Noblesville Foam Party rescheduled for Sunday, June 24

The REPORTER

Continuous rainfall, the threat of lightning and safety for guests caused the City of Noblesville to postpone its Foam Party on June 9. The free event has been rescheduled for Sunday, June 24 at Federal Hill Commons, 175 W. Logan St.

"The parks department is excited that we were able to find an open space in our busy summer event calendar to re-schedule the Foam Party for June 24. It's always hard to make a safety call when unpredictable weather comes around and we know several families were disappointed with the postponement, but now we can all cross our fingers that our new date graces us with clear skies and an enjoyable time," said Noblesville Recreation Director Nichole Haberlin.

There is no charge or registration required to participate. Children of all ages are invited to come and play in the bubbles from 3 to 5 p.m.

The free event is sponsored by Family First Chiropractic, Horizon Bank, Lil Bloomers Children's Boutique and Walmart Noblesville. For more information, contact the parks department at (317) 776-6350.

Mayor Fadness loses his office, for a while

By LARRY LANNAN
LarryInFishers.com

The City of Fishers has taken in a number of interns this summer, but a problem came to light - there would not be enough room in City Hall to house them. A new Fishers Police Department Headquarters building is under construction across the street from the current HQ, and once that move is made, several offices will move to the current police building.

Until that happens, office space is a scarce commodity in Fishers City Hall. So, the question was, where does the city put all these interns?

Mayor Scott Fadness came up with that answer ... the mayor would give up his office and move to a desk in the hallway next to his office.

When I asked the mayor about this, he said so little time is spent in his office, giving it up doesn't change the way he conducts his daily routine much.

In my years working off-and-on as a journalist, I've covered a number of mayors. I can't think of any mayor I have known giving up his office to bring on more interns, but that is what Scott Fadness has done.

Don't give up on your New Year's resolutions

"You are never too old to set another goal or to dream a new dream."

- C.S. Lewis

Well, we are facing that mid-point in our "New Year's Resolutions" we made just about six months ago. Some of you probably were gung-ho about those, noting the goals you have identified in one, or many, categories including career, family, financial, fitness and health, hobbies, etc. Some of you may have been more casual about your 2018 resolutions, with just a mental note and a wait-and-see attitude. However, I venture to say that we all had some ideas as we completed our holiday to-do lists and focused on the year ahead about what we wished to change, improve, omit, or add to our lives.

Be Well

What can happen – and often does happen – is that within a few months after we get excited about those resolutions we begin to realize that we have not yet started to make those changes. Or perhaps we did begin to (take your pick) incorporate a better eating plan, start an exercise program, schedule more time with the family, begin a job search, enroll in classes, etc. but as often happens, life intervenes and we just run out of steam.

Don't give up! Although we are at the halfway point, it is still 2018! Why not revisit those resolutions and goals, re-evaluate and consider your options? When we are at the beginning of a nice, shiny new year it is very easy to be a bit starry-eyed regarding those changes. In particular those of us "of a certain age" sometimes back off from making, or even considering, changes. I find in working with clients on their health and fitness goals that the wish for speedy results in both the way they look and feel can possibly undermine the continued quest to reach their goals. Those who stay focused and realize that a "quick fix" (and don't we get bombarded with those ads!) will never be the answer to obtaining a more fit and healthy body will most likely reach their fitness goals.

I believe that as long as we, regardless of our age, make a commitment to setting the goals and dreaming the dreams we will find that we can achieve much of what we desire. Here is a suggestion, and something I have done which I find helpful. Find a photo (you know what I mean, one of those "hard copy" photos that you can actually hold in your hand...) of yourself at an age when you felt optimistic, healthy and excited about the future. That may be when you were 8, 12, 15 or 25, it doesn't matter, put that photo in a frame where you will see it every day. That person is YOU!

It is never too late to take a deep breath, review that "list" you made six months ago and go forward. We all want to be happy, and we often believe that attaining whatever our goals or resolutions may be will offer that to us. I hope you continue your quest to better your life in whatever categories you believe need the most work.

Another of my favorite quotes is offered by Eleanor Roosevelt: "Happiness is not a goal ... it's a by-product of a life well lived."

I hope you live well and healthy, and that the second half of 2018 is a good one for you, keeping your goals in front of you and moving toward them in a realistic, focused and positive way. Happy New Year!

Attorney General Hill announces $100 million multistate settlement after Citibank manipulated interest rate benchmarks

The REPORTER

Attorney General Curtis Hill announced Friday a $100 million multistate settlement with Citibank for fraudulent conduct involving USD LIBOR – a benchmark interest rate that affects financial instruments worth trillions of dollars and has a widespread impact on global markets and consumers. (The acronyms stand for "U.S. Dollar" and "London Inter-Bank Offered Rate.")

Forty-two state attorneys general involved in investigating this matter allege that Citibank misrepresented the integrity of the LIBOR benchmark to state and local governmental, not-for-profit, private and institutional trading counterparties by concealing, misrepresenting and failing to disclose these facts:

- Citibank, at times, made USD LIBOR submissions to avoid negative publicity and protect the reputation of the bank.
 - Citibank's USD LIBOR submitters, on occasion, asked Citibank personnel in other units of the bank to avoid offering higher rates than Citibank's USD LIBOR submissions.
 - Citibank expressed belief that other banks, at times, made USD LIBOR submissions that were inconsistent with their borrowing rates and contributed to inaccurate LIBORs.
- Given this conduct,

Hill

Citibank had reason to believe that Citibank's and other banks' LIBOR submissions did not reflect their true borrowing rates in accordance with the established public guidance. Citibank did not disclose this to the governmental and not-for profit counterparties with whom Citibank executed LIBOR-referenced transactions – even though these rates were material terms of the transactions.

As a result of its fraudulent conduct, Citibank made millions in unjust gains when government entities and not-for-profit organizations entered into swaps and other financial contracts with Citibank without knowing that Citibank and other banks on the USD-LIBOR-setting panel were manipulating LIBOR submissions.

"The technical aspects of high-level banking and financial practices are complex to the average citizen," Hill said. "Those of us in public service must work to protect consumers and to ensure that financial institutions are held accountable for following the law. This settlement helps mitigate the damage done by Citibank's past misrepresentations."

Governmental and not-for-profit entities with LIBOR-linked swaps and other investment contracts with Citibank will be notified if they are eligible to receive a distribution from a settlement fund of $95 million. The balance of the settlement fund will be used to pay costs and expenses of the investigation and for other uses consistent with state laws.

Citibank is the third of several USD-LIBOR-setting panel banks under investigation by the state attorneys general to resolve the claims against it. With the Citibank settlement, the states have collected $420 million in payments from the three banks, almost all of which will be distributed to state and local government entities and not-for-profits that have been harmed by these banks' wrongful conduct.

Pursuant to the settlement agreement, Citibank will continue to cooperate with the states' ongoing investigation into the conduct of other USD LIBOR-setting panel banks.

Staff takes Noblesville Chamber in new direction

The new staff at the Noblesville Chamber of Commerce will seek to increase the effectiveness, awareness and efficiency of the organization.

The REPORTER

The Noblesville Chamber of Commerce welcomes three new staff members for this summer. In addition to these new positions, the Chamber has contracted a communications and marketing strategy specialist. All four positions will work with the Chamber's President and CEO Bob DuBois and Director of Member Engagement Mary Noble. These changes reflect the Chamber's upcoming dynamic shift that will enable the Chamber to better serve employers in the business community.

In the position of Communications Manager, Sarah J. Reilly is executing the Chamber's communications, marketing and public relations. She creates and distributes content, written and digital, to increase the effectiveness and awareness of the Chamber's mission.

Tom Marquell is the Director of Business Development. He's hitting the pavement, promoting the Chamber's services and inviting businesses in the community to engage through membership.

As a previous high school intern, Ryley Johnson earned her summer position by impressing the Chamber with her work during the school year.

"I'm happy to continue working for the Chamber this summer," Johnson said. "My job will focus on organizing files, updating databases and reaching out to members of the Chamber to make the Chamber more efficient."

Johnson's work as an Administrative Assistant will help ready the Chamber, both the physical space and the digital space, for the forthcoming improvements.

Together with CEO Bob DuBois and Director of Member Engagement Mary Noble, the staff will develop communication strategies, grow the Chamber's business involvement and increase the Chamber's efficiency. The changes implemented by the staff this summer will carry into the future, permanently enhancing the Chamber's ability to serve Noblesville businesses and the Noblesville community.

"We're excited about the new strategic direction for the Noblesville Chamber," DuBois said. "And we're very pleased with the caliber of the summer team that we've assembled to help begin that process."

Business and community members are invited to meet the Chamber's summer staff from 9 a.m. to noon on Tuesday, June 19. Free coffee and light refreshments will be available at the Chamber's offices at 1 Library Plaza, Noblesville.

About the Noblesville Chamber of Commerce

Founded in 1935, the Noblesville Chamber of Commerce has served the city of Noblesville for over 80 years. As the oldest Chamber of Commerce in the county, the Noblesville Chamber has and continues to promote commerce in and around Noblesville, building a vibrant economy and prosperous community. Fishers baseball - Class 4A state champions

The Fishers baseball team won a dramatic Class 4A IHSAA state championship game Friday at Victory Field. The Tigers beat defending champion Cathedral 4-3, taking the lead with a three-run second inning. It's the first baseball state title for Fishers and the fourth overall for the Tigers' athletic program.

Loose Tigers hold firm against Irish

By RICHIE HALL

Is it possible for a team to play loose when the stakes are high - and win?

Ask the Fishers baseball team. The Tigers have made a habit of playing loose and having fun throughout the season. Now you will have to wait a little bit for an answer - the Tigers are busy celebrating a state championship, so they'll get back to you.

Fishers won a dramatic Class 4A IHSAA state title game Friday night at Victory Field. The Tigers dethroned the defender, Cathedral, by the score of 4-3. After giving up an early run, Fishers scored three in the top of the second and held the lead from that point forward despite the Irish threatening in what seemed like every one of their at-bats.

But the Tigers held firm throughout every pressure situation.

"It's a testament to their families," said Tigers coach Matthew Cherry. "Our community, our teachers in our building, teaching them to be tough. They fight till the end. They don't really ever feel pressure. They're loose as all get-out, sometimes too loose. They were goofing around today at BP (batting practice). You would never thought we were playing a state finals game tonight."

Fishers' loose attitude was tested briefly in the first inning, when Cathedral scored an unearned run. Jared Poland, the Irish's star pitcher who is also a pretty good hitter, drew a walk to get on base. Carson Caito came in to pinch run for Poland, stole second, then made his way home on two throwing errors.

The Tigers responded right away. Matthew Wolff got on base with a hit, then stole second and moved to third on a passed ball. After a flyout to center field, Nick Lukac and Jack Roudebush both were walked, loading the bases with two outs.

That brought up Ben Burton, who stretched Poland to a full count, fouled off at 3-2, then smacked a double into left field. Wolff and Lukac easily scored.

"As soon as they (the Irish) got that run, I was not happy," said Burton. "I was like, 'We got to come back, we got to do something, put something on the board.' Just at least keep the game going."

"He got a big triple in the sectional championship game to take the lead in the seventh," said Cherry. "And then that huge double to get the lead there early, forced them to play from behind and allowed us to pitch guys certain ways because we had the lead. But he's been awesome. Went through a position change, didn't like it at first but totally bought in. Just came up with big hit after big hit this season. He's been awesome."

Roudebush moved to third, and he was home seconds later: JJ Woolwine sent a single into center field on the very next pitch. Fishers flied out to right field for the third out, but the Tigers had what they needed: A 3-1 lead.

The score remained 3-1 until the bottom of the fourth, when Caito scored again for Cathedral on a sacrifice fly by Cole Vassilo. Fishers answered back in the top of the fifth with another run.

Grant Richardson cracked a double into left field to get on base with two outs, then moved to third on a throwing error. That brought up Kiel Brenczewski, and he drew a walk, then stole second.

Wolff was next up, and he was walked to load the bases. Alex Jamieson came to the plate next, and he drew a four-pitch walk, which scored Richardson and increased the Tigers' lead to 4-2.

"Most people would be nervous, but personally, I was excited," said Jamieson. The senior didn't feel any nerves at all on the field - "I was just ready to play," he said.

"Our guys have answered back," said Cherry. "We talk about punching them in the mouth, and when we get punched in the mouth, answering back. Our guys have done that all year. They did it in the Zionsville series when we swept them at the end of the season and they did it a couple times in the tournament again tonight. Just been their M.O., answering right back and again, they don't know how to lose, so when they fall behind, they take it personally and they get after it."

The Irish scored one more run in the fifth inning, when Bo Sanders singled in Peyton Schofield. Neither team scored for the remainder of the game, although Fishers got itself out of some tricky situations in the final two innings.

Luke Albright pitched five and a third innings, allowing only three hits. Albright exited the game to a standing ovation with one out in the fifth, but with runners on second and third. Albright only gave up three hits against Cathedral's big-hitting team in securing his ninth win of the season.

That brought in Richardson, who struck out two of the next three batters to end the inning. (For more on Fishers' sensational pitchers, read the related story on Page 9.) Wolff got a two-out double for the Tigers in the top of the seventh, but a center field fly out brought Cathedral back out for one last chance.

Richardson got a strikeout for the first out. Sanders was hit by a pitch to get on base, then moved to second when Mack Murphy drew a walk. But the Irish would get no closer. Shortstop Craig Yoho caught a 2-1 pitch to retire the dangerous Poland for the second out, and Woolwine's center field catch of an 0-1 delivery ended the game and started the Tigers' celebration in front of a crowd of 4,308.

"When I first stepped on this field, I looked at the stands and I was like 'Wow, that's a lot of people,'" said Burton. "Never played in front of that many people before. It's just an honor that we can even be state champs."

Richardson got the save, his second of the season. Both he and Albright tossed three strikeouts.

The Tigers received another honor after the game, when Wolff won the L.V. Phillips Mental Attitude Award. The son of Brian and Angie Wolff, Matt graduated with a 4.0 grade-point average, has been active in his church, served as a peer guide for junior

Pitch perfect: Richardson, Albright deliver for Fishers

By RICH TORRES

INDIANAPOLIS — Luke Albright recognized what was about to happen. All he needed was confirmation, and the expression on Grant Richardson's face was telling, if not prognostic, prior to the bottom of the seventh at Victory Field.

"I saw Grant smile before he went out to pitch, and I knew, 'this is it, man,'" Albright said. "I just know when he has a smile, he's having fun. It means he's on."

The 1A to Albright's 1B, or vice versa if you ask the other senior co-ace, Richardson was locked in as he closed out the final 1 2/3 innings for Fishers (29-7) during the IHSAA Class 4A state championship on Friday night.

After halting a potential Cathedral rally in the bottom of the sixth with a pair of strikeouts, including a four-pitch punch-out with the bases loaded, Albright had full confidence in Richardson with only three outs separating the Tigers from the program's first-ever state title.

It boiled down to execution, and both were on point in the clutch against the defending state champion Fighting Irish (23-9-1), who were attempting to claim the state's first repeat since Fort Wayne Carroll in 2010 and '11.

Albright carried a no-hitter through four innings and was later relieved in the bottom of the sixth with one out and two runners on base. He limited Cathedral to three hits, struck out three and walked four with 101 pitches thrown.

"We knew Luke was going to show up, no matter what. He always comes out strong, and if he needed any help, I knew I would be there to back him up," Richardson said.

Despite not allowing a hit until a leadoff single in the bottom of the fifth to Peyton Schofield, Albright, a Kent State recruit, retired eight straight after Cathedral went up 1-0 in the first inning due to two Fishers' throwing errors.

For some, an early deficit and the pressure of the state finals could have spelled disaster, but Albright never flinched en route to the win and a 9-2 record. Instead, he stuck to the plan.

"With our guys, our goal was to get ahead and then that way we can execute with our secondary pitches," Fishers assistant coach Craig Huls said. "Albright did a great job of it, getting ahead."

Fishers pitcher Grant Richardson came into the game in the sixth inning and threw a solid one and two-thirds innings to get the save in the Class 4A state championship. The Tigers beat Cathedral 4-3 to win their first-ever baseball state title.

Two of the three runs charged to Albright were earned, and by the second inning the Tigers offense put him in front 3-1 and eventually 4-2 in the top of the fifth, providing him breathing room.

"I know what this team is about. We can be down five after the first inning, and I know we can come back from that," Albright said. "We have something special here."

They've had something unique from 60 feet, 6 inches all season.

With the addition of Richardson, who transferred from Fort Wayne Bishop Dwenger last summer, neither pitcher was asked to do too much, and it paid off.

The duo combined for 14 wins and 169 strikeouts this season, a result of trust and mutual support, especially on Friday as they worked in unison in front of a crowd of 4,308 in downtown Indianapolis.

"(Richardson) coming here was just unreal. I knew from the start, this was going to be something special. Had I known he was going to close out my last two games; it's just amazing. I love him to death," Albright said.

Richardson struck out three and induced back-to-back pop ups in Cathedral's final two at-bats to nail down his second consecutive save. He also came out of the bullpens to close out Fishers' 5-3 semi-state win against Chesterton in Plymouth last Saturday.

"Grant's a special kid. His fastball is 81 to 91 (mph), which is ridiculous because you never know if you're getting the hard one or the soft one. You gear up for the hard one, and he'll take a little bit off," Fishers head coach Matthew Cherry said. "That's what makes him effective."

In the seventh, he was challenged.

After hitting Bo Sanders, Richardson walked Mack Murphy, which gave Cathedral runners on first and second base and one out. Facing Louisville recruit Jared Poland, who was 1-for-2 and reached base in his three prior plate appearances, Richardson, an Indiana recruit, had to be precise.

"Going into the Big Ten, there's going to be tons of matchups like that where you have to make the perfect pitch, and you can't just go up there and throw," Richardson said. "I did for a couple of batters because I was worried, but when Poland came up, I wasn't worried."

Richardson fell behind 2-1, but a fastball on the inner-half of the plate equalized the situation as Poland flew out to center field.

"We decided to stay hard on him after his first couple of at-bats," Cherry said. "We weren't going to do that, but the way his swing looked tonight, and again, he's a great hitter, but we thought we could get him with the fastball."

The left-hander had the arsenal and he delivered similar to the sectional championship against Noblesville when he shut down the Millers in consecutive innings with three straight strikeouts, including in a bases-loaded scenario.

"I just didn't want to miss a fastball location. That's all I was worried about," Richardson said. "If I threw it in on him, it might get jammed, and that's what happened. It was perfect pitch, perfect time. It couldn't have been a better pitch selection."

For the Tigers, it couldn't have played out any other way.

The offense and its .319 batting average supplied a lead to topple Cathedral's touted 1.83 ERA. The defense rebounded from two first-inning errors, turning a key 7-6-4 pickoff at second in a near momentum-swinging bottom of the fifth, and the Tigers' dual aces did the rest to best their staff's 3.55 ERA.

"It's special. It started last year with the dominant arms Albright was able to learn from. So he got some experience there and with Grant, we just rode those guys all year," Huls said. "Our offense was what it was. They were able to score runs when they needed it, but without those guys on the bump, I don't think we're here today."

Luke Albright threw five and a third innings for Fishers, striking out three. Albright got the win, giving him a 9-2 record for his senior season.

"It feels amazing," said Wolff. "It's such an honor to win and I just want to thank my parents for raising me up the right way. I owe a lot to them. My coaches for being with me every step of the way through high school."

Wolff will serve our country by attending the United States Naval Academy in Annapolis, Md., also playing baseball for the Midshipmen.

"I'd always had a great appreciation for the Naval Academy and the military service academies and I never really thought of it as a true option until they started recruiting me last summer," said Wolff. "I fell in love when I went there and I knew it was the place for me."

The Tigers finished the season 29-7 and became the second Hamilton County baseball team to win a state championship. Noblesville was the first in 2014.

Friday's state baseball triumph marked the fourth state championship for the Fishers athletic program. The Tigers won state in boys cross country in 2007, followed by a 5A football title in 2010 and a 2A girls soccer championship in 2014.
