and its director of human resources. This came after months of questions and speculation as to why the two administrators had earlier been placed on administrative leave. The Indianapolis news media had a 'field day' reporting the schools' refusal to tell why the actions were taken, how much money was being spent on continued compensation and a demand to see public records. And, the publicity hasn't ended. Then, in recent weeks, the highly successful coach of the girls' high school basketball team was dismissed for reasons not revealed. This also caused an outcry for reasons including a student protest march through town and more negative publicity which will likely continue. In both these cases there was certainly no misappropriation of funds, no illegal misconduct and no violence alleged. In fact, nothing has been alleged because the school says it doesn't have to tell anything. Maybe so, maybe not, but it's not very good public relations. Why all the secrecy? We can logically assume that attorneys in our sue-happy environment are telling school officials to make "no comment" for fear of a lawsuit. But, we should not live in constant fear of a lawsuit at the expense of the public's right to know the reasoning behind our public officials' decisions. Now Carmel has a new blooming controversy involving the possible closing of two elementary schools. This time, there is a reason given. It's a predicted decrease in enrollment. The plan is apparently to build a new school in a new location to take the place of Carmel Elementary and Orchard Park schools. Opponents, now passing petitions against the plans, claim both the schools are operating at more than 90 percent capacity and building an expensive new facility will harm established neighborhoods where the two targeted schools are located. The matter could be a big issue in the November school board election when three of the five Carmel Clay board members' terms are up. Hopefully, this time officials will give more detail on their reasons for the closings and cost-effectiveness of building a new facility to take the place of the two affected schools.

ISP: Many drivers unaware of left lane 'slowpoke' law

By BRENNA DONNELLY
WISH-TV | wistv.com

Indiana State Police troopers say almost everyone they've pulled over in violation of the Indiana Left Lane Law told them they didn't know it was illegal to drive slower than traffic in the left-hand lane.

The measure went into effect in 2015 and states that drivers traveling in the left lane of a road with more than one lane must move to the right if there's a car behind them moving faster, even if the car in the left lane is going at or above the speed limit. Some have called it the "Slowpoke Law," referring to the slow drivers plugging up the passing lane.

"It's really annoying because it slows everybody down," said Tracey Everett, a driver in Indianapolis. "Especially when you're trying to get to work, get home from work. Super frustrating."

"I feel like it causes the drivers in the other lanes to speed up and it gets more dangerous as a result," added Courtney Burks, also an Indianapolis driver.

Indiana State Police troopers aren't enforcing polite driving when they pull over a slow left-lane driver; they say they're making roads safer.

"If they can't get by in the left lane, they're going to weave in and out, over to the center lane, to the right lane, back to left lane and that by itself creates substantial hazards for everyone else on the road," said Sergeant John Perrine with ISP.

A ticket for violating the Left Lane Law will cost between $150-200, according to Perrine. He said on average, ISP hands out 100 Left Lane Law tickets per year, and 1,500 warnings.

"More importantly, we want to educate people about the importance of staying out of that left lane. So the vast majority of the stops we've made over the last few years have resulted in warnings," said Perrine.

Captain Erv Faulk with ISP says in his experience, the law has helped him flag distracted or impaired drivers. He described an instance on Interstate 70 when he pulled over a slow left lane driver who was backing up traffic.

"I stop him, find out he's impaired, he's been drinking, he's trying to focus on the road. He doesn't want to get in those right two lanes," said Captain Faulk. "You end up having the traffic backed up, people getting mad."

"People just need to learn," said Dan Bookout, a driver in Indianapolis. "Stay out of the left lane unless you're passing."

SCHOLARSHIP

"These students are among the brightest our community has to offer and they deserve recognition for their hard work."

The Next Generation Hoosier Educators Scholarship is available to 200 high-achieving high school and college students each year who either graduate in the top 20 percent of their high school class or earn a score in the top 20th percentile on the SAT or ACT. Schaibley said in order for students to continue receiving the scholarship in college, students must earn a 3.0 cumulative GPA and complete at least 30 credit hours per year.

More than 500 students applied, and 200 scholarships were recently awarded to highly qualified students across the state, including these recipients from Hamilton County:

- Layla Adbelhak, Warren Central High School, Indiana University Bloomington;
- Ellie Avagian, Carmel High School, Indiana University Bloomington;
- Caroline Brenner, University High School of Indiana, Butler University;
- Carly Butz, Fishers High School, Indiana University Purdue University Indianapolis;
- Taylor Fischl, Guerin Catholic High School, Butler University;
- Alyssa Fleckenstein, Carmel High School, Ball State University;
- Grace Hamilton, Carmel High School, Marian University;

• Savannah Myers, Westfield High School, Marian University;

• Cassidy Ogan, Hamilton Southeastern High School, Ball State University; and

• Seth Pope, Noblesville High School, Ball State University.

"We're encouraged to have so many driven, passionate students applying for this teacher scholarship, and we look forward to the positive impact they will have in classrooms and school communities across Indiana," said Indiana Commissioner for Higher Education Teresa Lubbers.

The 2019-2020 application will be available beginning in the fall. Visit LearnMoreIndiana.org/nextteacher for more information.

Indy-based company gets exclusive contract for wound treatment device

The REPORTER

Cork Medical, LLC, an Indianapolis-based medical device manufacturer, announced last month that it has been chosen by HPS, a group purchasing organization (GPO), as its sole provider of negative pressure wound therapy systems.

HPS, a GPO based in Middleville, Mich., negotiates pricing with vendors and manufacturers for multiple types of products their members need with the goal of reducing cost. HPS is the GPO for 4,000 organizations in 22 states.

Cork Medical, focused on the prevention and treatment of wounds, manufactures the Nisus® Negative Pressure Wound Therapy (NPWT) system. Negative Pressure Wound Therapy has come to be regarded as one of the optimal treatment methods when treating chronic, acute and traumatic wounds, and pressure, diabetic and venous ulcers. Use of negative pressure not only shortens the healing time, which reduces cost, but often is the only therapy that heals wounds.

The Nisus® Negative Pressure Wound Therapy System provides gentle powered suction to treat and promote wound healing by aiding in the removal of excess fluid, infectious material and tissue debris. The Nisus device is powerful yet portable, allowing patients to achieve results while still maintaining mobility.

Benjamin Long, Contract Portfolio Analyst for HPS, said, "HPS is proud to offer Cork Medical's Nisus negative pressure system to our members. The exceptional pricing available through this contract, coupled with Cork Medi-cal's infrastructure of service centers throughout our member base, is a winning combination."

A better day in Noblesville one beverage at a time

The Reporter found Samantha Hornung giving away free beverages and good thoughts at the Speedway at 510 Westfield Road in Noblesville. Hornung told The Reporter she was not affiliated with any organization, but was out there to make herself feel better by asking others to care about the environment. She had purchased hundreds of 32-ounce cups and when offering them to Speedway customers she said, "All I ask is that you keep in mind recycle, reuse, stay away from Styrofoam." She was at Speedway because the local McDonald's had asked her to leave after purchasing and giving approximately 25 beverages at their location. Apparently Speedway was more willing to spread good cheer and environmental advice.

Former Arcadia councilman endorses candidate Cook

Dear Editor,
My name is Bill Cook. Based on my experience in public service and knowing the character traits it takes to serve a community well, I am fully endorsing Robyn Cook as our next Jackson Township Trustee.

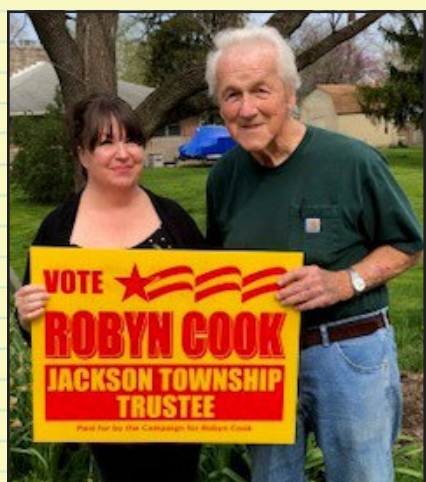

Photo provided

After serving on the Arcadia Town Council for 38 years, here are some key points I've learned:

- A person is elected to serve the community's best interest, not a personal agenda. To do so, they must be able to create honest relationships in all areas.
- Their constituents, their fellow elected officials, their employees and even those from collaborative efforts need to be treated fairly and respectfully. They need to extend this relationship equally, to all they serve.
- Additionally, there should never be a question of honesty or transparency and one must always be a good steward of taxpayer dollars.

These qualities are a must for any successful and respected elected official. I see these qualities in Robyn Cook.
Over the last 18 years, Robyn and I have developed a successful working relationship, based on mutual respect and consideration. She has accomplished this with many leaders throughout our county. Not only does she have the experience and skills to carryout Trustee duties, she can do so by offering substantial and immediate savings to taxpayers. She always looks for collaborative and workable solutions for community needs and works persistently to achieve these goals. Her faith and community involvement are good representation of the kindness and compassion she will bring to those in need.

I wholeheartedly believe she is the best candidate for Jackson Township Trustee. Join me on May 8 as we Look to Cook to put the Trust in Trustee.

Fred Glynn: A steady, principled voice in a changing county

Dear Editor:
Politics in Hamilton County feels different than it did just a decade ago. The infiltration of liberal fiscal policy, special interest influence and big vendor money has shaken the foundation of Hamilton County's position as the State's bastion of conservatism. This election, more than those past, seems to have been overtaken by "progressive" Republicans who are funded by vendors and political insiders. This shift in our local politics is frightening. Yet amidst the fog of this insurrection, there is a true fiscal conservative fighter who is shining through this election cycle – one who voters should make their flag-bearer for fiscal responsibility and principled governance.

idents, and an eye toward shrinking government and reducing spending.

Fred has kept his balance by laser-focusing on government waste. Fred has refused to fund pet environmental projects, voted to cut funding to entities that do not perform government functions and blocked county contracts from being awarded to political insiders and special interests. Fred Glynn is, in every way, a taxpayer's true hero.

Fred is quoted as saying, "It is a false narrative that we have to choose between good government and fiscal responsibility." This philosophy, while increasingly rare in local government leadership, has worked – and Fred Glynn has been its champion. There is no better proof of Fred's effectiveness in these areas than the fact that he has been endorsed by both the Hamilton County Fraternal Order of Police and the Fiscal Conservatives of Hamilton County! Now more than ever, we need Fred Glynn to hold government and its insiders accountable to the people it represents.

Please join me in voting for a true conservative in the Republican Primary on May 8. Join me in voting for a candidate who truly works for taxpayers, and not special interests. Join me in voting to reelect Fred Glynn to the Hamilton County Council so that we can have a dependable, reliable conservative voice during these uncertain times.

Fred supports spending when necessary, he has voted to:

- Fund new parks like the Koteewi archery range;
- Support public safety by approving a $8 million expansion of the county jail to support population growth; and
- Improve key county infrastructure projects like the Keystone Parkway Flyover.

He has done so responsibly, with a refusal to raise taxes on county res-

Miller Ambassador graduates grateful for engaging and inspiring experience

Dear Editor:

The 2018 Miller Ambassador class would like to express our sincere thanks to Noblesville Schools' administration, staff and students. We experienced a year of engaging, inspiring and empowered learning and immersion into a broader understanding of Noblesville Schools.

We join the 2017 class as ambassadors and are prepared to speak about the tremendous work done by Noblesville Schools to develop, care for and educate students and staff.

Leading Noblesville Schools is no small feat. We had known it was a massive job before we started our dive into understanding exactly what that entails for our school administration. It became very apparent as month by month we learned more about the different elements of organizational delegation, capacity and capabilities required of Noblesville's largest employer.

It all starts at the top, so we applaud School Superintendent Beth Niedermeyer for her leadership style and follow through. She is approachable, chooses quality staff, empowers them, challenges them and best of all truly cares about their development and welfare.

Every staff member we interacted with had commitment and passion. They embodied the vision set forth by the schools that empowers them to adapt, innovate and succeed every day. The strategic instructional model for teaching and learning consists of dynamic and compelling curriculum, purposeful assessment and reflection, meaningful learning experiences and a learning-centered culture. It's no wonder our school system is studied by other high performing school districts.

But let us tell you about the kids! WOW! The phrase constantly heard from ambassador classmates was, 'I sure didn't have this level of opportunity when I was a kid!' We had numerous occasions to interact with students each month. We tasted their culinary treats and were entertained by their award-winning musical and performance groups. We were educated by innovative and creative entrepreneurial students in classrooms and makerspaces. We met and listened to state honored interns and inventors. We were served food and coffee from special education business students. And because it is their business, we purchased the food and coffee in support of their endeavor. The student workout rooms are dynamic, motivating and fun. We learned that each school provided inviting culture and advanced methods of interaction. We even met one school's dog. He sometimes walks the halls with his owner giving students the stress-free enjoyment of petting a loving dog as it is passing them in the hall.

Additional behind the scene activities and successes that everyone in our community should know about include the food and transportation services provided to students. It is an unbelievably large task to strategize, process and deliver these services. The staff works extremely hard to meet all individual student needs. The bus transportation network at our large school system is demanding, yet they continue to be safe as demonstrated by 31 years of a 100 percent bus safety record.

We don't have space in this letter to tell you everything we have learned and experienced this past year. However, if you see any of us out and about don't hesitate to ask us more about our experience. We would love sharing it with you.

Go Millers!

Jim DeCamp endorses Will Riley for Hamilton County Superior Court 1

Dear Editor:

Will was very generous with his time in our conversation, as were the other candidates. The chord was struck with Will by:

- His fidelity to the U.S. and Indiana Constitutions: He spoke freely of these documents as foundational in all his deliberations.

- His inquisitive mind: He had been reading through The Federalist Papers, again.

- His ability to communicate legal principles in understandable ways: He spoke of interacting with law school students, probing their understanding and helping them test their own presuppositions.

- His insight into the role of Judge: Fairness to all parties, while upholding the law. He had written, "...we must help those who have lost their way, but hold our offenders accountable."

- His temperament: Personally engaging, while remaining impartial.

- His appreciation for liberty and individual rights as enshrined in the Constitution.

- His remarkable background:
  - Will was one of the lawyers who helped recover $3.9 billion for Indiana taxpayers from the tobacco companies and one of the lawyers who represented the Attorney General of California that recovered $12.5 billion for taxpayers from the tobacco companies.

- Closer to home, Will tried a six-week case in Hamilton County and recovered $17 million for his client and the client's business.

- Most recently, Will was a

semi-finalist to sit on the Indiana Supreme Court.

- His understanding of today's world: The relationship between the fabric of culture and law in a thriving society.

Appreciation for each candidate

I am grateful to each of the three candidates for giving their time in conversation. I have enormous respect for the background, experience, and contribution that each has made to our state and community.

My questions for each related to:

- One's view of the relevance of the Constitution.

- The relationship between individual liberty and the fabric of our culture.

- The foundation on which one stands when making decisions.

- How to shore up respect for the law.

- Possible threats to our freedoms.

In this process I renewed one friendship that goes back several years and made two new friends – all of whom I admire.

Some different, but not unrelated, notes

I couldn't help but reflect on the process of electing judges; this is a different animal.

For example, that these lawyers are obliged to run a campaign at all is awkward. We are talking about a very political process for an apolitical position. I in turn was obliged to ask different questions – more difficult than inquiring of those running for typical elected office.

The requirement for fundraising and party affiliation could also be complicating factors. Friendships, loyalty and resources can bring out the best in any of us ... as long as they don't carry encumbrances into the future. As a doctor requires a sterile surgical field, a judge must guard his thinking from matters that do not pertain to the case at hand. I doubt that money and connections are a help in such deliberations.

This is not to suggest there is a better way of finding judges; selection boards and/or appointment systems have their own drawbacks. In recent years while pondering one challenge or another in our country, I have often thought, "The antidote to this is an informed electorate."

I have done my best to make an informed decision, and wanted to share it.

Jim DeCamp endorses Matt Milam for Hamilton County Commissioner

Dear Editor:
 Matt's connection with ordinary people, his character in a shifting world and passion for integrity in government were determining factors in my endorsement.

What does the County Commission do?

A list of nearly 40 "General Powers and Duties" of the Hamilton County Commission is available at hamiltoncounty.in.gov/635/Commissioners-Responsibilities.

Among these responsibilities, commissioners:

- Hold the county's power of eminent domain.
- Maintain infrastructure including roads and bridges.
- Authorize county contracts.

Serious questions are being raised about how these commissioners do their work and about who influences them.

The Hamilton County Commission: Well-guarded

• Meeting, as they do, at 1:30 p.m. on a Monday, it's difficult for taxpayers to attend.

• Beginning, as they do, in Executive Session that can last an hour or more, business appears to be cooked before the commissioners step into the light.

• Receiving, as they do, hundreds of thousands of dollars in campaign contributions from vendors and contractors who do millions in business for the county, the commissioners invite awkward questions which taxpayers are asking.

Enter Matt Milam ...

Matt's connection with the people

Matt connects with ordinary people, and it's a big reason I support him for Hamilton County Commissioner. I want Hamilton County to get to know this good man.

Fourteen years ago, Matt went to the door of every home in Home Place. He led his community in resisting annexation by Carmel. In the process he earned the trust of his neighbors—rare in politics today.

As a county commissioner, Matt promises to promote the best interest of all the people of the county.

Matt's character in a shifting world

It's not hard to identify office holders who accept large campaign contributions from big players, then award contracts to big players. "That's not right," says Matt Milam.

Matt backs up his concerns with action. He willingly undergoes the headaches of a campaign. He is the definition of selflessness. He displays the character that he calls for in others.

Matt's passion for integrity

Matt has a passion for integrity where it is especially needed: In government today.

The most powerful lessons are not taught by the mouth, but displayed in one's life. At a time when the public is weary of corruption in politics and equally wondering if there is hope, Matt steps up to the plate. We need Matt's integrity on the Hamilton County Commission.

It's not the expenditure of money that is the immediate concern here. It's the possible connection between large campaign donations and the recipients of county money. What's happening now is odious.

I want my grandchildren growing up in a county where they look up to their leaders and give them the respect they have earned. I am encouraged that there is one such candidate running for Hamilton County Commissioner in 2018.

Matt Milam is that person. His life displays the character and integrity we need in county government.

Please join me in voting Matt Milam for Hamilton County Commissioner, District 1, on May 8!

Who should manage your county tax money? Examine the job description

Dear Editor:

Put yourself in the position of a business owner who is hiring a financial expert to manage the company's assets. That's the job description for each of the Hamilton County Council members in the four districts and three at-large.

Each person must collaborate with the county commissioners and the other council members for the good of the whole county. This "money manager" is responsible for budgeting all expenses and managing the county checkbook, without going into overdraft. "Hire" someone who will make fiscally responsible decisions for every tax-funded department or project and who can manage the county payroll. The right candidate can make Hamilton County (your "company") the best place in which to live and work, because it all comes down to the best use of your tax money.

Christine Pauley's resume for District 4 stands out as the most appropriate for this job, compared to the other three candidates. She is the current Carmel Clerk/Treasurer – the top Fiscal Officer – and the Executive Director of the Local Public Bond Bank. Prior to that, Ms. Pauley's financial experience was with the National Defense industry – both for the US Navy and Raytheon Corporation. She serves on the Police and Fire Merit and Pension Boards.

She negotiates the capital leases for police and fire vehicle requirements, manages the reporting requirements for FEMA grants and handles the public safety officers' payroll and pension programs. On top of all that, Ms Pauley is ethical, analytical and thorough in her communication and decision-making. So that makes her a great team player and visionary for the success of the whole county.

Garry Lee Boyer, I

June 16, 1958 – April 27, 2018

Garry Lee Boyer, I, 59, Sheridan, passed away Friday evening, April 27, 2018 at Maple Park Village in Westfield.

Born June 16, 1958 in Lebanon, Ind., he was the son of the late LaVerne Glen Boyer and Shirley Ann (Keeley) Lewis. Garry moved to Florida when he was about 12 years old, and graduated from Northeast H.S. in St. Petersburg, Fla.

For many years Garry farmed alongside his father; however, his entrepreneurial spirit kept pulling him in other directions. Garry was one of those people that seemed to know a little bit about almost everything – just ask him. For many years he operated a wholesale greenhouse for florists and landscapers. Garry was kind of a social butterfly, and making wholesale deliveries gave him plenty of opportunities to visit with customers. Garry also sold gently used merchandise and antiques out of the old Ben Franklin building in Sheridan.

Garry was a history buff and loved traveling to state parks.

He loved his family and his friends very much, and that went double for his dogs.

Garry was a loving and gentle man who loved to take in dogs that were in a bad situation and in need of a good home. Hungry, Buddy and Rocky were his favorite rescues.

Garry is survived by his son, Garry L. Boyer, II, Sheridan; two grandchildren, Brooklyn Lee Boyer and Madisyn Ann-Marie Jackson, Sheridan; and by his brother Michael Boyer (Cindy), Harrison, Ark. Garry is also survived by many stepsiblings.

He was preceded in death by both of his parents; stepfather, Jim Lewis; stepsister-in-law, Doris Adair; and his stepmother, Janie Adair Boyer.

Services will be held at 2 p.m. on Saturday, May 5, 2017, at Kercheval Funeral Home, 306 E. 10th St., Sheridan. Burial will follow at Spencer Cemetery in Sheridan. Visitation will be held from 4 to 8 p.m. on Friday, May 4, 2018 at Kercheval Funeral Home.

Fast start extends Carmel's win streak to four

Carmel got off to a fast start, and that carried the Greyhounds to their fourth straight win on Wednesday.

Carmel beat Metropolitan Conference opponent Lawrence Central 4-0 at Hartman field. The 'Hounds scored three runs in the first inning: Alex Brooks was walked on to first base, then moved to second on a Will Richter single. That brought up Jack Van Remortel, and he hit a double into right field to score Brooks and Richter. Van Remortel would later steal home for the inning's third run.

Van Remortel hit a solo home run in the sixth inning. He finished the game 2-for-2 at the plate and drove in three runs.

Drew Olssen pitched a complete game, striking out 10.

Carmel is back to .500 in the MIC at 5-5, and is 7-10 overall. Next up for the Greyhounds is a trip to Loeb Stadium today for a 6 p.m. game with Lafayette Jefferson.

Hamilton Heights' Cobe Koors prepares to swing during the Huskies' game with Lewis Cass on Wednesday.

Heights overwhelmed by Cass

Hamilton Heights was overwhelmed by Lewis Cass 12-1 in a five-inning Hoosier Conference game Wednesday at the Huskies' field.

Heights scored its run in the first inning when Gabe Reel's sacrifice fly scored Cole Meyer. The Kings tied the game with a third-inning run, then let loose for 11 runs in the fifth inning. The Huskies were held to two hits, one each from Meyer and Sam Fulton.

"Tonight we just ran into a better team," said Heights coach JR Moffatt. "Coach Greg Marschand is a hall of famer and they (Cass) played like a top tier 2A team tonight. Their fifth inning at the plate was as good as I've seen any team in the last three years. They put up double digits and every ball was hit as hard as you can hit it. It was impressive really. It was 1-1 and before you could blink it was game over. I told our guys that sometimes you just have to tip your cap to your opponent and say 'well done.'"

Heights finished Hoosier Conference East play at 4-4 and is 8-7 overall. The Huskies host Western Boone on Friday.

Tigers fall to Columbus East, McCutcheon

Fishers lost an 11-2 game at McCutcheon on Wednesday.

Both teams only had three hits apiece heading into the bottom of the fifth inning. However, what started as a pitcher's duel quickly turned into a blowout loss for the Class 4A No. 3 Tigers.

The Maverick leadoff batter singled to start the fifth inning. The next batter laid down a bunt, and the Tigers tried to force out the lead runner at second base. However, the runner beat the throw leaving runners at first and second with no outs. The Mavericks took advantage of the momentum from that play scoring five runs in the inning with runners reaching on a hit batter, a walk, two errors, and a single.

Albright (3-2) suffered the loss allowing five earned runs on five hits. Albright struck out eight in five innings.

The Mavericks would extend their lead to 11-2 in the sixth inning before Alex Klotz worked out of the jam in the sixth recording three outs from the four batters he faced.

The Tigers finished the game with only three hits: An RBI double from Kiel Brenzewski, an RBI single from Matthew Wolff, and a single by Nick Lukac. Brenzewski's double extended his school record hitting streak to 20 games.

On Tuesday, the Tigers dropped a 12-10 slugfest to Columbus East. Both teams combined for 22 runs on 28 hits. Neither team made a defensive error meaning all the runs in the game were earned.

The Tigers outhit the Olympians 16-12, but the Tigers left the bases loaded in three different innings and had the tying run on second with one out in the seventh inning. After trailing by scores of 7-2 and 12-5, the Tigers mounted a comeback rally scoring eight runs in the final three innings, but they fell just short as the final two Tiger batters struck out to end the game with runners on second and third bases.

Alex Jamieson led the way for the Tigers finishing 4-for-4 with two doubles, 3 RBIs, a walk, and two runs scored. Craig Yoho was also perfect on the night finishing 3-for-3 with a walk, a hit by pitch, and two runs scored. Jack Roudebush and Nick Lukac both contributed a two-hit night and three RBIs. One of Roudebush's hits was a two-run double. Kiel Brenzewski also contributed an RBI double in the game. JJ Woolwine, Ben Burton, Matthew Wolff, and Grant Whetsel all contributed one hit each.

Tristan Baker (1-1) made his first start of the season, pitching three and a third innings allowing six earned runs on four hits. Owens struck out three in his one and a third innings of work.

Fishers is 15-6 and hosts Carmel on Friday.

Hamilton Heights had a "complete turnaround," as coach Landi Lockwood said, Wednesday night: After getting run-ruled by Lewis Cass on Tuesday, the Huskies scored a run-rule win over the Kings, 13-0 in five innings.

Adyson Baber pitched a no-hitter and issued no walks.

"Adyson Baber had one of her best nights of the season on the mound tonight," said Lockwood. "She controlled her pitches, put it where we wanted and ended up throwing a no-hitter."

Hamilton Heights picked up its second straight 5-0 sweep on Tuesday, beating Frankton.

The Huskies won four of the five matches in straight sets, while the No. 1 doubles team of Kylie Rose and Emma Knowles came back from a set down to win 6-0 in the third. Heights coach Cameron Scott said the victory wasn't nearly as easy as the score made it seem, saying that Frankton has good, young players. Also the conditions were "insane," said the coach.

"Hats off to our girls for battling and thinking their way through it all," said Scott. "These ladies have found a way to play some strong tennis this season in the midst of cold, snow, lots of wind, and every once in a while even a little heat. It's sure been a crazy spring, but there's no doubt it's making us better."

The Huskies junior varsity girls came out on top as well, getting singles wins from Hailey VanOeveren, Maddie Nickel, and Jackie Beery and doubles wins from Addi Gordon/Katy Beery, Gwendolyn Kelley/Kate Biggs, Courtney Martin/Brooke Sears, Caitlin Hartwick/Ellie Arrowood, and
