OneZone to start Impact program

The REPORTER

OneZone Chamber of Commerce is starting a new program called "OneZone. OneImpact."

OneZone is a Hamilton County chamber of commerce that was formed in 2015 with the merger of the Carmel and Fishers Chambers. OneZone serves the business community as a commerce connector, convener, strong voice, significant presence and business advocate in an ever-changing marketplace.

The "OneZone.OneImpact." program supports small business and the nonprofit sectors of the chamber. The program looks to surprise businesses and make an immediate impact that day.

"The way it works is that we find a location and surprise them with a minimum of 20 to 25 people. Each person that joins us will be asked to spend $25. We also look at this program as a way to give back, creating a service day for businesses to join us at a local nonprofit and volunteer," stated Jack Russell, Chief

Russell

OneZone. OneImpact.

Operating Officer of OneZone.

Noblesville creates website about golf cart usage, regulations

The REPORTER

Earlier this year, the Noblesville Common Council adopted an ordinance to allow the operation of golf carts upon city streets within certain subdivisions and neighborhoods. To further educate the public and homeowner associations, the city has created a new website, cityofnoblesville.org/golfcarts, which provides frequently asked questions, the approved ordinance, an informative brochure, the approval process for neighborhoods and other information regarding the use of golf carts in Noblesville.

"The City of Noblesville welcomes the use of golf carts in our community as a way for residents to travel short distances within neighborhoods and from neighborhood to neighborhood. But public safety is always our top concern," Noblesville Mayor John Ditslear said.

Officials also want to remind residents of several conditions within the ordinance to ensure the safe, permitted use of golf carts:

- Golf carts are described as a vehicle with four wheels substantially similar to vehicles originally designed for operation on a golf course and powered by a battery or internal combustion engine. This does not include ATVs, off road vehicles or four-wheelers.
- To drive a golf cart, you must possess a valid driver's license. If an unlicensed juvenile is caught operating a golf cart, the Noblesville Police Department may issue any notice/citations to the parent(s).

- Drivers must abide by all traffic regulations applicable to vehicular traffic when using the authorized streets and parking areas of the city.
- Driving golf carts is only permitted within established subdivisions and neighborhoods that have complied with section 76.06 of Ordinance No. 60-12-17. Golf carts are not permitted on city trails and sidewalks and shall not be operated on any city street having a posted speed limit in excess of 25 mph.
- Only subdivisions or neighborhoods with a governing body, homeowners association or decision-making board authorized to speak on behalf of the welfare of the neighborhood are allowed to participate. If your neighborhood does not have one of the three listed above, golf carts are not permitted.

HOAs or individuals that may have questions about Noblesville's Golf Cart Ordinance are encouraged to visit cityofnoblesville.org/golfcarts or contact Noblesville Police Department Sgt. Matt McGovern at mmcgovern@noblesville.in.us or Robert Herrington at rherington@noblesville.in.us for more information.

Please see an expanded view of the informative brochure below.

Golf Carts in Noblesville

The City of Noblesville welcomes the use of golf carts in our community as a way for residents to travel short distances within neighborhoods and from neighborhood to neighborhood. But public safety is always our top concern.

Effective January 2018, the Noblesville Common Council adopted an ordinance to allow the operation of golf carts upon city streets within certain subdivisions and neighborhoods - with limitations that are required for the safe, permitted use of golf carts.

How does my neighborhood allow golf cart use?

- Only subdivisions or neighborhoods with a governing body, homeowners association or decision-making board authorized to speak on behalf of the welfare of the neighborhood are allowed to participate. If your neighborhood does not have one of the three listed above, golf carts are not permitted.
- The governing body must submit written certification to the Noblesville Police Department stating the board approves the use of golf carts within its community.
- The governing body also must notify the Noblesville Street Department. The Street Department will create and install signage at each entrance to the subdivision. The governing body will pay $75 per sign that needs to be installed by the street department. Golf carts are not permitted to be used until the proper signage is placed in the subdivision.
- A neighborhood may rescind its approval by submitting a letter to NPD.

www.cityofnoblesville.org/golfcarts

Who can drive a golf cart?
The driver must possess a valid driver's license or learner's permit.

Do I have to obey all traffic laws?
Yes, drivers must abide by all traffic regulations applicable to vehicular traffic when using the authorized streets and parking areas of the city.

Any violation of this ordinance or failure to comply with any of its requirements is a $50 fine for the first offense; $150 for a second offense; and $300 for each additional offense (within a rolling 12-month period). Additionally, penalties listed do not include court costs and fees that may be imposed by Noblesville City Court in addition to the penalty.

A Noblesville Police Officer has the discretion to issue any citations of an unlicensed juvenile to their guardians. Also, golf carts not in drivable condition or having a licensed driver may be towed at the police officer's discretion.

All violations of Ordinance No. 60-12-17 shall be docketed with the Noblesville City Court.

Sixty years and still counting

By STEVE MARTIN
Sheridan Public Library

How long have you been married? Sheridan residents Les and Martha Pence have been married for 60 years, and they are celebrating their anniversary from 2 to 4 p.m. on Saturday, June 9 with a reception in the Community Room of the Sheridan Public. Friends are invited to attend but gifts are not necessary.

So how did the Pences end up in Sheridan? That is a long and winding story. Les was an educator; specifically, he was a music teacher. After high school in Columbia City, he went to Morehead State College in Kentucky and earned a degree in music education. Interestingly enough, while in college he formed a student jazz band which played at various Kentucky venues and became so well known that the Governor named him an honorary Kentucky Colonel, an honor he cherishes to this day!

After college and a stint in the Army, Les moved to South Whitley, Ind., and began teaching music to students in the local school. As luck would have it, some friends introduced him to a sweet young farm gal from Shipshewana by name of Martha Prough. They were married less than a year later.

The Pences spent the next few years in various Indiana communities as Les pursued his career in education. They had lived in a variety of communities over the years as Les earned his master's degree from Indiana University - Bloomington. He moved up the education ladder from teacher to principal and finally to being a superintendent. In 1963, he received his doctorate in education and eventually became the superintendent of Sheridan Community Schools in 1972. In 1980, he became an assistant superintendent at Carmel, working there until he retired.

Martha was a housewife and mother of three rather active boys who, as boys are wont to do, make her life a challenge at times. After arrival in Sheridan she became a school bus driver for Sheridan Community Schools, a position she held for some 35 years, but her primary job was, and always will be, a mom, grandma and great-grandmom to the ever-enlarging Pence clan.

The Pences moved to Sheridan in 1972 and have lived over on First Street in the same house for going on 50 years now. Their three sons - Randy, Terry and Mike - grew up here in Sheridan and are familiar to many in the community. Today, there are more Pences than ever before what with grands and great-grands, but Les and Martha always remember birthdays and anniversaries, graduations and weddings, and everything else associated with a long and loving life blessed with good successes.

If you know the Pences, please drop by the library on Saturday and wish them well. They and all their children, grands and great-grands would welcome the chance to renew old acquaintances and make new ones.

Still trying to Save the Nickel Plate

Dear Editor:
After multiple FOIA requests, neither Noblesville nor Fishers have been able to provide a key legal document which would show how they bypassed the Indiana Transportation Museum's (ITM) original right to purchase the Nickel Plate Railroad. Documents obtained show that the previous railroad owners, Norfolk & Western, entered an exclusive two-year lease with option to purchase agreement with the ITM on Feb. 27, 1992. On Nov. 1, 1993, Noblesville and Fishers notified ITM that they would be exercising ITM's option to buy the railroad. What remains missing is any proof that Noblesville and Fishers had the legal right to purchase the railroad, instead of ITM.

As you are likely aware, the mayors of Fishers and Noblesville announced plans in 2017 to convert a functional, intact, 9.2-mile stretch of the current Nickel Plate Heritage Railroad (NKP) into a walking and biking trail between their communities. The trail plans call for the removal of the rail, which will cut off access to over 18 miles of the active line from Noblesville into Indianapolis.

Until 2015, the NKP was host to a variety of railroad excursions operated by the ITM with permission from the Hoosier Heritage Port Authority (HHPA). Most popular among the train excursions were the Indiana State Fair Train (Fishers to Indianapolis) and the Polar Bear Express (Fishers to the "North Pole"). After the HHPA suspended ITM's rail operations due to track safety concerns (despite the FRA's recent inspection approving the railroad for use) all rail activity came to a halt, allowing for city leaders to suggest a plan to convert the "unused" rails to a trail.

Former mayor of Noblesville Mary Sue Rowland said, "It is impossible to imagine that future administrations would aggressively try to dismantle the historic museum and railroad corridor as is being done today, disregarding the years of tourism that has attracted millions of dollars in economic development opportunities along with many thousands of visitors and citizens experiencing a rare ride on an historic train ... It is now clear, the 25 years of dedication and hard work has been declared a waste, with rails and history having no value on today's market. Once the rails are gone and another trail is in place, the rail line will never return."

When plans to convert nearly 10 miles of the historic Nickel Plate railroad to a trail were announced on Feb. 28, 2017, the community immediately sprang into action.

Nearly 400 residents packed each of the "public listening sessions" hosted in Fishers and Noblesville in March. With nearly 80 percent of the attendees opposing the removal of the railroad, 14 individuals met and formed a grassroots organization called "Save the Nickel Plate," which now reflects the sentiments of more than 12,000 people who support opposing the trail.

Save the Nickel Plate's solution is to build trails next to the rails (rails-with-trails), explore cultural and economic development opportunities, and build and strengthen two assets – not just one. The organization wants to retain and enhance a feature that makes these cities unique.

"I stand with the thousands of citizens who believe that the plan by Fishers and Noblesville should be reversed and the historic rail line should remain as an important historic part of Hamilton County connecting Indianapolis to towns north expanding opportunities and vision yet to be discovered," says Rowland.

Research by community members has found:

- No safety violations were ever identified in any of the official reports and studies conducted.
- The trail construction estimates outline a minimum of $13.3 million to build the trail in taxpayer money.
- All available data shows that a minimum of 60 percent of area residents support continued or expanded use of the railroad. In addition, more than 12,000 people have signed the petition to save the railroad.

Four top tips to battle summer colds

StatePoint

Warm, sunny weather doesn't mean the risk for catching a cold disappears. Unfortunately, colds can happen at any time of year and can really ruin much anticipated summer plans.

To stay healthy and help beat the common cold this summer season, consider these tips from Dr. Nesochi Okeke-Igbokwe, a New York City-based physician and health and wellness expert:

- Maintain good sleep hygiene. Are these long summer evenings tempting you to burn the candle at both ends? Don't give in! Maintaining good sleep habits can ultimately help keep your immune system in check. Adults should sleep at least seven to nine hours every night to achieve improved health outcomes. If you uphold a good sleep routine, it will enable you to sleep well throughout the night and obtain the recommended amount needed for stronger immunity. Remember that sleep deprivation weakens your immune system and increases the likelihood of picking up infections.

- Keep moving. It's essential to integrate some form of exercise into your daily life. Beyond benefits like improved cardiovascular health and weight maintenance, those adhering to regular exercise regimens tend to be healthier overall and may potentially experience fewer colds yearly. Indeed, routine physical activity helps to boost your immune system. Luckily, the summer is the perfect time to keep moving, but remember to stay hydrated in the heat.

- Eat right. Back-to-back BBQ parties? What you eat really matters. Avoid the tempting junk food and highly processed food that can negatively impact your health. Also, never underestimate the benefits of sticking to a well-balanced nutrient- and antioxidant-rich diet in general. Your diet should include vitamin-rich cruciferous vegetables, fresh fruit, fish containing omega-3 fatty acids and other superfoods that can boost your immune system and help you recover faster in times of illness.

- Fight the cold. If you do experience a summer cold, seek out an over-the-counter solution that helps you fight through your symptoms, such as Mucinex DM, which offers the convenience of not having to retake medication every four hours. It is a bilayer tablet that has one layer that releases quickly and another layer that provides extended release that lasts for 12 hours. Stock up on it year-round to be prepared for the next time cough and chest congestion symptoms hit.

Find out more health tips on how to combat the common cold at Mucinex.com.

TODAY'S BIBLE READING

Then the high priest rent his clothes, saying, He hath spoken blasphemy; what further need have we of witnesses? behold, now ye have heard his blasphemy. What think ye? They answered and said, He is guilty of death. Then did they spit in his face, and buffeted him; and others smote him with the palms of their hands, Saying, Prophesy unto us, thou Christ, Who is he that smote thee?

Boys golf regionals

Carmel wins, Gingerich is GC's first medalist

The individual and team champions at Thursday's Lafayette Jefferson boys golf regional took different paths to their victories, but both were impressive nonetheless.

Guerin Catholic's Ty Gingerich ran away with the individual win, shooting a six-under par 66 to dominate Battle Ground Golf Club and take medalist honors. Meanwhile, Carmel's team put together a remarkably consistent performance across all five golfers to earn the team championship.

Both Gingerich and the Greyhounds team advanced to next week's state meet at Prairie View Golf Club in Carmel, as did Westfield senior Andrew Lewis.

Gingerich shot 34 on the front nine and 36 on the back, totaling six birdies for the day and no bogeys. Gingerich is the first-ever regional medalist for the Golden Eagles.

Carmel extended its regional championship record to 14 with its Thursday win and qualified for state for the 25th time. If ever a team was on the same page, it was the Greyhounds: All five of their golfers carded either a 73 or a 74.

Nick Dentino and Cole Harris both scored 73s, with both golfers making three birdies in their respective rebounds. Clay Stirsman, Luke Prall and Curtis Robertson all had 74s. Stirsman made four birdies, Robertson drained three and Prall had one.

Lewis tied for fourth overall with a 72, and was one of the five individuals to qualify for state. He made four birdies in his round. The Shamrocks' Ethan Lutz finished with an 82 and one birdie.

Over at The Players Club in Yorktown, Hamilton Southeastern and Noblesville placed second and third respectively at the Muncie Central regional, also booking spots to the state meet.

Cathedral won the regional title with a team score of 309. The Royals were next with a 312. Southeastern was led by an outstanding performance from Daivic Akala, who tied for second individually with a 73. Akala made four birdies in his round.

"It feels great to get back there," said Akala. "It's one of the better rounds I've played this year. The high-pressure situation and I just feel great that I came in for the team."

John Cherry scored a 78 and Mekheil Garcia added a 79; both had two birdies. Thus HSE qualified for its eighth trip to the state meet.

Royals coach David Young credited his team with working "really hard at coming together as a team" and getting the experience they needed "so that under pressure situations and things like this, they could rise. And that's exactly what they did today."

Noblesville finished with a 314 to qualify for state for the second year in a row and the 16th overall. Jacob Deakyne was the Millers' low man with a 77, including one birdie. Kyle Claussen carded a 78, also with a birdie, followed by Clay Merchant's 79; he made two birdies. Jack Barnes had two birdies in his round of 80. Joe Whallon carded a 91 with one birdie.

"It's always good to go on," said Noblesville coach Gary Sewell. "It's survive and advance, and today was totally survive. It was down to the wire. We didn't play particularly well, didn't adjust to the conditions. Greens were incredibly fast today - they were receptive, but they were very, very fast."

Still, the Millers are going to Prairie View and will start fresh - "These scores don't count," said Sewell.

"We're looking forward to that opportunity," said Sewell.

Fishers finished 10th with a team score of 335. Bryce Robertson led the Tigers with an 83. Noah Chamberlin (84) and Caleb Bopp (85) each made one birdie.

The Hamilton Southeastern boys lacrosse team won its first-ever state championship on Saturday. The Royals made a big comeback in the second half to beat Culver Academy 15-14, after being down 14-9 in the third quarter.

HSE boys win first lacrosse state championship

The Hamilton Southeastern boys lacrosse team won its first-ever Indiana High School Lacrosse Association state championship on Saturday, beating Culver Academy 15-14.

After a back and forth start with goals pouring in from both teams, Culver led 11-8 at halftime. Lukas DeVoe led the charge for the Royals. The Eagles were controlling the face-off X which made it very hard for the Royals to gain and keep possession.

With six minutes left in the third quarter, the Royals were down 14-9, but then their comeback started. With Nick Riina at the X and his senior teammates David Sage and Tyler Renschen on the wings, Southeastern quickly won possession, ran down the field and with two passes, the ball hit the back of the net, finished by freshman Ryan Kemp.

With the score now 14-10 the Royal crowd could feel the momentum rising. Riina continued to dominate the ground balls off of the face-off and his wings helped out tremendously. Senior Keegan Logan and Kemp were the beneficiary of a lot of gritty tough plays by the midfielders. After a goal by Renschen and two by Kemp, it was Logan with the go-ahead goal with 5:11 left in the game. The Royals defense held strong for the reminding time to seal the victory.

Southeastern advanced to the final by beating Cathedral 11-9 in the Friday semi-final.

WNBA announces new All-Star Game format

The WNBA announced today a new format for Verizon WNBA All-Star 2018, which will be played on Saturday, July 28 in Minneapolis.

Under the revamped format, two captains will draft the 2018 All-Star teams from the pool of players voted as All-Stars. The captains will be the two All-Stars, regardless of conference, who receive the highest vote totals.

To complement the change from the traditional matchup between the Eastern Conference and the Western Conference that was used in the previous 14 All-Star Games, the WNBA will also implement a new voting process for selecting the 22 All-Stars. Rather than having to select an equal number of players from each conference, voters will now choose the All-Stars without regard for conference affiliation.

The selection of 2018 All-Stars will be conducted through a combination of voting by fans (40 percent of the vote), current WNBA players and head coaches (20 percent each), and a national panel of sportswriters and broadcasters (20 percent).

Fans will be able to vote for their top 10 players regardless of position or conference. Players, coaches and the media panel will each vote for 22 players, selecting nine guards and 13 frontcourt players regardless of conference. Players and coaches may not vote for members of their own team.

"Delivering on the promise to constantly innovate and entertain is driving this All-Star format change for our fans and partners," said WNBA President Lisa Borders. "This bold and innovative approach to Verizon WNBA All-Star provides an opportunity to put the best of the best in our showcase event."

On Tuesday, July 17, the pool of 22

All-Stars will be announced. In the following days the captains will draft their respective teams from the remaining 20 All-Stars to form two 11-player rosters. Specific details about the draft will be announced at a later date.

The All-Star rosters will be revealed on Thursday, July 19 during ESPN2's telecast of the Washington Mystics at the Dallas Wings (8 p.m. tip-off).

The head coaches for Verizon WNBA All-Star 2018 will be the head coaches of the two teams with the best records following games on Friday, July 13. The head coach with the best record as of that date will coach the team captained by the highest vote-getter.

On Friday, July 27, the All-Star team captains and head coaches will meet to determine starters for Verizon WNBA All-Star 2018. The starting lineups will be revealed that night on ESPN2 (7 p.m.) during a live telecast of the WNBA All-Star Welcome Reception in Minnesota.
