Duke Energy, Hamilton County Parks join to improve Morse Park and Beach

The REPORTER

On Friday, June 15, more than 70 volunteers from Duke Energy joined with Hamilton County Parks and Recreation staff to make several improvements to Morse Park & Beach, as part of Duke

Energy in Action – a program which encourages employees to give back to their communities through various service opportunities. The president of Duke Energy's Indiana operations, Melody Birmingham-Byrd, was at the volunteer site to support and work alongside her team as they labored throughout the day in warm and humid conditions.

The park improvements included planting 20 trees, painting the bath house/shelters/maintenance building and softball diamond dugouts, installing 100 cubic yards of ADA-approved engineered wood fiber in the playground area, installing 25 cubic yards of rock along the sea wall, cleaning up felled tree debris, and assembling 20 newly-purchased picnic tables. In addition, volunteers helped with landscaping and general cleanup in and around the beach area to prepare for the season opening of the beach later that day.

The project was made possible through funding and the hard work and dedication provided by Duke Energy and their many volunteers, in support of the Hamilton County Park staff.

Morse Beach is now open for the summer and the park looks amazing, adding to the enjoyment of park guests, thanks to the hard work of the dedicated Duke Energy volunteers and county park staff.

About Duke Energy Indiana

Duke Energy Indiana's operations provide about 6,800 megawatts of owned electric capacity to approximately 820,000 customers in a 23,000-square-mile service area, making it the state's largest electric supplier.

Is a Local Income Tax for 911 in our future?

Is a new public safety local income tax in our future? It is not certain, but there is talk among political leaders that such a tax might be the answer to funding the very important and expensive 911 communications operation.

FRED SWIFT

Most folks probably don't pay a great deal of attention to how 911 is funded. Currently the countywide operation, housed at the county sheriff's department, costs about $9.2 million per year, according to county auditor's records. About $3.6 million of that comes from a user tax levied on telephone subscribers. The other $5.6 million is paid by the cities of Noblesville, Carmel, Westfield, Fishers and county government.

County officials have been seeking to have the other smaller communities in Adams, Jackson, White River and Wayne townships pay their shares of the expense. For budget year 2019 there has been no agreement reached. For next year only county commissioners are asking only a token amount of 10 percent of a smaller units' obligation in 2019.

But, for the following year something new is expected to be implemented. And, the speculation centers around an increase in the countywide Local Income Tax. State law allows one quarter of one percent of individual income to be levied for public safety purposes.

In Hamilton County that would raise about $35 million. That figure is far in excess of the current 911 annual costs, so officials could be expected to reduce the $35 million potential collection to current and then subsequent inevitably rising needs of the 911 communications operation.

All those figures may sound confusing, but we can assume local officials and their advisers will calculate needs and wants in the coming year if the political climate appears to allow proceeding.

At present the Local Income Tax of one percent on individual income is the saving grace for local government, bringing in more than $140 million countywide for the participating units of government. Because average county incomes are high, the income tax now exceeds the property tax in public revenue.

One might think that within all that money, the $5.6 million needed for 911 could somehow be found. We will have to wait and see, but it is a matter that bears watching because it seems all taxes start out small.

these buttons we now have the perfect opportunity for families to get involved. We hope that residents will enjoy collecting them over the years," July 4th Planning Committee Co-Chairman Mike Hoffmeister said.

The committee has a limited number of the collectible buttons – 500 two-inch, blinking buttons and 500 round metal buttons measuring 2.25 inches. Buttons will include a new design

Candidates for the Hamilton Southeastern (HSE) School

Board do not start filing their petitions until July 25, but three people have let it be known they will run for HSE Board seats.

Michelle Fullhart, the incumbent school board member in District 3, has announced officially she will be seeking another four-year term.

Frank Whelan, an unsuccessful candidate two years ago, will try again, this time running in District 2, currently represented by John DeLucia. Board member DeLucia has made it clear he will not be a candidate for re-election.

Brad Banks announced he plans to file for the District 4 seat now held by Terry Tolle. Board member Tolle says he will not seek another term.

With Matt Burke leaning toward not running for another term, there could be as many as three open seats in this year's school board balloting.

Jennifer Templeton named Republican Woman of the Year

The REPORTER

The Hamilton County Federated Republican Women's Club (HCFRW) is pleased to announce that Jennifer Templeton has been selected Hamilton County Republican Woman of the Year.

Jennifer is the current Hamilton County Treasurer and the past President of the Hamilton County Federated Republican Women. Jennifer was selected for her leadership skills and also for starting the Right Now (Republicans in Hamilton County Giving Help to Ease Needs of Women) program which has given Trustees and food pantries all over Hamilton County several thousand dollars in donations of items not covered under food stamps.

Jennifer describes herself as a mother of three that finds herself involved in community service and outreach, which began her path of service in 1993. Over the years she has been a Girl Scout leader, member of the Cicero Kiwanis and Friends of the Hamilton North Public Library, elected official, leader of HCFRW Club and current President of Indiana County Treasurers. She takes on task and works hard to leave it in a better situation than when she took it on. Teaching her children how to give back to their community and making a difference in someone's life can be more rewarding.

Community and family are very important to her and she feels that every opportunity to spend time making a difference is her purpose in life.

Jennifer and the representatives from other Indiana counties will be honored at the Tribute to Women dinner being held in Carmel on Aug. 24 by the Indiana Federation of Republican Women.

along with the year moving forward.

LED blinking buttons are $3 each and include three features – fast blink, slow blink and on. Metal buttons are $1 each. Net proceeds from button sales go directly to supporting the Noblesville Fourth of July festivities, which is subsidized completely by sponsorship dollars and uses no city funds.

“Our goal is to sell all 1,000 buttons, which will allow the committee to make the event bigger and better in 2019,” Hoffmeister said.

Buttons will be for sale at the Dillon Park Summer

Concerts on June 28; and at Federal Hill Commons during the Foam Party on June 24, Concert at the Commons on June 30 and the 38th Infantry U.S. Army Band concert on July 1. Buttons also may be purchased with exact cash or check at Forest Park Inn, 701 Cicero Road, and the Mayor's Office in Noblesville City Hall, 16 S. 10th St.

Those interested in ordering larger quantities of buttons for family, friends and business associates are asked to send an email to rherrington@noblesville.in.us. All buttons were made in the United States.

This year's Fourth of July festivities start with the parade at 4:30 p.m. followed by the fireworks festival sponsored by IDI Composites from 6 to 10 p.m. At approximately 10 p.m., the annual fireworks display sponsored by Terry Lee Hyundai will begin. Those interested in participating in the parade are encouraged to fill out the entry form online at noblesville-fireworksfestival.com.

Fact-finding hearing delayed in Noblesville school shooting

WISH-TV | wishtv.com

A fact-finding hearing of the Noblesville school shooting suspect has been delayed.

According to Hamilton County chief deputy prosecutor Andre Miksha, the court issued an order continuing the contested fact-finding hearing that had been set for Monday and Tuesday.

A new date for the hearing has not yet been set.

A 13-year-old boy, David Moore, is accused of shooting two people at a Noblesville middle school in May.

Prosecutors said Moore shot science teacher Jason Seaman and 13-year-old Ella Whistler.

Prosecutors said Moore cannot be waived to adult court under Indiana law because he is not facing a murder charge.

Investigators have not revealed how Moore got a .22 caliber handgun, a .45 caliber handgun and a knife inside the school. They also have not revealed a motive.

No registration is needed; interested parties can show up at each park at the date/time specified below.

- Flowing Well Park: 6 to 7 p.m. on Thursday, June 28 (5100 E. 116th St.)

- Central Park East Woods Picnic Shelters: 6 to 7 p.m. on Thursday, July 26 (1235 Central Park Drive E. - Left at the first roundabout)

- West Park Prairie: 6 to 7 p.m. on Thursday, Sept. 27 (2700 W. 116th St.)

"Since coming on board just a few months ago,

CCPR's desire to focus on environmental education is insurmountable. I am very excited to be a part of this team and offer environmental and educational opportunities to the community. Anytime you dig into natural history and get your hands dirty, it leaves a lasting impression of the importance of our environment," said Brittany McAdams, Natural Resources Coordinator for CCPR.

Community members are also encouraged to get involved with this series by volunteering. It is CCPR's hope that the success of this program series will create ambassadors for the parks and encourage others to become a part of their education to the community.

For additional information about this series, please contact Brittany McAdams, Natural Resources Coordinator, at bmcadams@carmelclayparks.com.

Rep. Susan Brooks supports passage of 2018 Farm Bill

The REPORTER

Congresswoman Susan W. Brooks (R-IN05) provided the following statement on the passage of H.R.2, the Agriculture and Nutrition Act, also known as the 2018 Farm Bill, through the U.S. House of Representatives:

"Agriculture is the backbone of our nation's economy. America's farmers and ranchers are responsible for producing our food supply and work hard to ensure that it is safe, abundant and affordable. Unfortunately, farmers across the country are suffering from a declining agricultural economy, with net farm income down almost 50 percent over the past four years. Food security is national security, and after facing years of natural disasters and distorted global markets, rural America needs relief more than ever.

I am proud the 2018 Farm Bill provides farmers the relief and resources they deserve. H.R. 2 protects crop insurance, a critically important tool for farmers. It improves conservation programs and upholds vital commodity programs, including corn, soybean and other top commodities produced in Indiana. It also maintains vital nutrition assistance for people in need while making a historic commitment to helping food stamp (SNAP) recipients escape poverty and pursue the American Dream, improving their overall outlook in life.

Policies like tax reform have enabled the opening of more than six million jobs across the country, and I am proud this bill helps work-capable people transition from the sidelines into jobs that have the possibility to turn into life-long careers."

Background

Our nation's farmers are hurting. With net farm income dropping by nearly 50 percent over the past four years, the agricultural economy has experienced the largest four-year percentage drop since the Great Depression. America's farmers and ranchers are feeding more people with fewer resources than ever before and are making conscious decisions to keep agriculture sustainable for generations to come.

The Farm Bill is the federal government's primary tool for agriculture and food policy. Every five years, Congress must pass a Farm Bill to ensure critical agricultural and food programs are updated and reauthorized.

The 2018 Farm Bill:

- Provides farmers with the reassurance they need to continue producing and delivering the world's safest, most abundant and affordable food supply in the world;
- Supports and enables significant investment in emerging conservation practices;
- Renews and protects crop insurance, a critically important safety net for Hoosier farmers;
- Repeals the harmful and burdensome Waters of the United States (WOTUS) rule, providing regulatory certainty and relief;
- Reauthorizes crucial commodity and conservation programs; and
- Strengthens work requirements already existing in Indiana, which only apply to work-capable adults between the age of 18 and 59 who are not seniors, not individuals with disabilities, not children, not caregivers and not pregnant women.

Easy ways to boost your family's veggie intake

StatePoint

Nutritious, delicious and low-calorie, vegetables should be the star player of all your meals. But sometimes providing veggies for your family can be time consuming and costly. Luckily, there are a number of simple ways to boost your veggie intake, and it all starts in your grocery store's freezer aisle.

• Go frozen. Frozen vegetables are often one of the most affordable options and the quickest to prepare, reducing time spent slicing and dicing on busy weeknights. What's more, by opting for frozen veggies, your family will likely reduce its food waste. Frozen vegetables are easy to store for long periods of time, and recent studies have found that freezing actually helps lock nutrients in.

• Swap it out: Little ones and even some adults can be resistant to certain vegetables at first. But there are ways to incorporate them into family meals with no one the wiser. Consider cooking with vegetables that offer the look, feel and taste of traditional starches such as rice, pasta and potatoes. For example, Green Giant's frozen Veggie Swap-Ins line, which includes Green Giant Riced Veggies, Green Giant Veggie Spirals and Green Giant Mashed Cauliflower are easy go-to items in any kitchen for quick family meals. Indeed, 52 percent of American consumers who noted they had purchased Green Giant Swap-Ins products within three months of taking the survey, said they have introduced the product into their kids' meals without their kids knowing they weren't traditional potatoes, rice and/or pasta, and 49 percent admit to swapping these items for potatoes, rice and pasta one to two times per week.

• Be mindful: Dining out can be especially tricky territory for those looking to eat more vegetables. Be mindful of what you order. Read the menu carefully and ask questions. Many restaurants are happy to make substitutions to accommodate your preferences. For example, see if you can replace a side of fries with a garden salad or sautéed seasonal vegetables like green beans.

• Get creative: Whether you're hosting a barbecue, attending a potluck or simply making your family dinner, consider reducing calories in salads and sides by upping your vegetable intake in these dishes. Make an Italian pasta salad out of zucchini or carrot spirals. Swap out traditional rice with riced cauliflower to make a simple pilaf. Create a tasty alternative to traditional potato tots with such products as Green Giant Veggie Tots. The possibilities are endless.

Are you looking to simplify your family's clean-eating routine and increase your vegetable intake? With a few tips and tricks, you can incorporate broccoli, beets, squash and more into your family's diet while saving time and money in the process.

Noblesville Swim Club Senior Trip

Many best times on first day of the meet

Editor's note: This is the fifth in a series of articles by Noblesville Swim Club seniors Casey Akers and Jack Wolfred about the club's Senior Trip to Coronado, Calif.

Day 5 of the trip, also the first day of our meet! Waking up early, the team ate breakfast and headed down to the pool we have been training at all week. In the morning session we had around 30 swimmers, several made it back for finals. Those who did not swim today dealt with another tough workout between sessions. After many great swims in prelims, the team headed back to the hotel to rest for finals. Those who did not make finals met the rest of the team to cheer the participants on.

The finals session started with the 50 backstrokes, which Sammy Huff and Jared Holder both swam. Our next swimmers competed in the 200 fly, Caitlin Marshall and Evan Diamente. Lastly, Jack Wolfred, Sophie Resner, and Cameron Kramer swam together in the 100 Free. Overall, it was a great night of swimming and many people achieved best times. Jared Holder won his event, the 50 backstroke. The night was a lot of fun and the team's spirit lit up the entire pool deck.

At the end of the meet Alyssa Marsh, who swims for Duke University, gave us a talk about swimming while tired and how you can still accomplish your goals when you are at the end of a tough training week. After the talk we came to the hotel for another great meal cooked by Bob and a team meeting to sum up the day with an overview of the meet and the schedule for tomorrow. We have two more days of the meet then we head home!! Look forward to many more fast swims and good times before we say goodbye to Coronado!!

TOMORROW: Sportsmanship shout outs on the second day of the meet.

Fishers Gridiron Club Golf Outing set for July 10

The Fishers High School football program announced that its sixth Annual FHS Gridiron Club Golf Outing, supporting the Trent Van Hoosen Memorial Scholarships will take place on July 10.

This event will continue to support two goals of the FHS FB Alumni Club: create and fund the Trent Van Hoosen Memorial Scholarships and financially provide continued support for the development of the FHS football program and Fishers High School Athletics.

The club is off to a great start with this annual event, having raised over $25,000 to fund four renewable scholarships as well as contribute to other Gridiron Club activities. This year the club will be celebrating the 2008 FHS Football team. The club will be sure to provide guests with a unique and entertaining day at the course, as there will be several exciting new additions for 2018.

FHS Football is grateful for such a strong community who believes in Fishers High School and the rest of its athletic programs. Anything you can do to help with the FHS Gridiron Club Golf Outing will be greatly appreciated and continue to make this annual event a success.
