Surface Transportation Board gives the green light to Nickel Plate Trail

By LARRY LANNAN
LarryInFishers.com

The federal Surface Transportation Board has issued its ruling on the future of the Nickel Plate Rail Line, and rules in favor of Fishers, Noblesville and Hamilton County in their plans to convert the line from rails to trails. You can read the entire text of the decision at this link.

This will now allow conversion of the Nickel Plate Rail into a pedestrian trail pursuant to the National Trails System Act and the Board's interim trail use regulations.

The City of Fishers, in a news release, says local officials will immediately pursue the conversion of the Nickel Plate line to a trail from 96th Street to 146th Street.

There were a number of comments received by local residents and a "Save the Trail" group organized to preserve the Nickel Plate line for trains, but the board ruled in favor of the local governmental units in their plans using the rail banking process to convert the rail line into a trail, much like the Monon Trail in Carmel.

Fishers announced Wednesday that it is forming a committee to work on plans for the Nickel Plate Trail. For more on that, use this link.

Dr. Beresford brings with him a wealth of experience and expansive leadership qualities developed from his 35 years in public education. For the past 25 years, he has overseen various aspects of the daily operations at Hamilton Southeastern Schools, Indiana's fourth largest school district, comprising of nearly 22,000 students and 2,500 employees. His duties have also included leading student, parent and staff services; developing school safety initiatives; developing mental health initiatives; and facilitating teacher recruitment and talent development.

He began his public education as a high school English and journalism teacher, serving as a school counselor, director of school counseling, assistant principal, principal and most recently, assistant superintendent of staff and student services at Hamilton Southeastern Schools.

Dr. Beresford earned his Bachelor of Arts from Eastern Illinois University in English and Journalism, his Master of Science in School Counseling from Butler University, and his Doctor of Education in Educational Administration from Ball State University.

"I am thrilled and honored to be a part of the CCS staff and Carmel community," said Dr. Beresford. "I find great fulfillment in working with teams of skilled and motivated individuals who work extremely hard to meet the academic and social-emotional needs of students. I know I am joining a group of educators that not only want to continue the excellence that is CCS, but also want to grow and improve for the students and families we serve."

Robotics revolutionizing STEM at Heights

The REPORTER

What started out as a handful of students interested in robotics quickly evolved into a school club and a new Robotics program at Hamilton Heights Middle School. For Lacy Bowyer, the new Robotics Teacher and Robotics Club Coach, it has been a whirlwind year.

This 1998 Hamilton Heights graduate began her career as a special education teacher. She moved on to fifth grade where she taught for 15 years prior to moving to the middle school to head up the new robotics program at the beginning of the year. For Bowyer, the transition to Robotics was exciting and she was a perfect fit for the subject and the role.

"It exceeded all my expectations," said Bowyer as her first year as the Middle School Robotics teacher and Robotics Coach draws to a close. "Everything about this program was new and to be a part of designing the program, creating the curriculum, attending training, and teaching the material has really been exciting. The bonus, added Lacy, is the response from students to the class and success of the club."

Bowyer, who sees an average of 130 students a day, said the students seem to share her love of robotics education and have quickly connected with the material.

"Our project-based activities engage students across the board," Bowyer pointed out. "STEM is the future and students are inspired to build their technical and interpersonal skills through this class and the club," she continued. "This is their first entry into this field at Heights and it been very well received."

Bowyer's efforts have not gone unnoticed earning 2017-18 Indiana VEX Teacher of the Year award at the State Competition.

"We had four teams comprised of four to nine students per team who competed throughout the year," said Bowyer of the Robotics Club some 30 students strong and growing.

“Three of the four teams made it to state and all three teams earned an invitation to the VEX Robotics World Competition in Louisville, Ky. (April 29-May 1)! We were the only school from Hamilton County represented among more than 400 teams from over 30 countries. One of our teams made it all the way to the semi-finals, and we received numerous compliments from the judges on how great our teams interviewed because they were 100 percent involved in every aspect of their robot, from the concept and design to the programming and the execution!”

All three of Bowyer’s teams that competed at the world championship are ranked in the top 6 percent of all registered middle school VEX IQ teams in the world. Bowyer credits her assistant Robotics Coach, Chad Jung, as instrumental to the club’s success: “I couldn’t have done it without him.”

Bowyer says she is excited about the year ahead.

“We had a call out for incoming sixth graders and had many express interest in participating,” Bowyer added. “We have set the bar high and our students continue to rise to the challenge. I’m looking forward to the energy and excitement the incoming sixth graders will bring.”

Growing up at 'Brighton Beach' Calling all bicyclists

The REPORTER

Hamilton County Theatre Guild proudly presents, "Brighton Beach Memoirs," a drama running now through June 17 at The Belfry Theatre in Noblesville.

"Brighton Beach Memoirs" is a wonderful, semi-autobiographical comedy with heart, wit and hysterical insights into family life and growing up – just a little off-center.

Fifteen-year-old Eugene Jerome is desperately trying to uncover life's mysteries, but his family keeps hiding the clues. Even so, he manages to keep his priorities – baseball and girls – firmly in order throughout Neil Simon's hilarious play about growing up in Brooklyn during the late 1930s.

Life is definitely never dull with seven people living under the same roof. Dad works two jobs to make ends meet, older brother Stanley is eager to dispense sage advice, and Aunt Blanche tries to cope as a single parent.

This production is rated PG-13 for mature audiences and may not be suitable for younger audiences, due to mature language and subjects.

Directed by James H. Williams of Fishers, the dramatic comedy is by Neil Simon and presented by special arrangement with Samuel French Inc. Assistant director is Fran Knapp.

The drama runs through June 17, with eight shows, including matinees on the second and third Sunday. Tickets are $15 for adults, $12 for ages 12 and younger.

Have you wondered what it would be like to ride with a group of bicyclists or just have a good ride through the countryside?

The Central Indiana Bicycle Association (CIBA) is sponsoring a group ride from Noblesville on Saturday, June 9. The ride starts from the north parking lot next to Field Drive at the Noblesville High School at 8 a.m. A short 20-mile ride with a food stop at the half-way point is offered, along with longer rides of 37 miles to 77 miles. The ride is free and open to members of the community.

You should arrive at the start no later than 7:45 a.m. You can get your bicycle ready and sign in at the registration table.

A helmet must be worn while riding and a red blinking safety light on the back of the bike is recommended.

You can expect a well-marked route, maps and cue sheets for the routes and food and water at the rest stops. If you have a mechanical breakdown, a person will transport you back to the parking lot. An experienced rider will probably be available as a mentor.

Riders should be comfortable riding on mostly county roads with some city streets and state highways.

More information is available about the Central Indiana Bicycle Association at cibaride.org. Contact John South at south87@sbeglobal.net or call 317-531-0361 if you have questions or need more information.

Come explore Sheridan photographer history

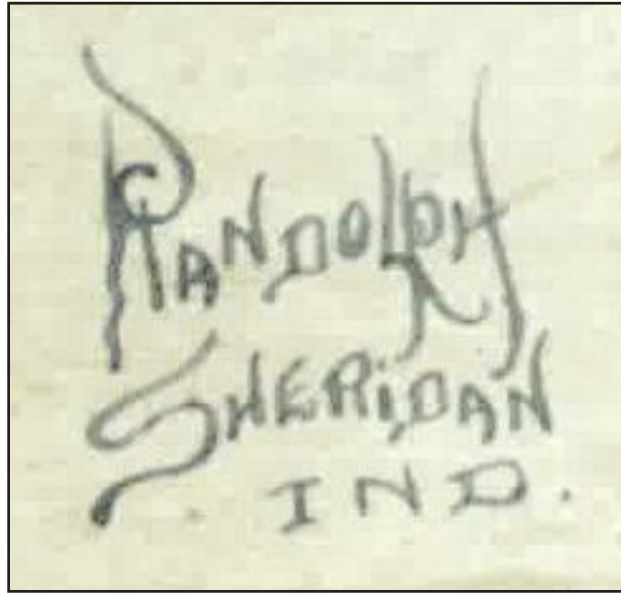

The REPORTER

The Sheridan Historical Society is presenting an interesting program for community members at 7 p.m. this coming Monday, June 4 at the Sheridan Public Library. Two co-authors from Cadiz, Ky. will be in town to continue their work on a picture book about a Sheridan businesswoman from the early part of the 20th century.

Mamie Randolph was a photographer who came to Sheridan from Cadiz, Kentucky after divorcing her husband. She and her young son packed up and moved north to begin life anew, this time as an independent businesswoman running a successful photography business. Why she choose Sheridan remains something of a mystery although, at the time, Sheridan was a thriving community and perhaps represented the best place for an ambitious woman to succeed.

The Cadiz authors – Kim Fortner and Paul Fourshee – are amateur historians and came across Mamie Randolph's story in their hometown and decided to explore it a bit further. This led them to decide to begin work on a book featuring this ambitious lady's life and her work, and hence they were lead to Sheridan.

Mamie Randolph life story is important for two reasons. First, it was unusual for women 100 years ago to own a successful business; after all, it was a man's world back in those days. And secondly, she was a successful businesswoman right here in Sheridan and that makes her important.

The authors are coming to Sheridan because they want to find out more about Mamie and her photography business. They have asked the Historical Society to help them research her Sheridan life. They are especially interested in any pictures the people in Sheridan may have that were taken by her either in her studio or in a community setting.

The local museum on Main Street has a few of Mamie Randolph's photos but we are looking for more. The Society is asking Sheridan residents to dig out any old photos you may have with a logo similar to one the pictured here. The authors would like to scan your photographs and include them in their book, giving you full credit for your contribution.

Fortner and Fourshee will be speaking at the Sheridan Historical Society's monthly meeting at 7 p.m. on June 4 at the Library. They will talk about their project and outline what they would like to accomplish, using any pictures the public can furnish. The latter part of the meeting will be devoted to scanning and preserving any old Randolph Studio photographs brought in by residents.

Please look through that old trunk you have out in the garage that came from grandmother's and see if there are any old photographs in there that have the Randolph logo on them. Plan to bring those old photographs to the Monday night meeting and show them to the guest speakers. They may want to scan them and add them to their book and give your good name a prominent place in the book.

The Sheridan Historical Society hopes to see many of you at the program even if you do not Have you ever seen this photograph before? Do you know this woman? There is some belief that this is a picture of Sheridan's Mamie Randolph, owner of a local photography studio who came to Sheridan 100 years ago and began a successful career as a photographer.

Some of you may actually remember some interesting stories about her life here in Sheridan. Mamie and could share Sheridan.

Heights Educational Foundation to receive $25K grant

The REPORTER

The Jimmie Johnson Foundation announced Thursday the five recipients of this year's $25,000 Blue Bunny Helmet of Hope grants. The Blue Bunny Helmet of Hope program invites fans and consumers across the country to nominate not-for-profit (501c3) organizations that support K-12 public education for the opportunity to receive one of five available grant packages.

"The $25,000 would allow the HHEF to continue our teacher creativity and instructional enhancement grant program that would help to improve student academic achievement," said Melissa Martin, Hamilton Heights Educational Foundation president. "We are excited and honored to be a recipient of this grant. This money will help us to reach more students and impact their education in a more diverse way, as well as increasing the amount of grants we fund."

The five grant recipients are:

- Hamilton Heights Educational Foundation in Arcadia
- Life Pieces to Masterpieces in Washington, D.C.
- Read Better Be Better in Phoenix, Ariz.
- Siouxland Ag in the Classroom in Merville, Iowa
- The Pencil Box in Tulsa, Okla.

The final five were selected via a week-long public vote. More than 280,000 votes were cast for the 10 semi-finalists during the voting period.

"The semi-finalist charities were so creative in how they engaged their supporters this year. They worked really hard and all of them did a great job," said Johnson. "Chani [Johnson's wife] and I are so grateful to our friends at Blue Bunny for making this opportunity available. We're proud to be able to support the amazing work these non-profits are doing on behalf of K-12 public education."

In addition to a $25,000 grant, each of the five recipient organizations will receive a Blue Bunny ice cream party and special recognition on Johnson's race helmet during the NASCAR Cup Series race on July 14, 2018 at Kentucky Speedway. To date, the Blue Bunny Helmet of Hope program has contributed more than $1 million to 101 different charities.

Soil and Water, Farmers Bank continues summer produce donation program

The REPORTER

The Hamilton County Soil and Water Conservation District (SWCD) and The Farmers Bank are re-launching an annual program that encourages the public to donate fresh produce for county food pantries. 2017 was the inaugural year which successfully provided over 400 pounds of produce to people experiencing food insecurity.

Between 9 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. every Monday from July 2 to Sept. 24 (excluding Labor Day) the public may drop off produce donations at the Sheridan branch of The Farmers Bank, 987 S. White Ave.

Between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. every Wednesday from June 27 to Sept. 26 (excluding Independence Day) the public may drop off produce donations at the Noblesville branch of The Farmers Bank, 16940 Clover Road.

All donations will stay local and be given to food pantries in Sheridan and Noblesville. People are welcome to donate produce they have grown themselves or that they have purchased at farmers markets or grocery stores.

The convenient locations of both branches will make it easy for people to drop off donations while running errands or on their lunch hour. No donation is too small – even smaller donations of a few tomatoes or a few ears of corn all add up and make an impact on local food insecurity.

Make your summer rock at Hamilton North Public Library

The REPORTER

Do you have an HNPL library card? If so, you're eligible to participate in HNPL's 2018 Summer Reading Program.

Those who work in the library believe libraries rock all the time, but beginning June 1, libraries really rock – with Libraries Rock Summer Reading. From that day, everyone from birth to "I quit counting my age 20 years ago" may sign up to participate in the Libraries Rock Summer Reading Program.

Hamilton Heights Middle School students may count their school summer reading books toward Libraries Rock reading, too. E-versions of books on the list are available through HNPL electronic resources. View them together at this link.

Sign up, choose age-appropriate books, read, fill out the log page and have one of the friendly library staff members initial the log. As in past programs, incentive prizes are awarded at the completion of each level, with additional reading earning a ticket eligible for a raffle drawing at the end of Libraries Rock.

Sprinkled throughout this summer's program are entertaining events for various ages. At 6:30 p.m. on June 4, HNPL-Cicero hosts a book discussion on Mary Shelley's Frankenstein, in conjunction with our Year of Frankenstein "One State/One Story" celebration of the novel's 200th anniversary.

What summer reading program is complete without the energetic and effervescent Professor Steve? He returns to HNPL on Wednesday, June 6, to present his new "Super Sonic Sound Show." The family-friendly show begins at 3 p.m. in Atlanta and 6 p.m. in Cicero. Professor Steve rocks the house, so be sure to get it on the calendar.

Other programs debuting soon include but not limited to the following events:

- Bid Euchre
- Build a Creature
- Teen and Adult Printing Workshop
- Rockin Together Magic Show

See all the events on the HNPL calendar and check throughout the summer for added events.

TODAY'S BIBLE READING

And Jesus said unto him, Friend, wherefore art thou come? Then came they, and laid hands on Jesus and took him. And, behold, one of them which were with Jesus stretched out his hand, and drew his sword, and struck a servant of the high priest's, and smote off his ear. Then said Jesus unto him, Put up again thy sword into his place: for all they that take the sword shall perish with the sword. Thinkest thou that I cannot now pray to my Father, and he shall presently give me more than twelve legions of angels? But how then shall the scriptures be fulfilled, that thus it must be.

Hamilton Southeastern wins girls state track and field championship

The Hamilton Southeastern girls track and field team won its first ever state championship Friday. The Royals scored 62 points to triumph at Indiana University and also won two events: The pole vault and the 4x400 relay.

Royals take care of business

By RICHIE HALL

Based on the performance list, Hamilton Southeastern was favored to win Friday's IHSAA girls state track and field meet.

All the Royals had to do was take care of business. And they did.

Southeastern won its first ever girls track and field state championship, waiting out a one-hour weather delay and some very tough competition to triumph at Indiana University. The Royals used their superior depth to score 62 points, pulling away from runner-up Brebeuf Jesuit as the meet went into its later stages. The Braves scored 44 points.

"We were favored to win, but there's so many things that can happen," said HSE coach Julie Alano. The Royals coaches impressed upon their athletes that everybody needed to do their part - "You go take care of what you're supposed to do," said Alano - and if that happened, Southeastern would win.

"And that's what we talked about, and making sure that you did whatever you need to do to make sure you score your points and do your part," said Alano.

Brebeuf held an early advantage due to its strength in the 4x800 relay (which finished third), the 100 hurdles (which placed second) and wins in the 100 dash and 4x100 relay. Alano admitted that the Royals were a little worried after those events.

But Southeastern wasn't too far behind. Junior Tierra Sydnor helped out with a fifth-place finish in the long jump, then senior Mia Mackenzie added another five points by taking fifth in the 100 hurdles.

"It's amazing, because last year we weren't even expecting to get second, because there's only seven of us who made it," said Sydnor. "And this year, we were really working hard towards it in practice, saying that we can do it."

Senior Camille Christopher finished third in the 100 dash, and was part of the Royals' runner-up 4x100 relay, along with sophomore Olivia Burgess, Sydnor and freshman Alyssa Barker.

The tied began to turn in HSE's favor once the pole vault results came in. Royals junior Kennedy Drish defended her state championship in that event, with a winning vault of 12 feet, 6 inches. Drish went for 13 feet, but 12-6 isn't bad either - "I just came in, did what I did, what I've been practicing, and got 12-6, so I'm happy with that."

Drish's teammate, senior Jessica Bray, helped out with a sixth-place finish in the pole vault, clearing 11-6.

"It's been a really exciting past two years," said Bray, who has committed to Grand Valley State University. "I never really expected to be here when I first started, so I'm just happy to be here. I'm happy to be here again this year."

With the pole vault points in, Southeastern moved into the lead. The Royals got more points from Mackenzie, who took seventh in the 300 hurdles, then Christopher earned a runner-up finish in the 200 dash.

Junior Lulu Black added two more points after taking eighth in the 3200 run; Black's time was 10:47.67, a new school record.

By now, Southeastern had the meet in hand, but why not finish with a bang? That's what the Royals did in the 4x400 relay. The team of Burgess, junior Mya Hammons, freshman Annice McFarland and Sydnor finished the meet with a win in that event.

HSE's 4x400 time was 3:51.10. The Royals edged out Perry Meridian by .04 seconds. Sydnor ran the anchor leg, and she got that extra inch in the end.

"Last week was a lot of pushing, it was a lot of roughhousing going around, so no one really ran their best times," said Sydnor. "Like today, we were a whole two seconds faster."

"Exclamation point. Oh, my gosh," said Alano. "They've done it in practice. I knew they could run faster. That was a school record for us."

"There were a lot of good teams in that race," said Alano. "We had practiced all kinds of crazy situations, but not really out front by ourselves, because we weren't sure that would happen. We were so excited. We had a pack there, we were so excited, it was so crazy. That was awesome. All the girls ran well there. It was every person doing their part on that relay, too."

Southeastern's win was the first state championship for the Royals since the boys track and field team won in 2013. It also puts HSE in an exclusive club: Friday's state title was the school's 10th IHSAA state title.

After Brebeuf's 44 points, two-time defending state champion Warren Central placed third with 40 points. Carmel finished in fourth place with 38 points.

Sophomore Phoebe Bates led the way, claiming the state championship in the 1600 run. Bates made a strong kick in the last 100 meters to finish the race in 4:51.79. Bates also took fifth in the 3200 run.

"I thought the mile went really well, and then the 32, I just gave it everything I had," said Bates. "It was a good day."

Senior Kara Deady finished up her high school career with another medal in the pole vault. Deady, who will vault for IU next year, placed fourth by clearing 11-9.

"It was very tough this year," said Deady. "We had a lot of good vaulters. But you just got to try your best. It wasn't what we had hoped, but I'm happy to be back here. It was fun."

Junior Reagan Hune earned three medals at the meet. She placed fifth in the 400 dash, then was part of Carmel's ninth-place 4x100 relay, joining sophomore Kiara Gill and seniors Carly Markley and Josie Upton. Hune ran the anchor on the Greyhounds' eighth-place 4x400 relay, teaming up with freshman Abbey Grogan and seniors Beverly Thompson and Alexis Waples.

Carmel opened the meet with its 4x800 relay team of freshmen Annie Christie and Mahalet Zeruesenay, senior Anna Morozov and sophomore Sydney Haines finishing in fifth place. Senior Maddie Dalton took sixth in the 1600 run.

"Our girls showed up and competed their hearts out," said Greyhounds coach Aaron McRill. "The coaches are so very proud of this group. The meet itself was incredibly exciting from start to finish. Lots of great teams and lots of great competition. We fell just six points shy of the podium, but we feel we had a pretty great meet. Congratulations to HSE and Brebeuf, well deserved."

Noblesville tied for 13th place with 15 points. Junior Shelby Tyler soared to another state championship in the high jump, in yet another battle between her and Zionsville senior Katie Isenbarger.

Both athletes cleared 5-11, but Tyler got the win on fewer misses. Thus Tyler defended her state title, becoming the first Millers athlete to win back-to-back track championships.

"It felt good," said Tyler. "I had really good competition. And it was fun, and I think that's the most important part."

Noblesville's 4x800 relay team of senior Abi Little, junior Aubrie Deal, freshman Bella Sharples-Gordon and sophomore Anna Hazelrigg placed sixth in that event. Little also finished ninth in the 1600 run; she has committed to run at IU.

Fishers scored nine points to place 28th as a team. Junior Tamia Perryman won three medals for the Tigers, first placing eighth in the 100 dash. Later, she finished ninth in the 200 dash.
