Bridge bids, youth awards set Monday

By FRED SWIFT
ReadTheReporter.com

Bids will be taken Monday by county commissioners for a new pedestrian bridge over White River at Logan Street. The structure is to be connected to the existing vehicle bridge to afford better and safer access to the Federal Hill Commons park complex west of the river.

In their regular meeting, commissioners will also consider the sale of an abandoned section of right-of-way in the platted addition of Farmington as recommended by the county highway department. Following the meeting, commissioners will present their annual Youth Service Award to a graduating senior from each of the county's high schools. The overall winner will receive a scholarship.

The awards program was started several years ago by now-retired George Kristo, director of the Council on Alcohol and Other Drugs which works to combat the use of alcohol and illegal drugs by county youth.

A few thoughts from Audrey

She put the thoughts into my head and the words into my mouth. Her name is Audrey. She is my mother.

Funny how I have found myself sounding like my mother, more and more.

I have written about her "Audreyisms" as far as the expressions she has often spoken.

You have read about people being "funny turned" in my column. That came from my mom. People who ruffle her feathers or are a bit odd. My friends have latched on to that saying. It can explain a lot without sounding so judgmental. "Well, they are a bit funny turned."

I'm often heard saying, "Oh my goodness, I about had a come apart." That expression has now filtered amongst my friends and coworkers. "Come apart" can mean meltdown or connoption fit. Let's just say that a connoption fit is not pretty.

If you get my mother and her sisters together you will, more than a half dozen times, hear them say "well, bless her heart." This can mean that a person is making a bad decision, wearing an outfit unbecoming to her figure or age, is sickly, or any number of things. Apparently saying "bless her heart" allows you to give your opinion no matter what it is.

Mom has taught me a few peculiar superstitions or old wives' tales.

One being that if a bird gets in the house it is a sign of impending death. Just for the record I have had two birds get into my house over the some 40 years that I have lived there and no one died that I knew.

Speaking of death: Did you know that death comes in threes? If someone close to you passes away then expect two more to follow. I have found that to sometimes be true. (Even in Hollywood and politics this seems to hold true ... just saying).

Mom says that you should never sweep or vacuum the floors after sundown. It will cause bad luck. That explains a few bad luck situations.

Don't comb your hair after dark because it will cause you to forget. Seriously?

If you are sewing and you cannot finish it by Friday you should not start it. I'm still trying to figure out that one.

Back in the day, before ultrasounds were given to a pregnant woman, my aunts would

HSE Schools producing FFA leaders

When you think of a suburban school system like Hamilton Southeastern, farming does not always come to mind first. However, HSE as a school corporation has a solid history tied to the industry of agriculture. That connection continues to this day.

That connection was on full display at the Wednesday meeting of the Hamilton Southeastern School Board. Two graduates of local high schools demonstrated the leadership and public speaking skills they have gained as state-wide officials of FFA.

The current FFA Indiana President, Claire Baney, and Sneha Jogi, northern Indiana vice president of the organization, told the board how FFA had steered them in their educational experience. Baney is a graduate of HSE High School and Jogi is a graduate of Fishers High School. They each deferred their respective college educations to serve as FFA officials.

THOUGHTS

predict whether the baby would be a boy or a girl by how high or low a woman was carrying the baby. High = girl. Low = boy.

If a woman has heartburn she should expect lots of hair on the baby.

My mom still tells me that I need a jacket or I will catch my death of pneumonia. She better never catch me going outside with wet hair. I'm sure to catch a cold. She often tells me I am cold and I insist that I am not and she tells me I am wrong. And we both laugh.

At 92 my mother still has her sense of humor. I'm just thankful that I have her and her sense of humor.

I hold these thoughts in my mind and in my heart. They make my mom and her sisters who they are, loving and caring and oh so funny. And I might add, a bit strong-willed. I may have caught that from her as well.

I hope I can remember not to comb my hair after dark. I love my mother and her "Audreyisms." Happy Mother's day, Mom!

Man charged in poaching of three-legged deer

The REPORTER

Indiana Conservation Officers have filed charges in Hamilton County against a man who shot a three-legged deer in January 2017. Local residents of Deming had frequently spotted the doe for several years, as it raised several sets of fawns. Local deer hunters had formed a pact to leave the deer alone.

Allegedly, the doe was shot illegally with a rifle from the suspect's vehicle on a public roadway and was left in the field. The deer was recovered by Indiana Conservation Officers, who donated the venison. In February 2018, a phone tip led to a suspect, who later admitted to taking the deer.

The suspect is currently facing multiple Class C Misdemeanor charges, including additional wildlife offenses. The Indiana Department of Natural Resources did not identify the person charged.

Indiana Conservation Officers thank the person who called their tip line to report the information that led to a successful resolution of this case. Anyone wishing to report poaching activity can do so at any time by calling 1-800-TIP-IDNR. All information, including that of the caller, will be kept confidential and reward money can be issued for information that leads to the conviction of violators.

Bill adding SMA to newborn screenings signed into law

The REPORTER

On Friday, Gov. Eric Holcomb ceremonially signed into law new legislation at the Cure SMA Walk-N-Roll event in Carmel. The bill, which adds two tests to Indiana's newborn screening panel, was authored by State Rep. Douglas Gutwein (R-Francesville) and co-authored by State Rep. Donna Schaibley (R-Carmel).

This new law requires spinal muscular atrophy (SMA) and severe combined immunodeficiency (SCID) to be added to the list of screenings newborns receive in Indiana shortly after their births. These screenings identify diseases in newborns, providing opportunities for early interventions that can prevent death or the need for long-term care.

"I am totally overwhelmed by the support that this legislation received," Gutwein said. "Making this testing automatic for newborns means physicians can begin a treatment plan almost immediately. I am very excited we were able to have a ceremonial signing during this special event to highlight the importance of this new law. Hoosier parents can now rest assured that their babies are being tested at birth for these diseases so they may have more treatment options and more hopeful outcomes."

Spinal muscular atrophy is a severe genetic disorder that alters the motor nerve cells in the spinal cord. Once affected by SMA, those cells will not regenerate, which results in muscle weakness and can eventually lead to the inability to walk, talk, swallow and breathe.

"Since the beginning, there has been a tremendous amount of support from both lawmakers and the community to see this proposal become law," Schaibley said. "The success here today is a testament to how important this legislation is to families and the lifesaving impact it will have for children in the future. Testing before symptoms arise gives families the opportunity to fight these diseases and help their kids go on to lead healthier lives."

The Cure SMA Walk-N-Roll event was held in honor of Graham Vollmer, a three-year-old with SMA. Diagnosed at eight weeks old, Graham was not expected to see his second birthday. The Walk-N-Roll event, attended by more than 600 people, was a celebration of Graham's third birthday and a fundraising event that raised over $60,000 for SMA research. His mother, Adrienne Vollmer, was an advocate for the new law and the organizer for the event.

"Our family has been so honored to be a part of the process to add SMA to Indiana's newborn screening panel," Vollmer said. "We hope this legislation will be able to save families from some of the heartache we experienced when Graham was diagnosed. Our Walk for Graham this year is the perfect way to celebrate the success of this law and the families it will impact."

According to CureSMA.org, approximately 1 in 11,000 babies are diagnosed with SMA. Out of the four types of SMA, the most severe and common is usually diagnosed within the first few months of an infant's life. Gutwein said children who received treatment for SMA through a new FDA-approved drug therapy were able to achieve unprecedented motor milestones.

"Indiana is at the leading edge of an effort to save the lives of babies born with spinal muscular atrophy," said Kenneth Hobby, president of Cure SMA. "SMA is currently the number one genetic cause of death for infants under two years of age, but we now have an historic opportunity to change that through newborn screening and early treatment. We congratulate SMA advocate Adrienne Vollmer, Representative Doug Gutwein, and Governor Eric Holcomb on their quick action on this issue, and hope that more states will follow their lead in the coming months."

To more quickly begin saving the lives of newborns, Gutwein said House Enrolled Act 1017 went into effect April 1.

THANK YOU FOR VOTING!

"CONGRATULATIONS TO OUR NEW HAMILTON COUNTY SHERIFF. I THANK EVERYONE FOR YOUR SUPPORT. ALTHOUGH IT WASN'T THE RESULT WE HOPED FOR, WE MUST NOW WORK TOGETHER TO IMPROVE OUR EFFORTS IN COMMUNITY OUTREACH AND MAINTAINING OUR INTEGRITY AS A LAW ENFORCEMENT AGENCY. See what's new, improved at Indiana's state parks this year

The summer recreational season is approaching, and Indiana State Parks is working hard to make sure visitors have a good experience.

The system of 24 parks and eight reservoir properties has finished or will complete this year hundreds of improvements to enhance campgrounds, restrooms and trails.

Partners and volunteers have helped with many of the projects. Non-profit "friends" groups have contributed thousands of dollars and hours.

Collectively, Indiana State Park properties have more than 2,000 buildings, 700 miles of trails, 636 hotel/lodge rooms, 17 marinas, 75 launching ramps, 17 swimming pools, 15 beaches, 7,701 campsites, more than 200 shelters, 160 or so playgrounds and 150 cabins.

That's a lot of maintenance, and a lot of time is focused on basic facility care.

"Creative and dedicated employees stretch the dollars that you pay when you enter the gate, rent a campsite, launch a boat or attend a special workshop or program," said Ginger Murphy, deputy director of Indiana State Parks.

A complete list of park improvements is at State-

Parks.IN.gov/9447.htm.

Improvements include:

- New, efficient LED lighting in various buildings, from offices to comfort stations.
- New pavement on entrance roads at Raccoon State Recreation Area (SRA) and at Brown County State Park.
- Various small campground improvements in different locations totaling $750,000, ranging from leveling and adding gravel to sites to new fixtures, sinks and dividers in comfort stations, and upgrades from 30- to 50-amp service.

- Invasive plant removal, prescribed fire and habitat improvements totaling several thousand acres at Fort Harrison, Spring Mill, Clifty Falls, Prophetstown, Tippecanoe River, Indiana Dunes and McCormick's Creek state parks and Salamonie, Mississinewa, Hardy, Patoka, Monroe and Brookville lakes.

- Fish habitat improvements at several reservoirs.

- Trail work: A new bridge on the accessible trail at O'Bannon Woods State Park between the nature center and group camp; a new wetland trail boardwalk coming this summer at Indiana Dunes; trail structure repairs at Hardy Lake; trail armoring by Friends of Fort Harrison State Park.

- New trees in several locations to offset the loss of ash trees to emerald ash borer at Salamonie Lake, Raccoon SRA, and Clifty Falls and Lincoln state parks.

- Archery trail remodels at Patoka and Brookville lakes. A new range will open in Miami SRA at Mississinewa Lake this summer.

- A few pet-friendly rooms at each of the seven state park inns.

TODAY'S BIBLE READING

And it came to pass, when Jesus had finished all these sayings, he said unto his disciples, Ye know that after two days is the feast of the passover; and the Son of man is betrayed to be crucified. Then assembled together the chief priests, and the scribes, and the elders of the people, unto the palace of the high priest, who was called Caiaphas, And consulted that they might take Jesus by subtilty, and kill him. But they said, Not on the feast day, lest there be an uproar among the people.

Three county teams reach state finals

Three Hamilton County boys volleyball teams are headed to the Indiana Boys Volleyball Coaches Association state finals.

All three teams hosted their own regional on Saturday - and won. Carmel, the defending state champion and second seed in the tournament, got a first-round bye, then beat No. 18 Hammond Bishop Noll 25-12, 25-9, 25-18 to win its regional.

Sixth-seeded Fishers also swept through its regional in straight sets, defeating No. 27 Perry Meridian 25-9, 25-9, 25-10 and No. 11 Guerin Catholic 25-14, 25-17, 25-11. The Golden Eagles beat No. 22 Lafayette Jefferson in the first round, 25-19, 25-19, 25-21.

Noblesville, the seventh-seed, cruised to a regional victory by beating No. 26 Tri-West 25-5, 25-6, 25-8 and No. 23 Herron 25-11, 25-12, 25-21.

Hamilton Southeastern, rated No. 19, fell to No. 14 Franklin Community in the first round. The score was 26-24, 20-25, 25-16, 25-18.

There were 29 teams that competed in the regional level. The first three seeds (Cathedral, Carmel and Roncalli) all had first-round byes.

The eight-team state championship will begin with the quarter-finals next Friday (May 18) at Southport. Carmel and Noblesville will play each other in an 6 p.m. match, with Fishers taking on No. 3 Roncalli in the night's other 8 p.m. match. The winners of these matches will play in the semi-finals at 11 a.m. Saturday, May 19.

On the other side of the bracket, No. 1 Cathedral takes on No. 8 Brebeuf Jesuit at 6 p.m., with No. 4 Chesterton playing No. 5 Brownsburg at 8 p.m. Those winners will face off in the other semi-final, which is also set to begin at 11 a.m. The state championship match is scheduled for 3:30 p.m. on Saturday, May 19.

Tigers beat Westfield to clinch conference series

Fishers rode a dominating effort from Grant Richardson to a 6-0 win at Westfield Saturday in the final game of the Hoosier Crossroads Conference series between the teams. The Tigers won the series 2-1.

Richardson totaled 12 strikeouts in the game and issued no walks. The Class 4A No. 6 Tigers got on the board in the first inning, with JJ Woolwine scoring on Kiel Brenzewski's RBI groundout. Fishers added two runs in the fifth inning: Ben Burton scored on an error, then Craig Yoho tagged up and went home after Richardson hit a sacrifice fly.

The Tigers scored twice in the sixth inning, with Alex Jamieson smacking a right field double to send Matt Wolff home.

Tristan Baker came in to courtesy run for Jamieson, and he would eventually score on Jack Roudebush's RBI line drive. Yoho scored for Fishers in the seventh run, on a fielder's choice by Wolff.

Yoho finished the game 2-for-3 at the plate. Richardson and Woolwine both hit one double.

Logan McClurg, Matthew Meyer and Trey Anderson each had one hit for the Shamrocks. Meyer pitched six innings, striking out five.

Fishers is 19-7 overall and sits at 12-3 in the conference, behind Zionsville's 13-2 record. The two teams will play each other in an HCC series this weekend. But first, the Tigers will play at Columbus North on Monday.

Westfield finished HCC play 8-10 and is 11-12 overall. The 'Rocks will host Kokomo on Monday.

Noblesville honored its seniors in the best way possible on Saturday: A dominating win.

The Millers beat Brownsburg 13-3 in five innings at Don Dunker Field, completing a Hoosier Crossroads Conference sweep of the Bulldogs. Noblesville scored in each inning, including six runs in the third.

Tyler Owens drew a bases-loaded walk to get the inning's first run, sending in Bryce Randolph. Cooper Miles hit a two RBI single to drive in Camden Nagel and Zac Tuinei. Then, Jacob Thieman stepped up and smacked a three-RBI triple, getting Tyler Owens, Miles and DJ Owens home.

Thieman finished the game with four RBIs. DJ Owens was perfect at the plate, going 3-for-3, including two doubles. He drove in three runs. Tyler Owens and Miles both scored three runs.

Jackson Ramey got the win, pitching four and a third innings.

The Millers are 8-7 in the conference and 17-10 overall. Noblesville begins its final HCC series of the year on Wednesday at

CORRECTION

The headline of the Westfield-Fishers baseball article in Saturday's edition of the Reporter contained the wrong name. It should have read "Yoder's three-RBI double sends Westfield past Fishers." Also, the second sentence of the photo caption should have read "Brandon Yoder hit a three-RBI double in the seventh, and that would lead to a 6-4 win for Westfield." The Reporter regrets the errors.

'Blazers cruise at Lutheran doubleheader

University easily won both games of a doubleheader at Lutheran on Saturday.

In the first game, the Trailblazers cruised 19-2 in six innings. Cade Carlson led the way on the mound with 13 strikeouts and no walks.

Garrett Hill hit two home runs for University as part of a 3-for-5 day at the plate. Hill smacked his first homer for three runs in the fourth inning, and his second home run for two runs in the sixth inning. Asher Thompson followed that up with a two-run homer in the sixth.

Kolton Stevens went 4-for-5 at the plate. Dawson Estep, Thompson and Tyler Galyean also had three hits. Hill totaled five RBIs for the game, with Estep, Ryan Williams and Thompson driving in three runs each. Estep, Hill, Thompson and Galyean scored three runs each.

In the second game, University won 10-1. Hill scored the Trailblazers' first run in the top of the first inning with - what else? - a home run. The Saints tied it up in the bottom of the inning with their own homer.

University took the lead for good in the third inning. Hill batted in Estep with a center field hit, then Galyean's RBI ground-out got Hill home. In the third inning, Estep doubled in Ryan Williams, then Hill stepped up and cracked his second homer of the game, and fourth of the day, getting both himself and Estep in to score.

The 'Blazers wouldn't let up in the seventh inning: Estep sent a two-run homer over the right field fence, with Williams also scoring. Later, Galyean got on base with a triple, and Ben Ewer sent him home with a home run.

Estep and Hill both finished with three hits and three runs scored. Zach Janssen pitched four innings, striking out nine, while Hill tossed six strikeouts in two and two-thirds innings on the mound.

University is 18-5 and plays at Cardinal Ritter on Monday.

200th win for Team Penske...

Will Power defends Grand Prix championship

By RICHIE HALL

Reporter Sports Editor

The Indianapolis Motor Speedway is full of tradition, and it seems that a new tradition is under way: Will Power always does well at the INDYCAR Grand Prix.

The Australian defended his championship at the Grand Prix, which took place Saturday at IMS. Power led early in the race, hung around during the middle stages, then took the lead for good on Lap 51 and ran in front for the remainder of the 85-lap race.

After a slow start to the season, Power said "it's just fantastic to get the win." This is the third win at the Grand Prix for Power and his 33rd career win. It also marked the 200th win for Team Penske, a name that has become so well-associated with the Speedway, and Power is aware of the legacy that Roger Penske has built.

"Two hundred wins in IndyCar shows Roger's determination," said Power. "It's amazing to be a part of that history of Penske racing, because it's such a deep history. I'm so grateful to be able to drive for this team."

Power started at the pole, and led the race for the first 19 laps. After that, the lead changed hands five different times over the next seven laps, as the front-runners all made their first pit stops. Sebastien Bourdais, Josef Newgarden, Alexander Rossi and rookie Kyle Kaiser all held the top spot at one point.

On Lap 26, Canadian Robert Wickens moved up to the lead. The 29-year-old from Toronto is racing his first full year in the Verizon IndyCar Series. He has been a top-level racer since his teenage years, and spent the last six seasons in the Deutsche Tourenwagen Masters, a German racing league with car designs similar to that of the stock cars used in NASCAR. Wickens won six DTM races.

Reporter photos by Kent Graham

Will Power won his second consecutive INDYCAR Grand Prix Saturday at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway. It's the third overall win for Power and marked the 200th win for Team Penske.

Wickens got his first taste of IndyCar last June, when drove Mikhail Aleshin's practice car for Schmidt Peterson Motorsports as the IndyCar drivers prepared for the Kohler Grand Prix in Wisconsin. Wickens was on standby because Aleshin was having visa issues returning from France after participating in the 24 Hours of Le Mans.

Aleshin was able to race, but SPM was impressed enough to give Wickens a full-time ride for 2018. Since then, Wickens has been impressive, finishing second at the Phoenix Grand Prix and fourth in the Grand Prix of Alabama.

Wickens wound up leading a total of 20 laps at IMS, holding on to the lead until Lap 41, when Power returned to the front. That's when the second round of pits began, and Power temporarily ceded first place to Graham Rahal, the seventh leader of the race (tying a race record).

Wickens got back in front on Lap 46, but Power moved ahead on Lap 51 and stayed in front until the checkered flag. At that point, Power's toughest opponent was dehydration, admitting as such once the race was finished on the muggy day. Power admitted that he didn't drink enough before the race, and not at all during the race.

"When you're racing hard, you forget to drink," said Power. "While you're racing you're fine, but as soon as I stopped, it was like 'ooh.'"

Meanwhile, Scott Dixon made a steady climb from the 18th starting position to second place, which is where he finished,

2.2443 seconds behind Power.

"The goal is to finish better than 18th, that's for sure," said Dixon. "You have an understanding that you can move up."

Wickens wound up in third place, easily the highest-finishing rookie. Wickens said that the strategy of saving fuel during the race was a new experience for him.

"I've never raced in a category where you had to save fuel," said Wickens. He said that apart "from warm-ups and in and out laps, it's not something that I'm practicing very much."

"I haven't raced him enough," said Power. "We passed each other twice, no problem. He's obviously very good. Being fuel safe is probably a new thing for him." Power also noted that Wickens has as much experience as he does at the top level.

Bourdais finished fourth, while Rossi took fifth.

Next up is the biggest of all, the Indianapolis 500. All three men have this race in their sights - Dixon is the 2008 champion, Power is a perennial contender, and Wickens appears to be another promising rookie in a race that has seen its share of first-timers do well.

Power said he's had his eye on the 500 since last year, and winning the Grand Prix is a good start to the month of May.

"I've had this a couple times now," said Power. "It always helps you because the team has more confidence. I'm very upbeat and have a lot of confidence."

"I've dreamed of doing a 500 since I can remember," said Wickens. "I just want to take it one day at a time, because every day in IndyCar seems to be different. All next week's going to be interesting with practice."

Will Power collected his 33rd career win at the INDYCAR Grand Prix.
